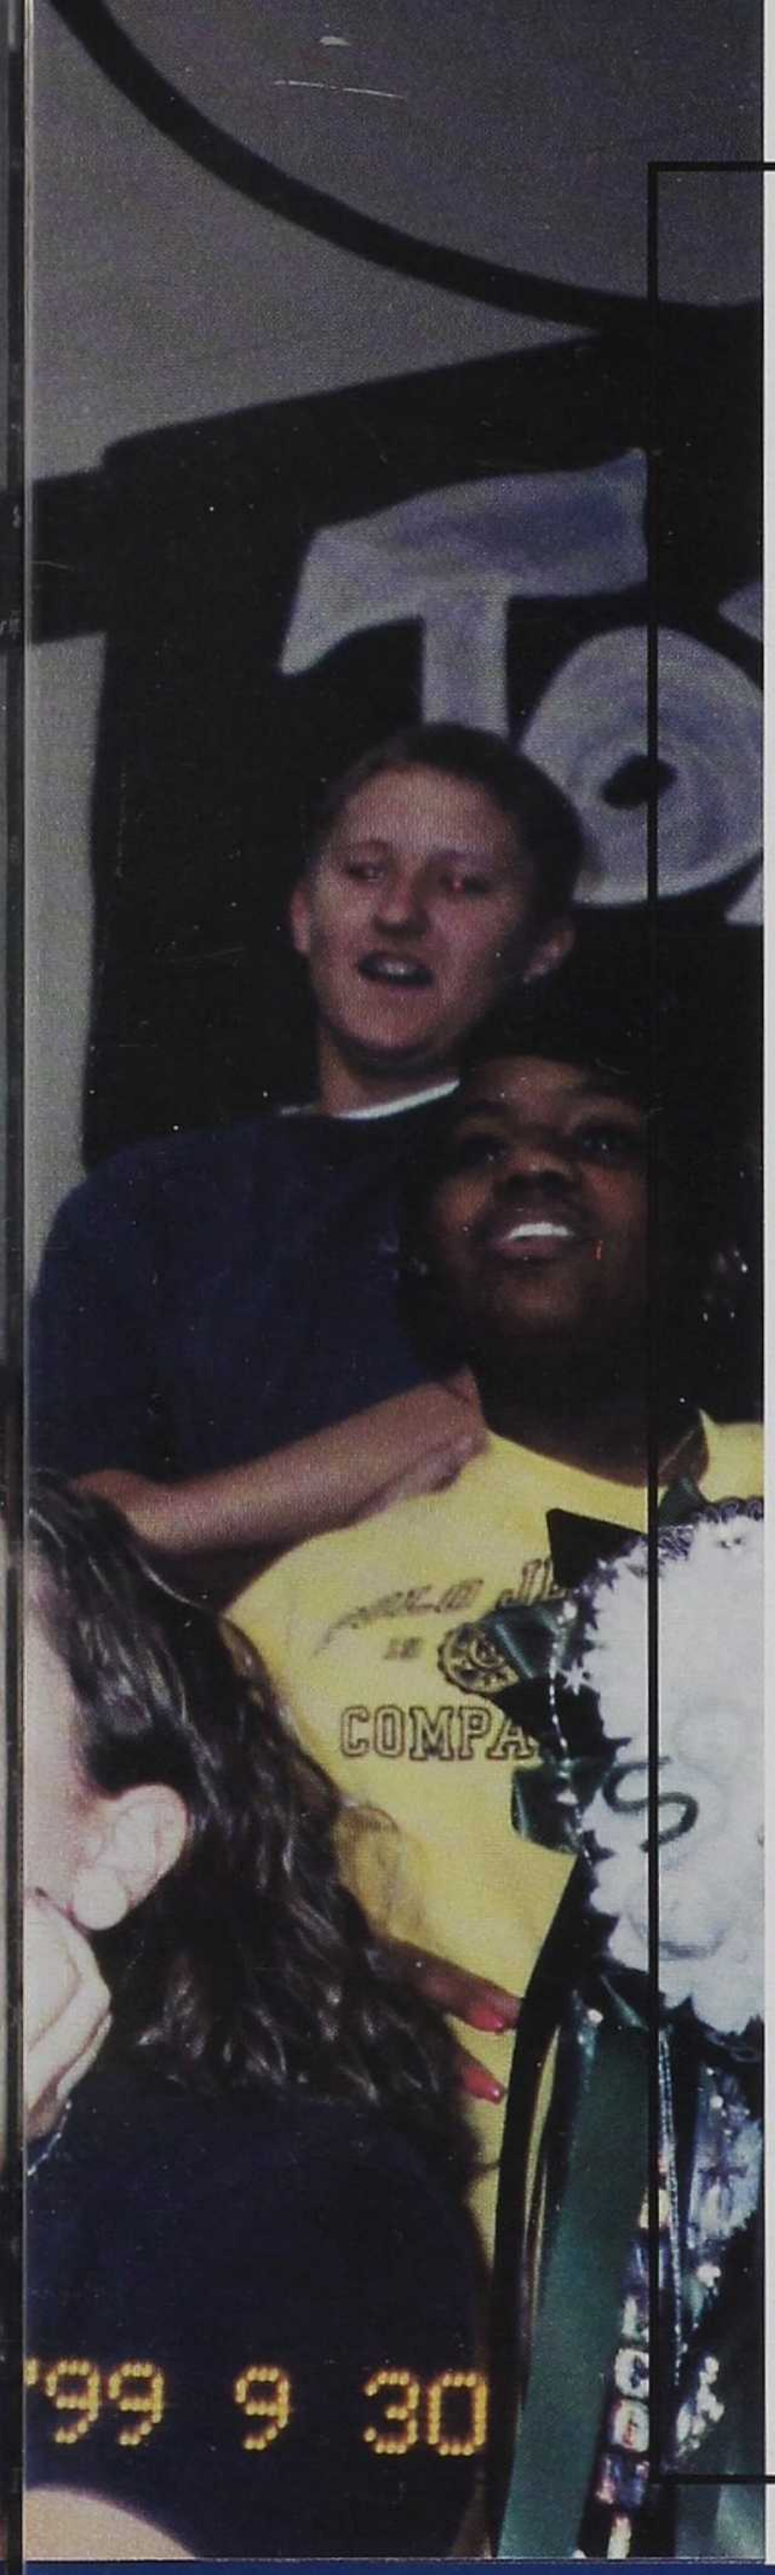
STUDENT



Millennium 2000

turning over time

The life of a high school student begins on the first day of the ever dreaded freshmen year, and ends on the long awaited graduation day. During these four years, every day, every hour, every minute in between need not be overlooked for so many significant experiences take place. While having students attended pep rallies and dances, participated in athletics and excelled in academics. The moments soon became memories that represented four years of these student's lives. Those were the moments that described them.

THE TIME OF THEIR LIVES,

LIFE

Homecoming 1999

As the week of homecoming 1999 approached, the student body joined together to prepare for the week long festivities.

Organized by the student council, spirit week kicked off with the ever popular Hat Day. The students took full advantage of the opportunity to express their creativity on Tuesday, which was designated as Tacky Day. There were no-holds-barred as far as fashion was concerned. Wednesday was Twin Day, followed by Nerd Day on Thursday.

Junior princess Echo Callies commented, "I had so much fun participating during homecoming week because not only did I get into the spirit of things, but I believe others did as well."

On Friday, October 1, 1999, the community came together to rally in support of the Wildcats.

In the past, the traditional Hall Decorating contest had always been an integral part of the homecoming festivities and it gave the classes an opportunity to compete, but the move to the new Kennedale High School resulted in a change in tradition. Because of the freshly painted walls in the brand new building, there was some apprehension when it came to allowing the students to add any decorations of their own, even if they would have only been temporary.

This change in tradition resulted in the first annual Car Decorating contest. "I enjoyed participating in the hall decorating contest last year, but the car decorating competition was still a great way for students to get involved during spirit week," stated sophomore Kaleigh Cantrell.

The cars in the parking lot were covered with streamers and paint, and the students had plunged into spirit day feet first. Painted faces, dyed hair, and the school colors of green, white, and black could be seen everywhere, and the jingling of bells could be heard throughout the building as students proudly displayed their mums and garters.

The week had lead up to the last homecoming pep rally of the Millennium. The immense spirit possessed by everyone in the school and community was very apparent. It was truly a reflection of what being a Kennedale Wildcat was all about.

our FINEST hour

The sounds of the bells from the traditional homecoming mums could be heard throughout the entire building. As spirit week was coming to an end, the students and community were looking forward to the evening's events which included the big homecoming football game against Hillsboro, and the halftime coronation ceremony.

Homecoming 1999 took place on Friday, October the first. As the warm breeze blew throughout the packed-to-capacity stadium, the Wildcat fans stood in support of their team. After an exciting first half, the teams headed to the locker rooms and the homecoming court proceeded onto the field for their individual moments in the spotlight. The ceremony concluded with the announcement of king and queen. Nominated by the student body, seniors John Petry and Holly Golden were named homecoming king and queen. "It was an honor that I was able to keep up the tradition with my older sisters," stated senior Holly Golden.

After a hard fought battle, the Wildcats were defeated by Hillsboro, 44-19. Despite the loss, the fans' spirits stayed high, proving the extreme success of homecoming 1999.

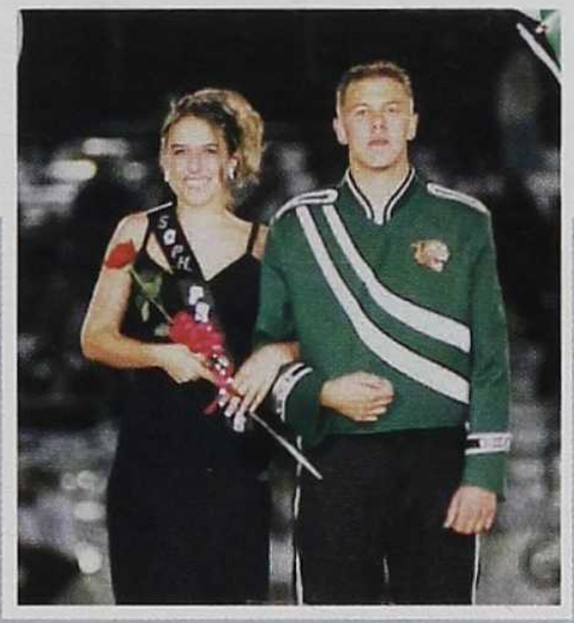
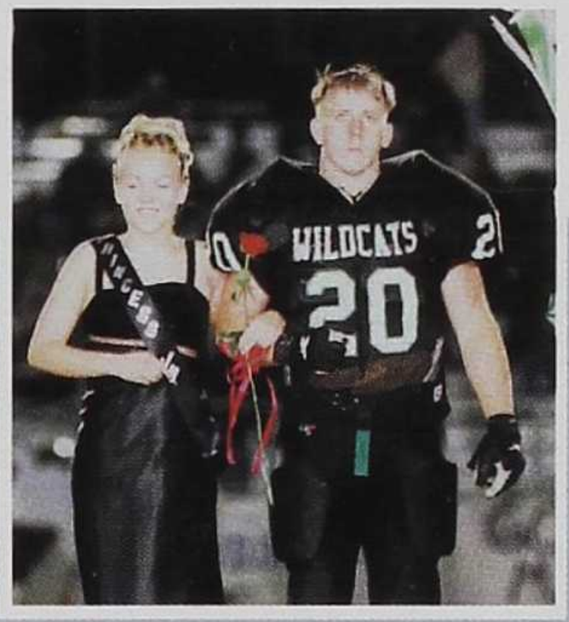
Freshmen prince and princess Brandon Ross and Sarah Bullard face the crowd as they are presented. Participating in the week long activities was an exciting time for the both of them.

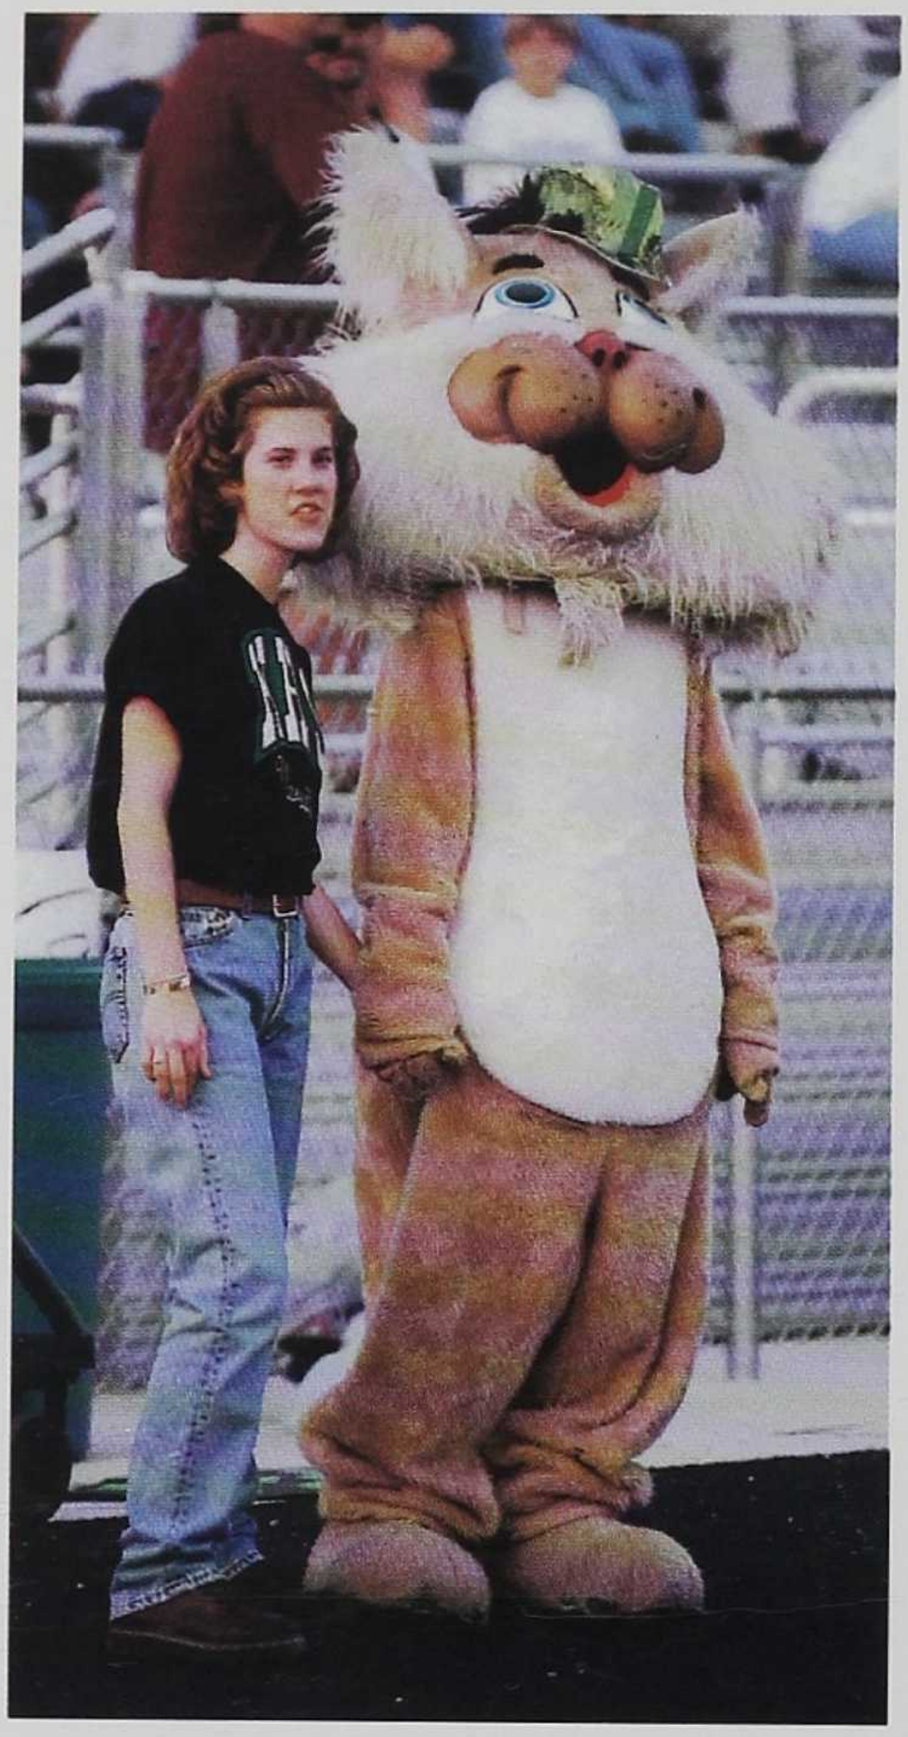


Sophomore class representatives Jennie Daniel and Drew Hampton look out amongst the crowd as they take their place on the field. They were very proud to be members of the court.

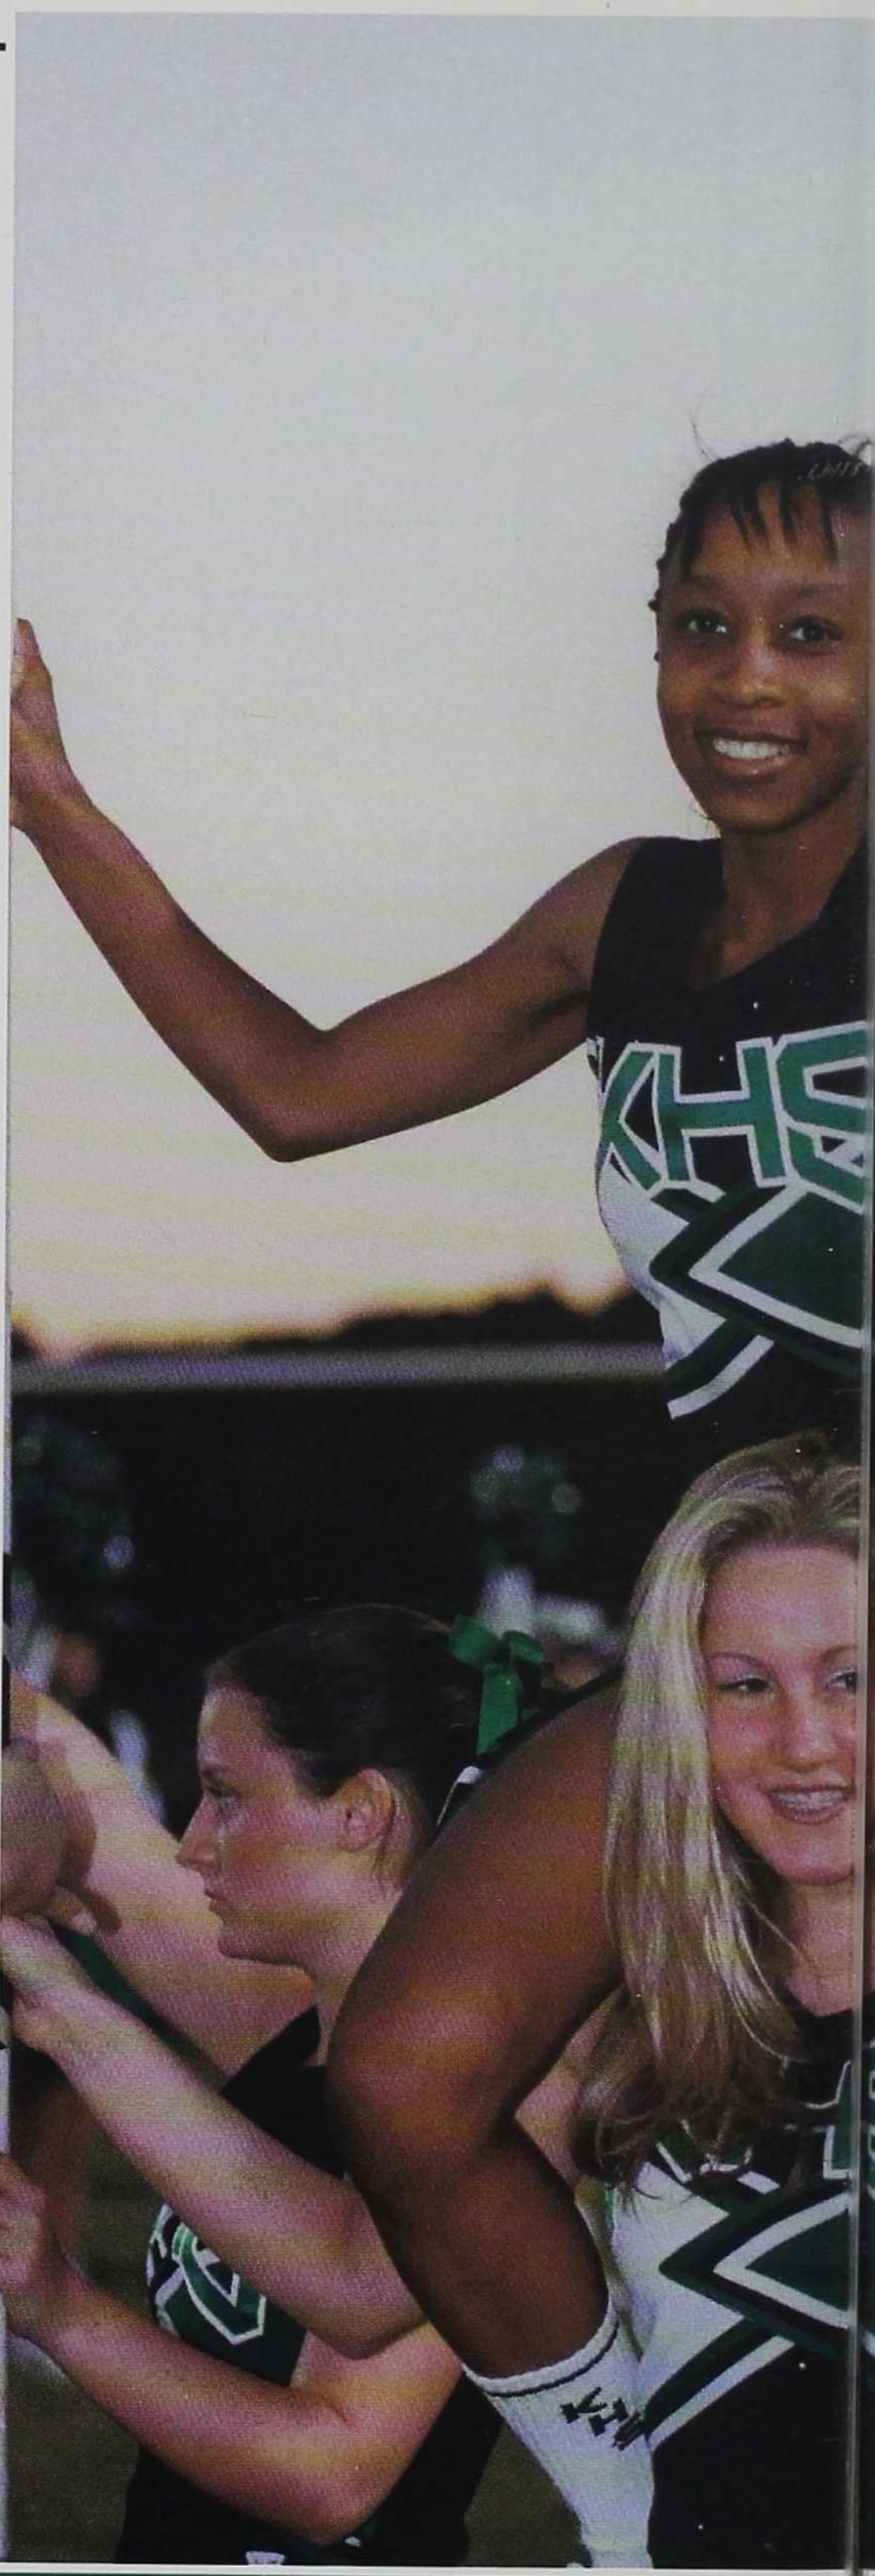


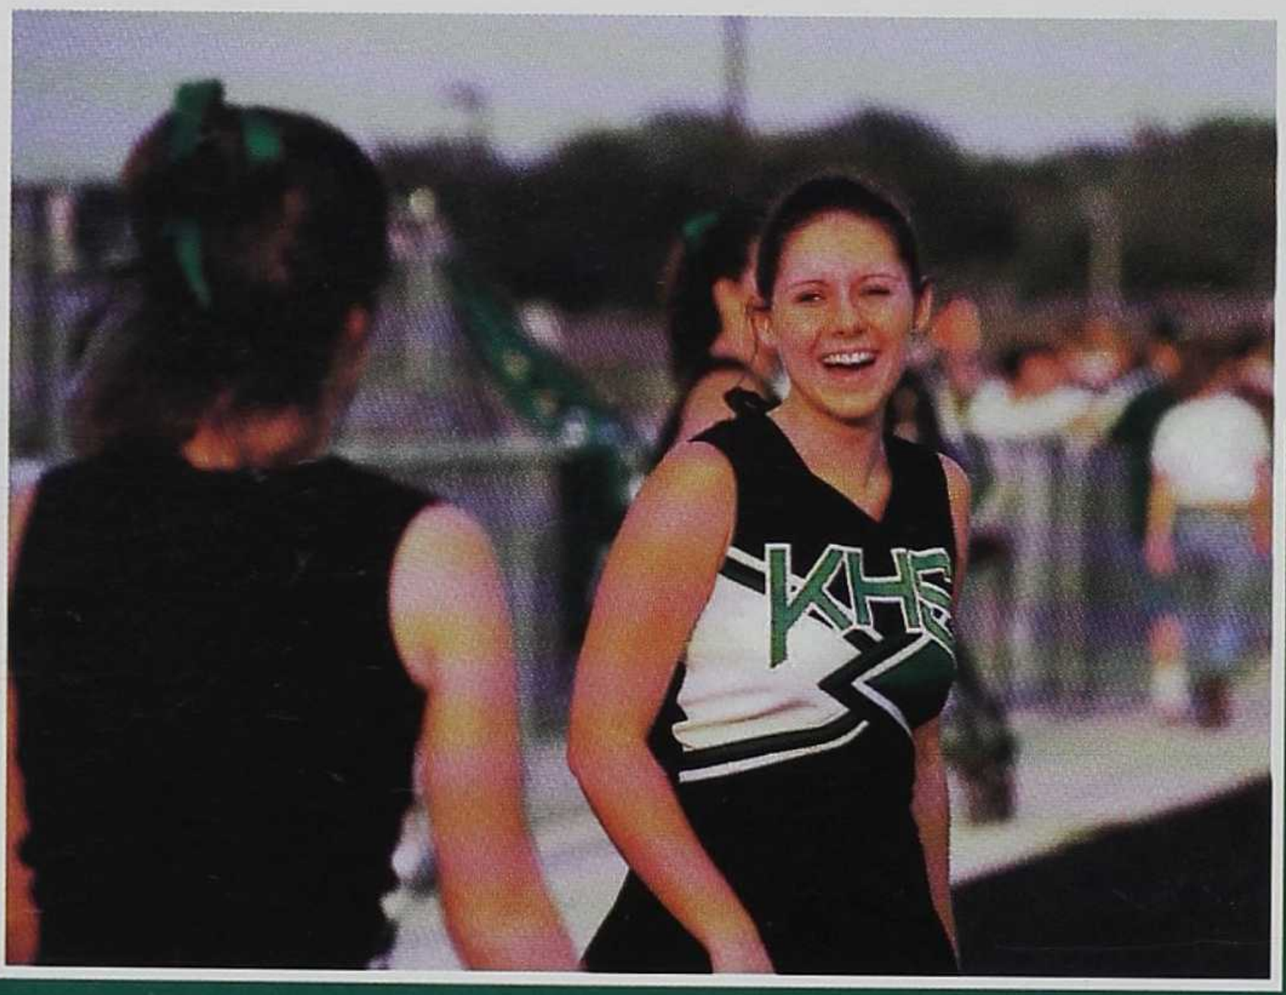
Standing under the arch, Echo Callies and Luke Franks represent the junior class at homecoming 1999. Participating in the event was an exciting experience for the both of them.

Before the game, varsity cheerleaders Jodi Durham and Stephenie Keeton, show their spirit for the Wildcats. The cheerleaders spent numerous hours preparing for the pep rallies and games.



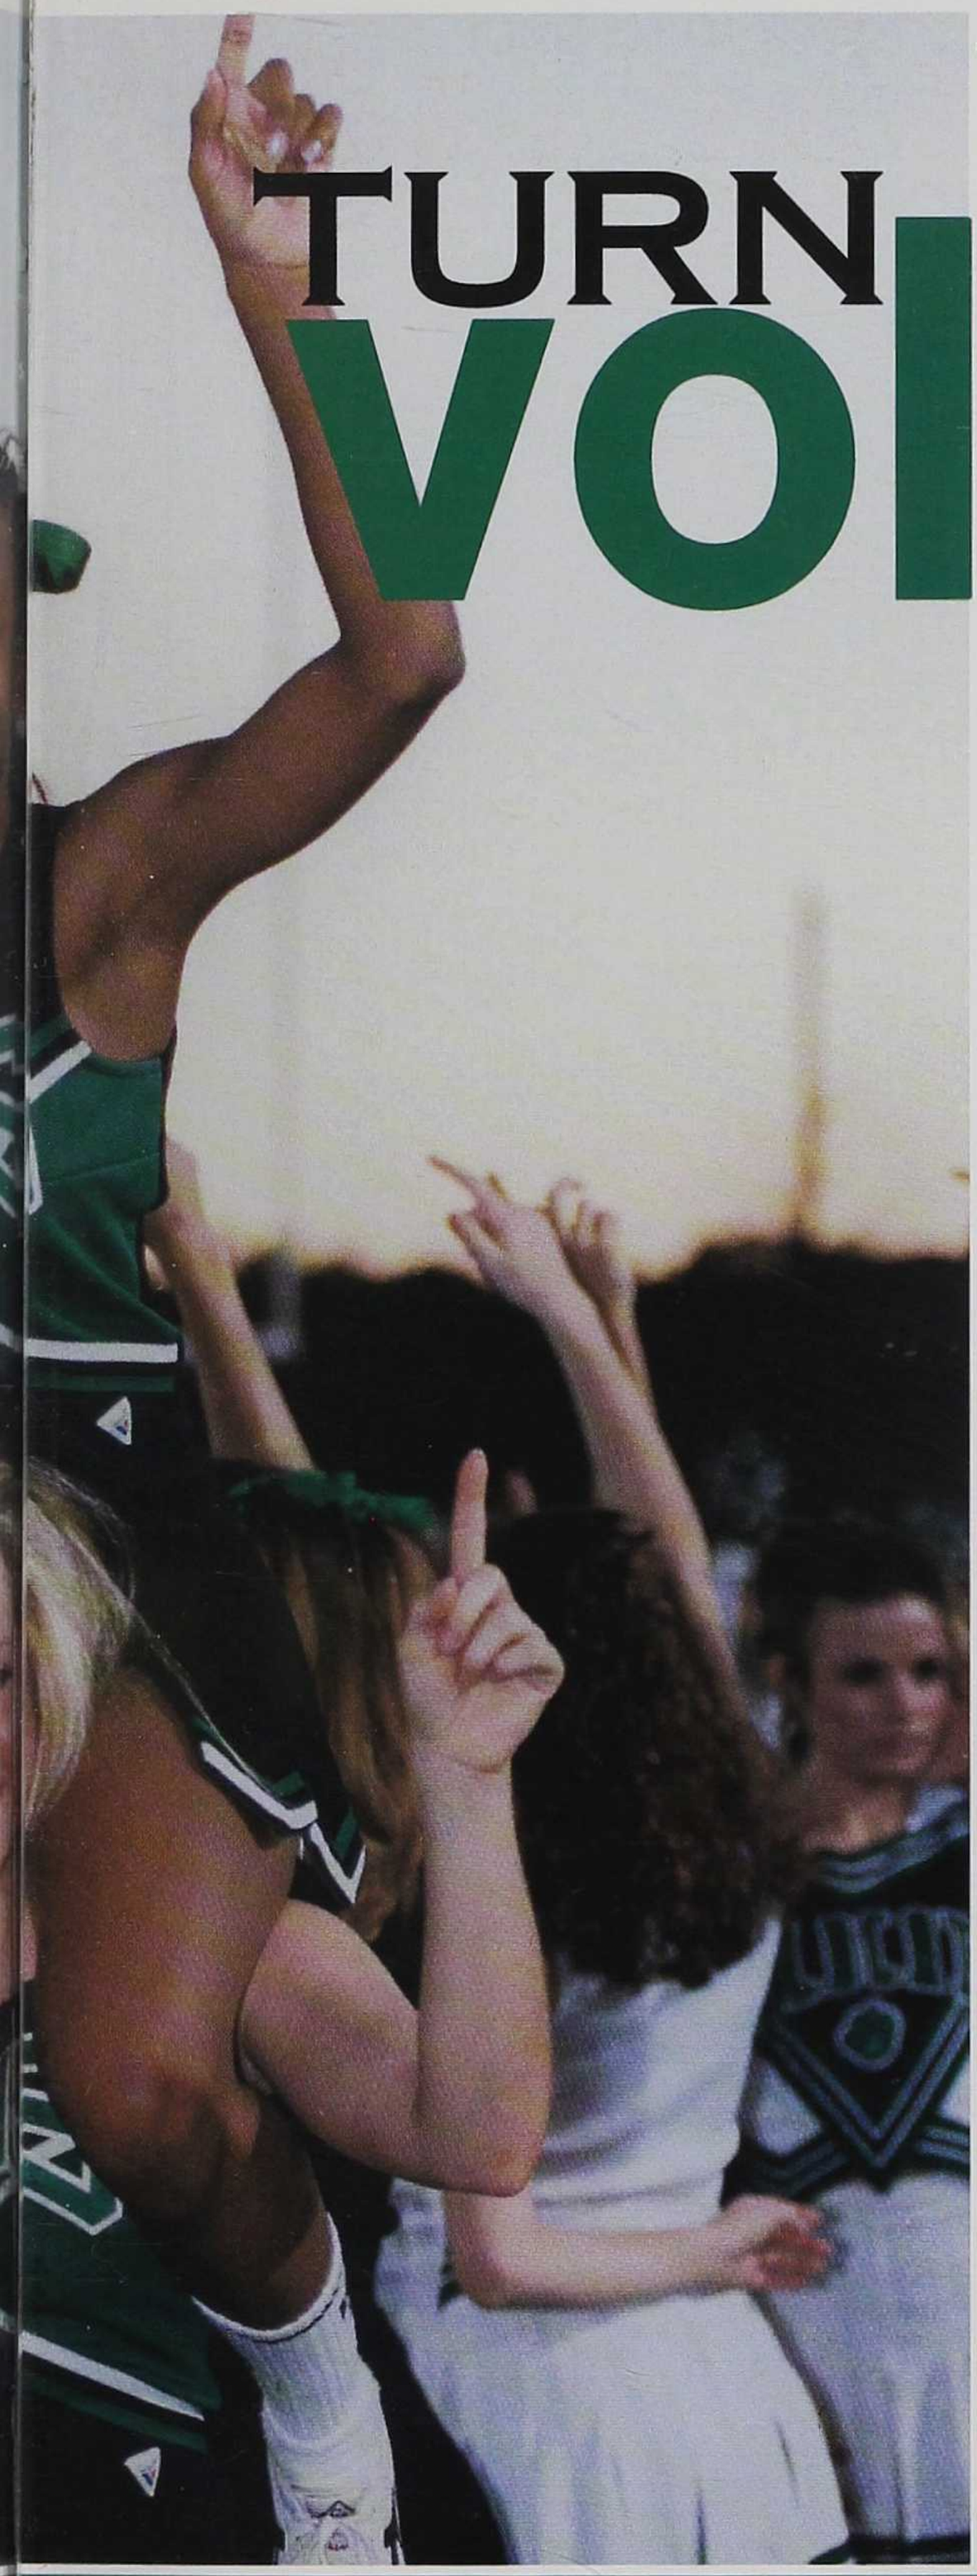
Preparing to entertain the crowd, Mascot Willie the Wildcat and senior Julia Fitzgerald watch the Wildcats kick off as the game begins. They were present at all of the home and away football games.





Varsity cheerleader, Kristen Melissari waits for the homecoming football game to begin. The cheerleaders played an important role in getting the crowd motivated in support of the Wildcats.

TURN UP THE volume



The spirit could be felt among the student body and it was larger than life. It was not something that one had to look for. It was the in-your-face, hear us roar attitudes that made it so obvious.

The pep rallies were held in the gymnasium every Friday morning during football season. They were the catalyst that brought out the immense spirit possessed by the Wildcats.

The cheerleaders turned up the volume that was necessary for the spirit competition between the classes. The individual classes battled weekly to take reign of the coveted spirit stick. Victory was their battle cry and they united to one-up each other in efforts to stand and deliver. Class tee shirts were worn, yells, screams, and noise makers were heard, and the color green was seen everywhere visible. All of these were signs that the spirit was contagious.

It was the pride that bonded the students together in support of both athletic and academic endeavors, and it was the spirit that gave them the confidence to win.

Out To Lunch

As soon as the bell rang, it was a race against time.

Lunch TIME

What's for lunch? That all depended on your appetite and whether or not you ate in the school cafeteria or enjoyed the privilege of off campus lunch.

As soon as the bell rang, it was a race against time. The clock was ticking and the students made the most of their short forty minute lunch periods. The goals were to get in the beginning of the line in the cafeteria or to get off campus as soon as possible. It wasn't about nutrition, but about getting to the nearest fast food restaurant, socializing with friends, feeding their faces in a hurry, and making it back to school without being tardy for their last period class.

Regardless of where the sacred minutes of lunch time were spent, it provided the students with the time needed to get a break from the daily grind and regroup so they could survive the remainder of the afternoon.

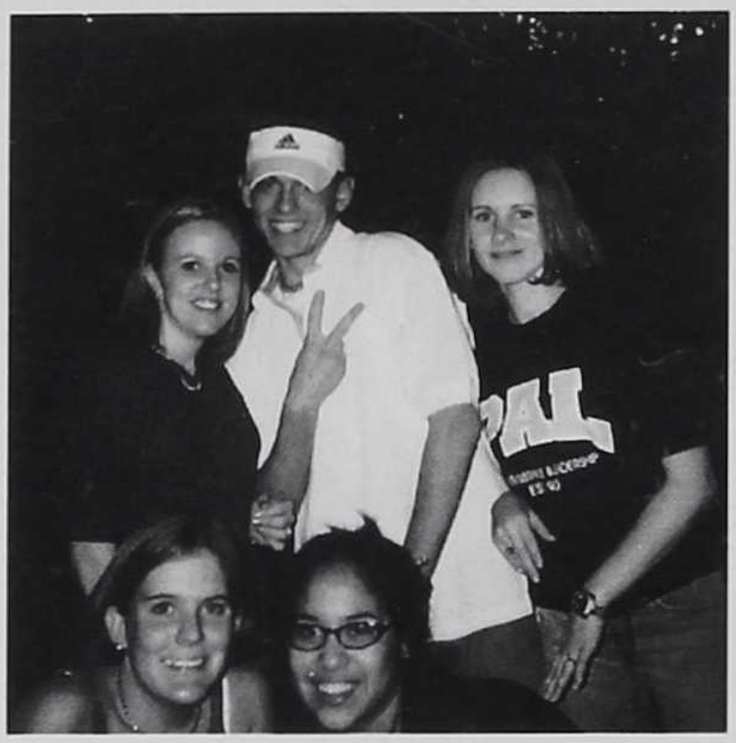
Winter Ball 1999



On Friday evening, December the tenth, the first annual Winter Ball had the honor of being the first dance of the school year and last dance of the Millennium. Sponsored by the PAL class, the dance was held in the high school cafeteria.

The students had begun promoting the dance approximately three weeks prior to the set date. Immediately following school on the scheduled date, the PAL class and sponsor, Mr. Lenzmeier, began decorating the school cafeteria, transforming it into a more than suitable dancing area. Much ambiance was created by the disco ball, lights, and a live disc jockey was hired to provide the entertainment for the evening. " I hope that all of the students had a good time and that in the future, more would attend and take advantage of these school sponsored events," stated PAL sponsor Mr. Lenzmeier.

"I had a great time getting my groove on. Seriously, we all had fun and I hope that they have continued success with this dance. I feel that we should have events like these more often," commented PAL member and senior D.W. Hamrick.

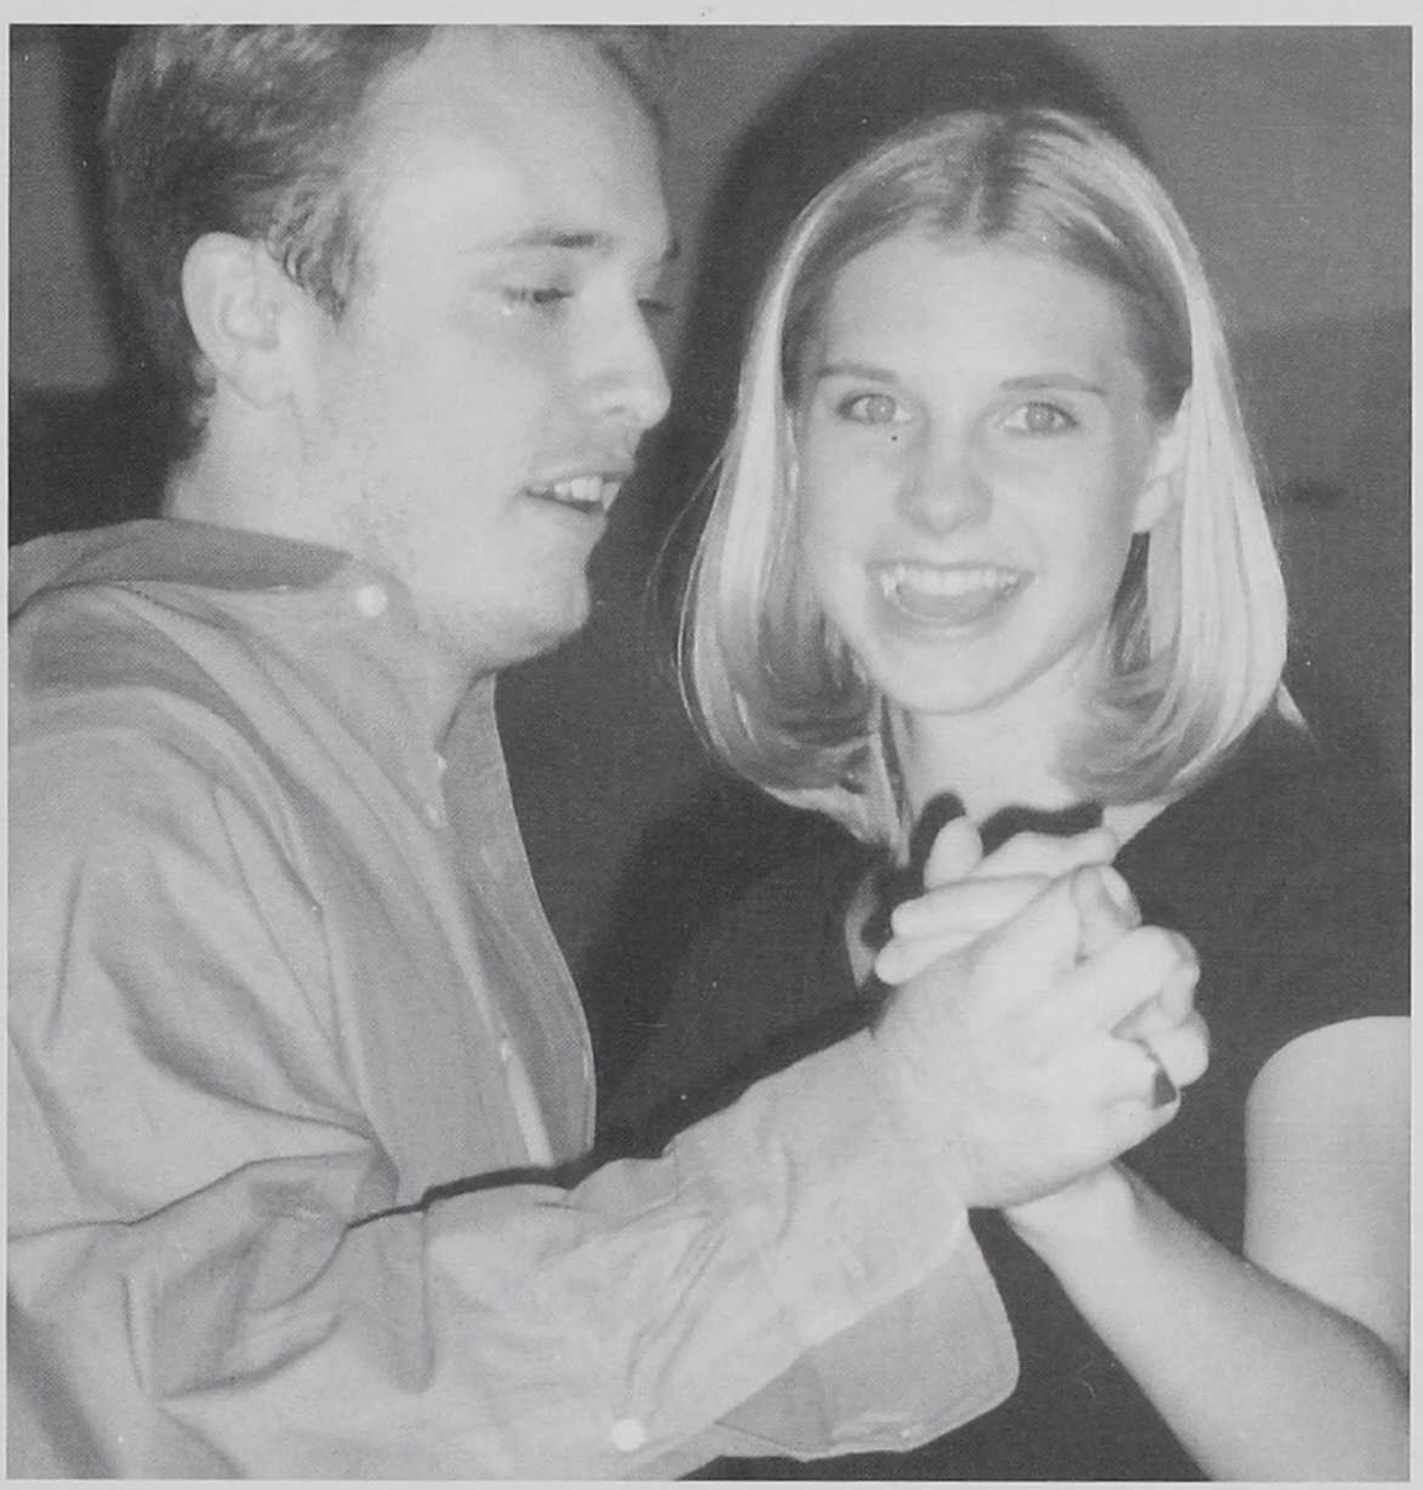
Accompanied by loud music and free food, the party came and went all too soon. All in attendance had a great time dancing the night away, and as the clock struck 11:30 PM, they left with fond memories of the last dance of the Millennium for Kennedale High School.

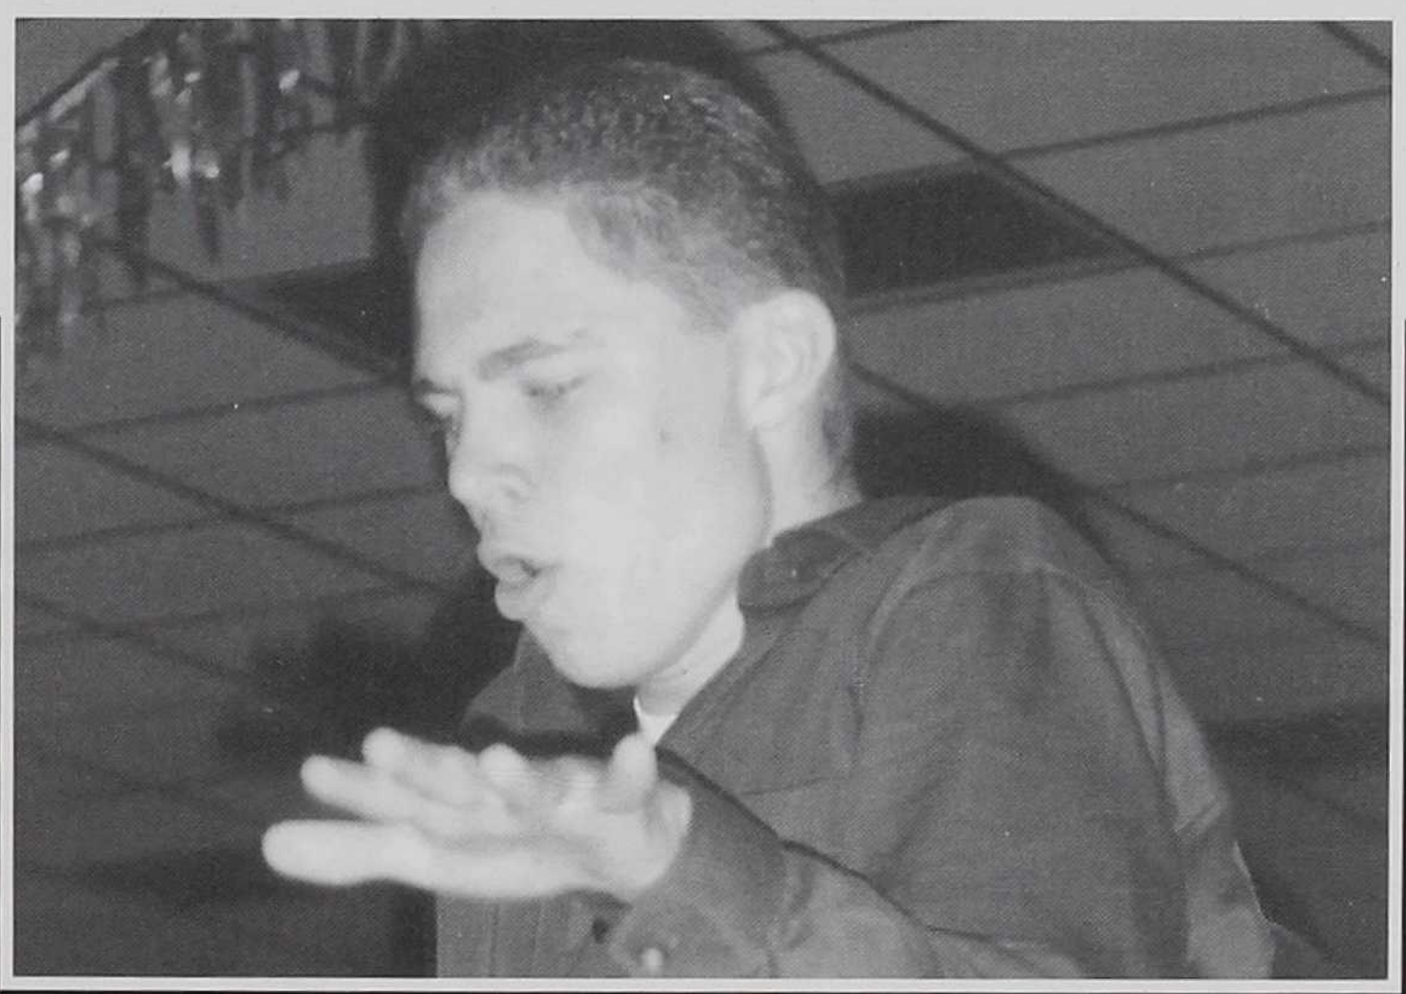
by Leslie Flynn

MAY I HAVE THIS DANCE

Sharing her expertise, sophomore Kaleigh Cantrell shows senior Aaron Donaldson the latest swing dancing moves. After just a few lessons, they were contest ready.

Senior Justin Stovall and sophomore Kristen Parsley take the floor for one last dance. Everyone that attended the dance had a great time, making it a complete success.





PAL member Casey Chapman gets her groove on at the first annual Winter Ball. The PAL members put a lot of time and energy into the preparation of the evenings events.

While at the first annual Winter Ball, senior Dusty Davis struts his stuff on the dance floor. A professional disc jockey was hired by the PAL class to play music for the special occasion.

SPORTS

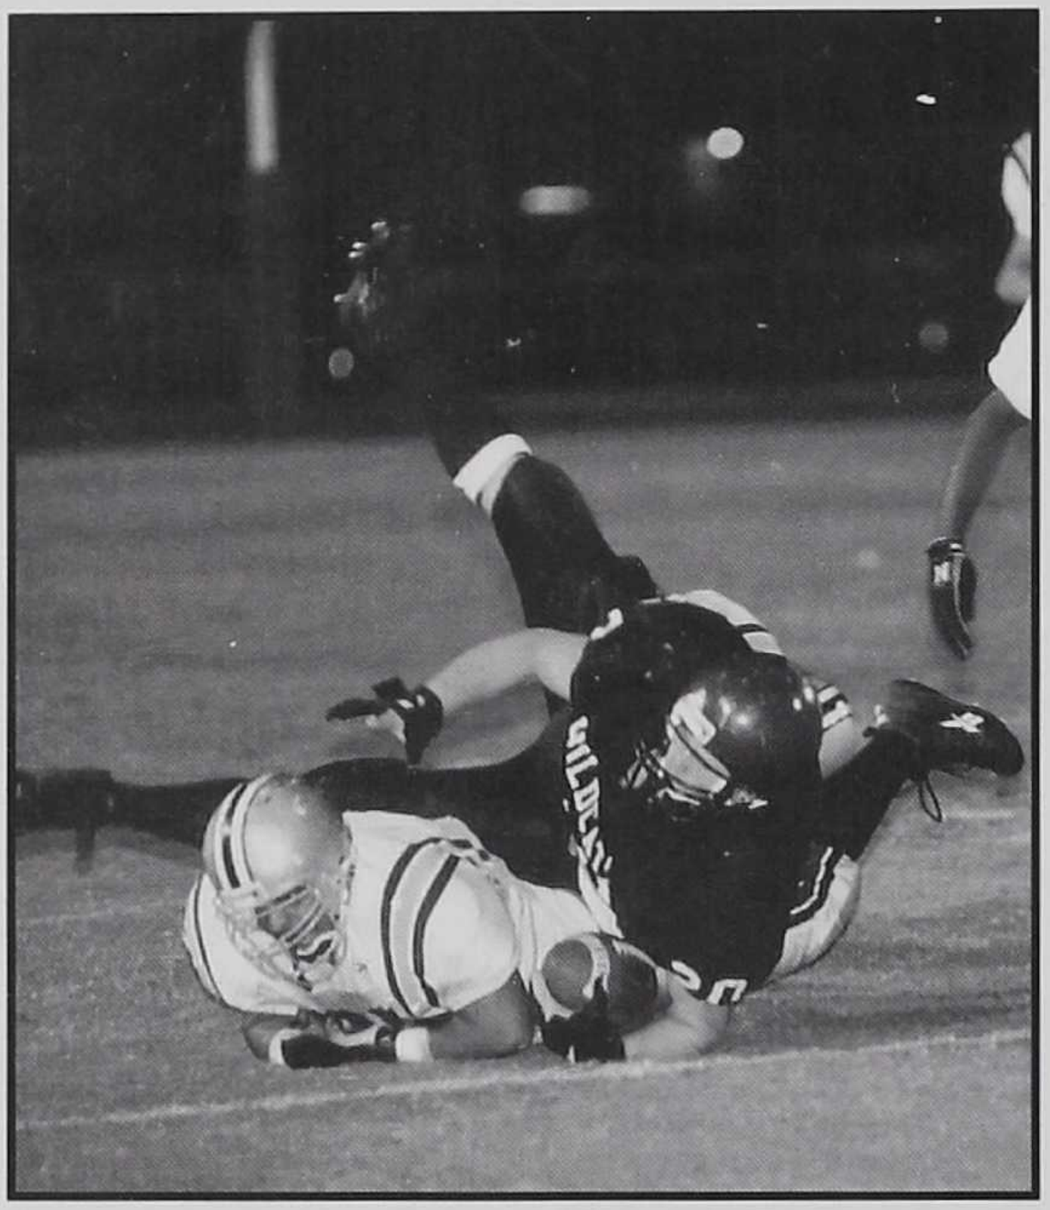
A true athlete trains hard and plays to win. The coaches and athletes came together to design game winning strategies that were necessary to compete. Regardless of what they had done to prepare, it all came down to that given moment and what they did with

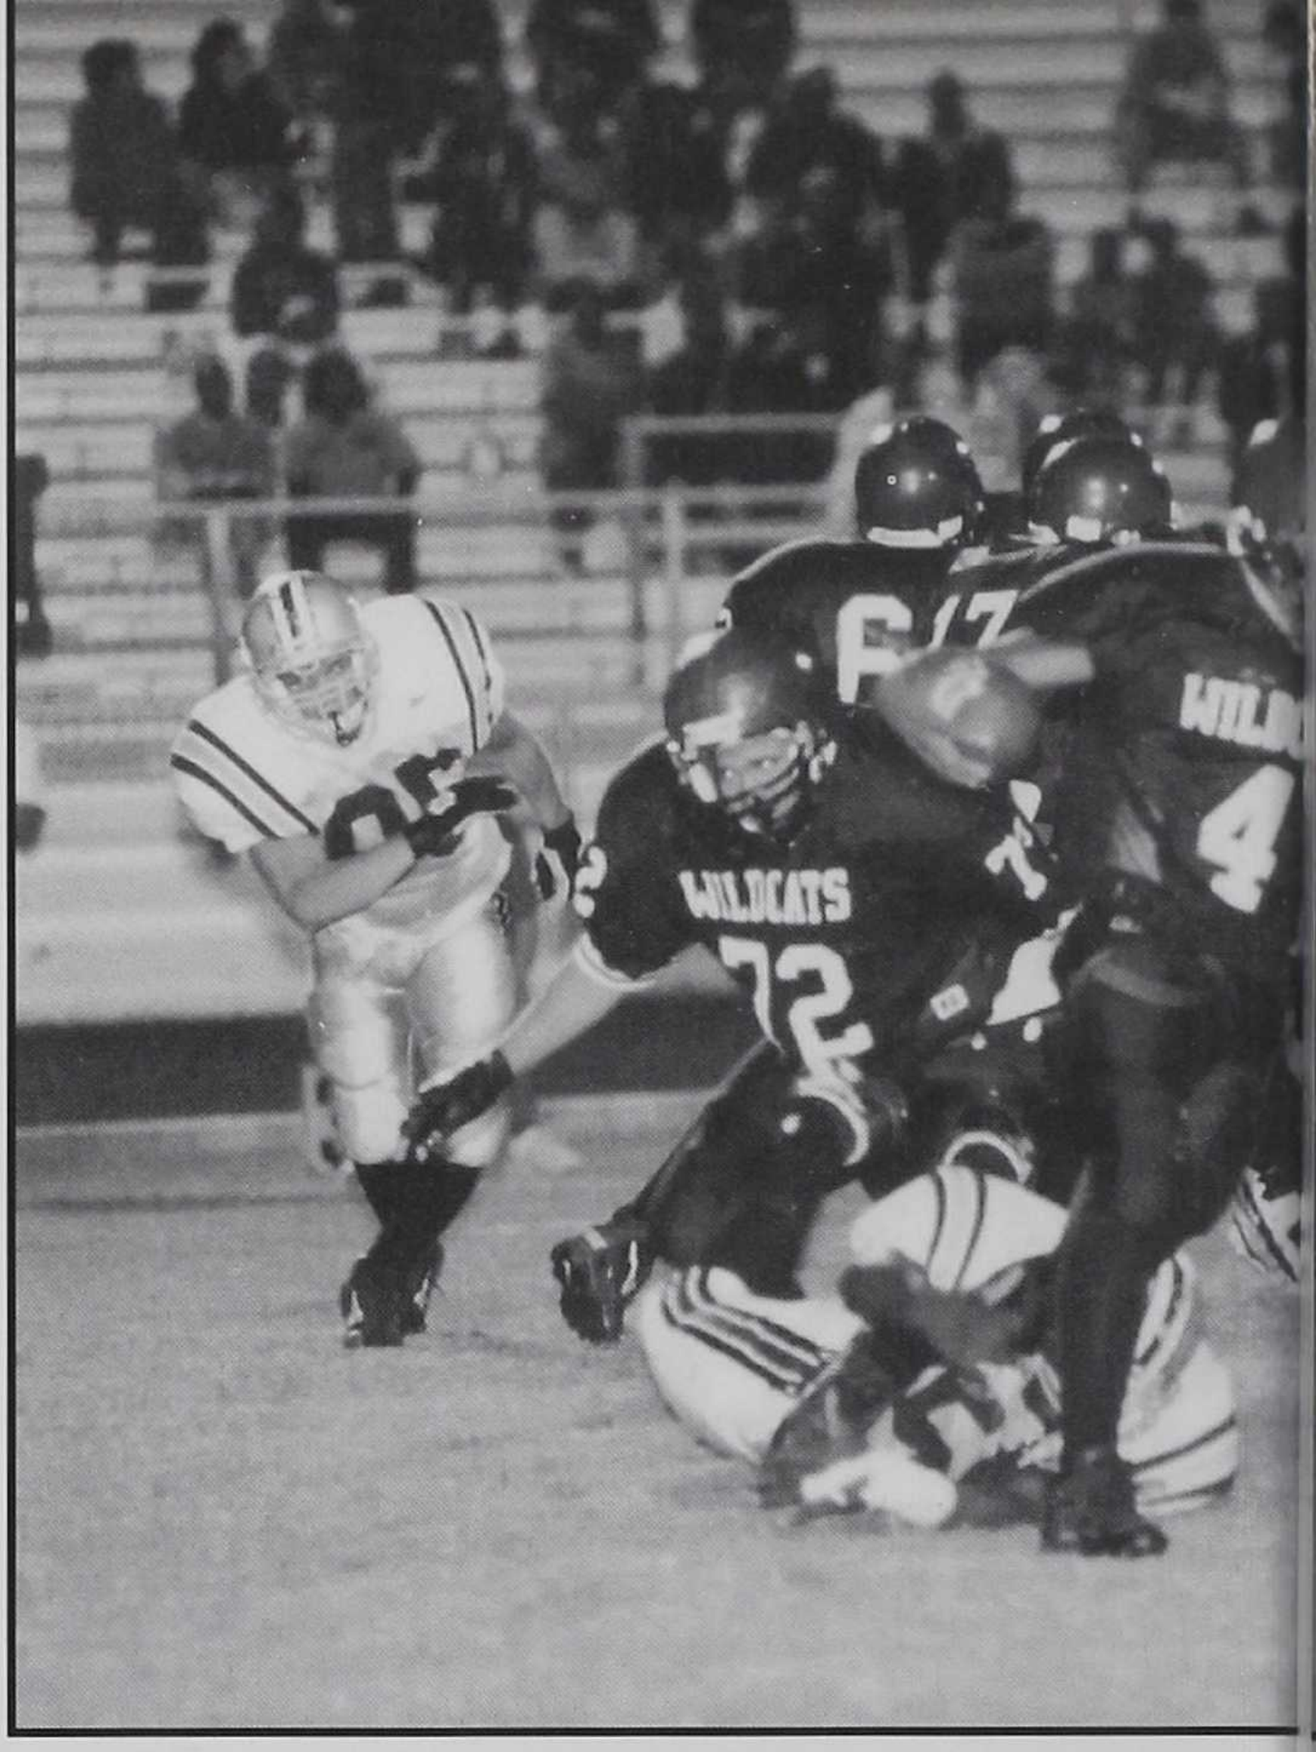
THE TIME ON THE CLOCK.

On the track, the field, or the court, the individual team members united as one. Through victory and defeat, the athletes learned from the blood, sweat, and tears that they shared.

Junior running back Lendell Griggs escapes a tackle during the homecoming game versus Hillsboro. Griggs led the Wildcats in rushing yards and earned a spot on First Team All-district.

Going the distance, junior Luke Franks puts up a hard fight during the homecoming game. Franks was an asset to the teams defense as a leading tackler and linebacker.





MEN OF WAR

The Wildcat team members and coaches could be seen on the fields during the "two-a-day" practices, learning and executing the plays that were designed for the 1999 season. The sweat and pain that was endured while practicing in the hot Texas heat had paid off for the Wildcats. The season opened with a victory in the new stadium.

During the pre-district games, the Wildcats were able to shut down 4A Mineral Wells, 11-7, with both conservative defense and an explosive offense. Throughout the season, the Wildcats faced adversity due to both injury and illness. As a result, team members learned new plays to accommodate the injuries.

As the Wildcats entered District 11-3A action, the players displayed their versatility in their willingness to play multiple positions. Junior Lendell Griggs proved to be an asset to the team as both a quarterback and running back. As a result of Griggs dedication and skill displayed on the field, he was named First Team All-district Running Back. As the junior varsity team members stepped up to help the varsity, sophomore Josh Lanfear took control of the offense as the starting quarterback. He led the Wildcats into battle against the fierce Alvarado Indians. With the Indians picked to win, the Wildcats pulled away with a final score of 20-6. Junior linebacker Luke Franks and senior receiver Derik Patton led the Wildcats to a 22-17 win over the Carter Riverside Eagles.

First Team All-district Offensive Lineman, junior Jason Maley commented, "The season didn't go as expected, but we are working hard and I am really looking forward to competing against the teams in our newly realigned district next season." As the season came to a close, the Wildcats fell to Aledo and Lake Worth, both eventual play off teams.

The Wildcats ended the year with a 2-2 district record, 3-7 overall, and only a few points shy of a playoff berth. Junior Curtis Mays stated, "Although I had hoped for a better season, I am confident that we will win next year. We have a lot of talent on the team and we are training hard in preparation."

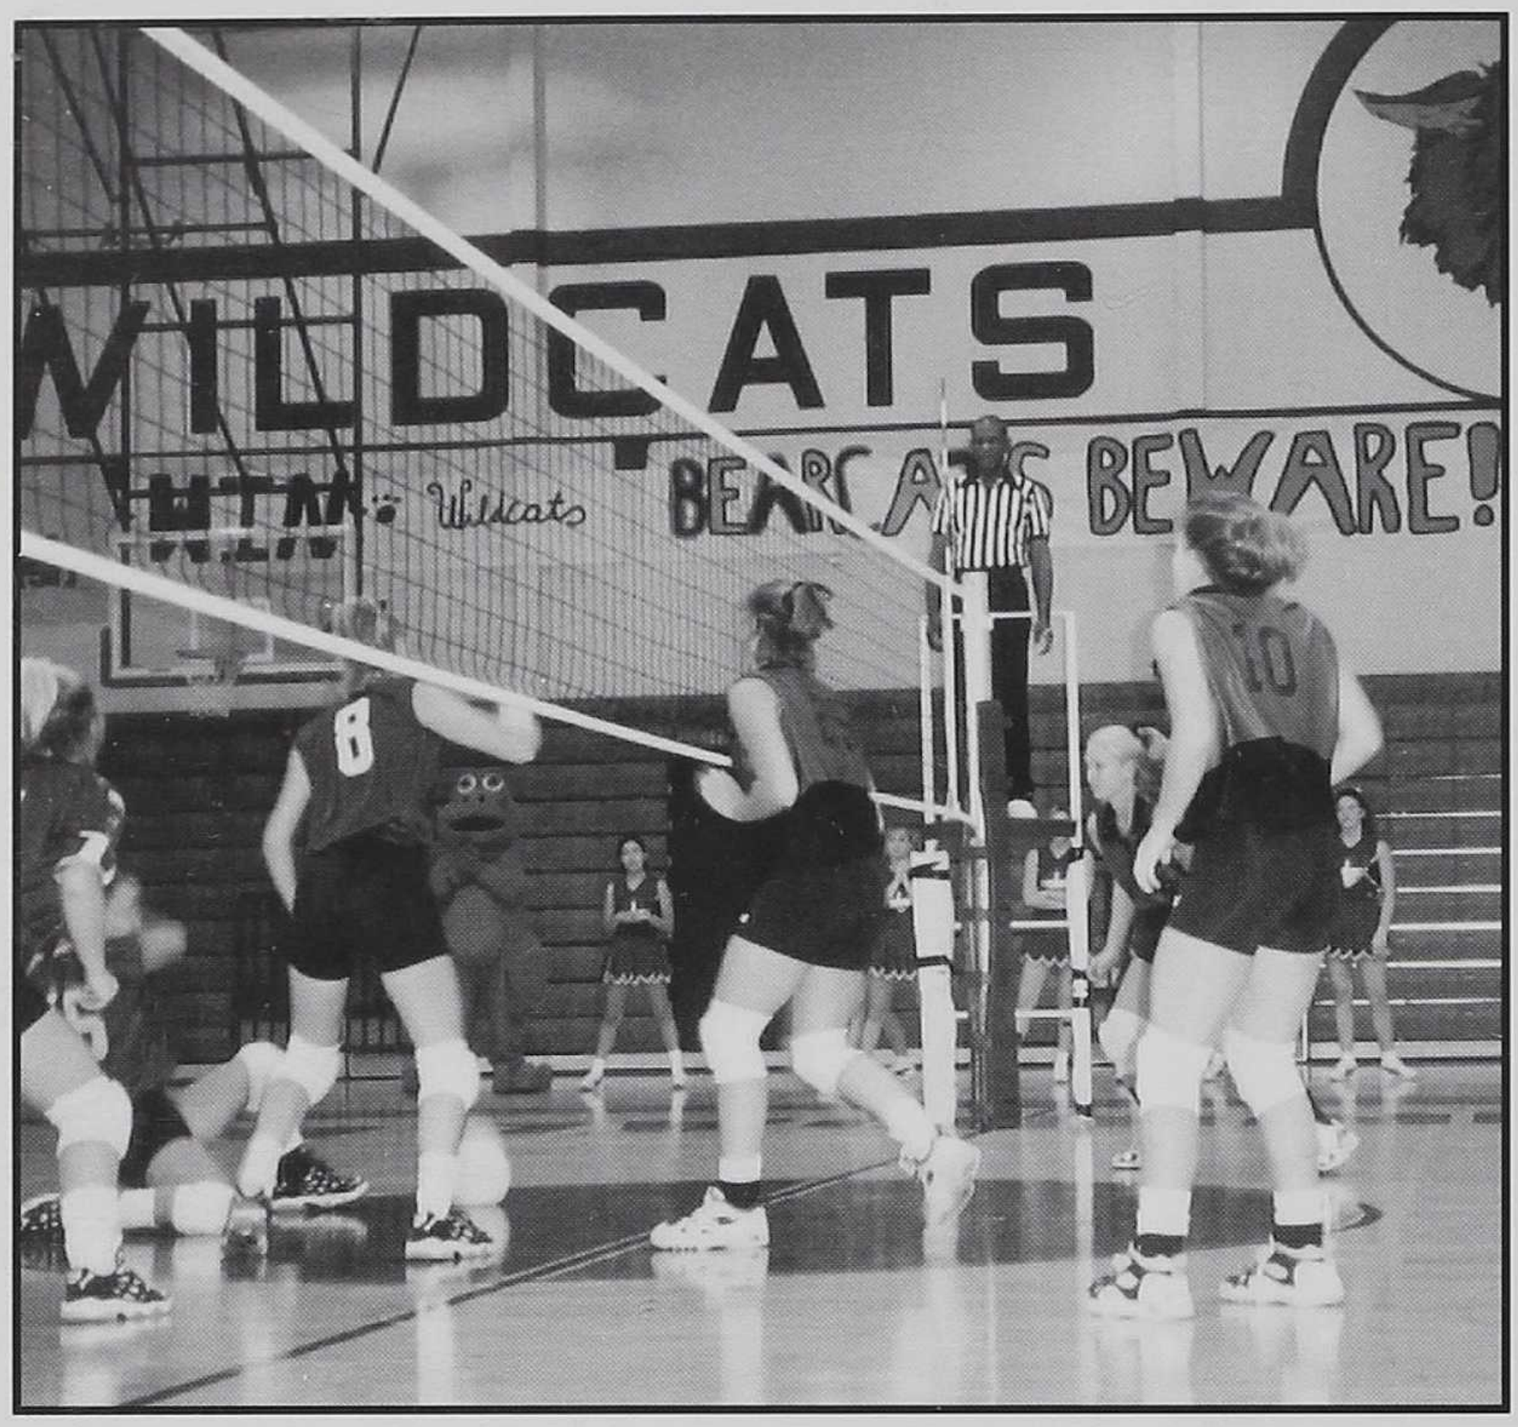
Kennedale awaits the opportunity to score against the Lake Worth Lady Bull Frogs. The LadyKats had a well balanced attack of powerful offense and a quick defense.



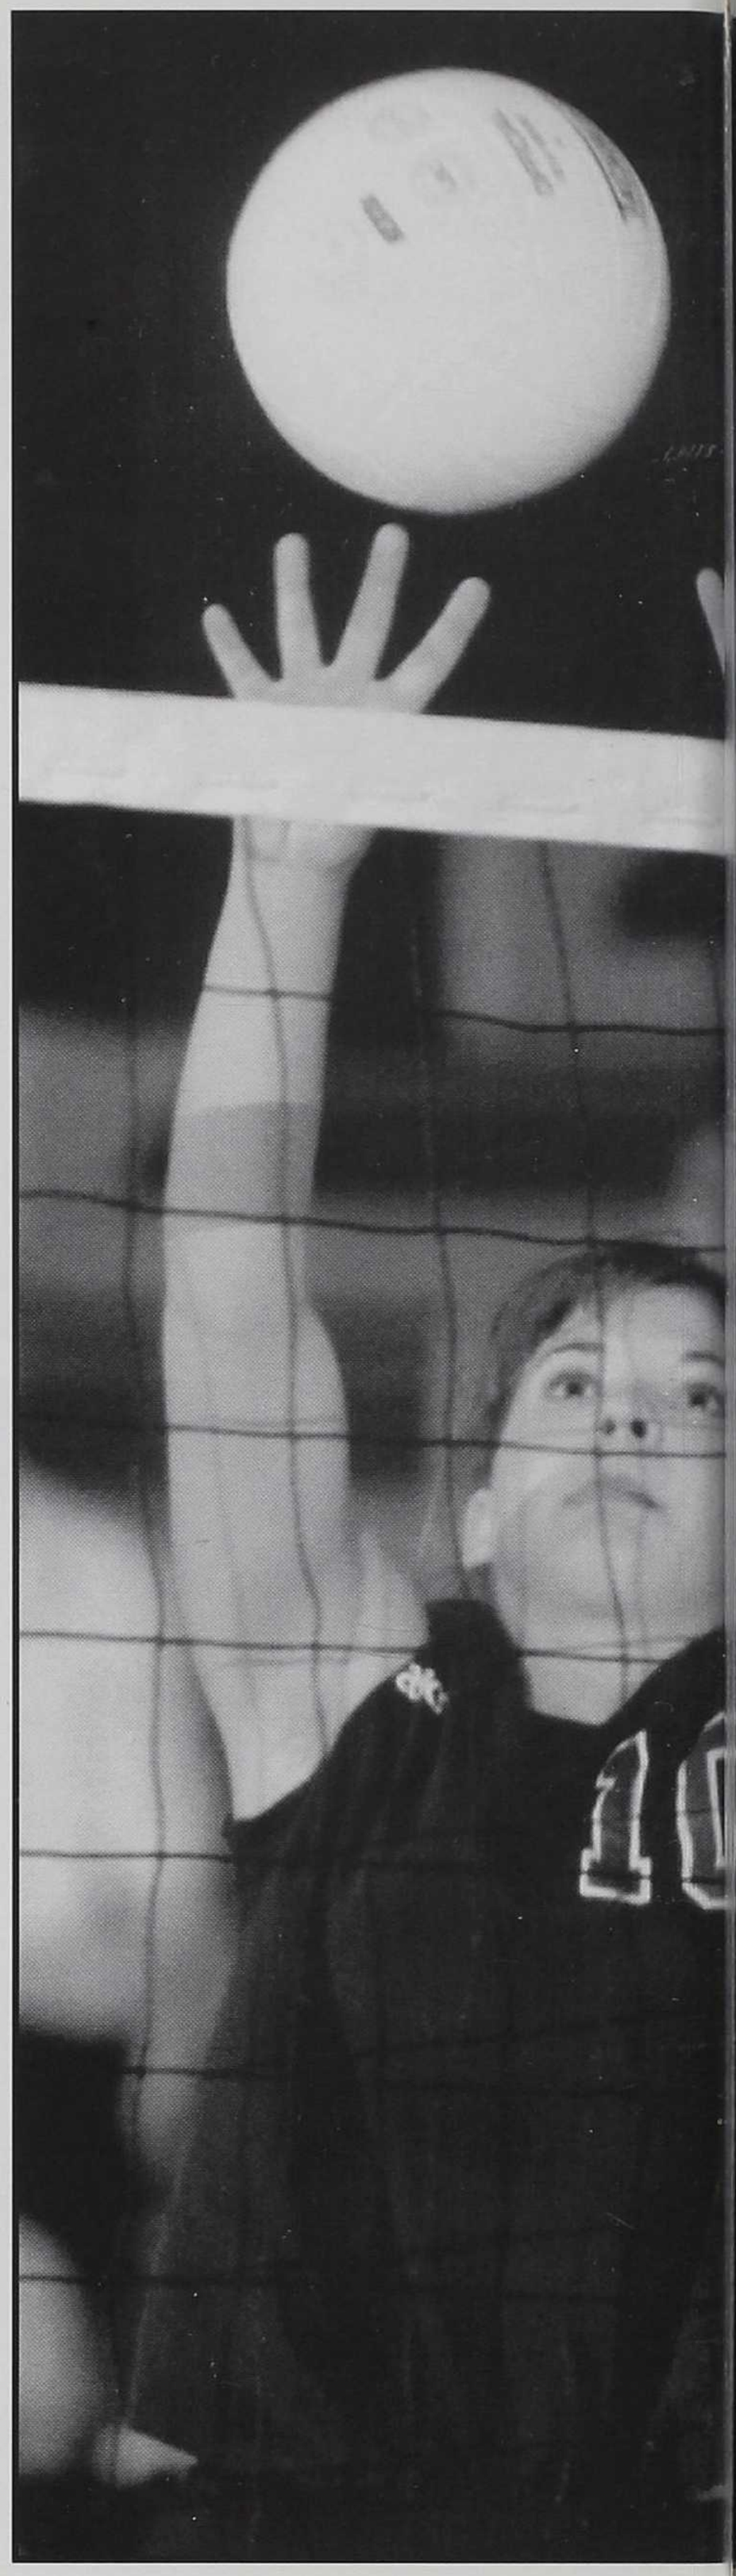
SPIKIN' THE COMPETITION

The LadyKat volleyball team successfully completed the race to become District 11-3A Champions.

On October 22, the LadyKats defeated the Aledo Bearcats, which resulted in the two teams sharing the title of district champs. This win was also significant in that it was the first district loss that Aledo had suffered in four years.

Led by team captains Joni Greenfield and Holly Golden, the LadyKats finished the season with an overall record of 18-9, and a district record of 9-2. Senior captain Joni Greenfield was named the District 11-3A Most Valuable Player. "She always did a great job. Every practice, every game, she gave one-hundred percent. I couldn't ask for anything more than that," commented Coach Holman.

Also receiving All-district honors were Angela Phillips for Best Blocker and Lindsey Little for Best Server. Nominated to First Team All-district were Holly Golden and Rachel Wynalda, and Second Team All-district was Amanda Trevino. Sophomores Brittany Mason, Ashlee Taylor, and Catherine Boenig received Honorable Mentions.



Senior Joni Greenfield taps the ball over the block of a defender from Forney. The win enabled the LadyKats to advance to the Bi-district playoffs.

Coach Lenzmeier gives Samantha Lashmet and Rachel Sparkman some last minute tips before they run at the district meet at Vandergriff Park in Arlington. The girls team always maintained a competitive edge throughout the 1999 season.

THE DESIRE TO EXCEL

The 1999 Kennedale Cross Country team had a spectacular season. Impressive individual efforts and high set team goals led the way as they ran into the new millennium. The Wildcats showed their strength and endurance on the way to becoming both boys and girls regional qualifiers.

Many of the runners were new to the cross country program and showed surprising ability and determination. The dedicated team members arrived at school around six in the morning and then headed out to run their four to five mile routes that were laid out by their coach. They could often be seen finishing their run as the other students were arriving for the school day.

Their persistence helped the Wildcats continue the tradition of producing state qualifiers. Senior Clay Rickard finished ninth at the regional meet, which qualified him to advance to State where he placed thirtieth out of approximately one-hundred runners. Rickard was also the District 11-3A champ. Senior Aaron Wood and sophomore Windy Smith also experienced success, running their way to becoming regional qualifiers.

About the season, Coach Lenzmeier said, "We had a productive year... I'm excited for next year because of all the young runners coming up." The cross country team of Kennedale continues to be a team of desire and excellence.

Senior Clay Rickard runs his way to qualifying for his second trip to the state meet. Rickard took first place at the District 11-3A meet which was held at Vandergriff Park in Arlington.

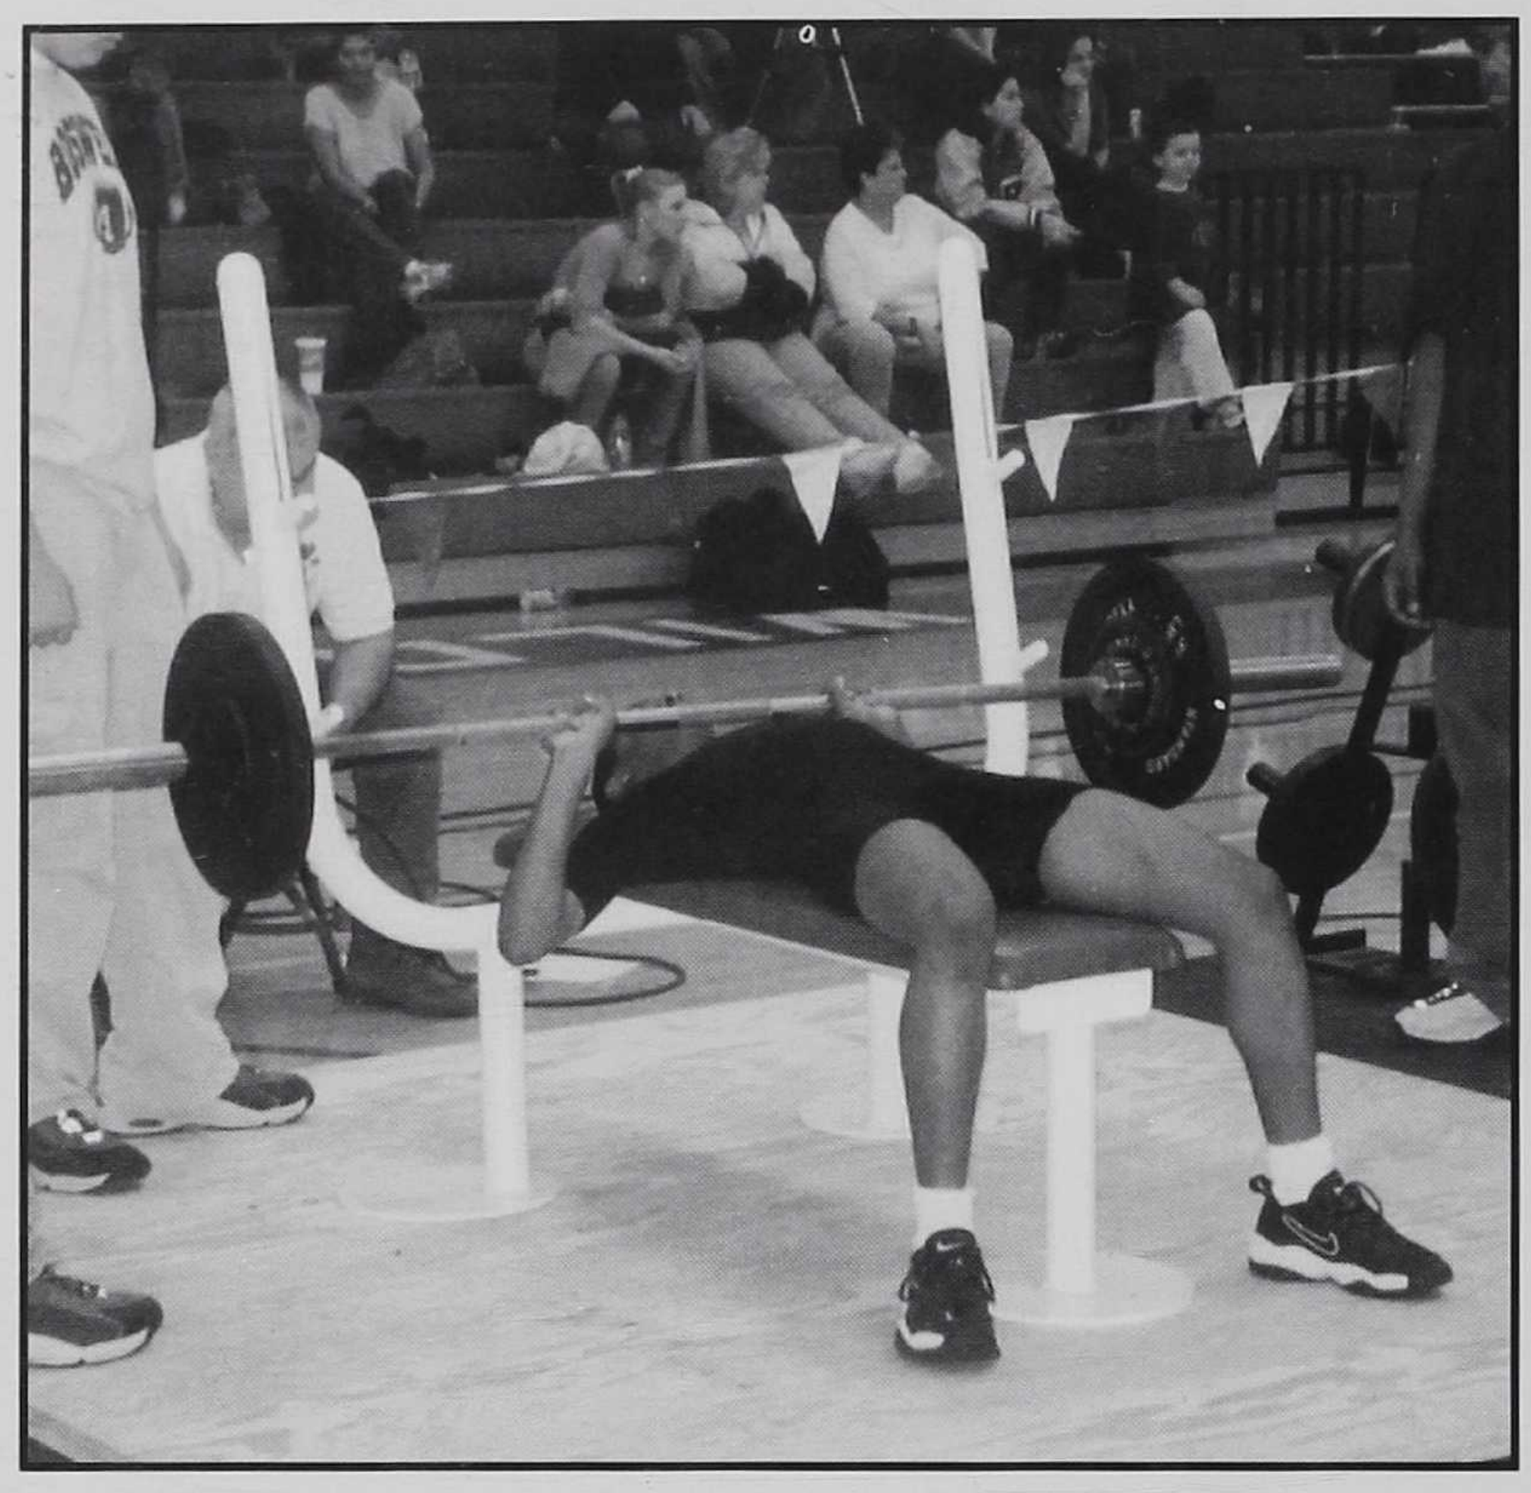
Freshman Brandon Cooper attempts the 135 pound bench press at the Boswell power lifting meet. Cooper went on to place eighth at regionals.



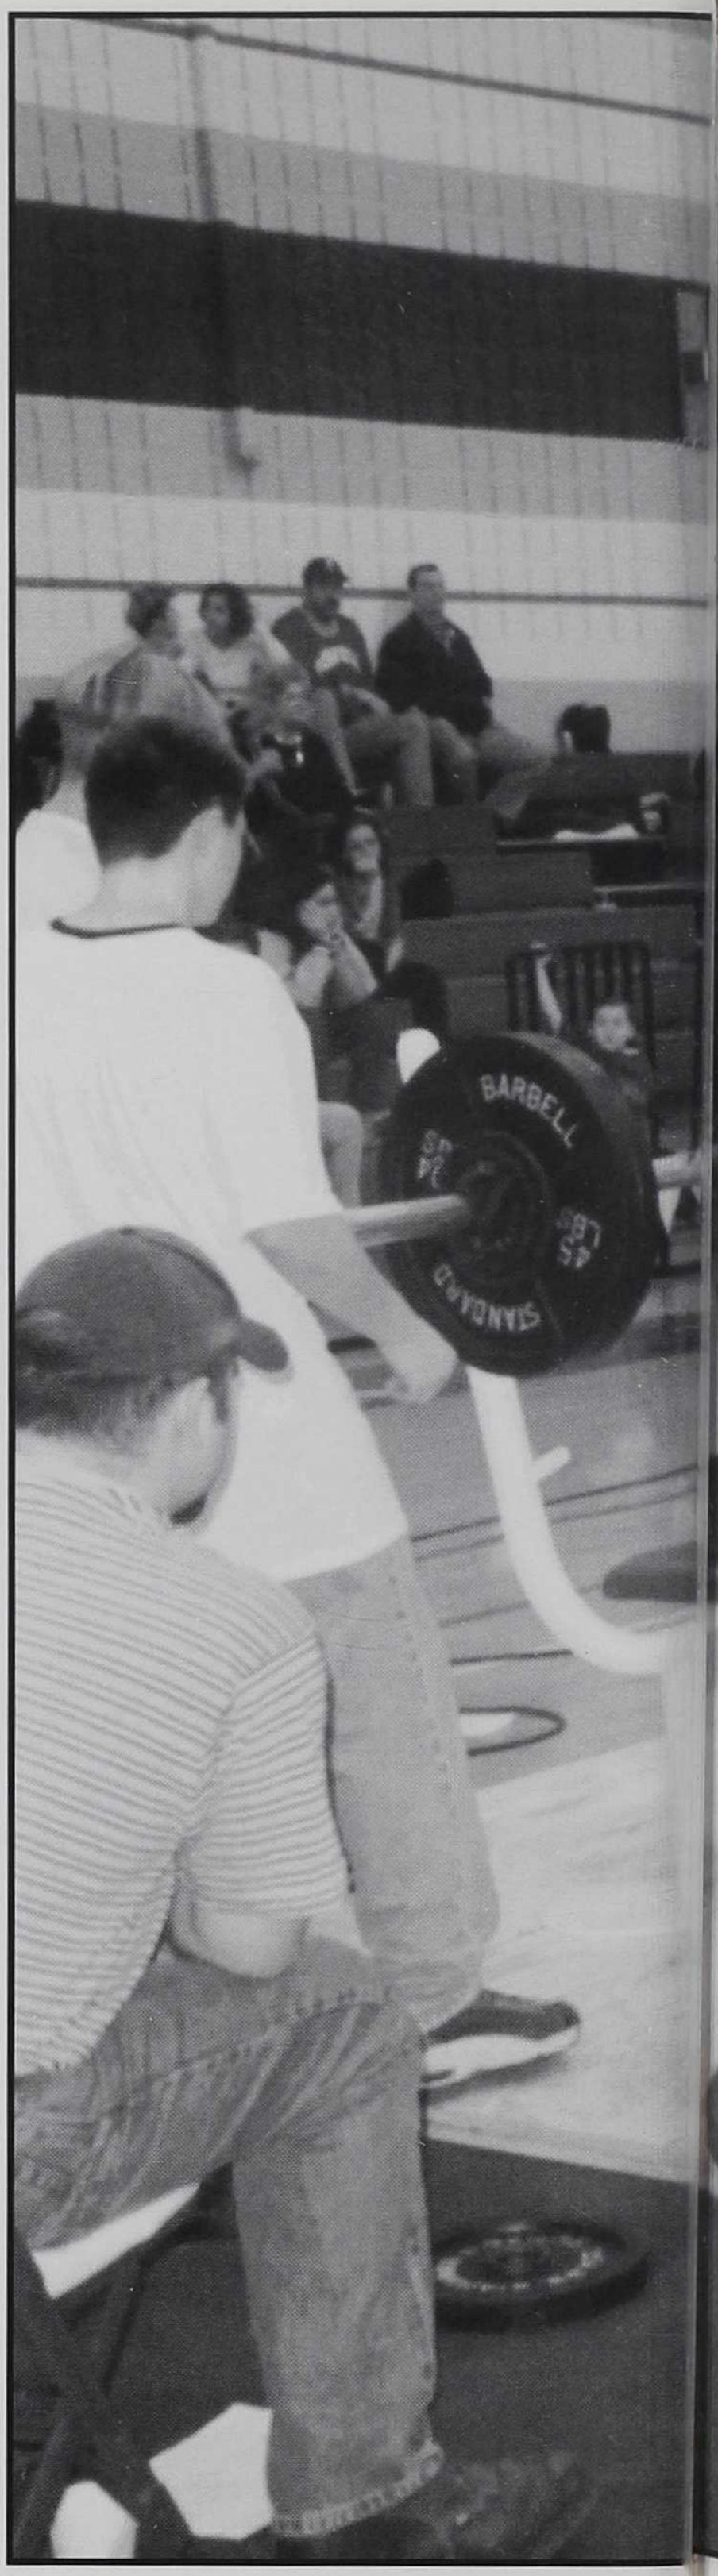
NO PAIN, NO GAIN

The Wildcat power lifting team enjoyed much success. Participation increased this year, as the team consisted of ten members.

The Wildcats competed in regular season meets at Lake Dallas, Godley, Boswell, and Sanger. They proved to be tough competitors, having at least one or more lifters place in the top five at every meet. The season highlights were when freshman Brandon Cooper and senior Wayne Richardson qualified for the regional meet held in Howe, Texas. Cooper put on the finishing touches with a fantastic season as he placed eighth at regionals with a total lift of 660 pounds. Cooper stated, "After much encouragement from people in the athletic department, I decided to join the team. I plan to continue weight training in preparation for next year."

Senior Kevin Gann commented, "This year was my second year to participate in power lifting. I remember the first meet being kind of intimidating because I really didn't know what to expect, but after that I really enjoyed the competition. I definitely feel that I gained more strength throughout the season. Wayne Richardson and myself hope to join an independent power lifting team at an outside gym next year."

The 1999 power lifting team had a terrific season and hoped for continued success.



Senior Wayne Richardson successfully bench presses 275 pounds while at the Boswell meet. Richardson trained hard for the meets and was one of the most competitive members on the team.

HOOP SQUAD

The 1999-2000 Wildcat Boys Basketball Team gave their fans an exciting season.

Team captains senior Mike Alvarado and junior Brandon Knox helped lead the Wildcats to an impressive 19-12 record. As a result of their play on the court, the team was named District 11-3A Champions, Bi-district champions, and for the first time in school history, Area Champions. Coach King commented, "The team was able to achieve as well as it did because of the unity and chemistry among the players."

Receiving All-district honors were seniors Mark Biondi and Mike Alvarado. Juniors Brandon Knox, Mitchell Loerch, and Deyon Francis received Honorable Mention, and Rocky Smith was named Freshman of the Year for District 11-3A.

The achievements of the Wildcat Boys Basketball Team were impressive and made the season one to remember. This year's season set precedence which challenged future Kennedale teams to rise to the occasion.

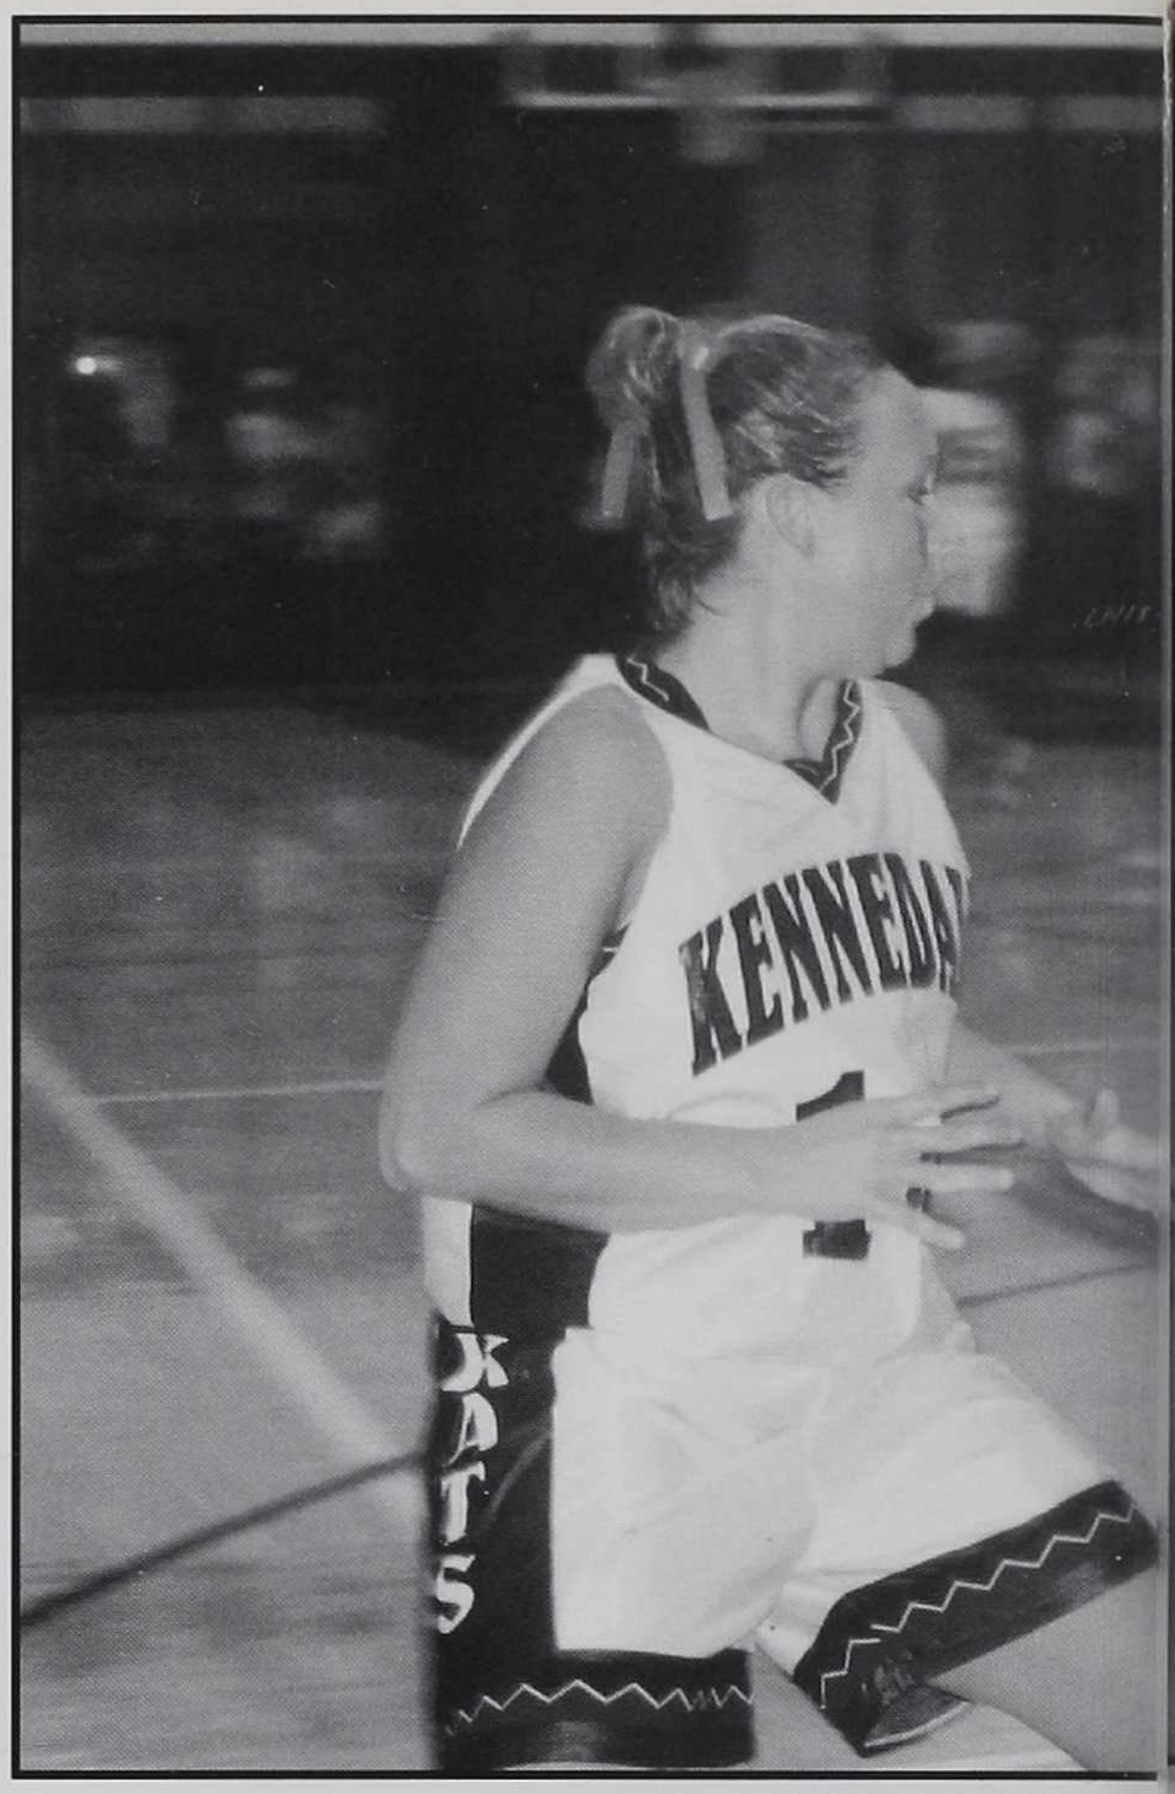
Senior Chaneera Francis goes in for a lay up as the Aledo defenders can only hope to contain her. Francis was nominated First Team All-district.



SHOOTING STARS

The LadyKat basketball season was impressive to say the least. Seniors Joni Greenfield, Chaneera Francis, and Carla Geeslin led the team into competition, instilling within them the desire and determination to win.

With their effort and hard work, the LadyKats were able to claw their way into the play offs. There, they defeated district rival Alvarado in the first round. In the Bi-district play offs, however, the LadyKat's season ended at the hands of the Forney Yellow Jackets. The LadyKats finished the season with a record of 13-17, and a three way tie for the district championship.

Gaining recognition was senior Joni Greenfield who was named the District 11-3A Most Valuable Player for the second consecutive year. Senior Chaneera Francis was selected to First Team All-district, and senior Carla Geeslin was named Second Team All-district.

The LadyKats proved to be a team of discipline and leadership as their "drive and never quit attitude" paved the way for success.

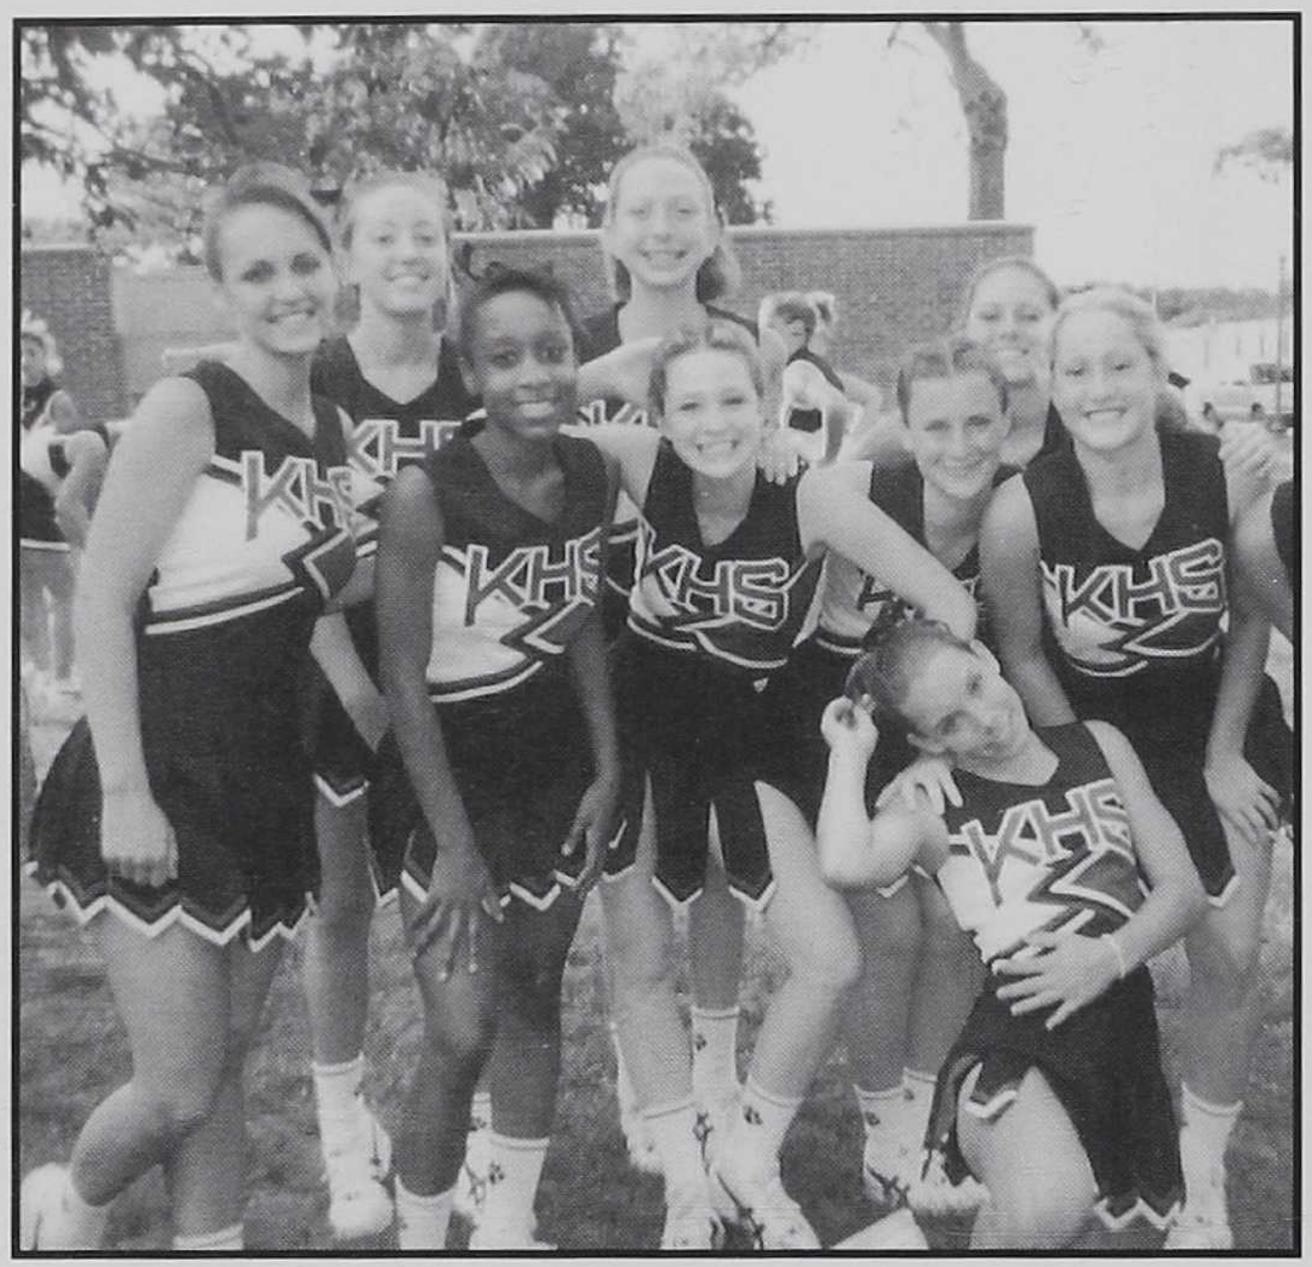
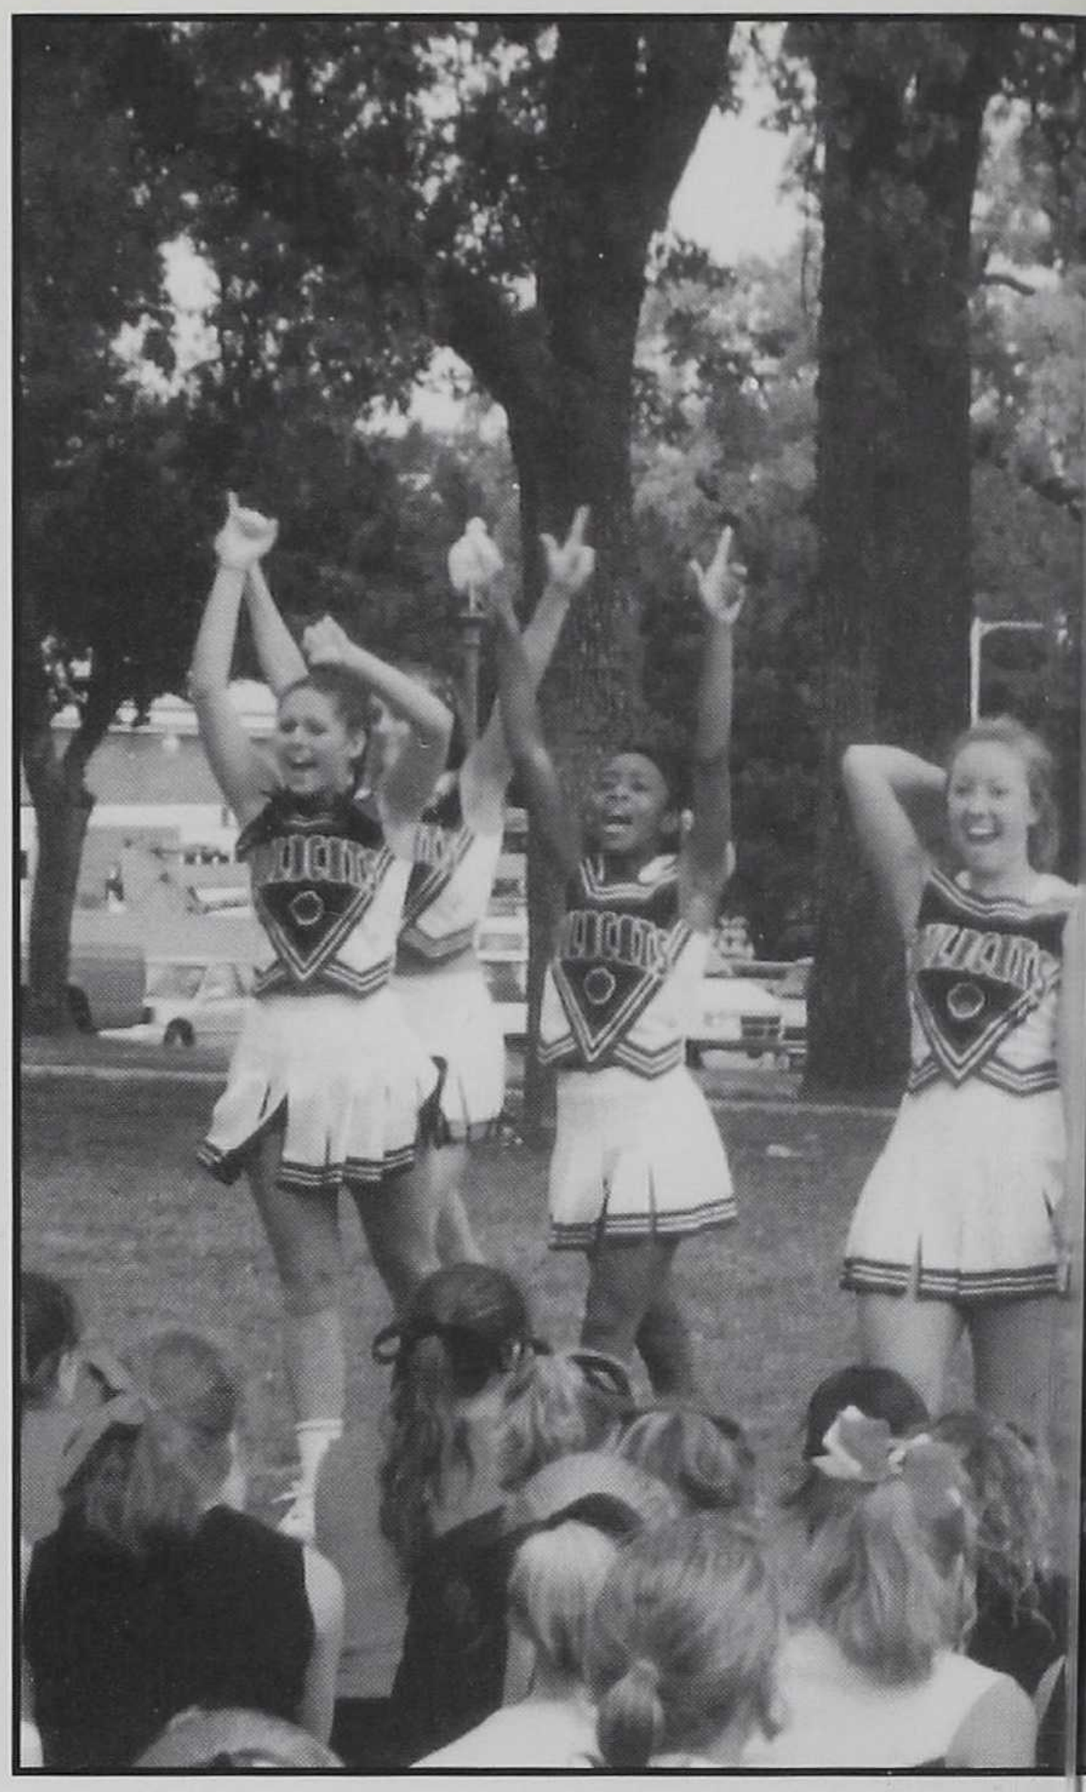
The varsity gets together for a little fun after performing at the Tarleton State NCA Cheerleading Camp. Both teams did well, taking home many awards.



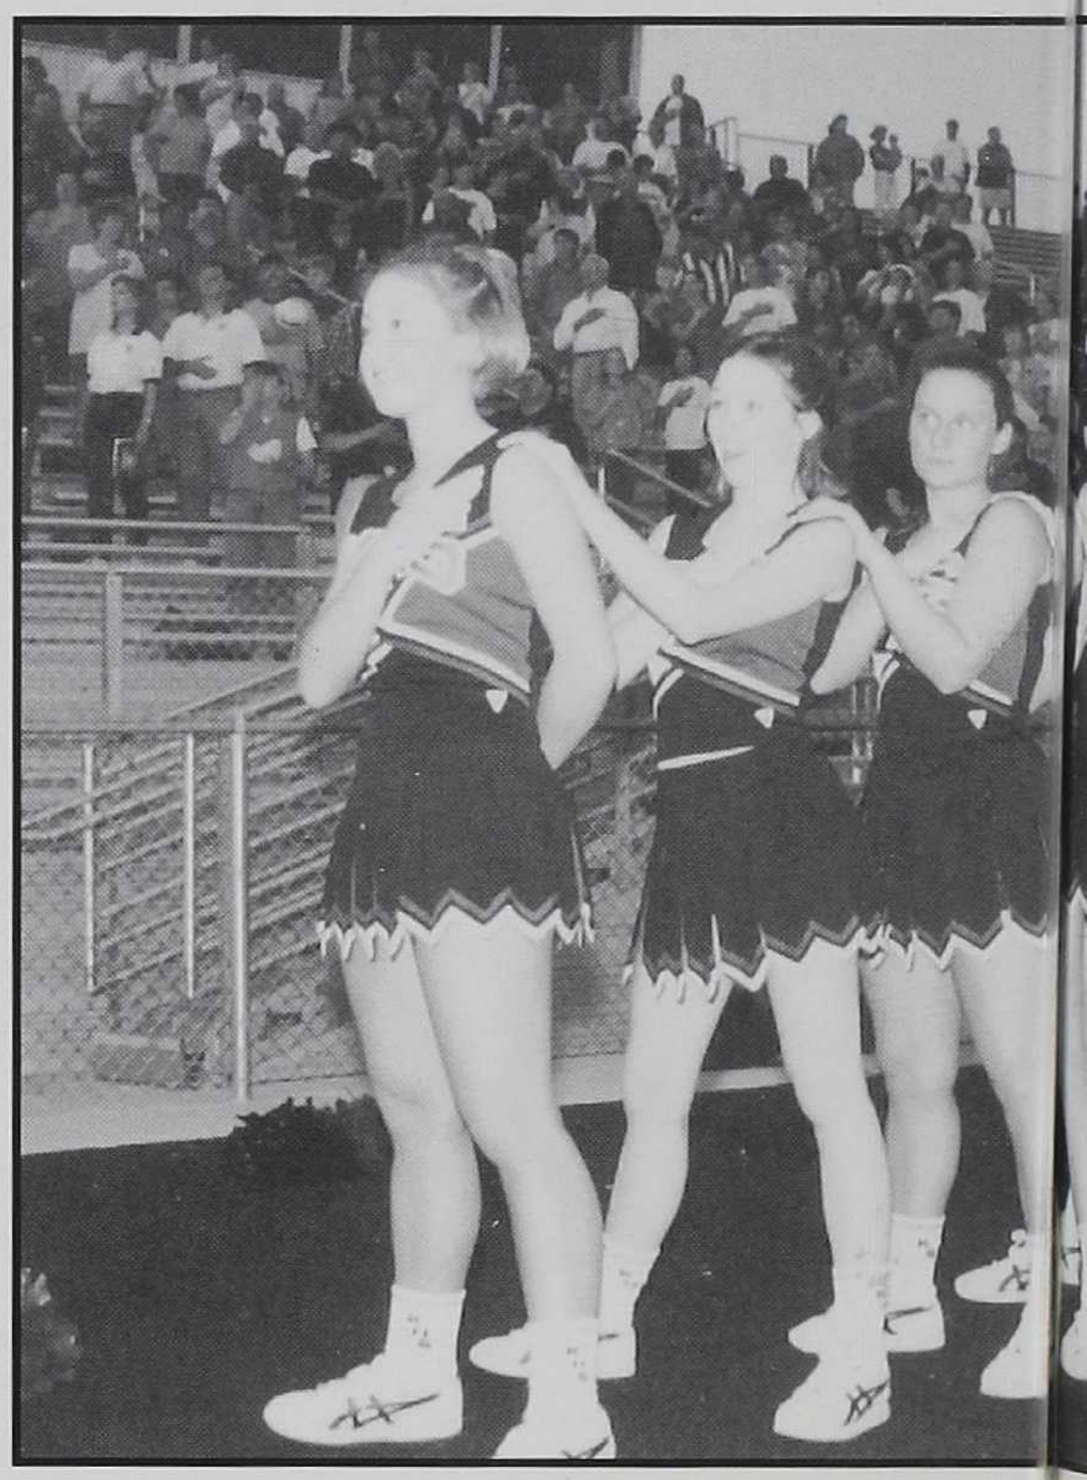


ALL FIRED UP

From the pep rallies to the football and basketball games, the Kennedale cheerleaders showed their spirit, motivating the Wildcat fans.

The cheerleaders spent countless hours practicing their stunts and perfecting their cheers. Regardless of whether the games ended in victory or defeat, they were always present, showing their pride and support. The highlight of the season was the camp conducted by the National Cheerleading Association that was held at Tarleton State University. While there, both teams received numerous awards for form, spirit, and teamwork. For the first time in school history, the cheerleaders earned a bid to perform at Nationals. Seniors Lindsay Kegans, Stephenie Keeton, Jackie Casbeer, and juniors Kelly Walls and Meghan O'Connor, were all nominated for the All-American Cheerleading Squad.

The cheerleaders top shape and enthusiasm allowed them to compete at such a high level. Varsity cheerleading coach Mrs. Ingram said, "It was a pleasure to work with such a close-knit group."



Before a football game, the varsity cheerleaders and mascot "Willie Wildcat" line up for the National Anthem. They were always a great source of inspiration for the Wildcats.

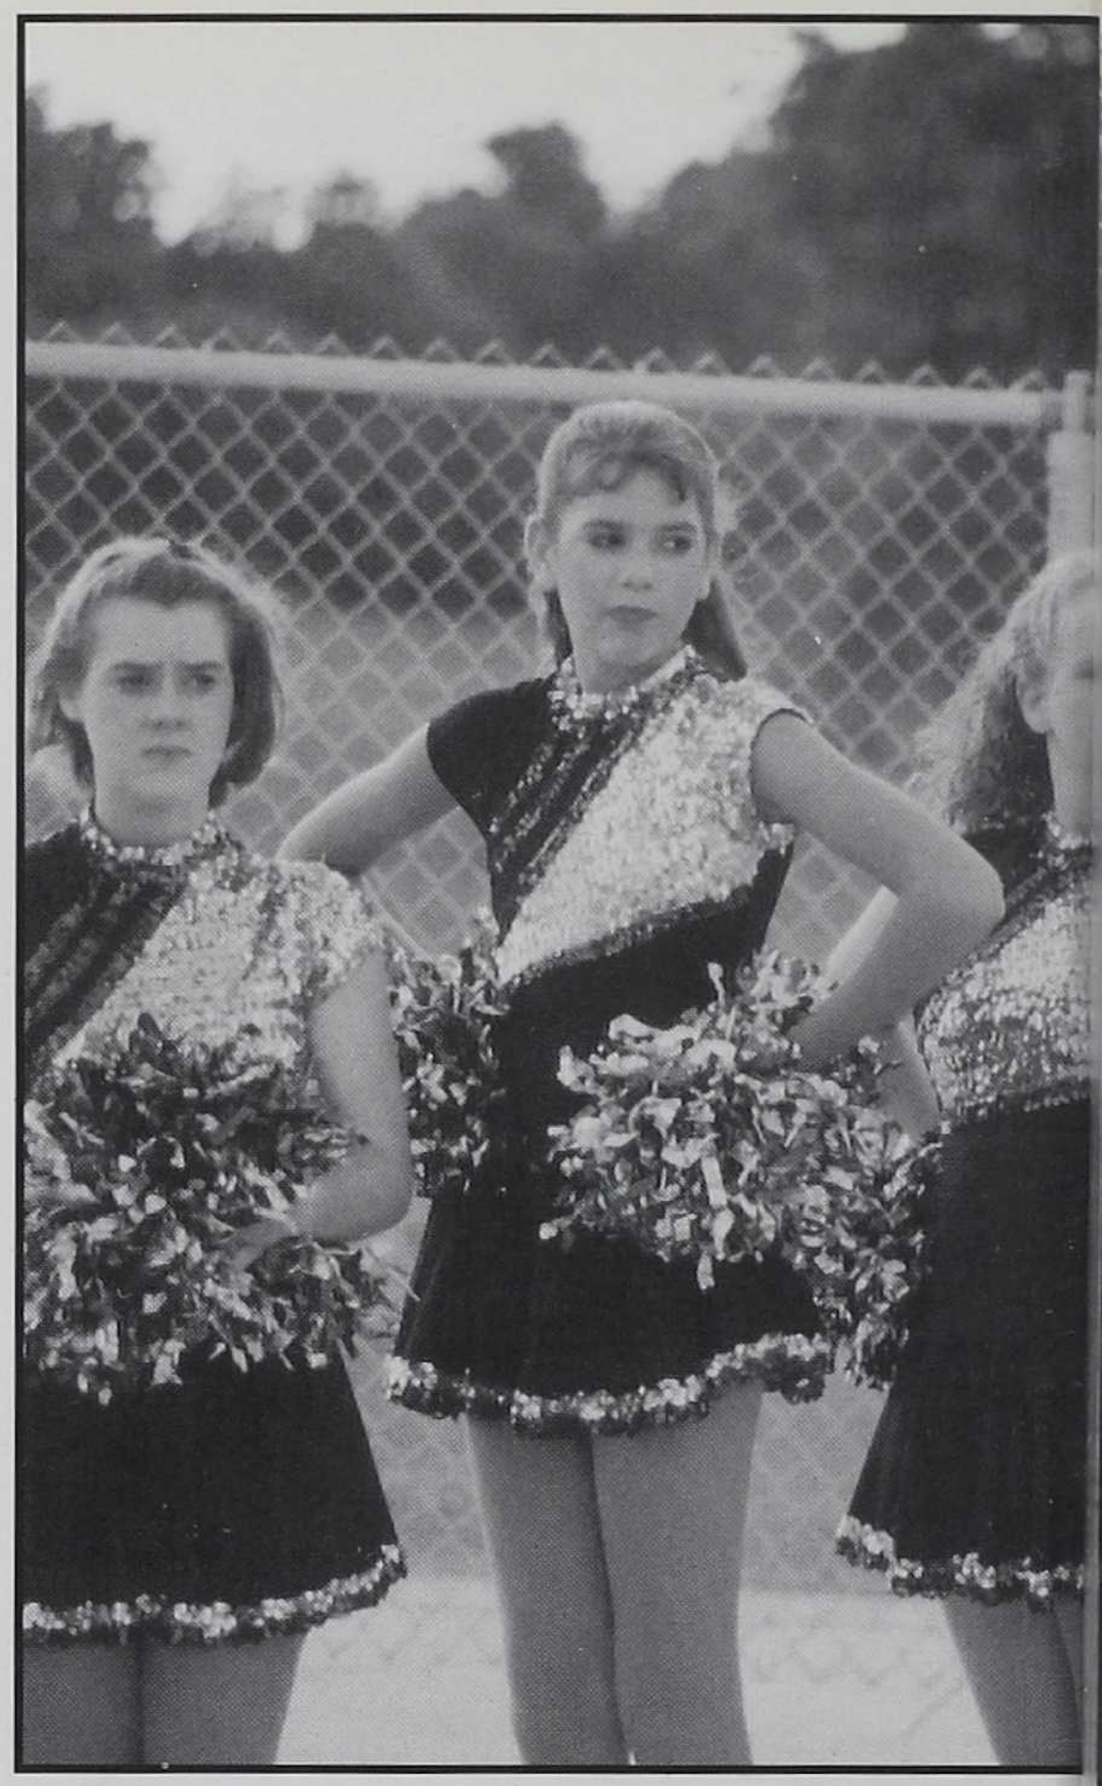
Captain and Lieutenant of the AristoKats, Bailey Ephland and Liz Humiston, discuss their half time performance as the Wildcat band enters the stands. During the games, the drill team and band members kept the crowd entertained.



RAISIN' THE ROOF

During the pep rallies, football games, and basketball games, chances were, if the crowd was enthused, the AristoKat Drill Team was performing.

Throughout the year, the AristoKats set high goals and made many accomplishments. The time spent together was a learning experience for all members.

Senior Lieutenant Liz Humiston commented, "This year we really strived together as a team. Unity brought us to the next level." At the competitions, the AristoKats represented Kennedale well, bringing home many awards. While at Marching Auxiliaries Camp, the entire team won All-American nominations and received the prestigious Home Routine Award.

At the Show Time International Competition in San Antonio, the team brought home the Sweepstakes Trophy, and the distinction of performing the best jazz dance out of every 1A, 2A, and 3A team that participated. The AristoKats set high levels of achievement and inspired future drill teams for many years to come.

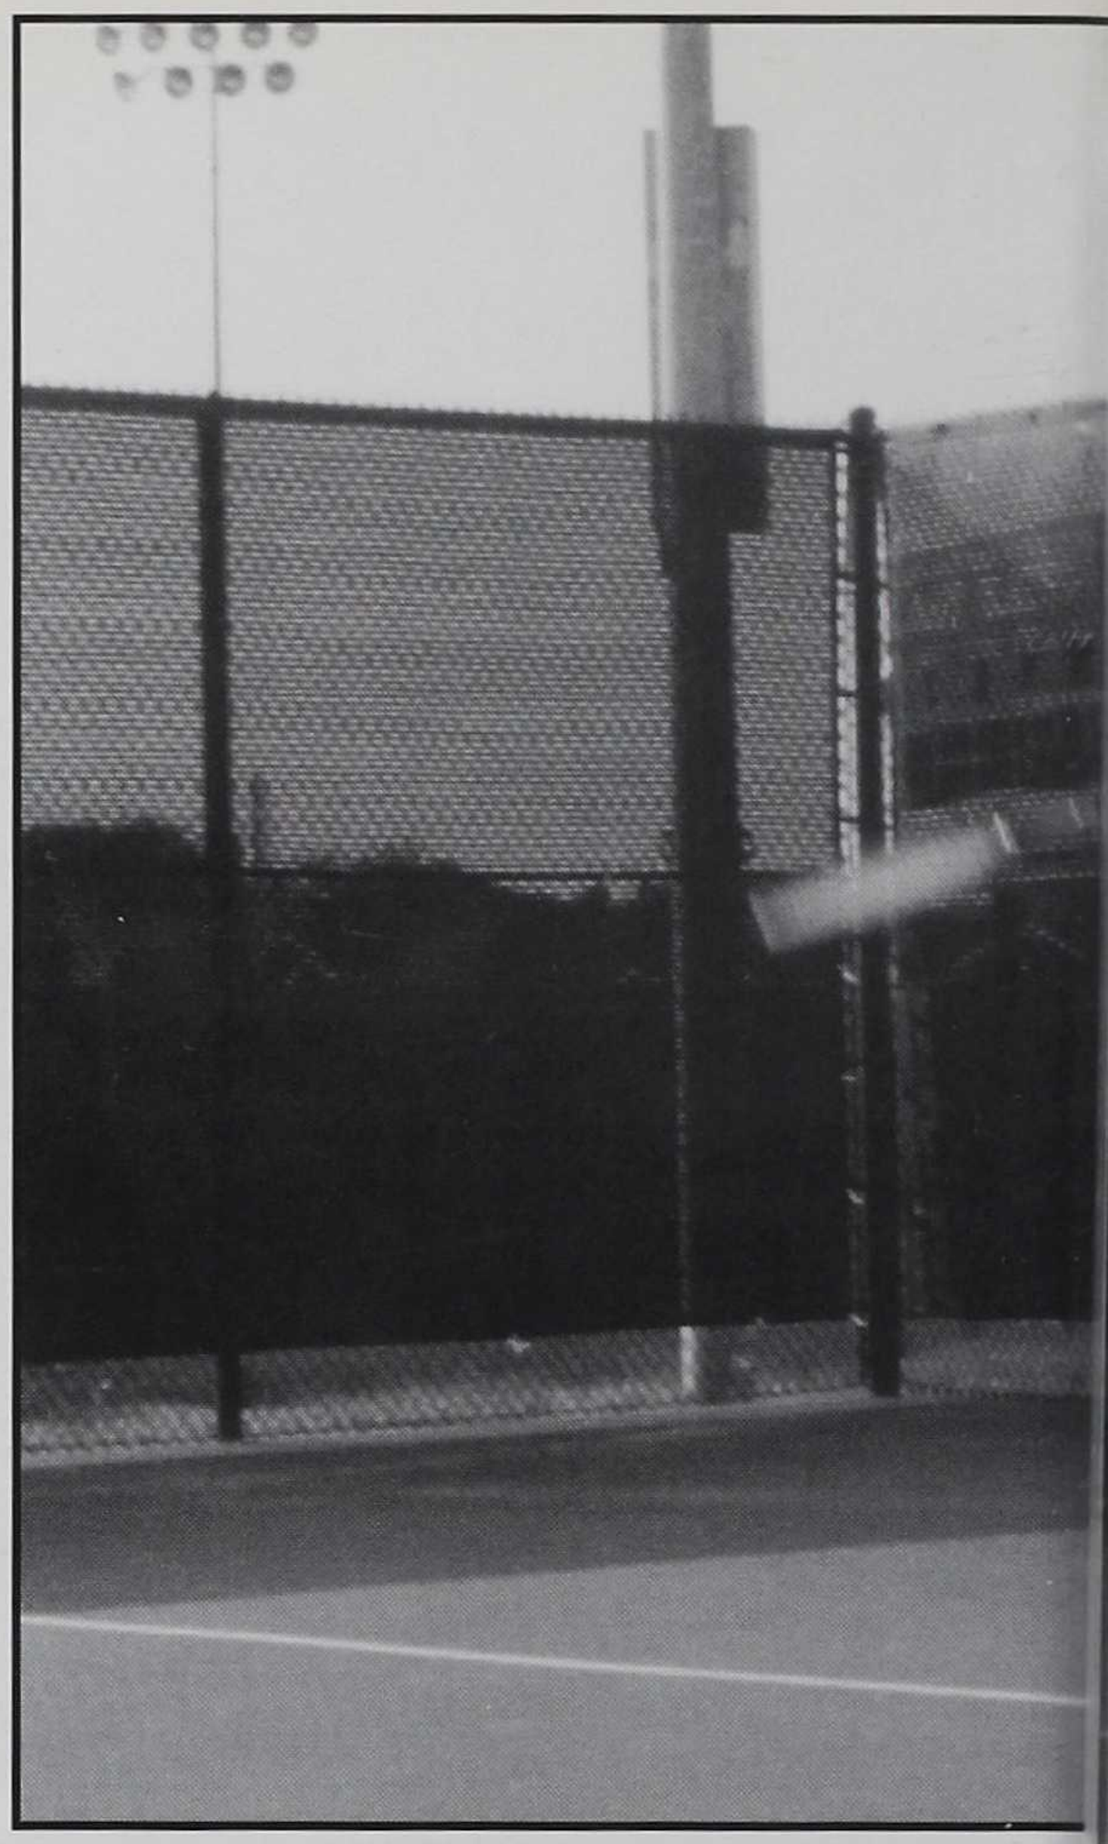
Senior Zech Santos hits a forehand crossing shot during a match at Kennedale. Santos was the "unofficial" leader of the boys team.



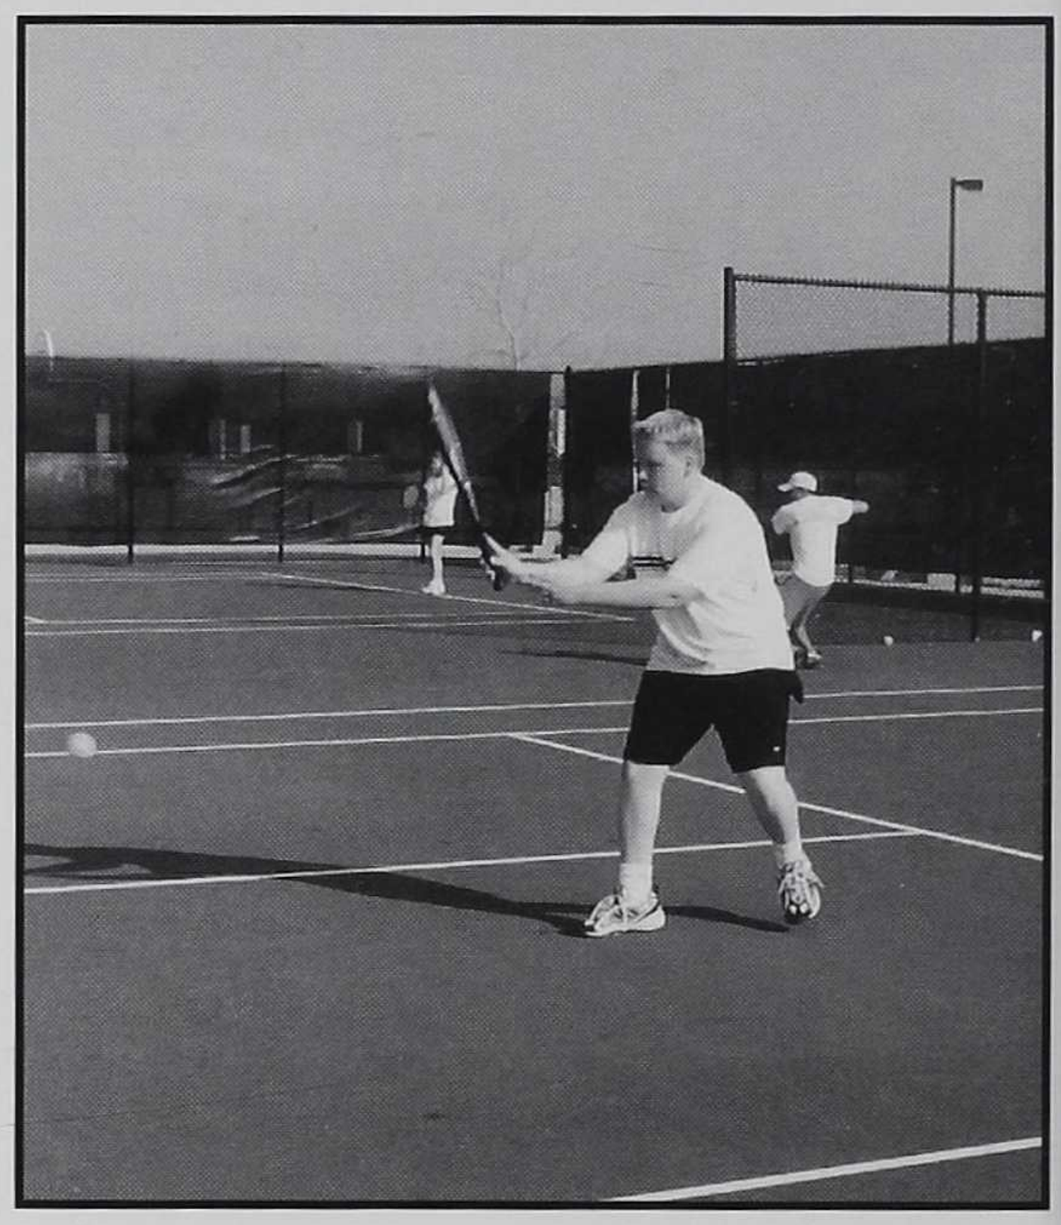
FOR "LOVE" OF THE GAME

With many veterans on the tennis team, they looked forward to their season with much optimism.

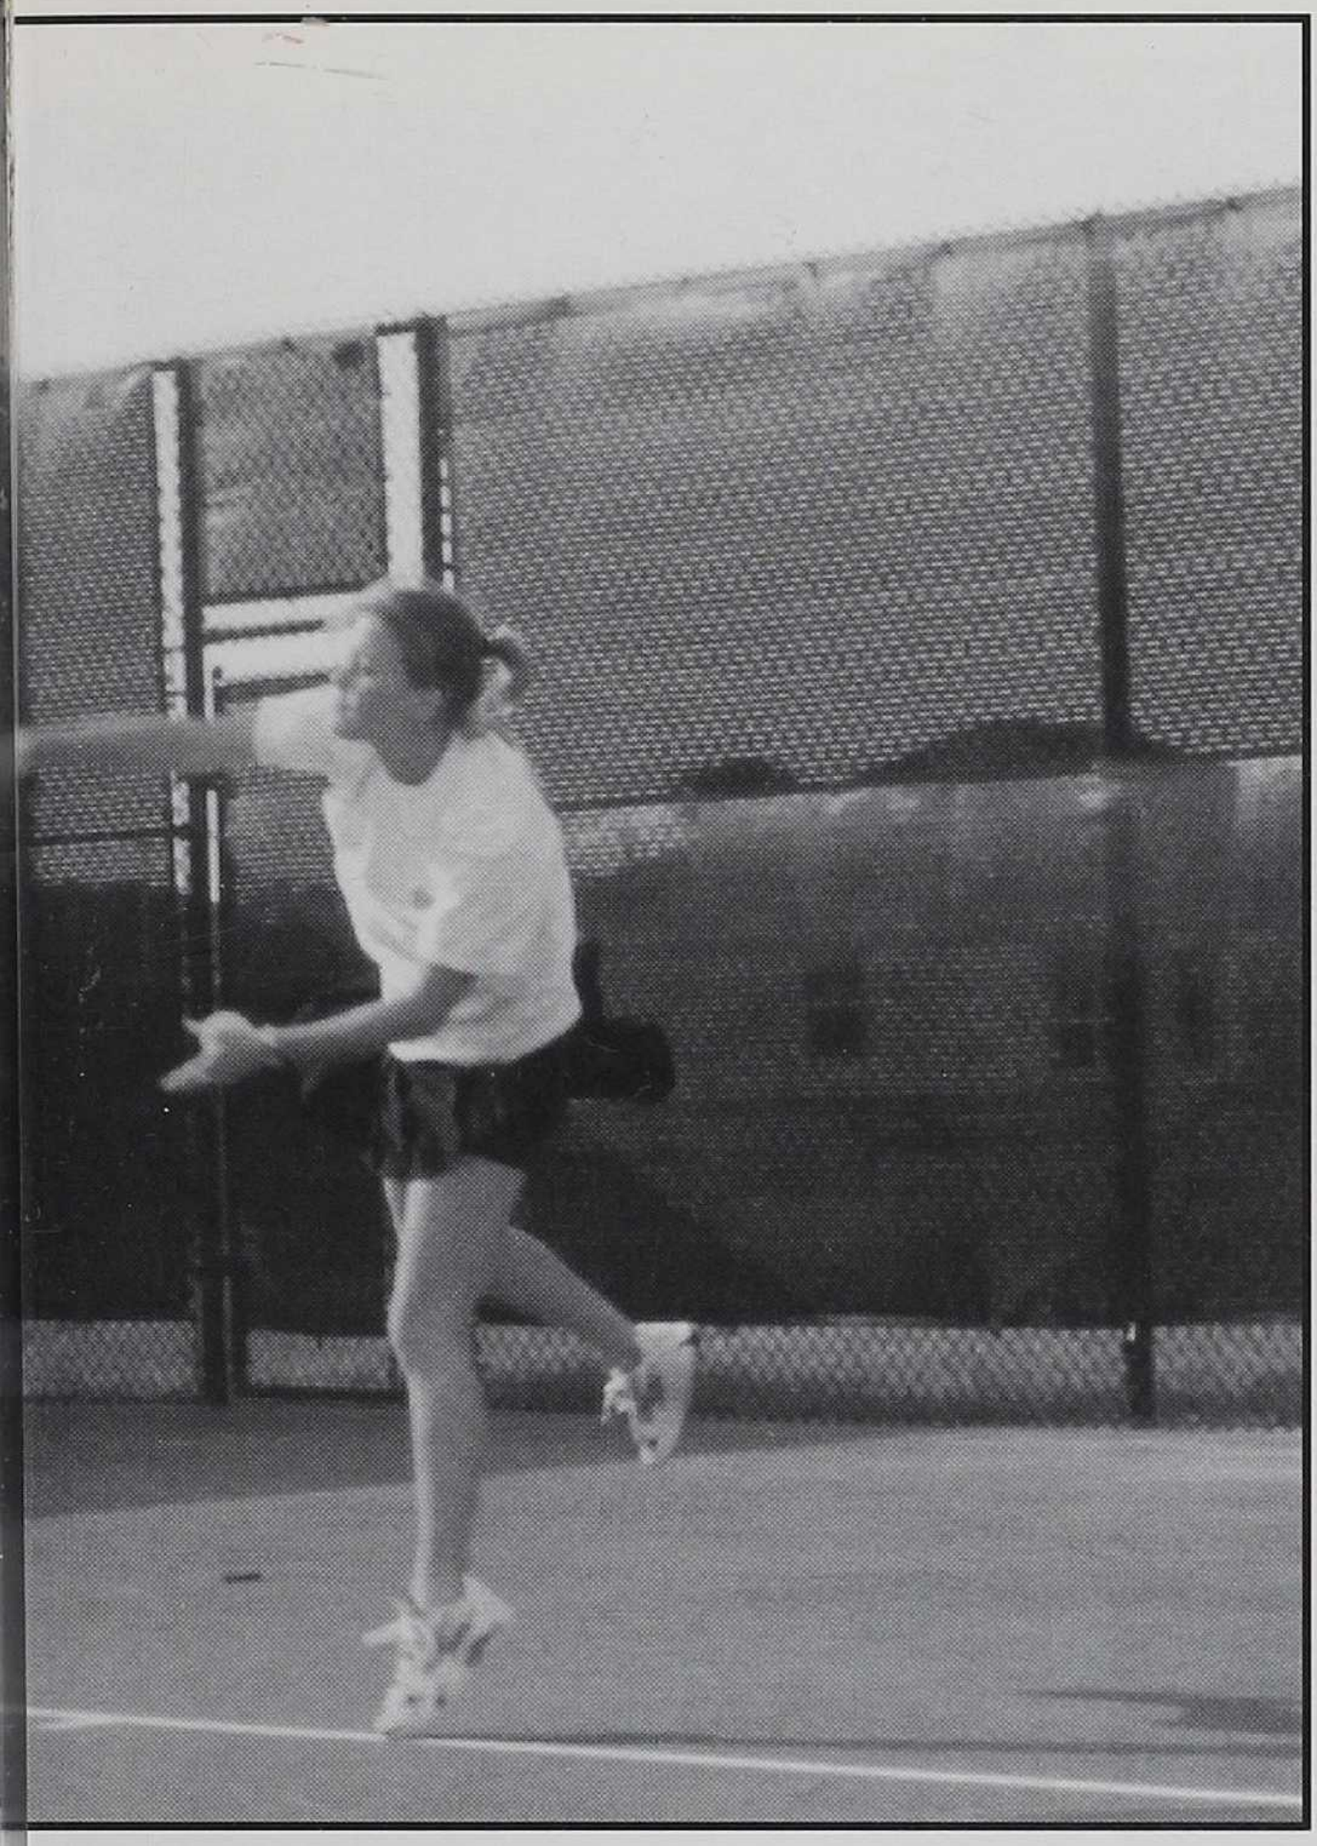
Having access to the newly built tennis courts on the high school campus proved to be an advantage. The players could be seen on the courts, putting them to good use as soon as the months of spring approached. Junior Liz Levy commented, "Having the courts here to practice on has been so great. In the past, we had to drive to the TCC campus in South Fort Worth, or to a local park to practice."

During the season, the team participated in practice matches against other area high schools. Those led up to the Denton Tournament, and the district tournament in Alvarado. The team competed in the two day district tournament in March. Returning senior Carley Nichols displayed presence on the court, advancing to the regional quarterfinals.

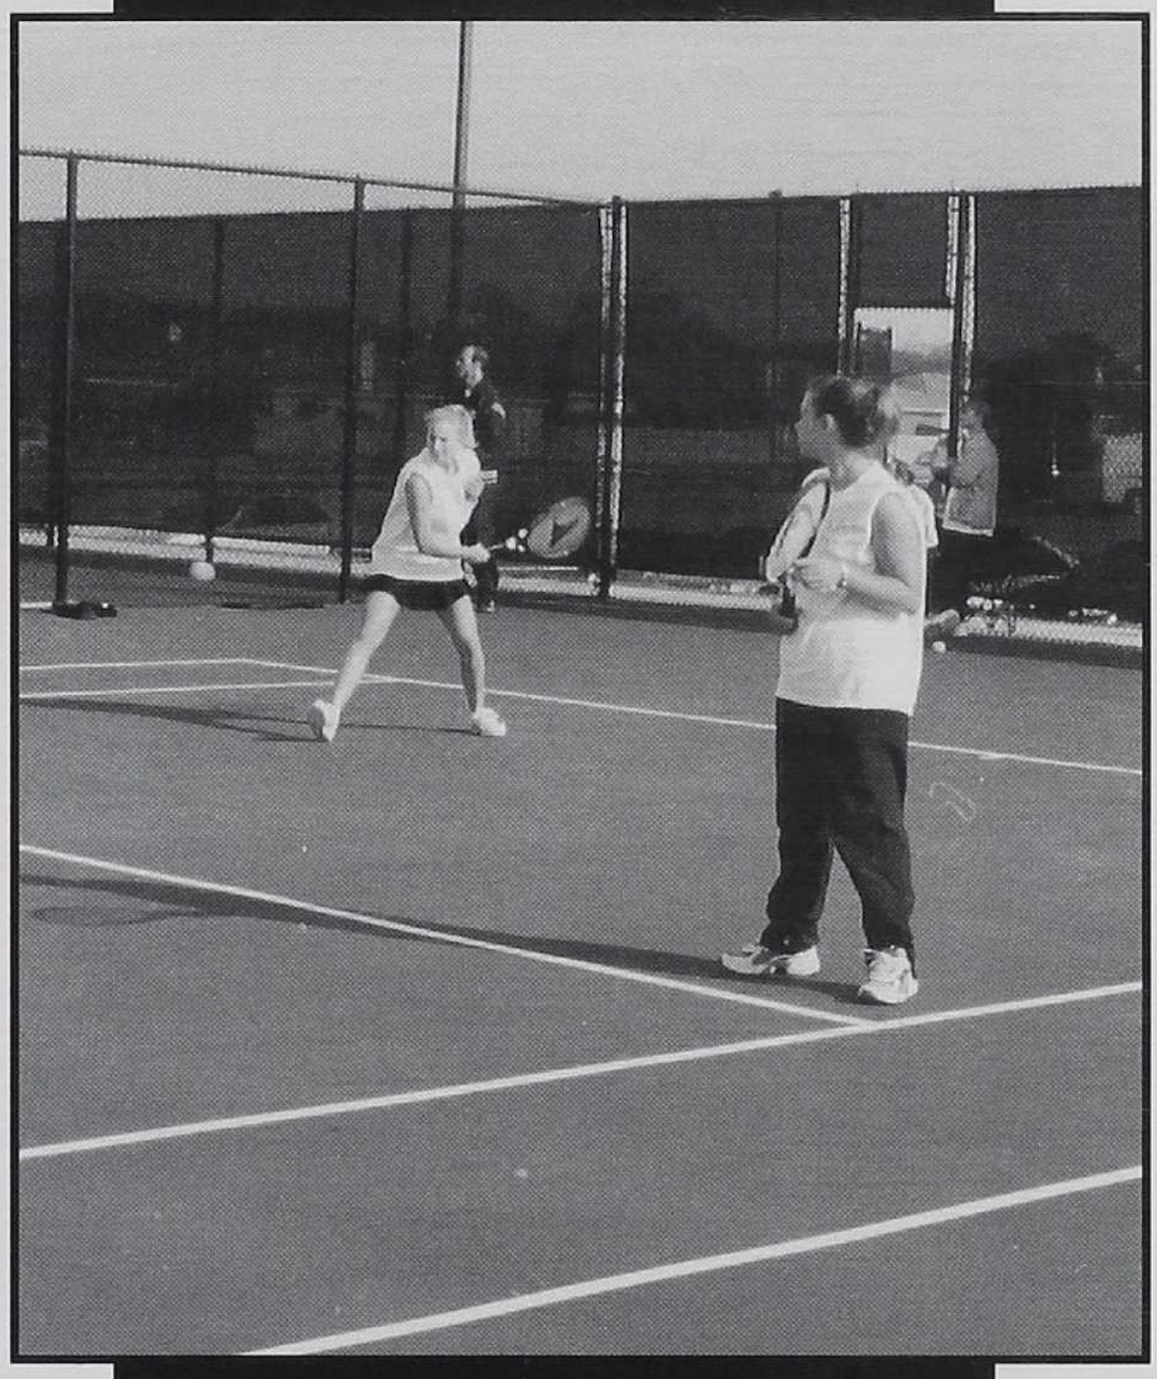
The Kennedale Tennis Team improved their game with every practice, and their play on the court resulted in an overall impressive season.



Junior James Hardin anticipates the ball for a serve during a practice game. With many returning players, The tennis team consisted of primarily upperclassmen.



Senior Heather Schulze prepares for a back-hand during a doubles practice at the new Kennedale High School tennis courts. This being Schulzes' fourth year to be a member of the team, she enjoyed the level of com-petition that the sport had to offer.



Senior Clay Rickard practices his form and serving technique. As a member of the tennis, track, cross country, and basketball teams, Rickard was very committed to the Kennedale athletic program.

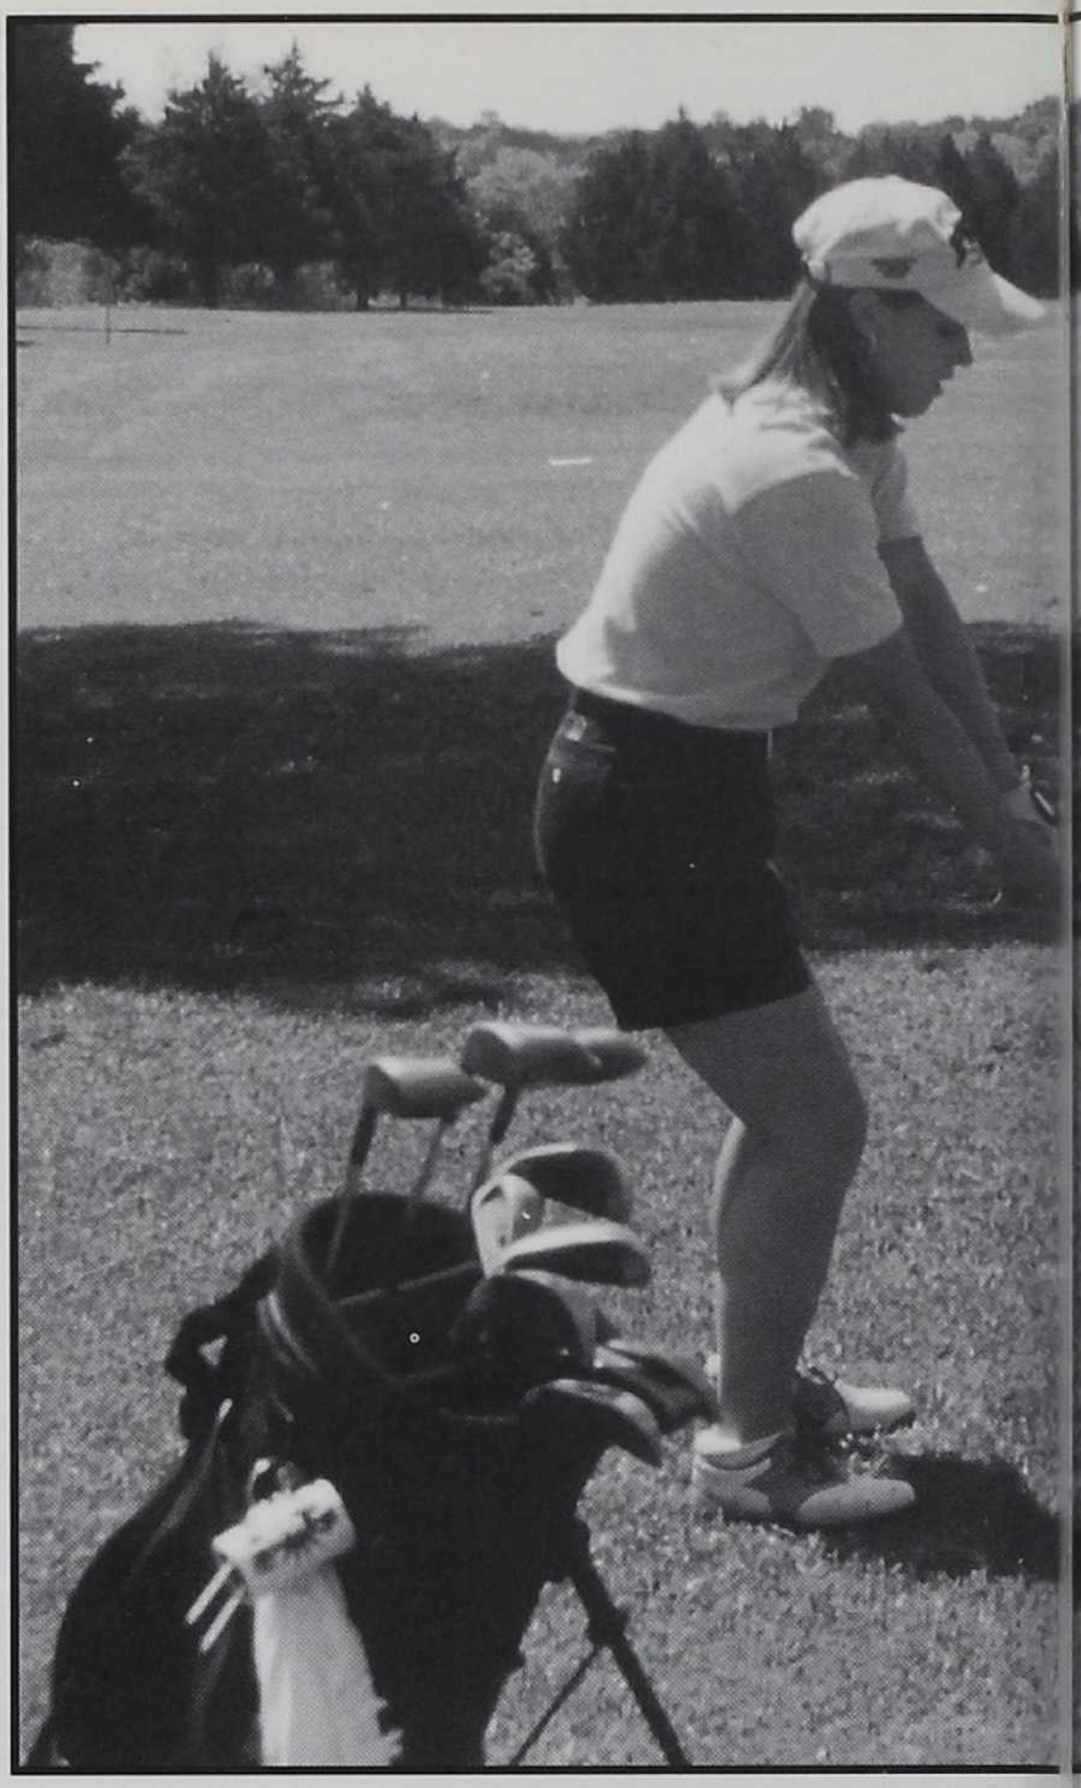
Junior Patricia Wilkerson tees up on the practice range at Tanglewood Golf Course. The girls placed second at regionals, advancing to the State tournament in Austin.

Sophomore Jessica Donaldson watches her putt while practicing before the regional meet in Pottsboro. She finished the day with an eighty-seven, her second best score of the year.



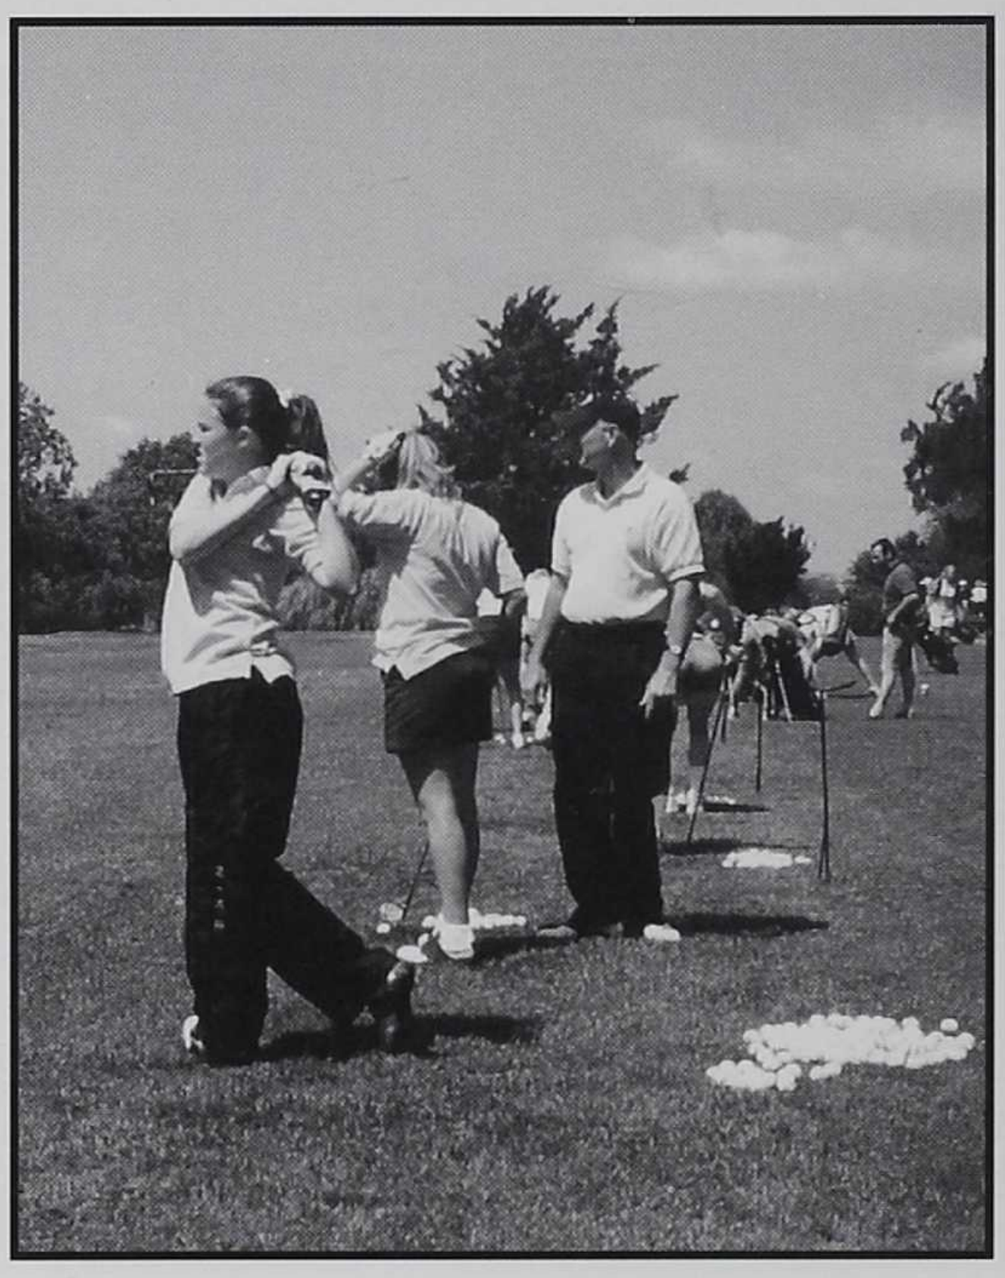
FAIRWAY TO HEAVEN

The Kennedale golf team of 2000 was very successful, with great play from all members throughout the year.

The boys golf team showed signs of improvement with many impressive finishes. Sophomore Craig Edwards had an impressive season, placing third at the District 11-3A Tournament, and advanced to regionals. He was also honored by the "Arlington Star Telegram" by being named Newcomer of the Year.

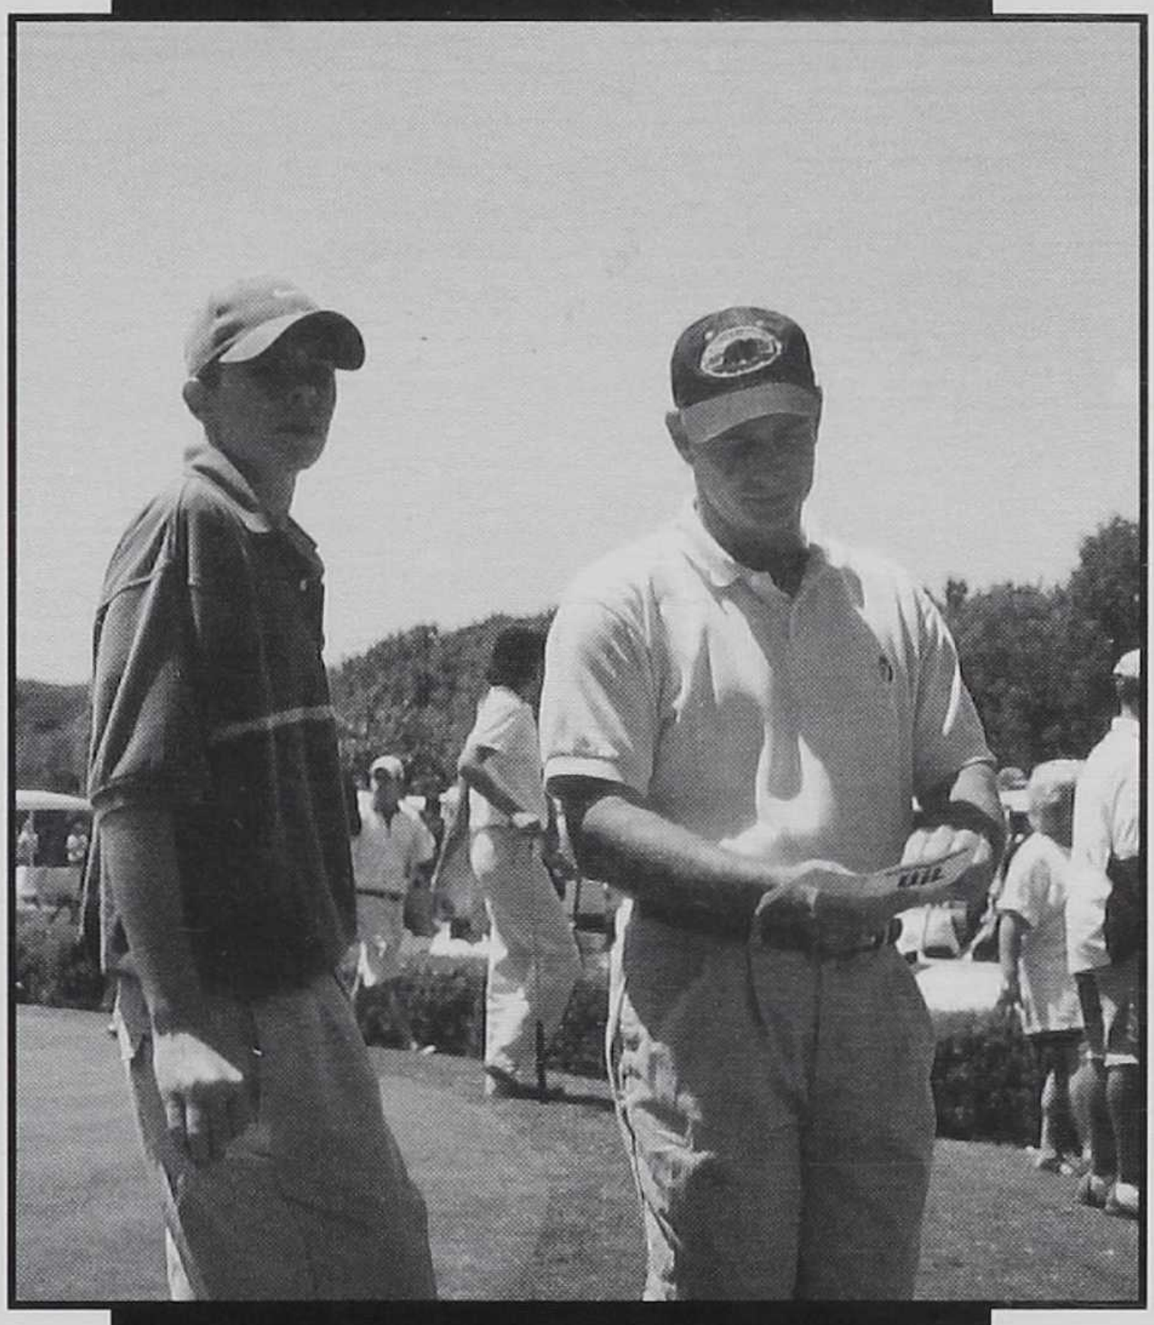
With natural ability on their side, the girls golf team began their season with high set goals. The girls started the season off on the right foot by winning the Kennedale Invitational. They placed second at the District 11-3A meet, advancing to the regionals in Pottsborro. With an impressive second place finish at regionals, they had earned their way to the State meet in Austin. All of the girls received All-district honors, with junior Patricia Wilkerson and sophomore Jessica Donaldson making the All-region team. As an individual, Donaldson won the District 11-3A tournament and placed third at the regional tournament.

Competing in this sport required both skill and patience, and the golf team members proved that they had what it took to rise above the competition and exceed their set expectations.



Junior Brittany Jowers watches her ball as she practices for the regional tournament. Jowers shot a ninety-two and a nighty-eight, securing her a sixteenth place finish.

While receiving some tips from Coach Solomon at district, sophomore Craig Edwards totals his score. Edwards was recognized by the "Arlington Star Telegram" by being named Newcomer of the Year.



Sophomore Kaleigh Cantrell chips out of the sand and onto the green at the district meet held at Cross Timbers Golf Course. The girls placed second at the district tournament which advanced them to regionals.

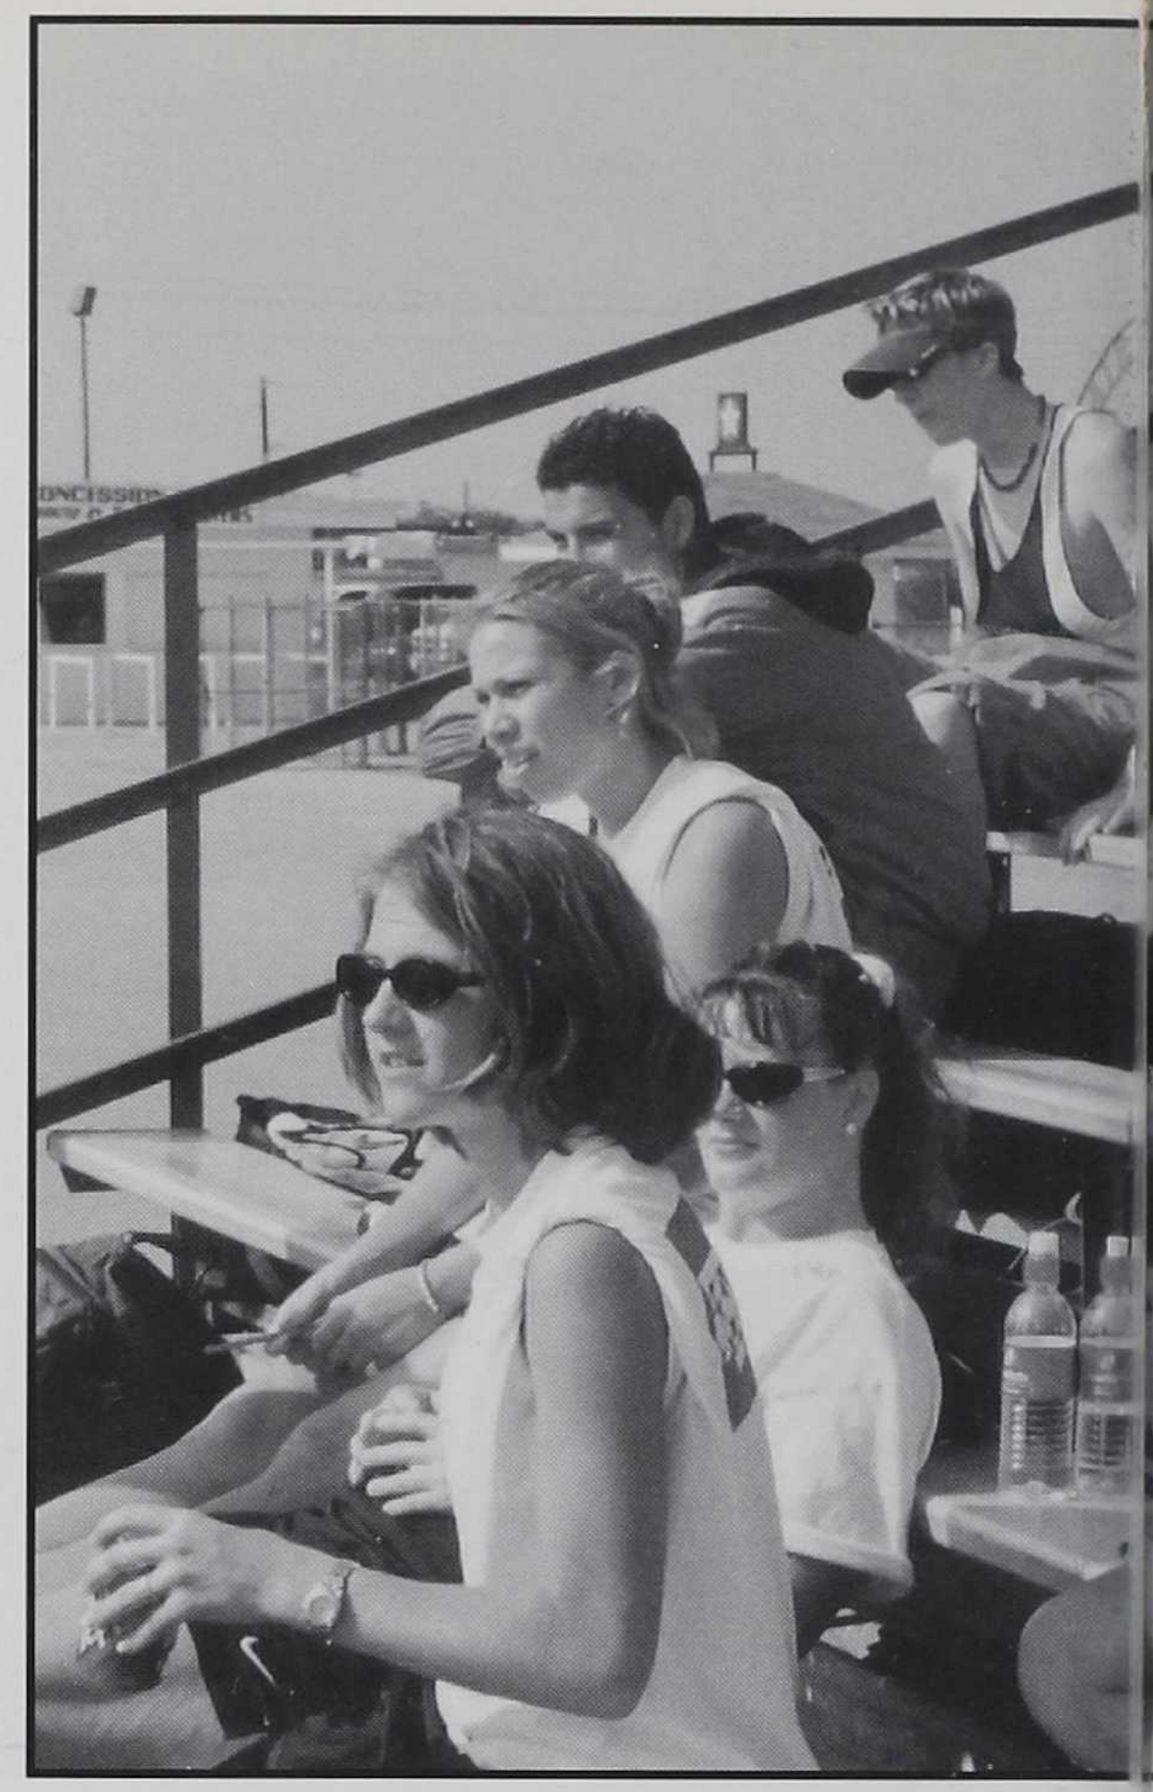
Members of the LadyKats Varsity Track Team look on while supporting their teammates during the district track meet in Alvarado. The girls finished the season successfully, placing third in district.

Sophomore Windy Smith and senior Lauren Billman quench their thirst after finishing the 3200 meter run. Participation in cross country helped both of these track members maintain a competitive edge throughout the course of the season.

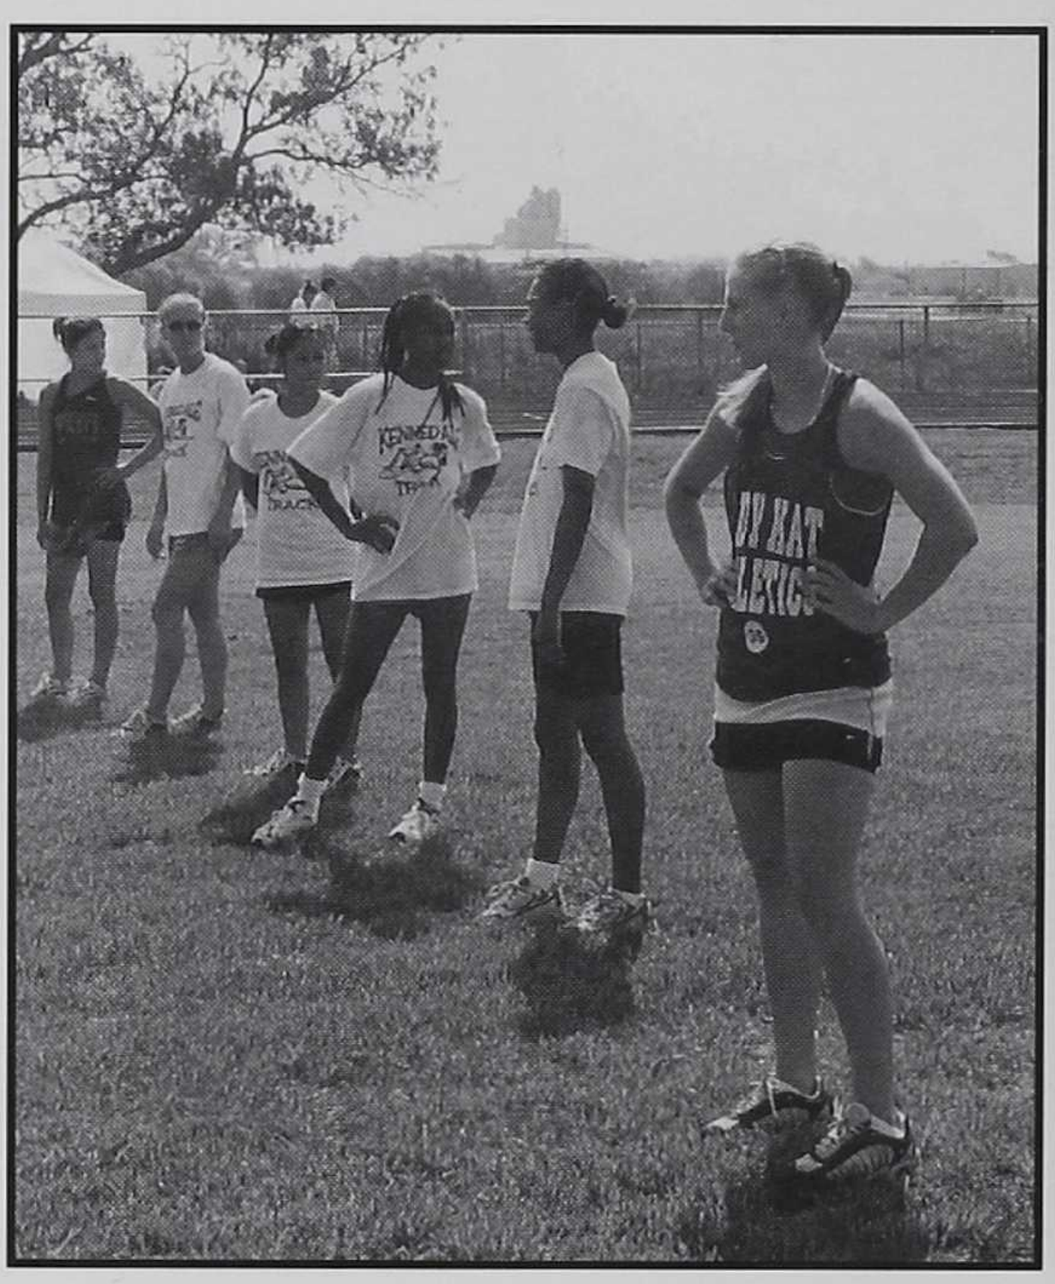


LIFE IN THE FAST LANE

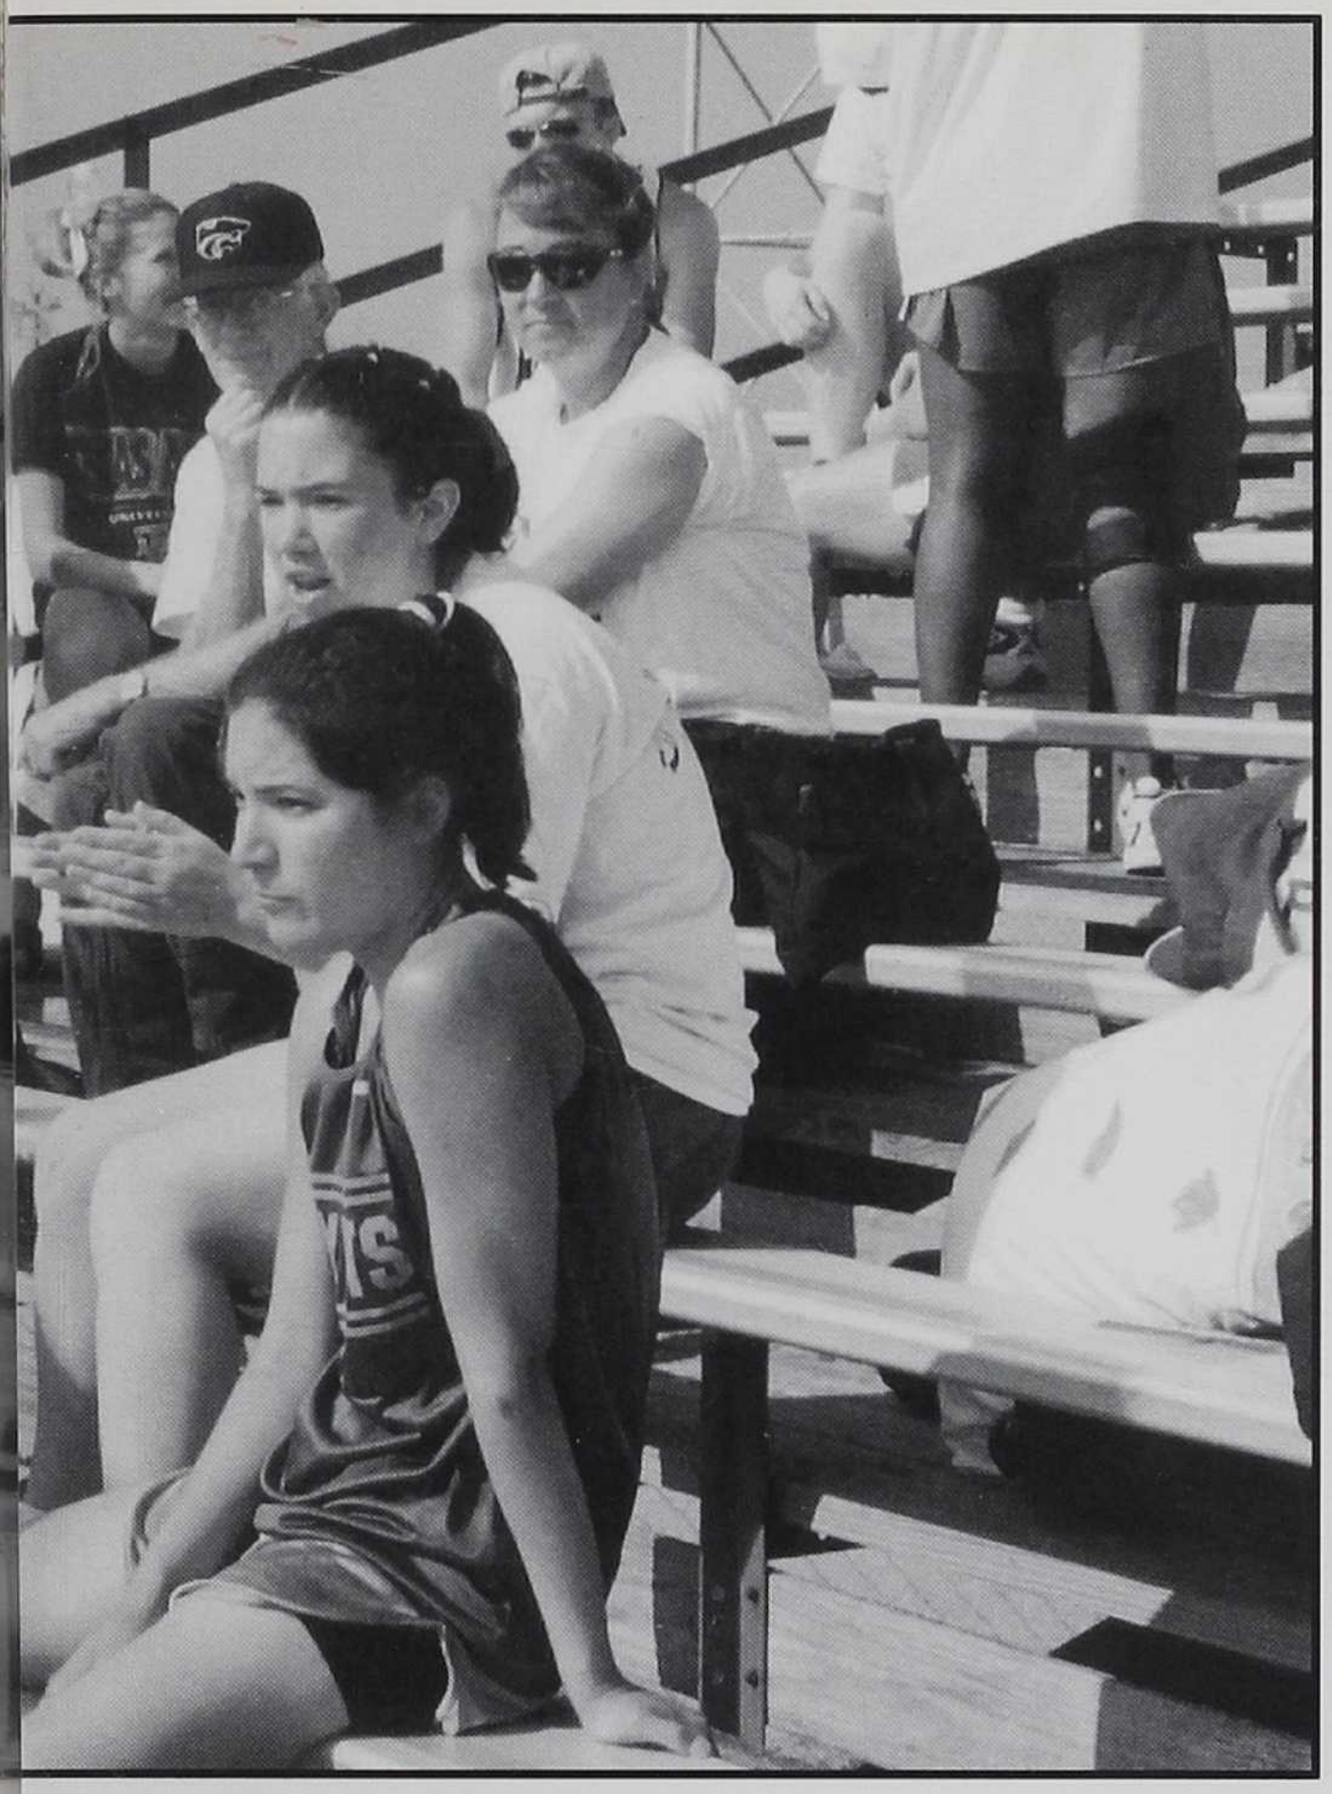
With a team led by underclassmen, one might assume that the LadyKat Track Team would have room to grow, but that was far from the truth as they proved that they were able to hold their own throughout the season.

This year there were thirty-four athletes competing on the team, which was a sharp increase from years past. About the program, Coach Holley commented, "I feel that this is great because for the next two or three years, these girls will be very experienced and successful. All of the girls improved dramatically every time they walked out on the track. That was the most rewarding aspect of coaching this season."

The junior varsity team won the district meet with help from freshmen Kendra Flynt and Miracle Smith, and sophomores Aubrey O'Brien and Windy Smith. The varsity team capped off a successful season by capturing third place at the district meet. Members Nancy Rico, Rachel Castro, Tiffany Jones, Bethany Anderson, and Farah Khan all advanced to the regional meet and nine underclassmen lettered, which was an excellent indicator that this team had a bright future ahead.



The LadyKats warm up, stretching before their upcoming events. Strong participation by underclassmen helped to make the girls track team one of youth and speed.



Sophomore Aubrey O'Brien nears the finish line during the 1600 meter run at the district meet. The girls had a spectacular season due to hard work and determination.

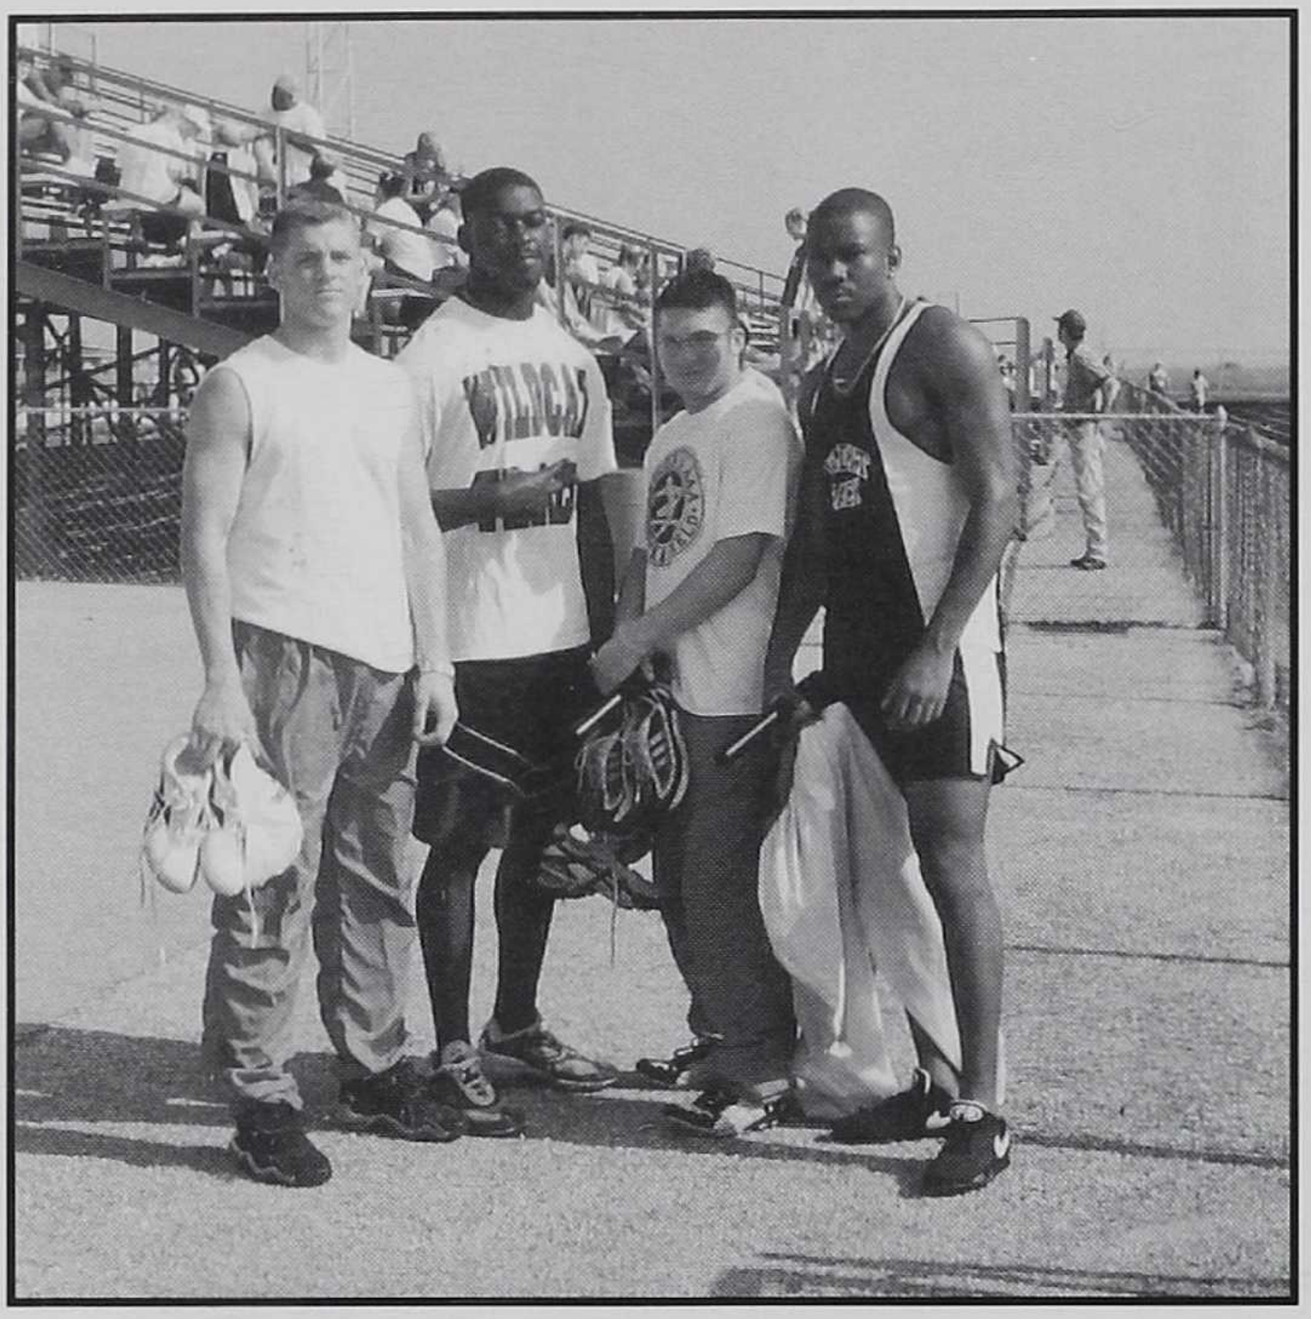
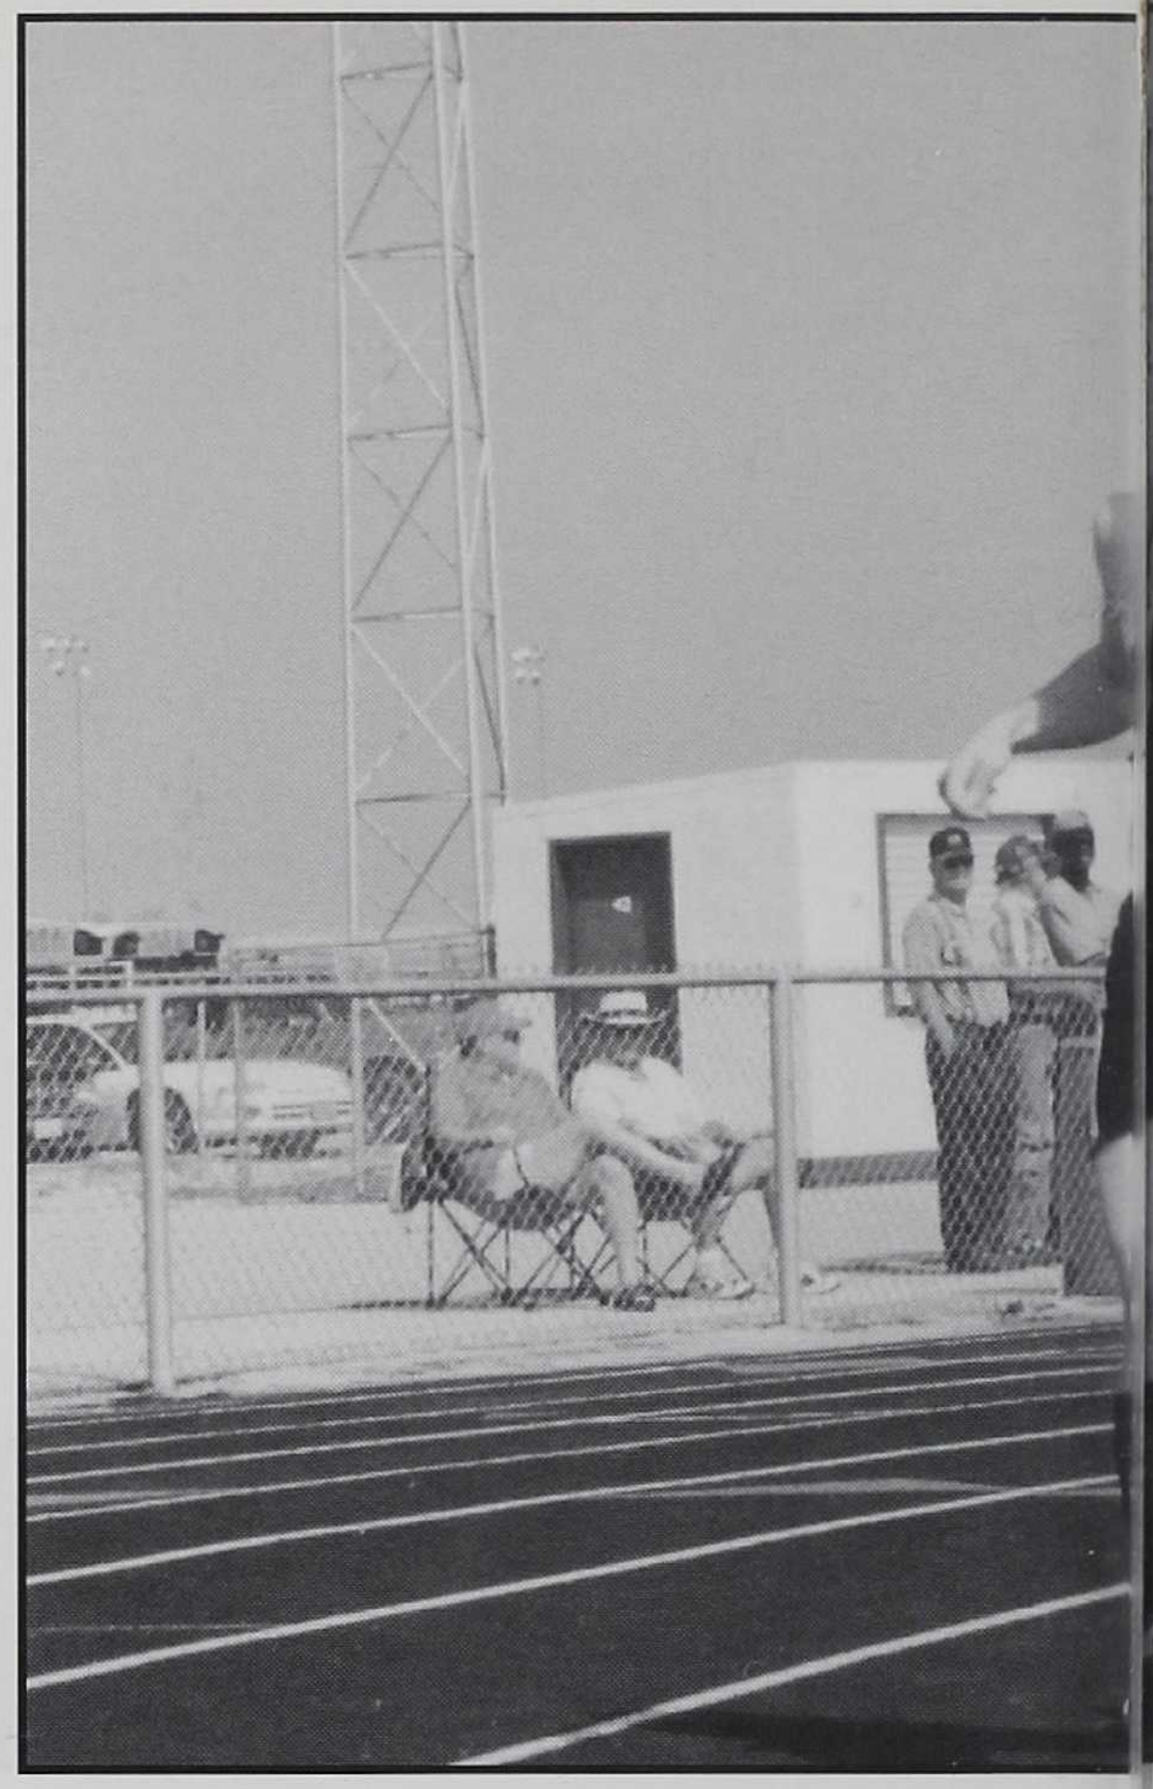
Senior Clay Rickard pushes himself to the next level during the 3200 meter run at the district meet in Alvarado. Rickard was the District Champion in both the 1600 and 3200 meter runs.

The 400 meter relay team awaits their turn to run at the district meet at Alvarado. The Wildcat relay teams were always highly competitive.



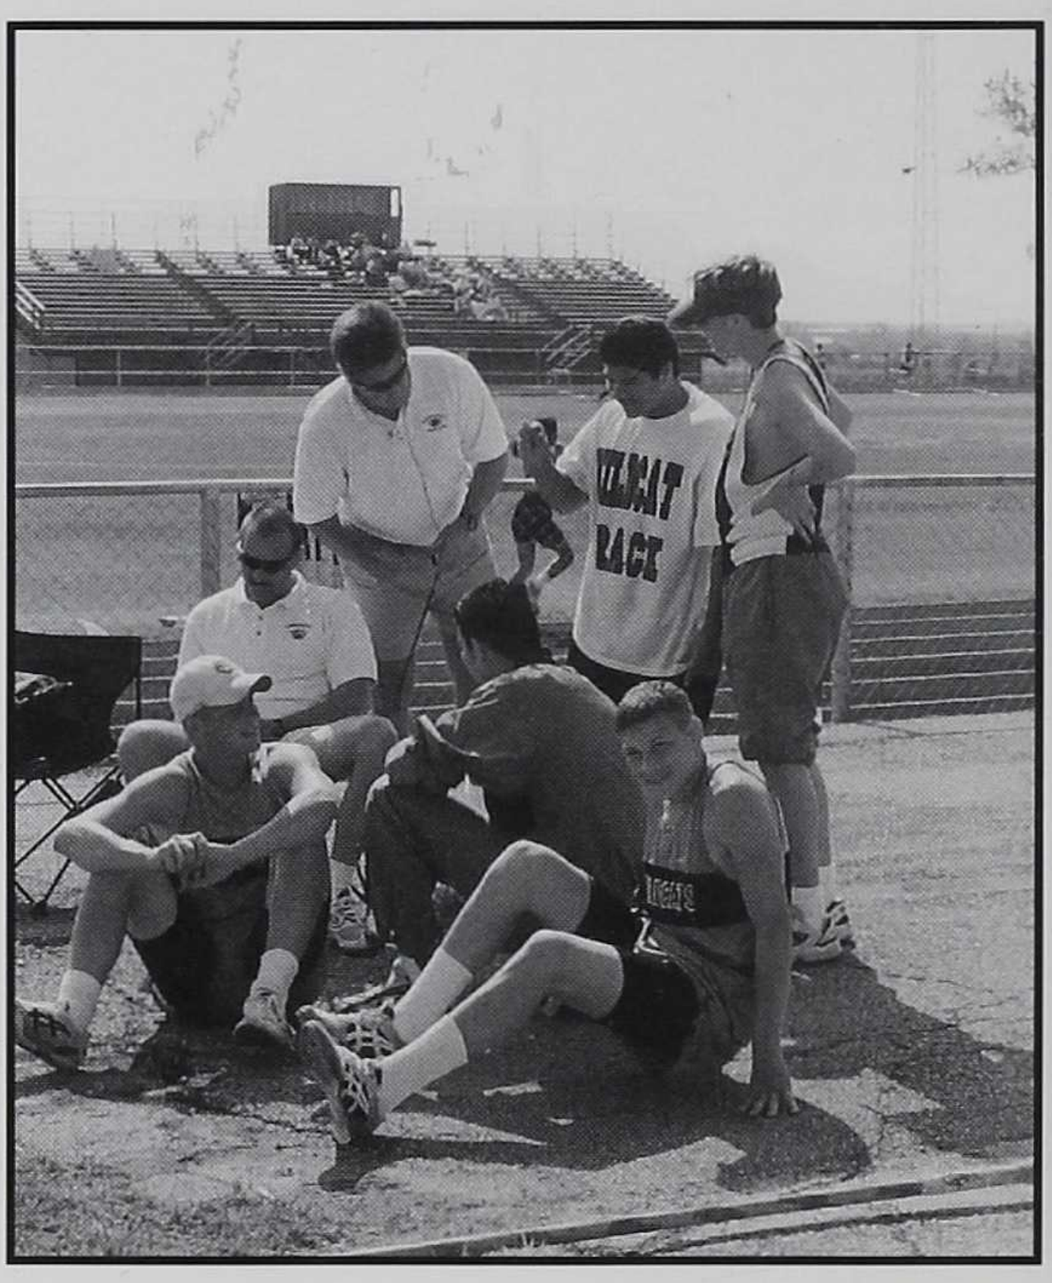


TIME FLIES

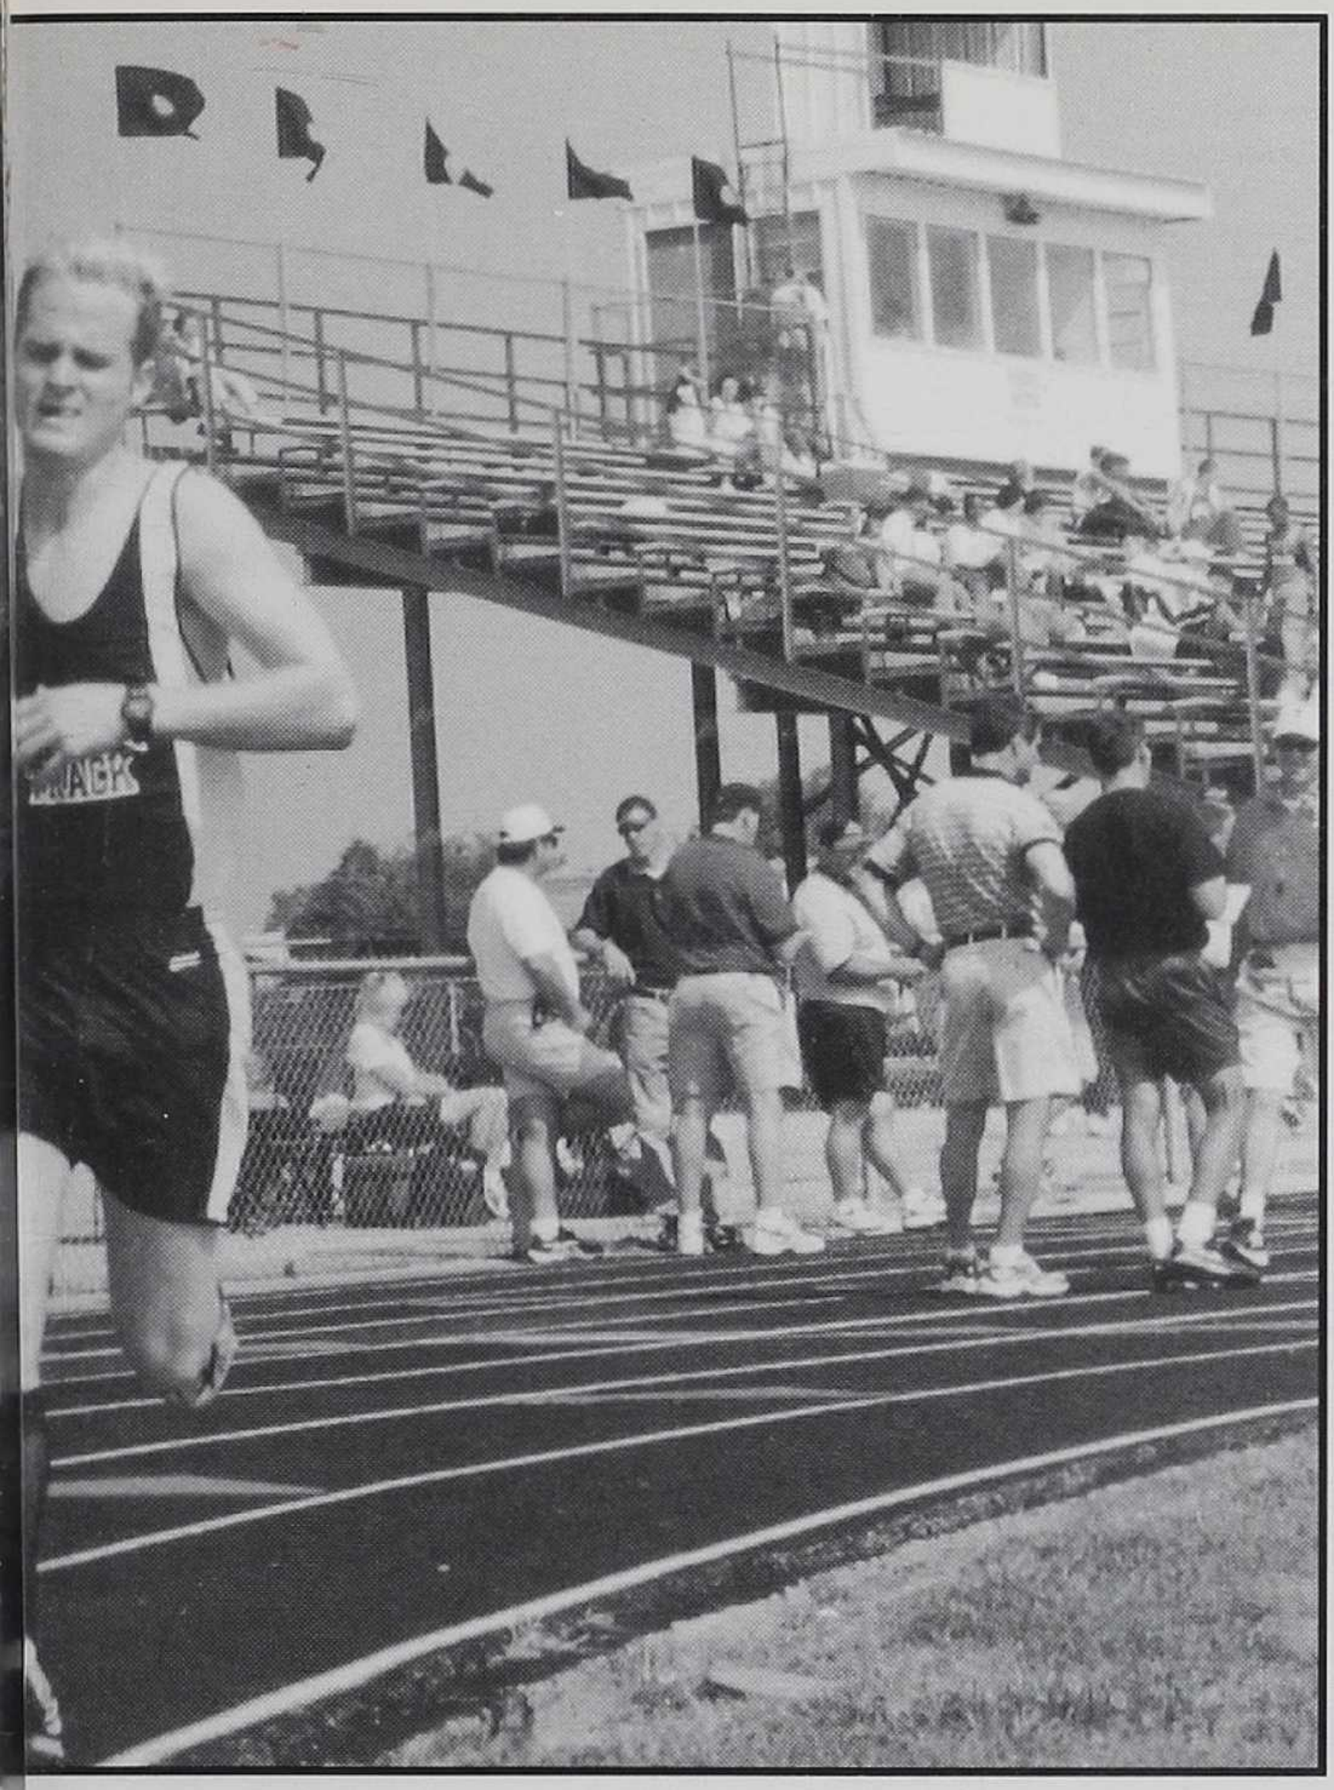
The Kennedale Boy's Track program was inspired by individual goals and improvements. They carried pride on their shoulders as they competed at all of their meets. With more than ample participation from underclassmen, the team had many members that thrived on the challenges of running against older and more experienced competition.

Senior Clay Rickard led the team by winning district in both the 3200 and 1600 meter runs. Rickard qualified for the regional meet at Texas A&M Commerce where he placed sixth in both events. Another outsanding member of the long distance team was senior Aaron Wood. Wood commented, "The training and help that Clay Rickard and I have received from Coach Lenzmeier through our participation in cross country definitely gave us an edge when it came to running the 1600 and 3200 meter runs in track."

Overall, the team built character and leadership throughout the season. As a young team, this was a building year and they looked forward to competing for the district title next season.



Freshman Matt Humiston awaits his turn to pole vault as Coach Clensay and Coach Dunsworth give advice to other members of the team. The team consisted primarily of underclassmen.



The varsity long distance team, Justin McCoy, Aaron Wood, and Clay Rickard, begin the 3200 meter run at district. During track and cross country, the trio trained hard to maintain there competitive edge.

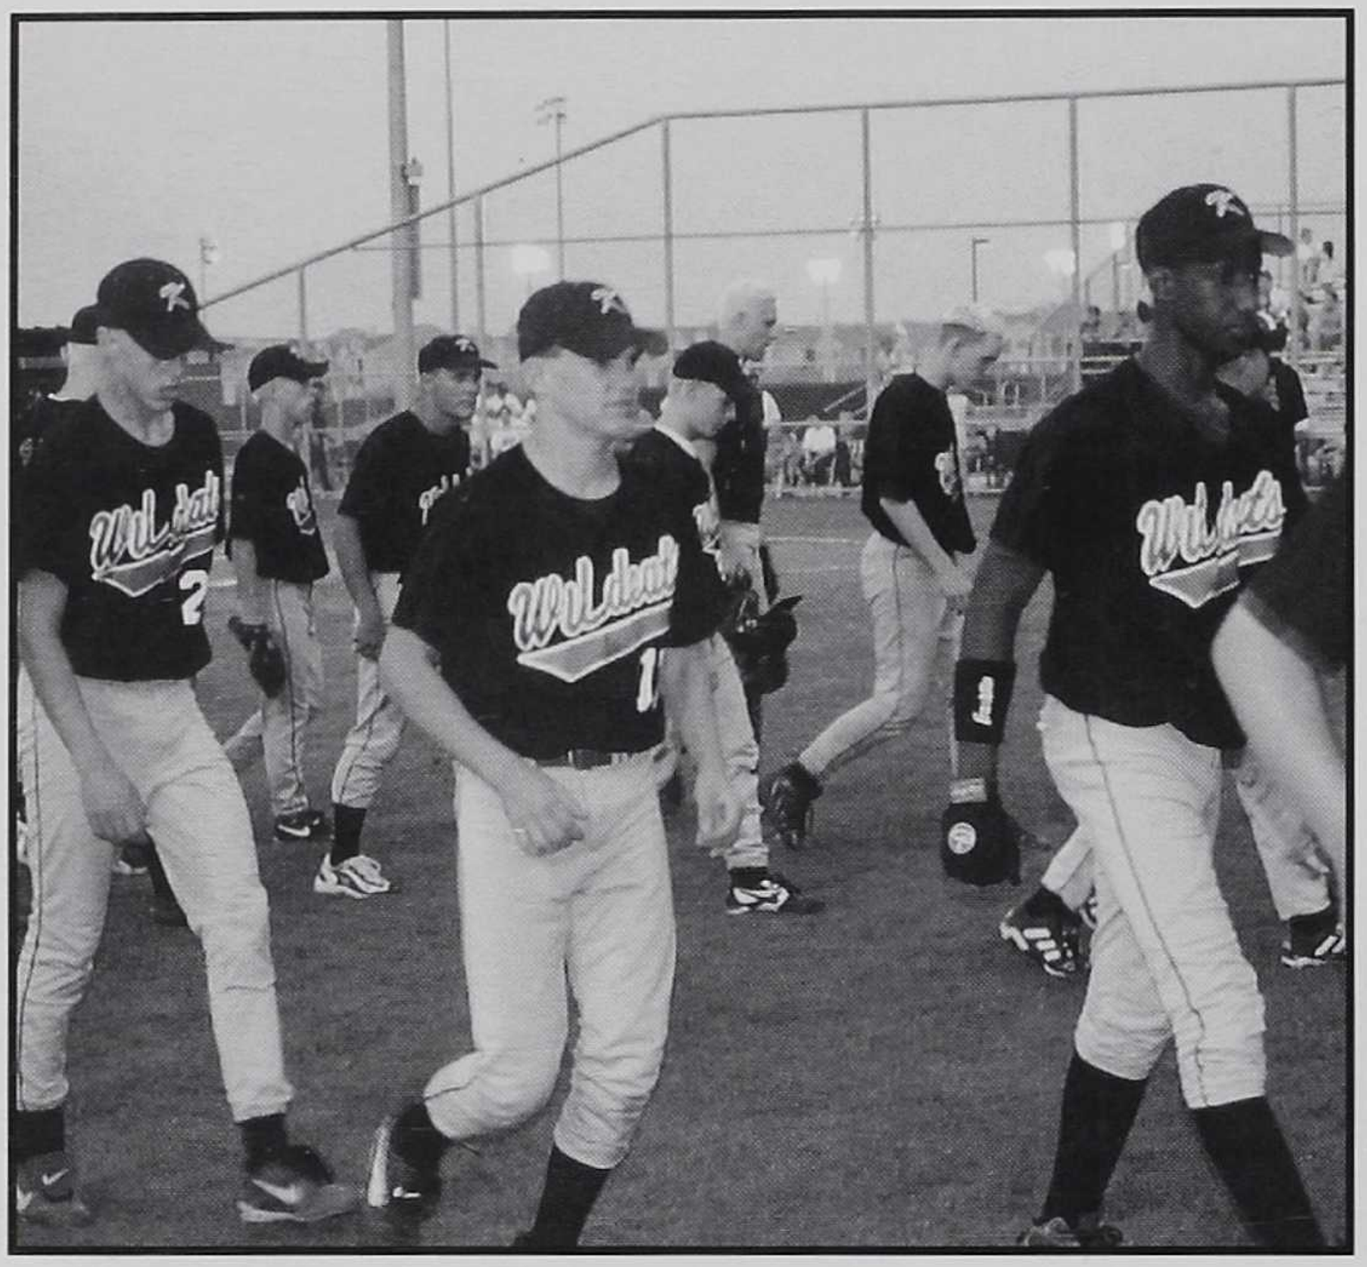
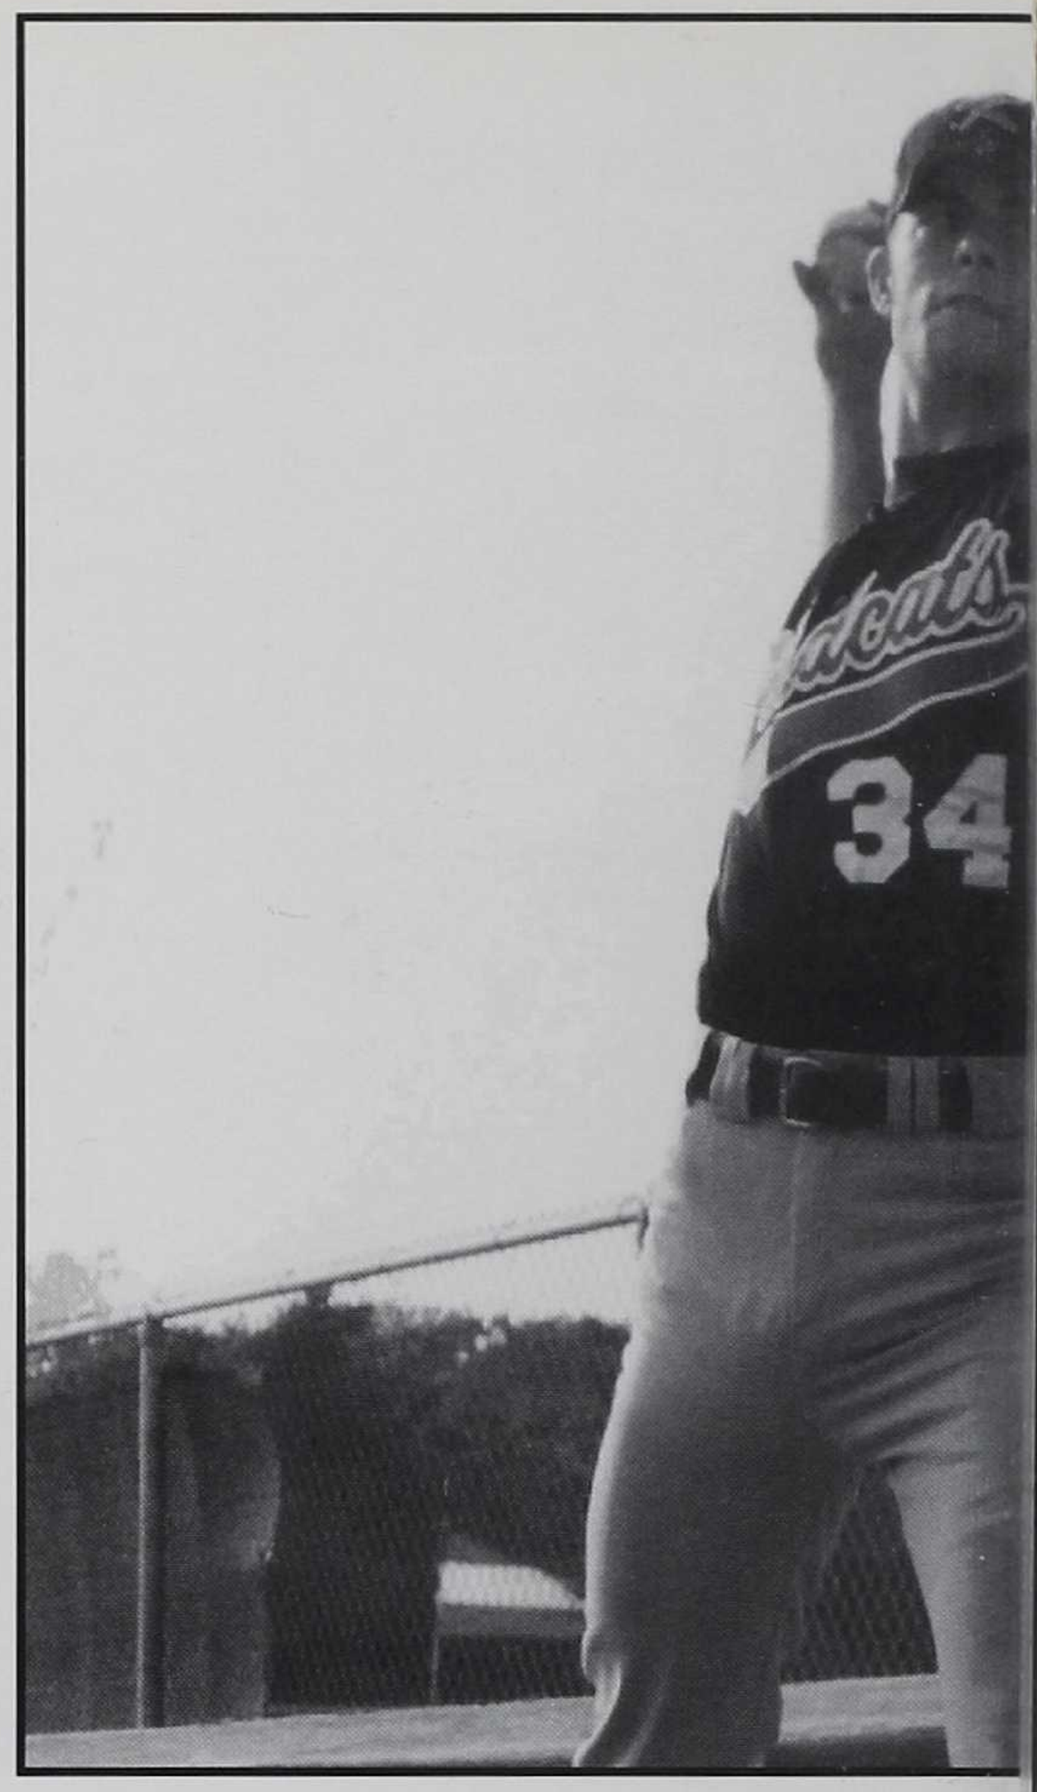
Kennedale ace pitcher Brandon Pyles warms up before a crucial game against district rival Aledo. Pyles' received the highest honor in high school baseball by being selected by the Texas High School Baseball Coaches to play in the All-Star game.

The Wildcats end the first game of the series against Decatur with a win. The offense came on late to overpower the Eagles with a final score of 17-9.





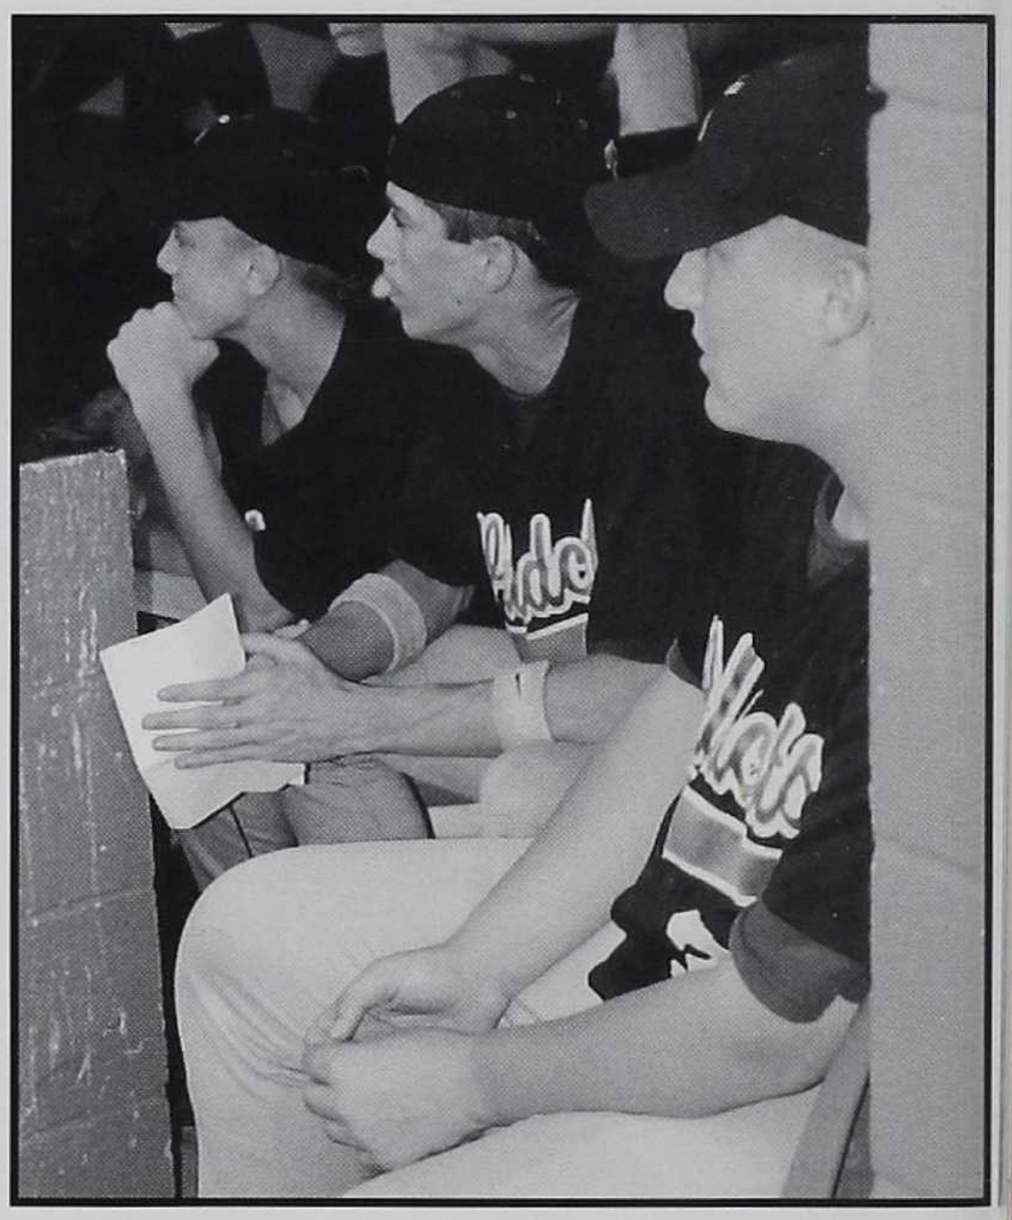
FIELD OF DREAMS

The Kennedale Baseball Team proved to be superior in 2000. Dominated by star pitcher Brandon Pyles and led by six other experienced seniors, the Wildcats were the team to beat in District 11-3A.

"This was a stong hard working team. We gave it our all, accomplishing many goals on the way to winning district. For the first time in school history, the baseball team was undefeated with twenty wins. I am proud to have been a part if it," commented senior Gabe Ramirez.

Led by Pyles' pitching arm, the first to strike out one-hundred batters in the area, the Wildcats mowed down the opposition with fierce, suffocating defense and a powerful offense. The Wildcats made a strong impression during their district rampage, leading to the selection of every Kennedale starter to an All-district team. Pyles was named District 11-3A Most Valuable Player, and he also was selected to be a member of the Texas All-Star Baseball Team.

Senior leadership and all around effort by the entire baseball program helped the Wildcat Varsity Baseball Team advance to the play offs once again. For the graduating seniors, this baseball season would be one that they would look back upon with great pride.



Jared Ables, Kary Krafve, and Jeremy Reagan look on during a home play off game against Decatur. The Wildcats advanced to the play offs, continuing the streak of post season appearances by the varsity baseball team.

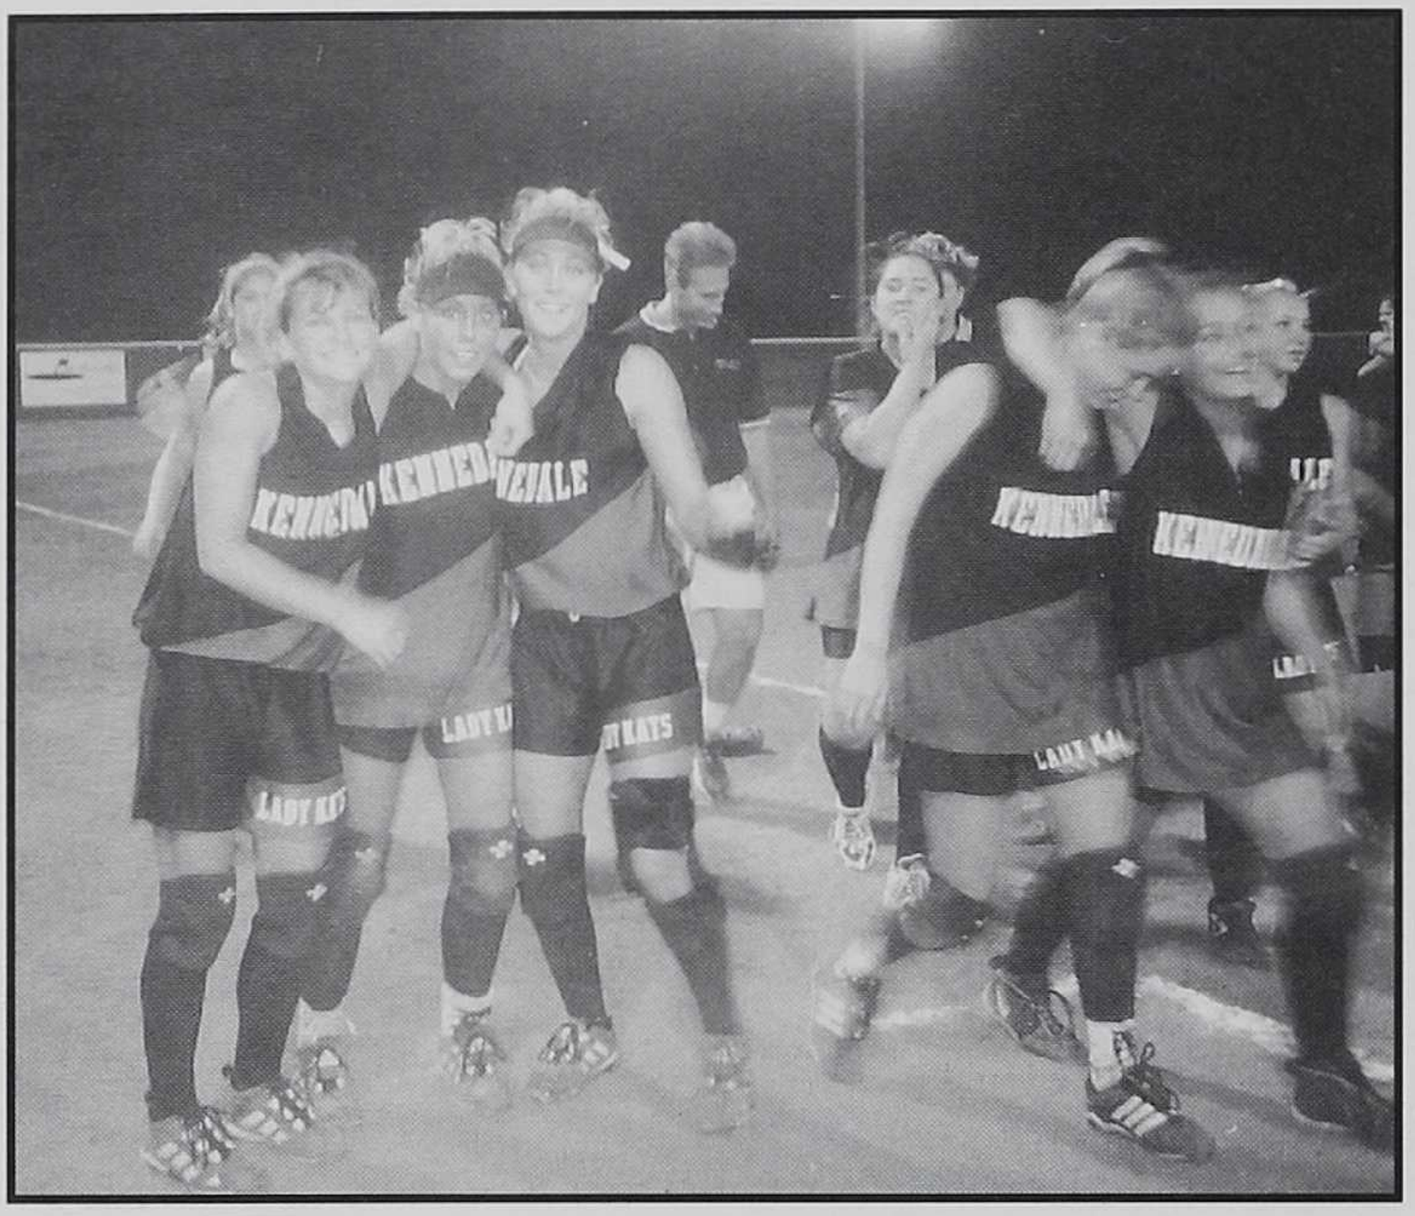
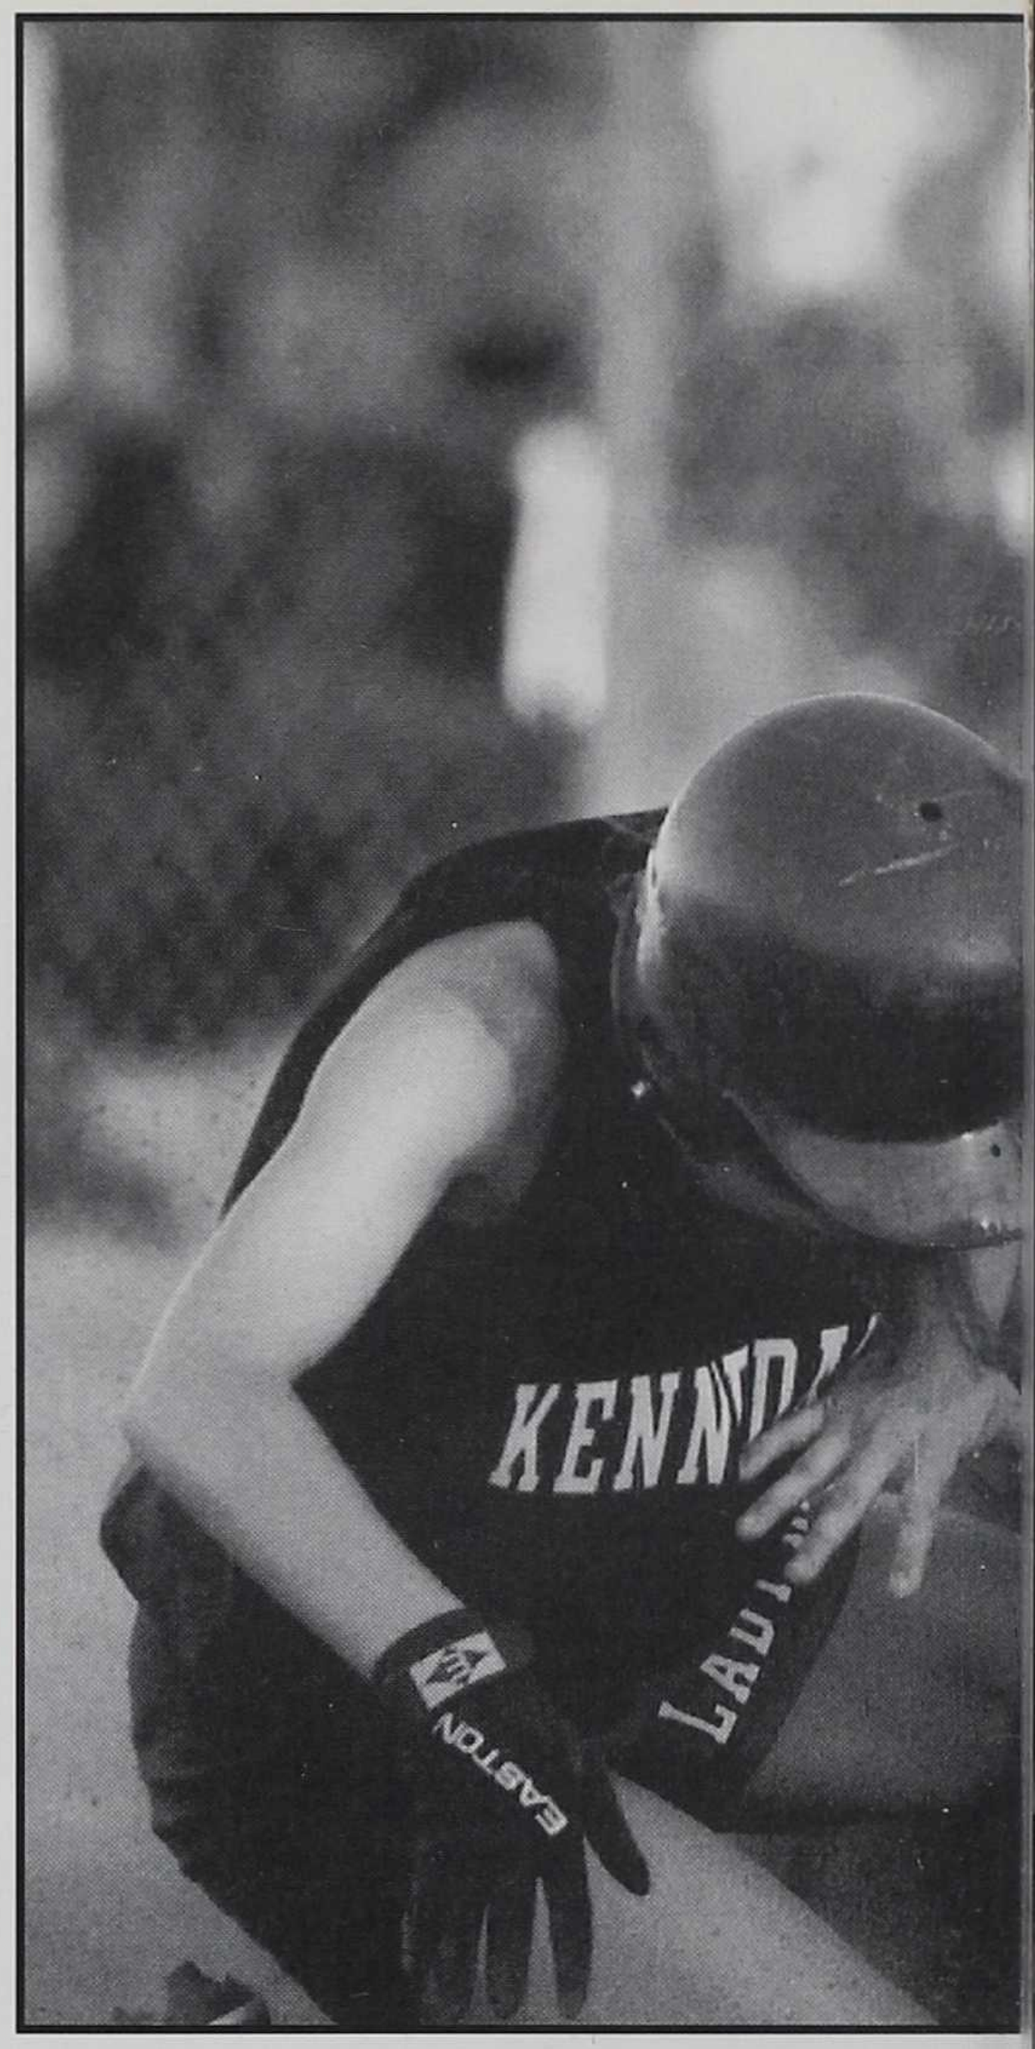
Senior Joni Greenfield slides past Aledo's catcher and safely into home. The LadyKats defeated the Bear Cats with an easy win, 10-0, before two-hundred spectators at the LadyKat Softball Field. This win clinched the 11-3A District title for the LadyKats.

The LadyKat team members congratulate one another immediately following their State Championship win at Red McCombs Softball Field in Austin. The LadyKats captured their second 3A state title in the past three years with their win over Devine, 1-0.



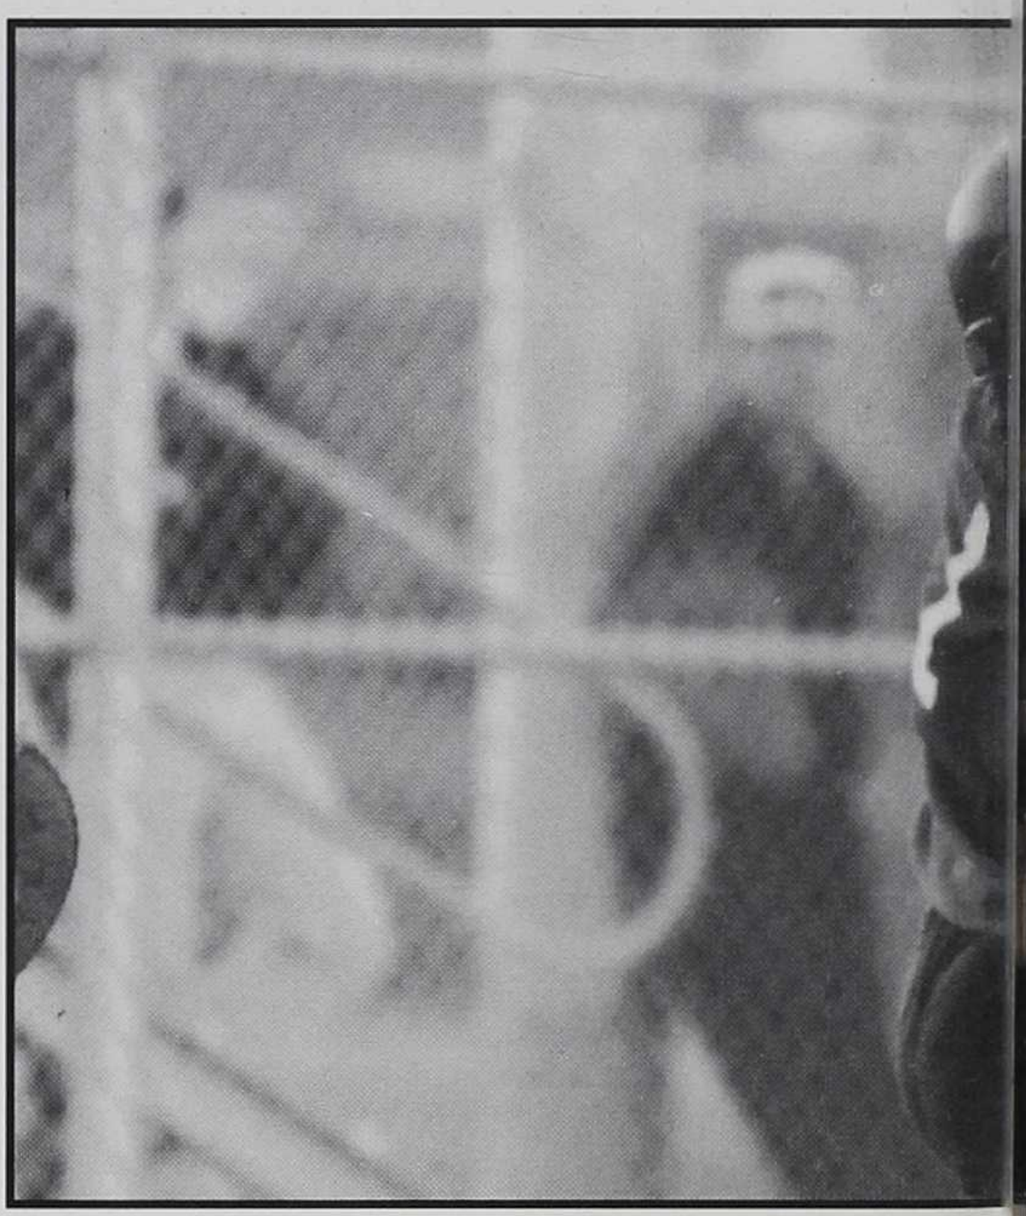


LEAVING THEIR LEGACY

For the second time in the past three years, the LadyKat softball team brought the State Championship title home to Kennedale. For the underclassmen on the varsity team, earning their first State Championship ring was quite a thrill, but for the veterans, it was even sweeter the second time around.

With eleven players named to both the First and Second All-district Teams, talent and experience were on their side. Senior pitcher Carla Geeslin earned the honor of District 11-3A Most Valuable Player, and Coach Pierce was named CO-Coach of the Year. The leadership and strength provided by seniors DeeDee Kirkpatrick, Joni Greenfield, and Carla Geeslin helped drive the team to succeed. Ironically, Kirkpatrick and Greenfield went out with a bang, colliding together to catch a fly ball during the last inning of the championship game. Caught by Greenfield, the final out clinched the win over Devine. With numerous honors, the LadyKats ended the year with a record of 37-8-2.

Although the LadyKats lost three outstanding seniors to graduation, they were optimistic as they held onto twelve returning players and six starters to the varsity team for the upcoming 2001 season.



Sophomore Ashlee Taylor swings at a pitch during the LadyKats home win against the Aledo Bear Cats. As a second year starter, Taylor brought experience to the plate and helped lead the LadyKat offense.

ORGANIZA

turning over time

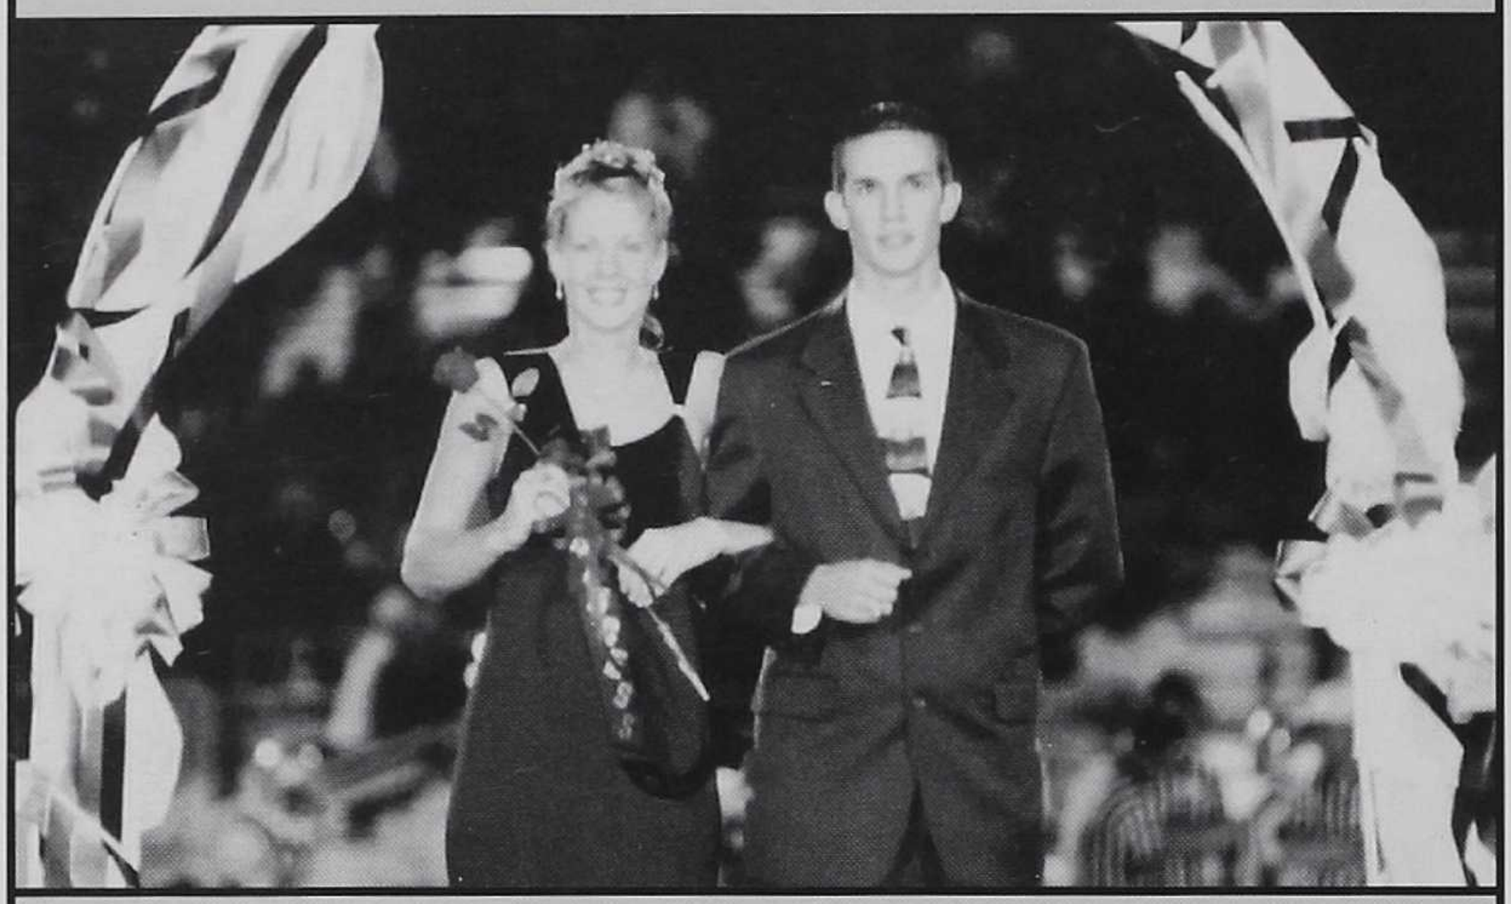
Whether they were helping the community, assisting peers, or learning about different cultures, the variety of organizations offered helped enrich the personal interests of those that chose to get involved. The organizations gave the students

A TIME TO UNITE.

Students organized meetings and fundraisers, became leaders and part of a group, and along the way, made friends and shared memories that would be with them always.

TIONS

Striving for Excellence



In order to be a member of the National Honor Society, students had to have and maintain a cumulative grade point average of a ninety or above in all academic core classes. In addition, they also had to exhibit leadership qualities and provide community service.

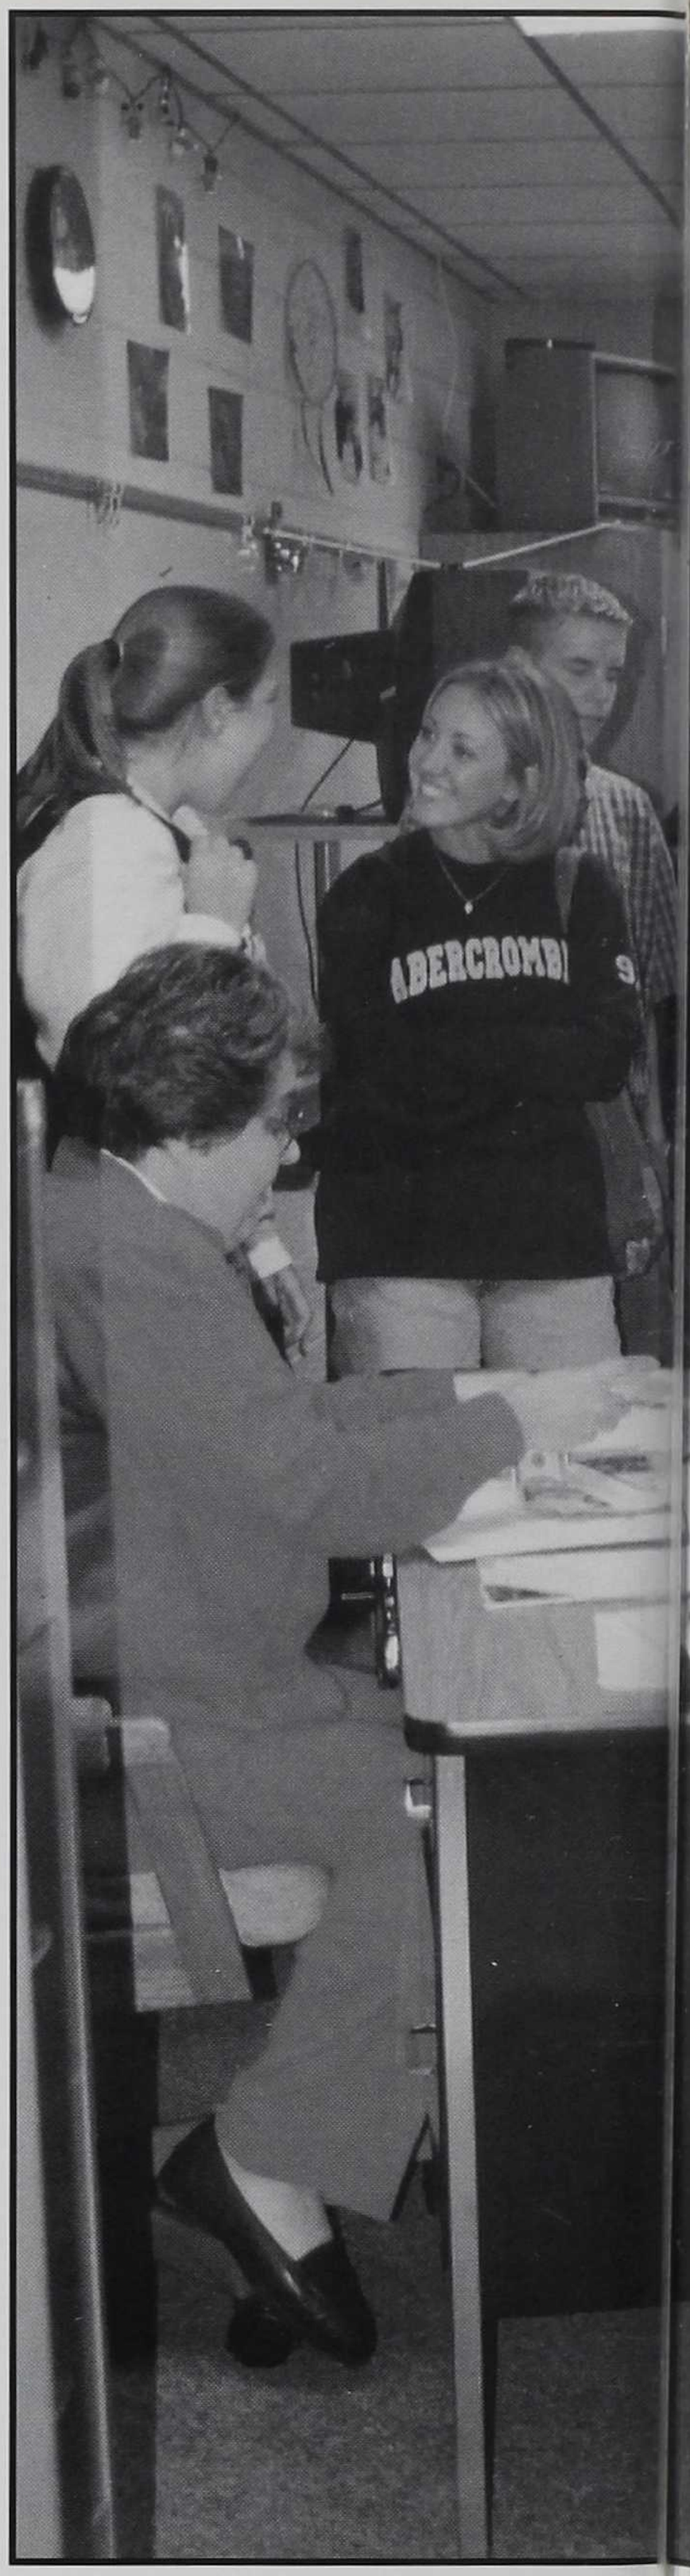
Their purpose was to gather like-minded individuals who cared about their community and wanted to make a positive impact. Throughout the year, they helped coordinate the Chili Supper Scholarship Auction and they volunteered at the Arlington Night Shelter. They also organized several Easter egg hunts, one in conjunction with the Optimist Club, and the other with the Fort Worth Independent School District. These students were, by far, the leaders of tomorrow.

The Student Council displayed their leadership qualities by participating in a governing organization that represented the student body. The officers of the council were elected by the student body, and the other members were elected by their homeroom peers.

The goal of the Student Council was to improve the overall environment of the school, as well as enhance student leadership. The council members were responsible for organizing the week long homecoming events and they helped raise money to purchase the banners that were hung in the new gymnasium.

Both of these organizations worked hard throughout the year to help make Kennedale High School a better place.

Student Council president Holly Golden is crowned homecoming queen for the 2000 school year. The Student Council, along with their sponsor Mrs. Watts, put a great deal of effort into organizing the week long homecoming events.



Senior National Honor Society members pay their sponsor Ms. Worley for their graduation collars. The collars that were worn during both baccalaureate and graduation were a way to recognize these students for their achievements.

Team Work

The Vocational and Industrial Club of America was an organization that promoted leadership, high moral, and educational qualities. Membership consisted of enrollment in a trade and industrial education class.

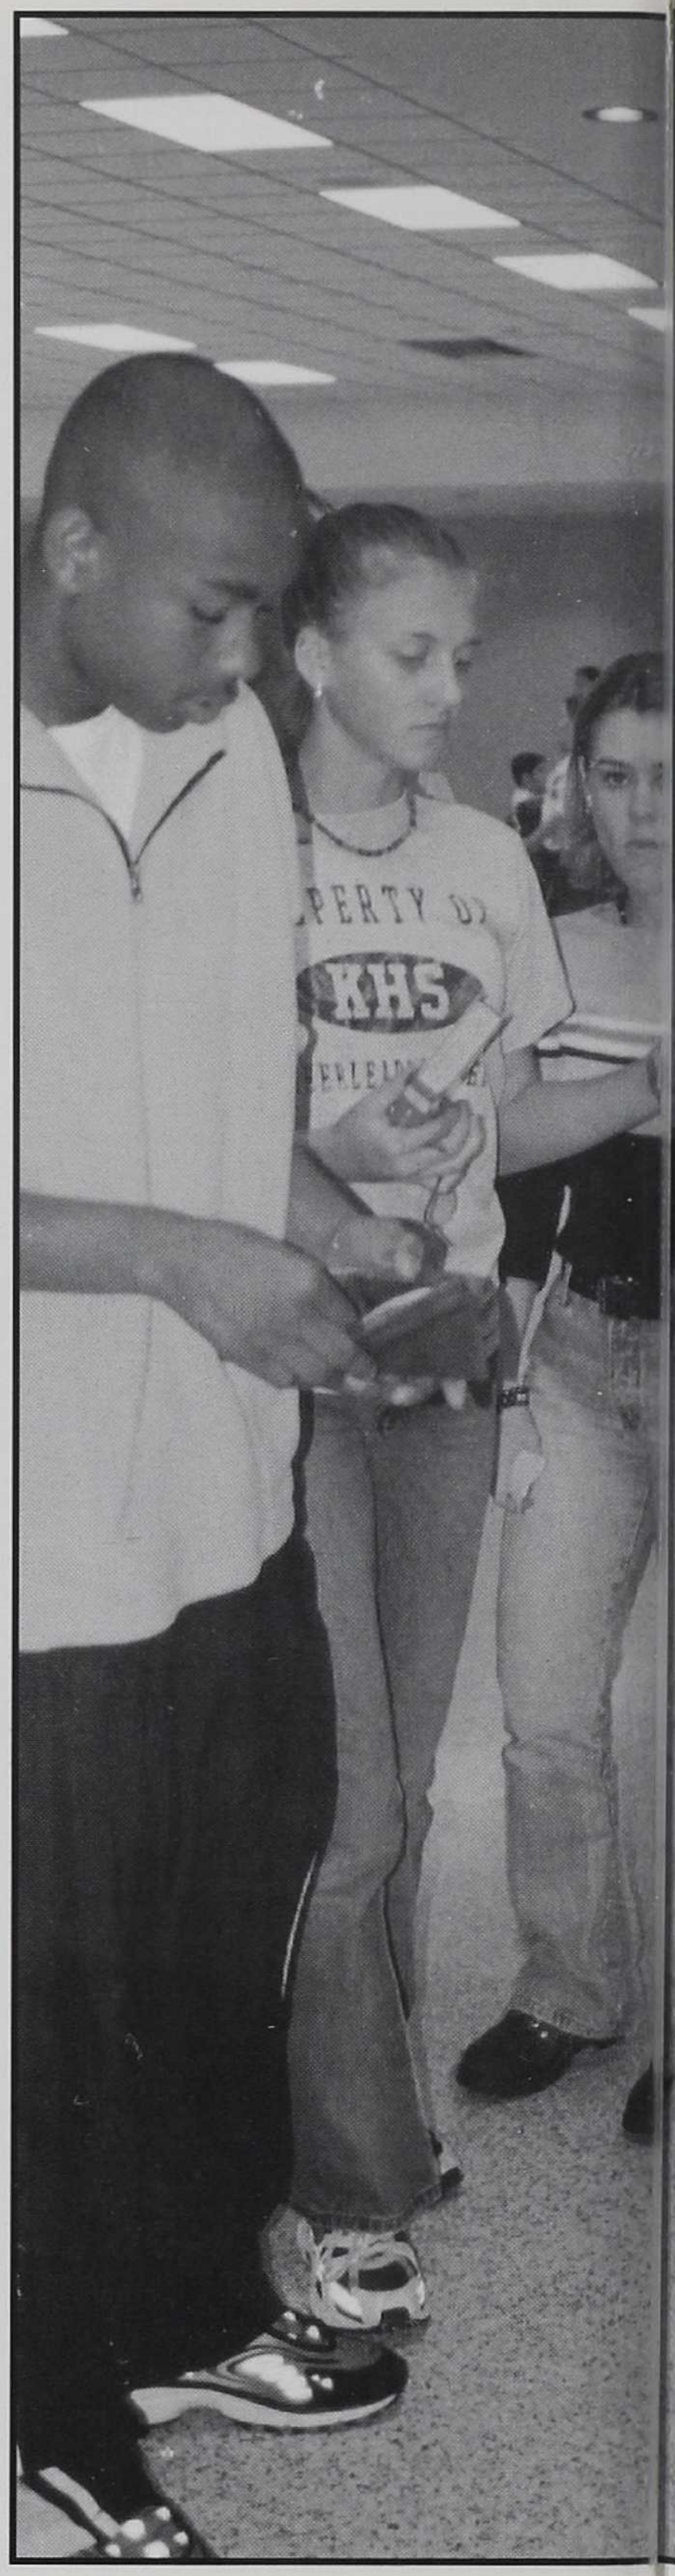
Members who participated in this organization learned how to maintain a positive working relationship between business and industry. They were encouraged to participate in events that broadened their understanding of careers available. In October, the active VICA members attended the Fall Leadership Conference. They also participated in the District Skills Leadership Contest, advancing to both the State and National level.

The purpose of the Future Business Leaders of America was to promote the awareness of the business world, as well as the economy.

The members had to join the State and National FBLA Organization. They also had to be enrolled in a business course. Throughout the year, they participated in a variety of conferences, one of which was hosted by Kennedale High School and led by senior Laura Lujan, the FBLA area VII's vice-president. They also hosted a Christmas luncheon at Cheddars.

Both of these organizations gave members the opportunity to gain knowledge and skills that proved to be an asset to them as they moved forward into the twenty-first century.

The end of the year banquet for VICA members was held at the Papasitos restaurant in Fort Worth. Members took either their employer or their parents in appreciation for their help throughout the school year.



Active VICA members, Jackie Casbeer and Justin Cobb, sell tickets to students for the Faculty vs. Senior Boys Basketball game. Throughout the year, VICA held many fundraisers to help with the cost of attending the various conferences.

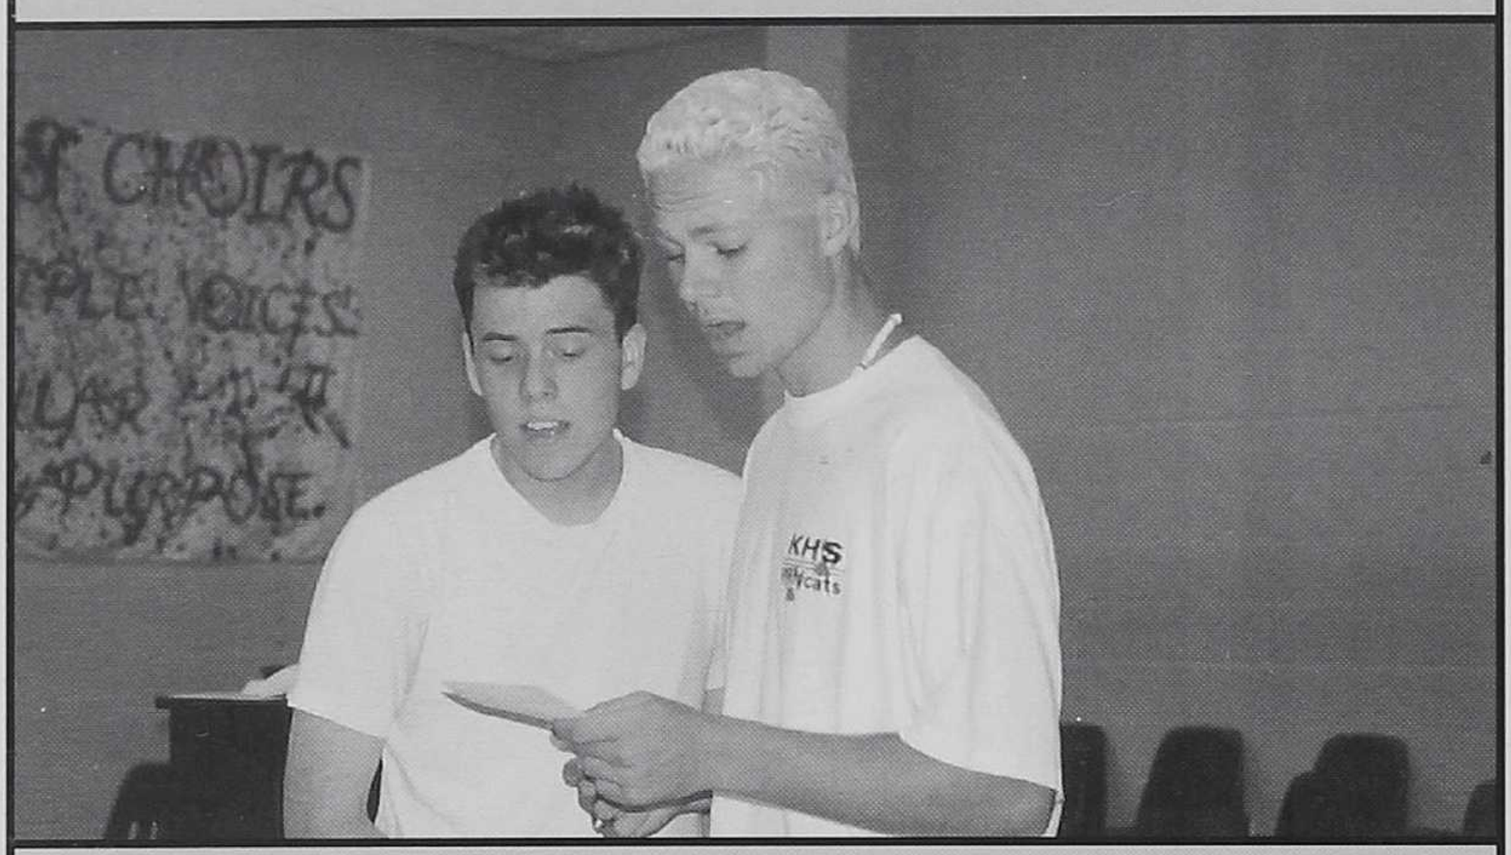
Hittin' the High Notes



The Varsity Choir consisted of twenty-eight talented students who sang a wide variety of musical styles from classical to current pop. Membership was based on student audition and teacher placement.

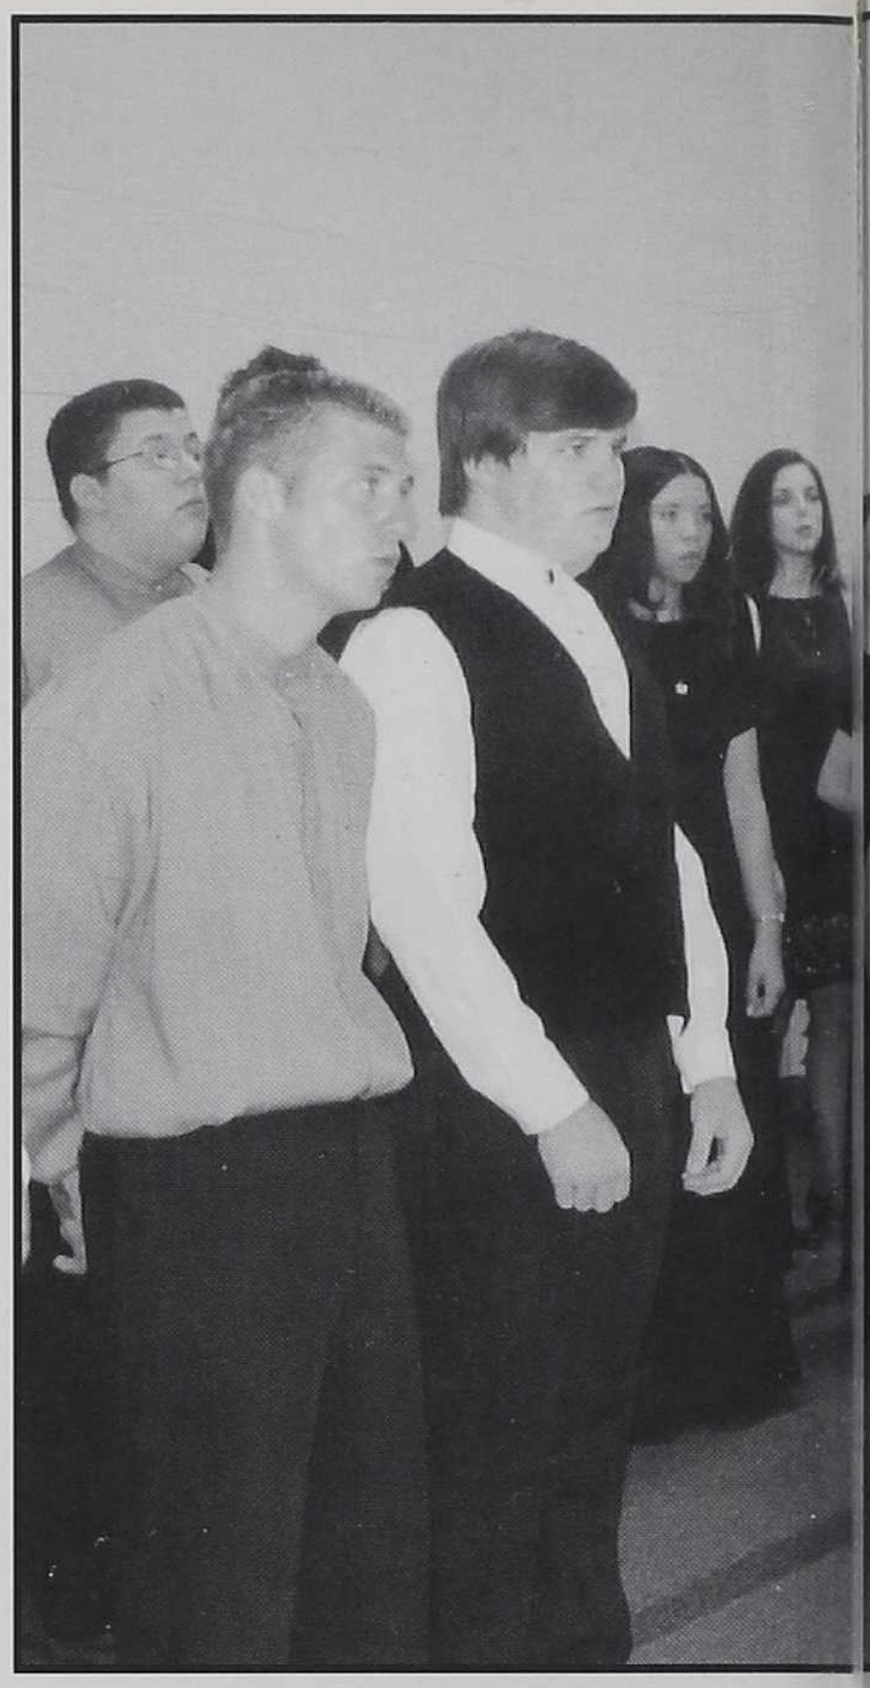
Throughout the year, the Varsity Choir maintained a busy schedule, making appearances at both the fall and spring Open House, and they also hosted a Christmas and Spring Concert. They competed in the annual UIL Solo and Ensemble Contest which was held in February, with several members advancing to the state level.

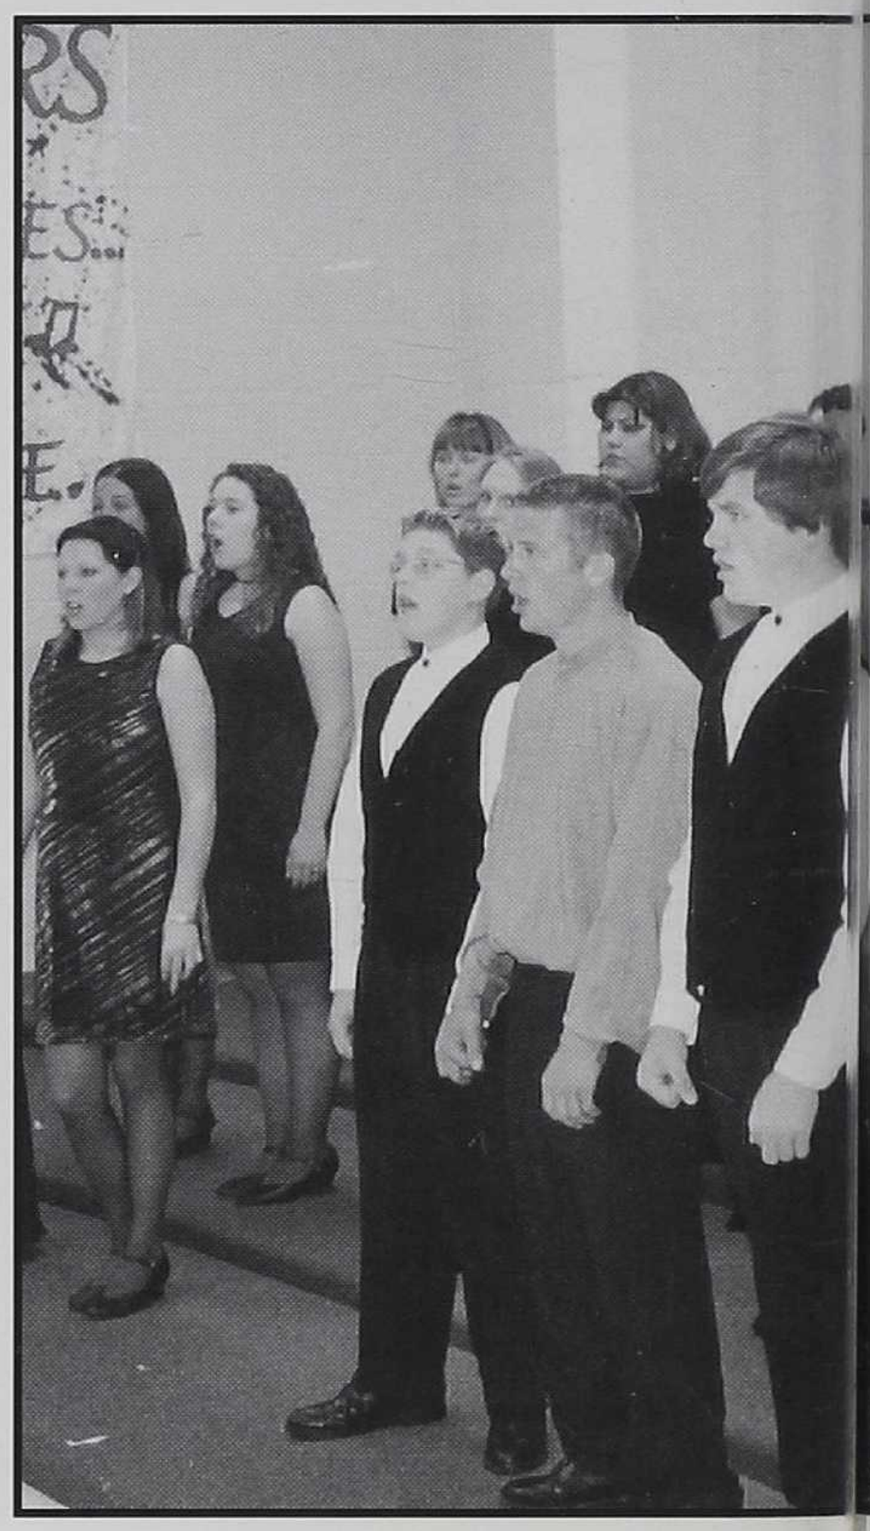
Another select group of musically inclined students were the members of the Pizzazz team. They were the show choir of Kennedale High School. They performed a variety of musical styles including pop, jazz, and Broadway.

Every member underwent a selective process of auditioning and received teacher approval to gain a spot on the team. The Pizzazz members performed at Open House, the Fine Arts Festival, both the Christmas and Spring Choir Concerts, and they provided the entertainment for the faculty Christmas luncheon. In April, the Pizzazz team took their second annual cruise to South Padre where they performed at the "Tropic of Texas Music Festival."

The gifted and talented members of both of these select groups shared a love for music. Through the camaraderie that these students shared with each other and their sponsor, they were inspired to excel at something that they had a passion for, performing and entertaining.

Seniors Dustin Perez-Vitier and Dusty Davis rehearse their performance for the Spring Choir Concert. They were both extraordinary performers and they were definitely in their element when they were on stage, in front of an audience doing what they did best, entertaining.





The Varsity Choir warms up before the spring concert. The choir worked hard for months to perfect performances before taking center stage.

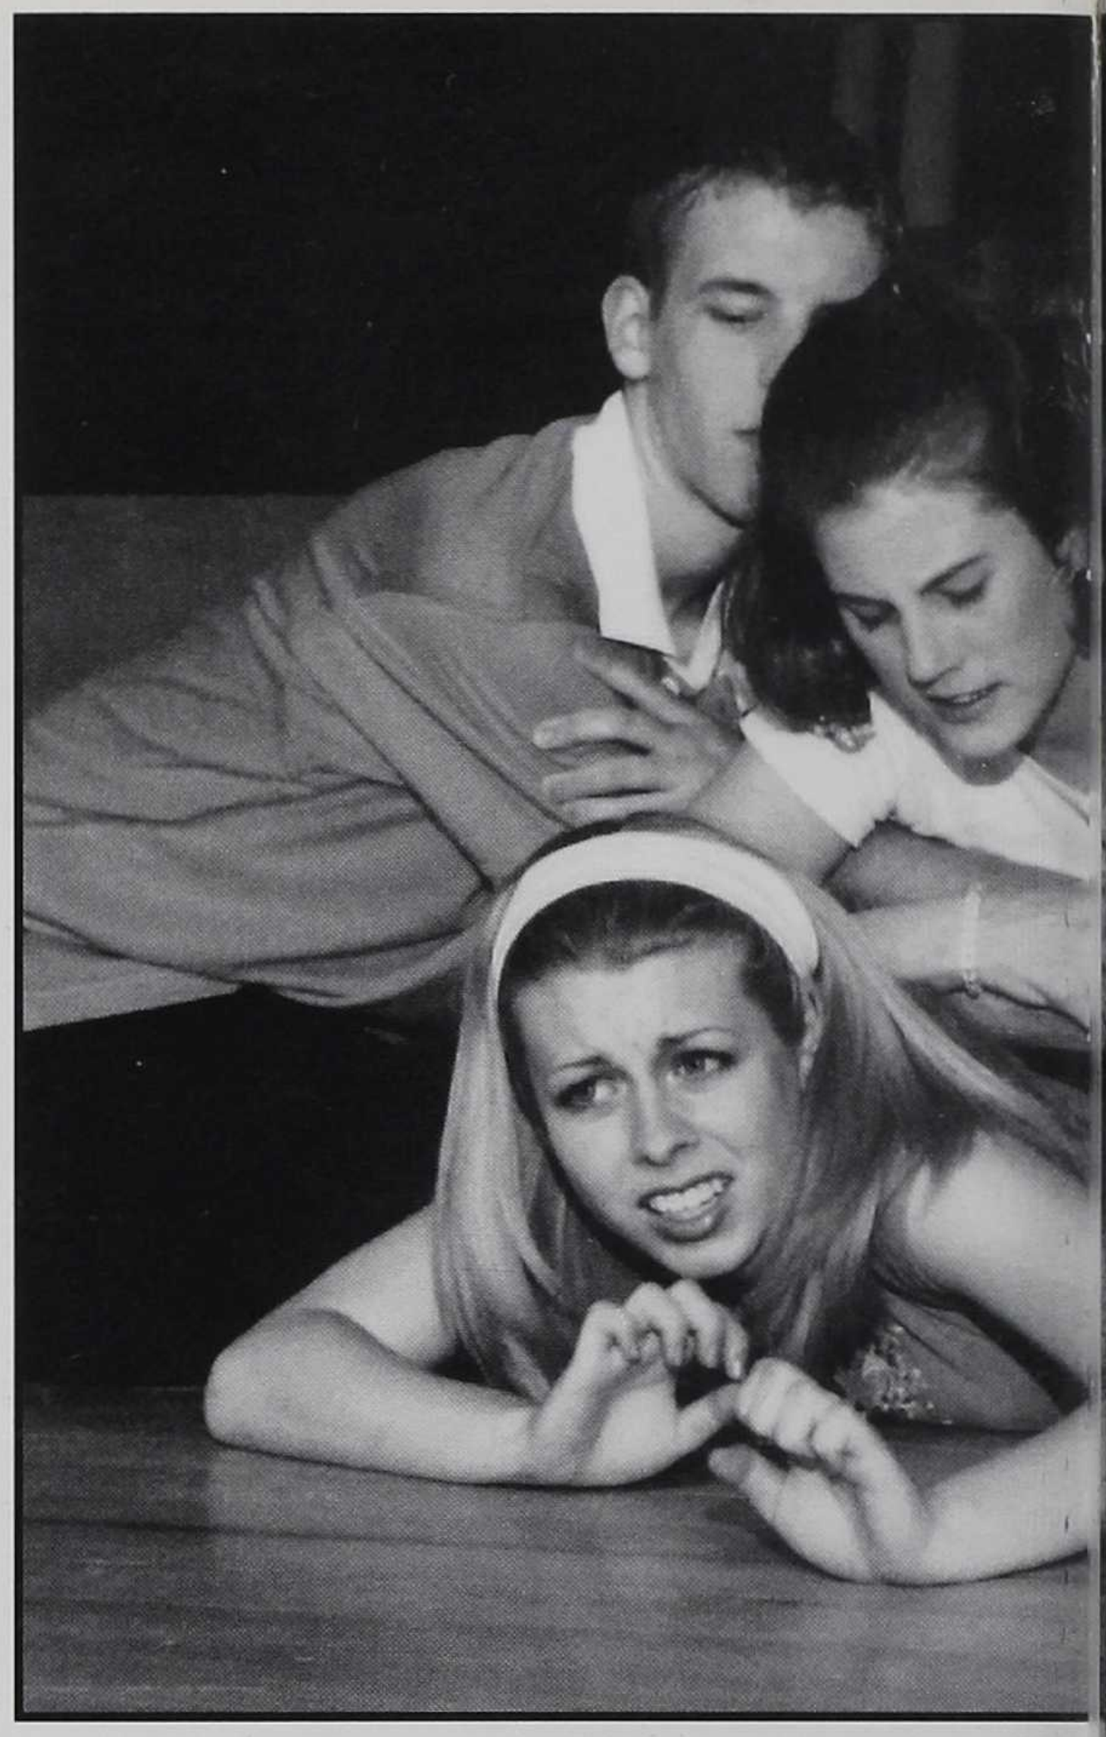
Acting It Out

Many of the students that had an interest in the theatre arts were active in the musical theatre productions as well as being members of the Thespian Society. The Thespians were an international organization of students that were devoted to the theatre arts.

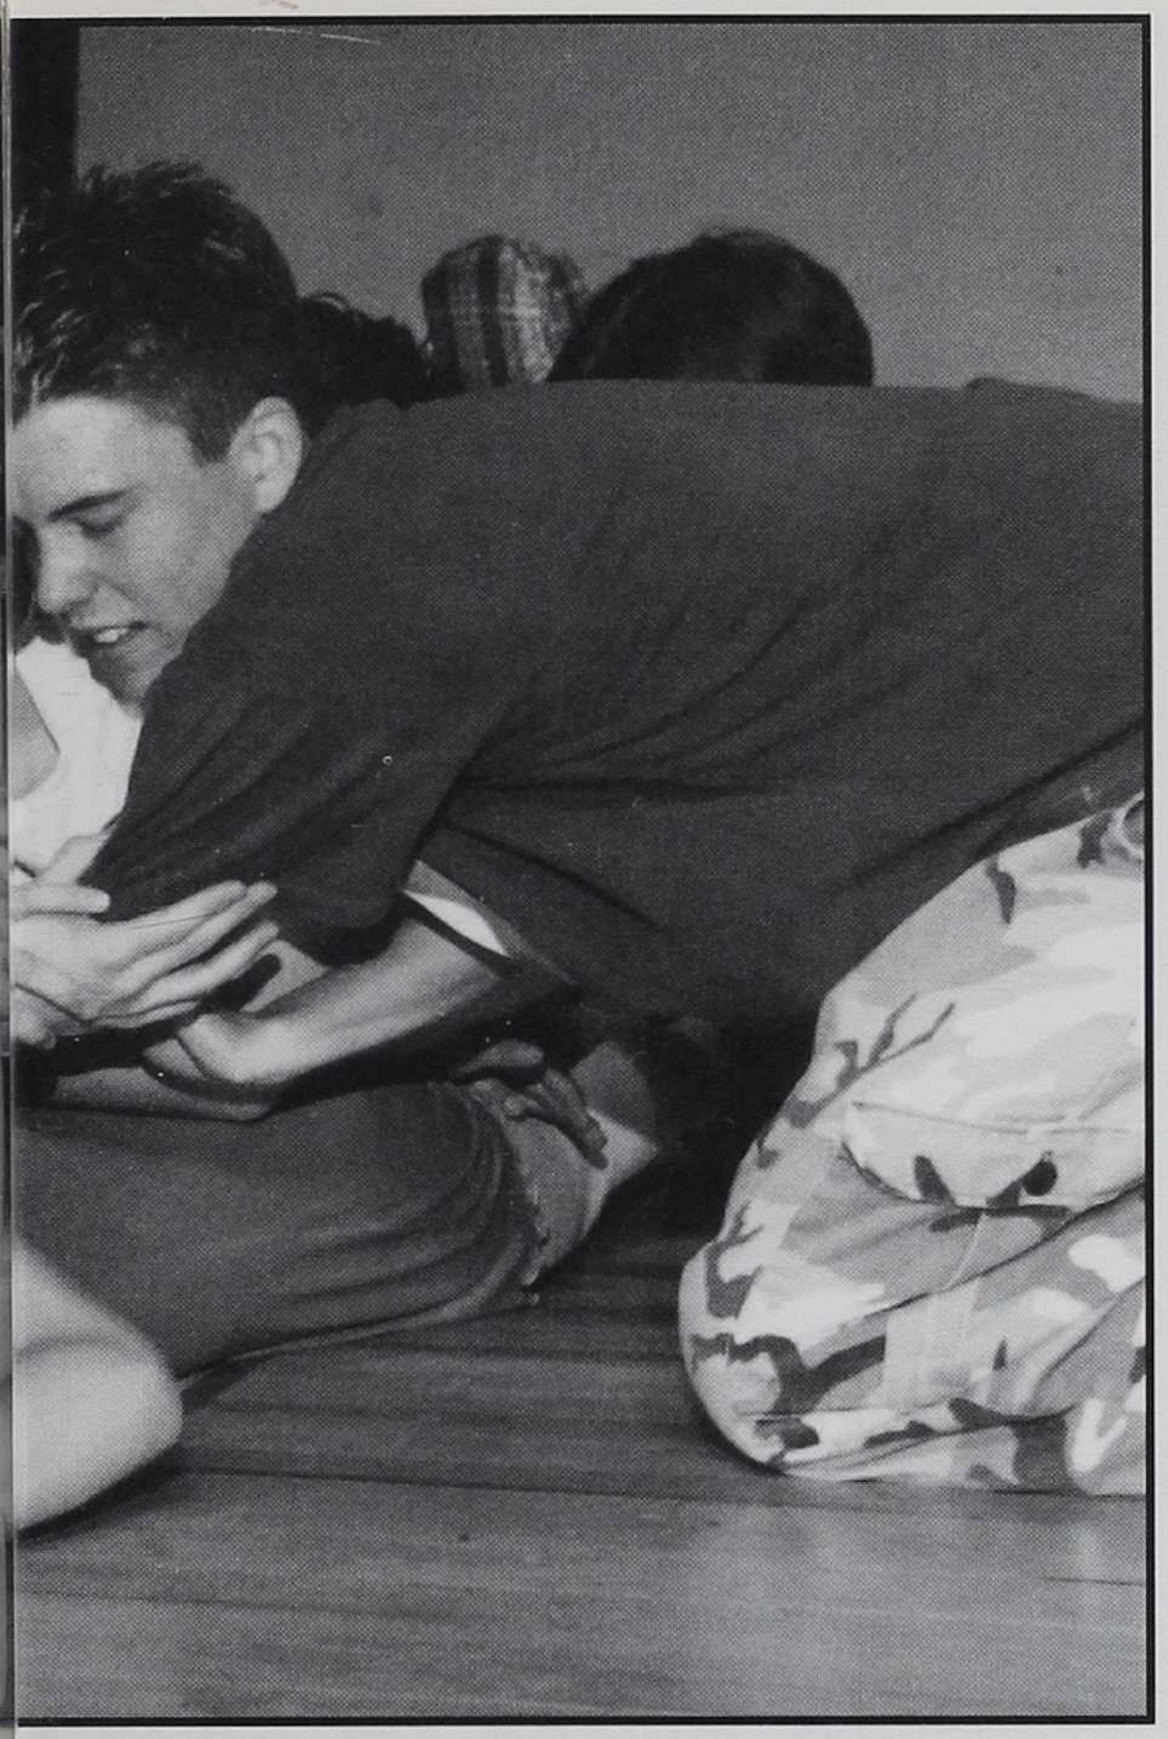
Kennedale's Thespian Society Troupe #5534 was a very talented group of young actors and actresses. Not only did they sponsor the fall play, "Dearly Departed," but they also played important roles in the spring musical production of "Guys and Dolls." In the spring, they entered the rehearsed play, "Alice In Wonderland," in the UIL One Act Play competition. The play advanced all the way to State competition which was held at the University of Texas at Austin. The play received All-star Cast honors, and sophomore Ariel Furman was awarded with Best Actress.

The Thespians helped to promote and strengthen the theatre arts program, as well as honor the dedication of exceptional crews and performers.

Dusty Davis, Dustin Perez-Vitier, and John Harmond sing about "the oldest established permanent floating crap game in New York." This was a scene from the musical theatre production of "Guys and Dolls" which took place in February.



During the funeral scene, Julia Fitzgerald, Joanna Collins, Dustin Perez-Vitier, and Kaleigh Cantrell, mourn the passing of "Daddy Bud." This was part of the fall play, "Dearly Departed," which was performed in November.



Ian Furman, Ariel Furman, Julia Fitzgerald, and Dustin Perez-Vitier perform a scene from the UIL One Act Play "Alice In Wonderland." The play advanced to State which was held at the University of Texas in May.

Sophomore Ariel Furman gives an outstanding performance as Adelaide in the musical "Guys and Dolls." As the female lead, Ariel was singing "I Love You a Bushel and a Peck."

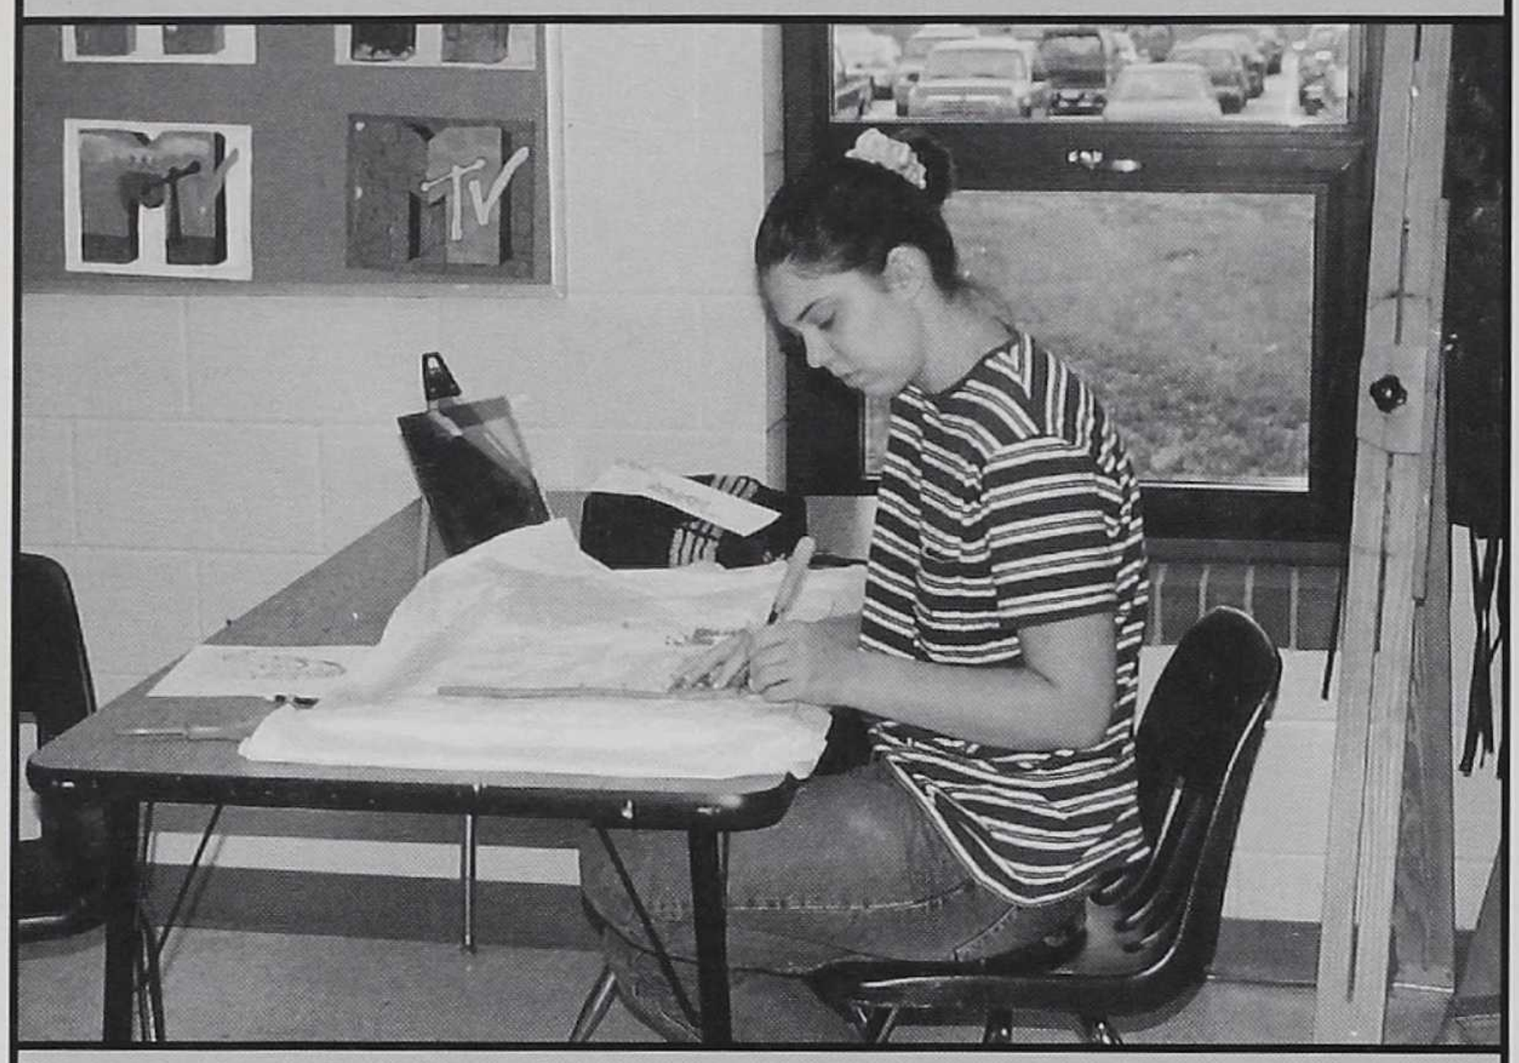
Creative Expressions



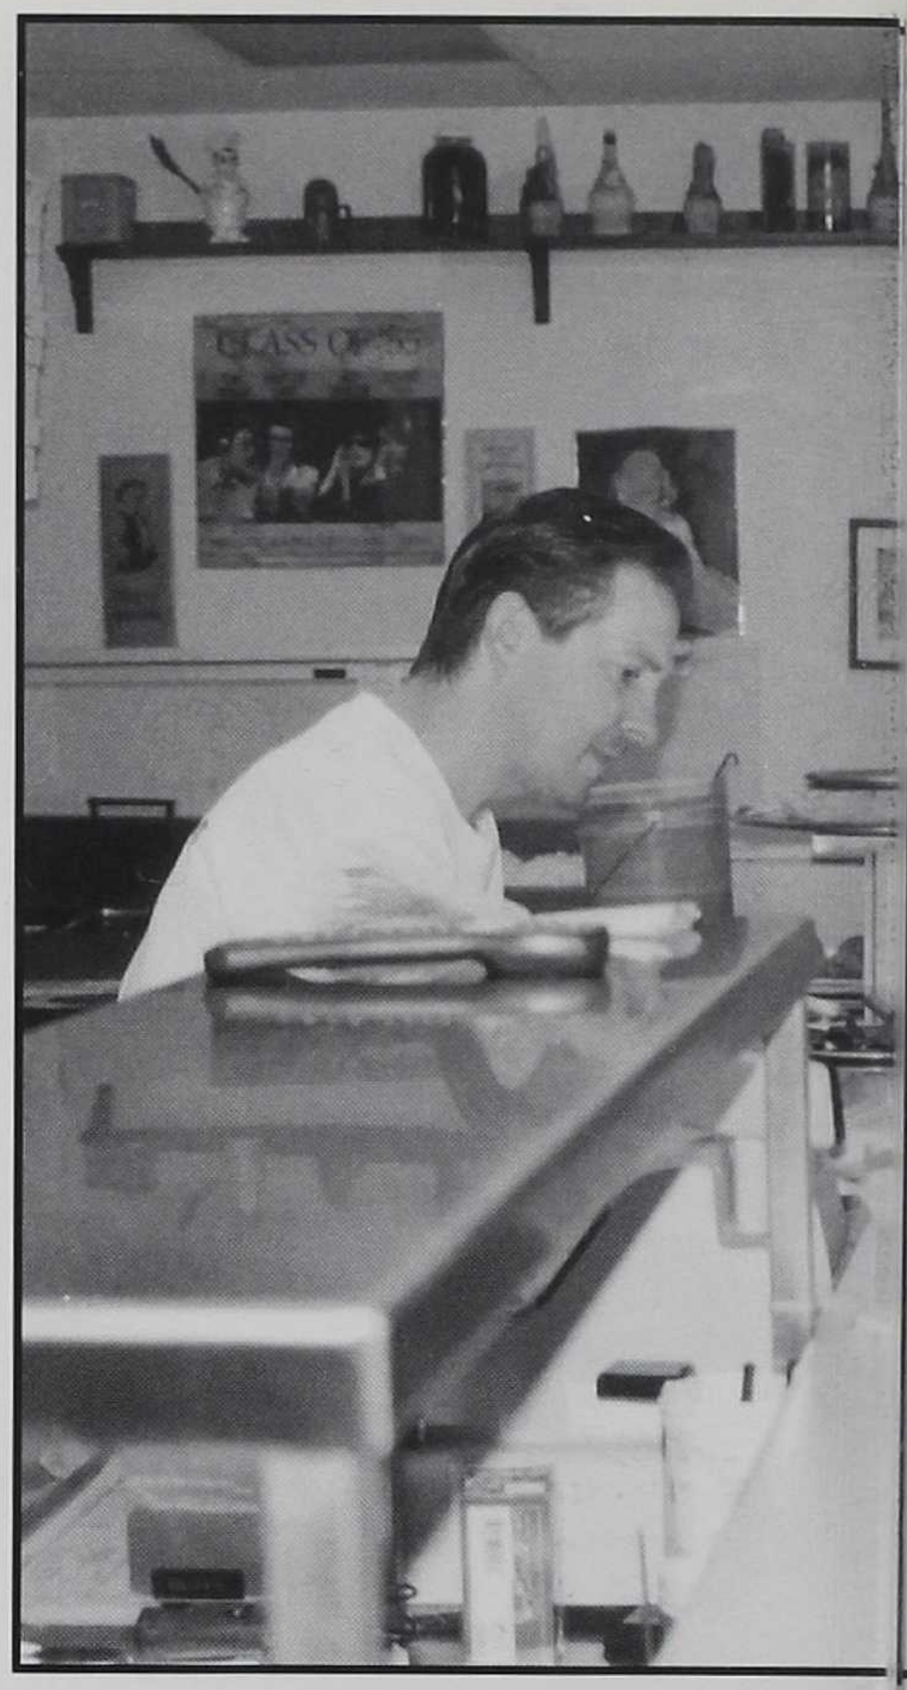
The Art Club gave students who had an interest in the visual arts the opportunity to enhance their personal interests, as well as broaden their horizons. The club provided students with cultural awareness that extended beyond the classroom.

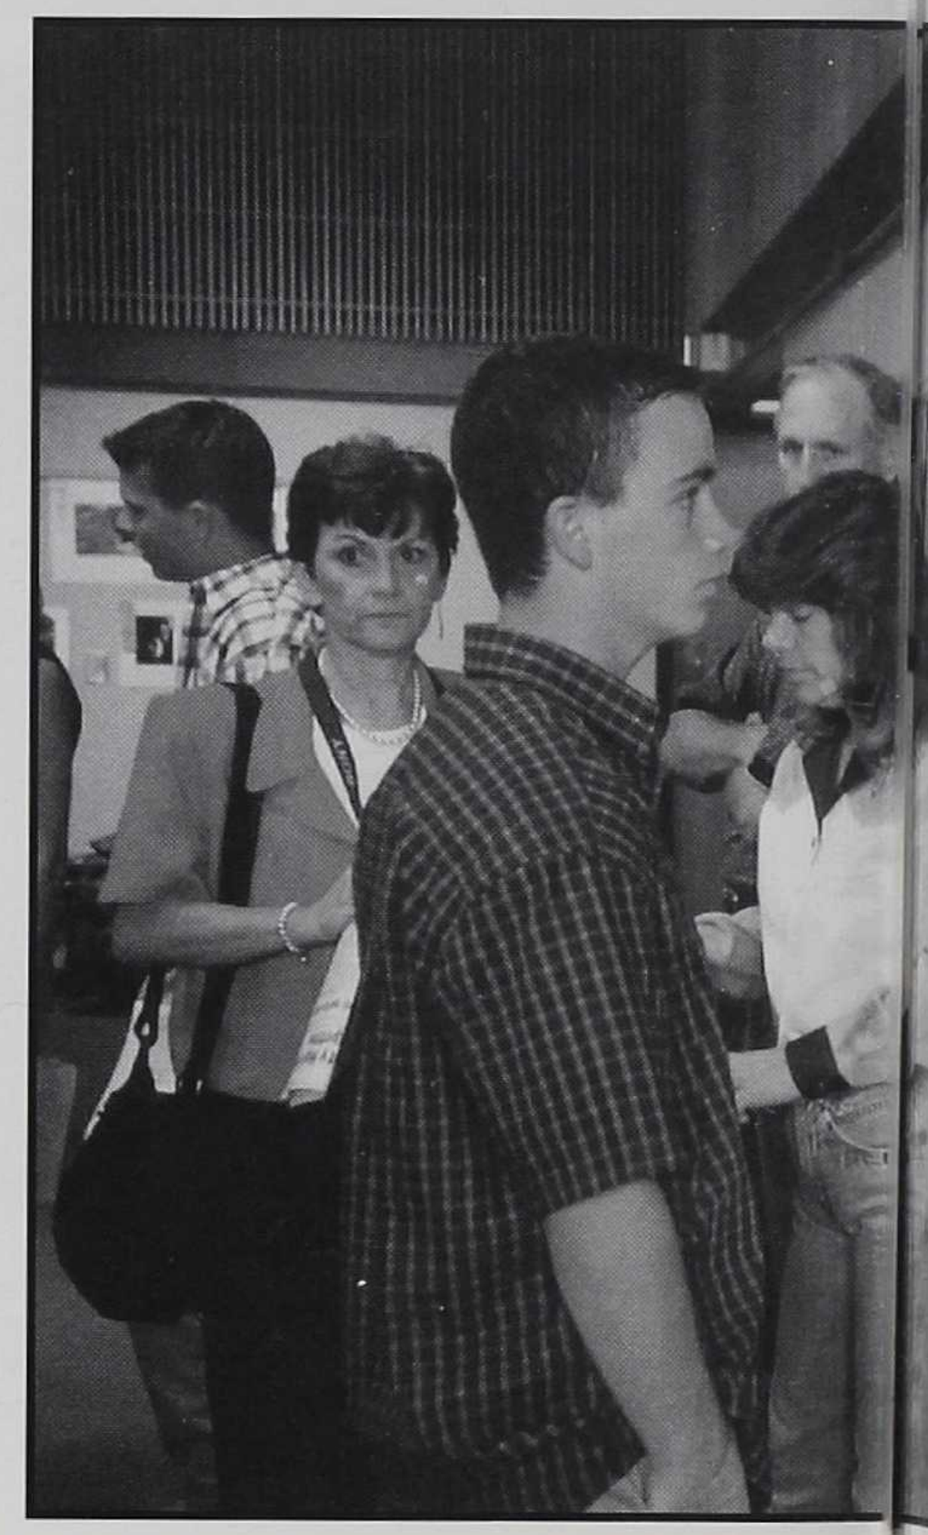
Art Club students had to show a strong interest in art and attend club meetings to obtain membership. The members visited museums, galleries, and various artists' studios throughout the year. In the fall, they attended "Gallery Night" in Fort Worth. They also paricipated in the Fine Arts Carnival where they sponsored a face painting booth.

The journalism students had an interest in interviewing people, writing stories, and covering the events that took place throughout the school year. They were responsible for the monthly publication of the school newspaper, The Wildcat Tale. It contained feature articles that helped keep the students and community abreast of the current events. To assist with the printing costs of the newspaper, the students sold advertising space to local businesses.

Each of these organizations gave these students the opportunity to further their knowledge in areas that were possible career choices for those involved.

Senior Janelle Lankhorst prepares her clay self-portrait for her AP Art Portfolio Assessment. Janelle illustrated and submitted a series of self-portraits, each done in a different medium.





Junior Chase Shelton views the artwork on display while at the Twelve County High School Art Show at the UNT Health Science Center in Fort Worth. Chase, along with several other Art Club members, had pieces that were accepted at the show.

Journalism students, Bailey Ephland, Jennifer Willis, and Carley Nichols, assist their customer, Tony's Pizza in Arlington, with their ad purchase work order. The revenue from the ad sales helped cover the printing costs of the newspaper.

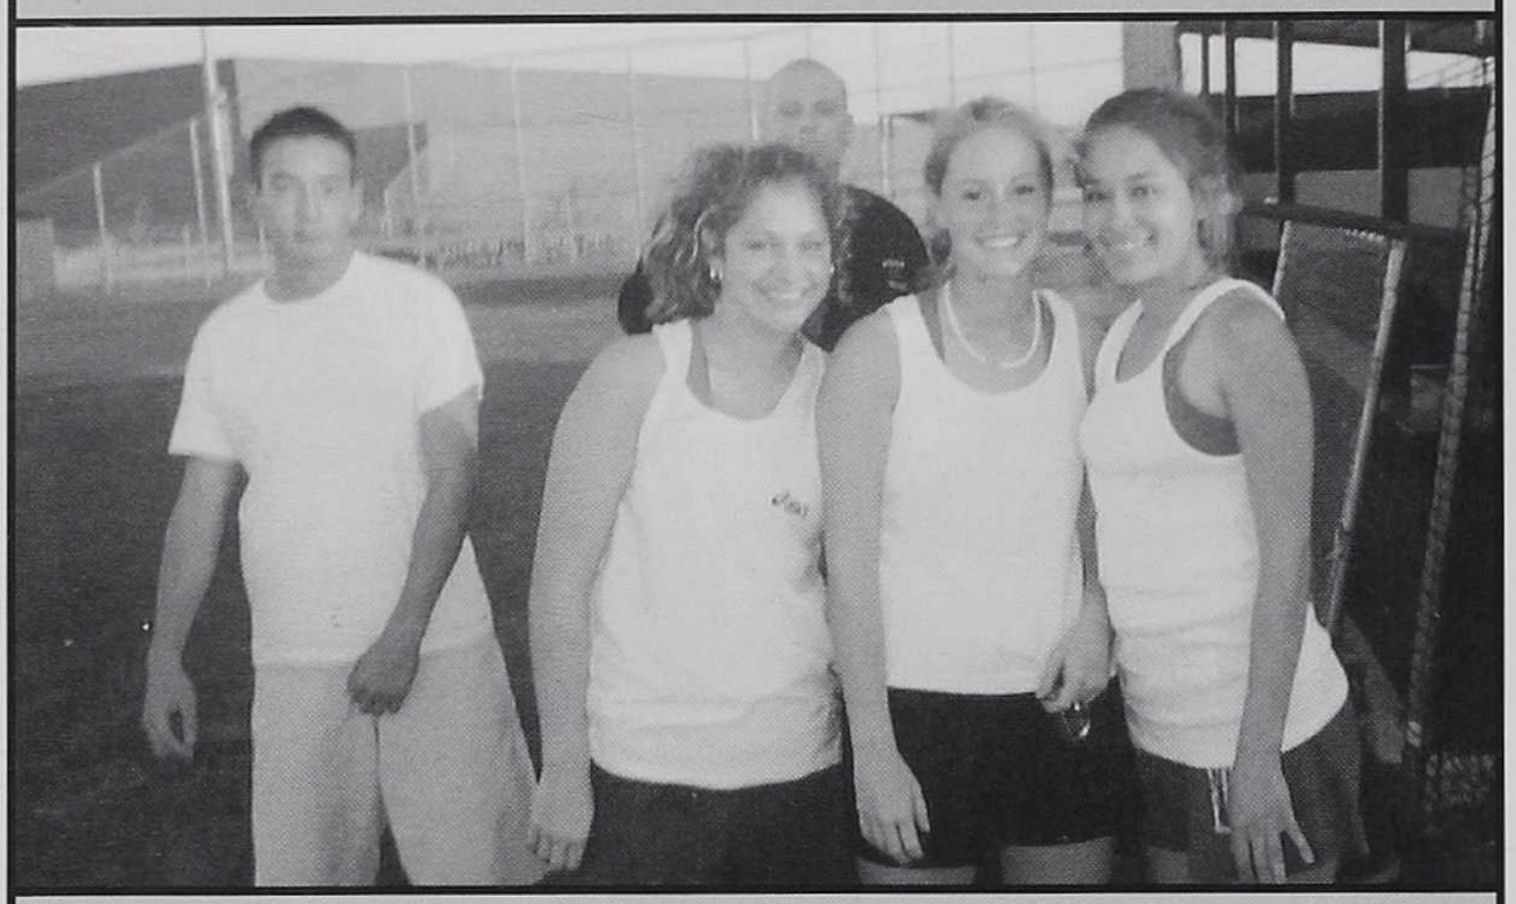
Leap of Faith



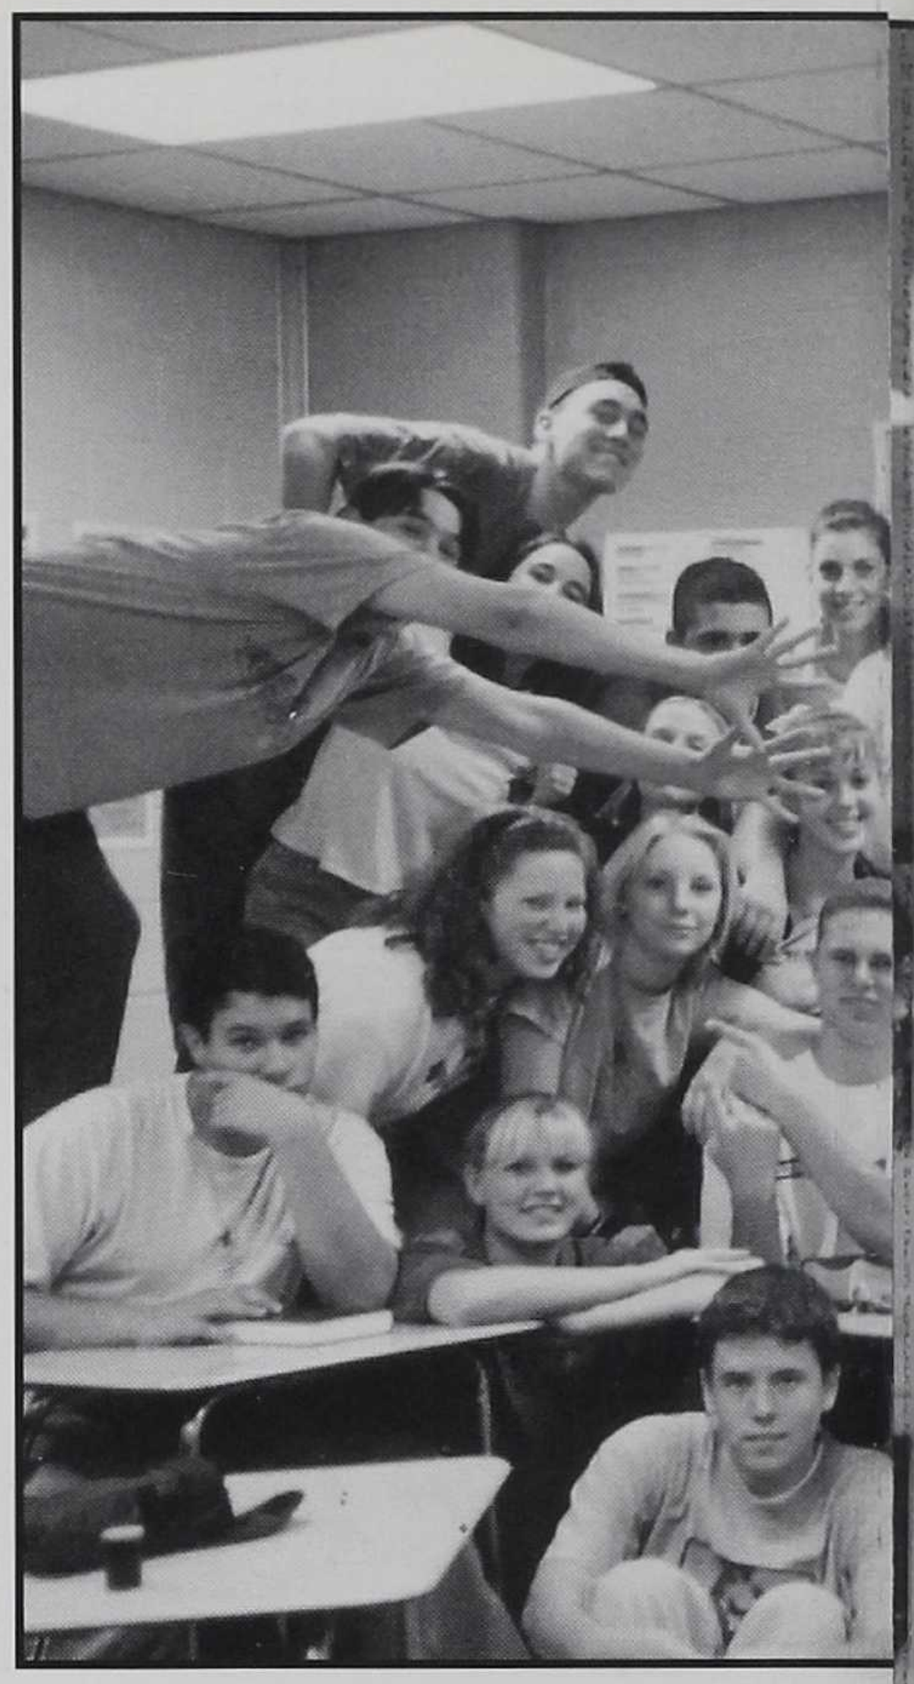
Both of these organizations, First Priority and Fellowship of Christian Athletes, encouraged students to be a positive influence on campus.

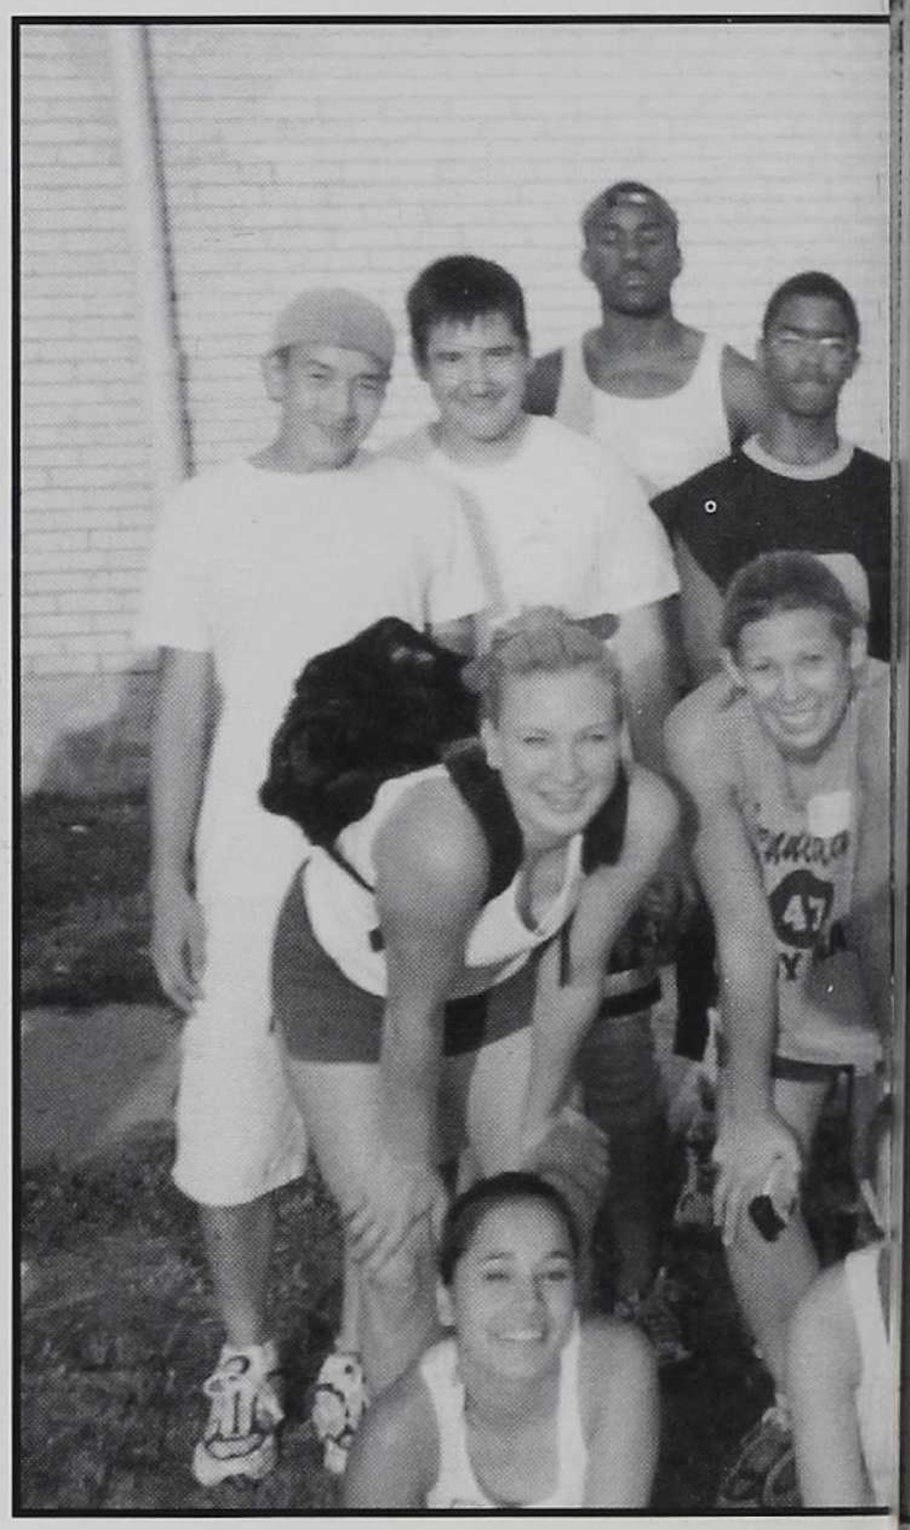
First Priority membership was open to any student who had a common interest in the organizations purpose and goals. The meetings, held on Tuesday evenings, provided students with fellowship and gave them a time to discuss any concerns that they might have in a safe and supportive environment. In addition to their weekly meetings, they also sponsored concerts and parties in celebration of the various holidays.

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes membership was open to all students on campus that wished to attend the meetings and activities throughout the year. FCA organized bimonthly meetings which were held at the home's of members. The meetings gave students a time to relax, put their stresses behind them for a while, and enjoy time spent with their peers. In May, the FCA members and their sponsor attended a gathering that was held at Castleberry High School in Fort Worth. While there, they met FCA students from other area high schools, enjoyed the music provided by a live band, and participated in a variety of organized recreational activities.

Both of these organizations allowed those that wished to join the opportunity to simply be themselves and spend time with others that shared common goals and interests.

FCA members, Derek Helms, Mike Alvarado, D'Anna Logos, Jessie Beard, and Monica Chavez, meet at Castleberry High School. This gave them the opportunity to unite with FCA members from other school districts.





Kennedale's FCA members represent the school with pride while at the FCA gathering held at Castleberry High School in Fort Worth. This took place in May when the FCA members and their sponsor took advantage of this opportunity to go and meet FCA members from other area high schools.

Expressing Diversity

The Future Homemakers of America provided members with opportunities for personal development while learning how to strengthen the function of the family as a basic unit.

Many of the club members gained an interest in its purpose after taking a Family Science course. Continuing the tradition, FHA members visited Pecan Manor in Kennedale monthly. During these visits, the FHA members could be caught singing Christmas carols, dressed up in Halloween costumes, playing bingo, and even giving dance lessons. They also hosted the annual blood drive in conjunction with Carter Blood Care Center.

FHA members were rewarded by providing meaningful community service, while at the same time, learning how to successfully incorporate their family into all aspects of their lives.

The Foreign Language Club united students that shared an interest in learning about different cultures. Each member had to have taken at least one semester of a foreign language. In October, the FLC members sponsored a booth at the Fine Arts Festival which helped raise money to go towards their activities. The members also dined out together, enjoying the local flavor of the Mexican cuisine. By participating in this organization, students gained information about various cultures around the world.

Both of these groups gave students the chance to build upon and go beyond what they had learned in the classroom.

FLC members, Angie Reed, Christine Damelio, Christina Rico, Kelly Saunders, Nicole Fleschner, and Adeila Ejiogu, help run their club sponsored booth at the Fine Arts Carnival in October. The carnival gave the community an opportunity to contribute to the organizations that participated in it's success.

Sophomores Christina Rico and Miranda Pizana work their shift at the FLC sponsored booth at the Fine Arts Carnival. The carnival gave the club members an opportunity to raise money for their upcoming activities.

Lean On Me

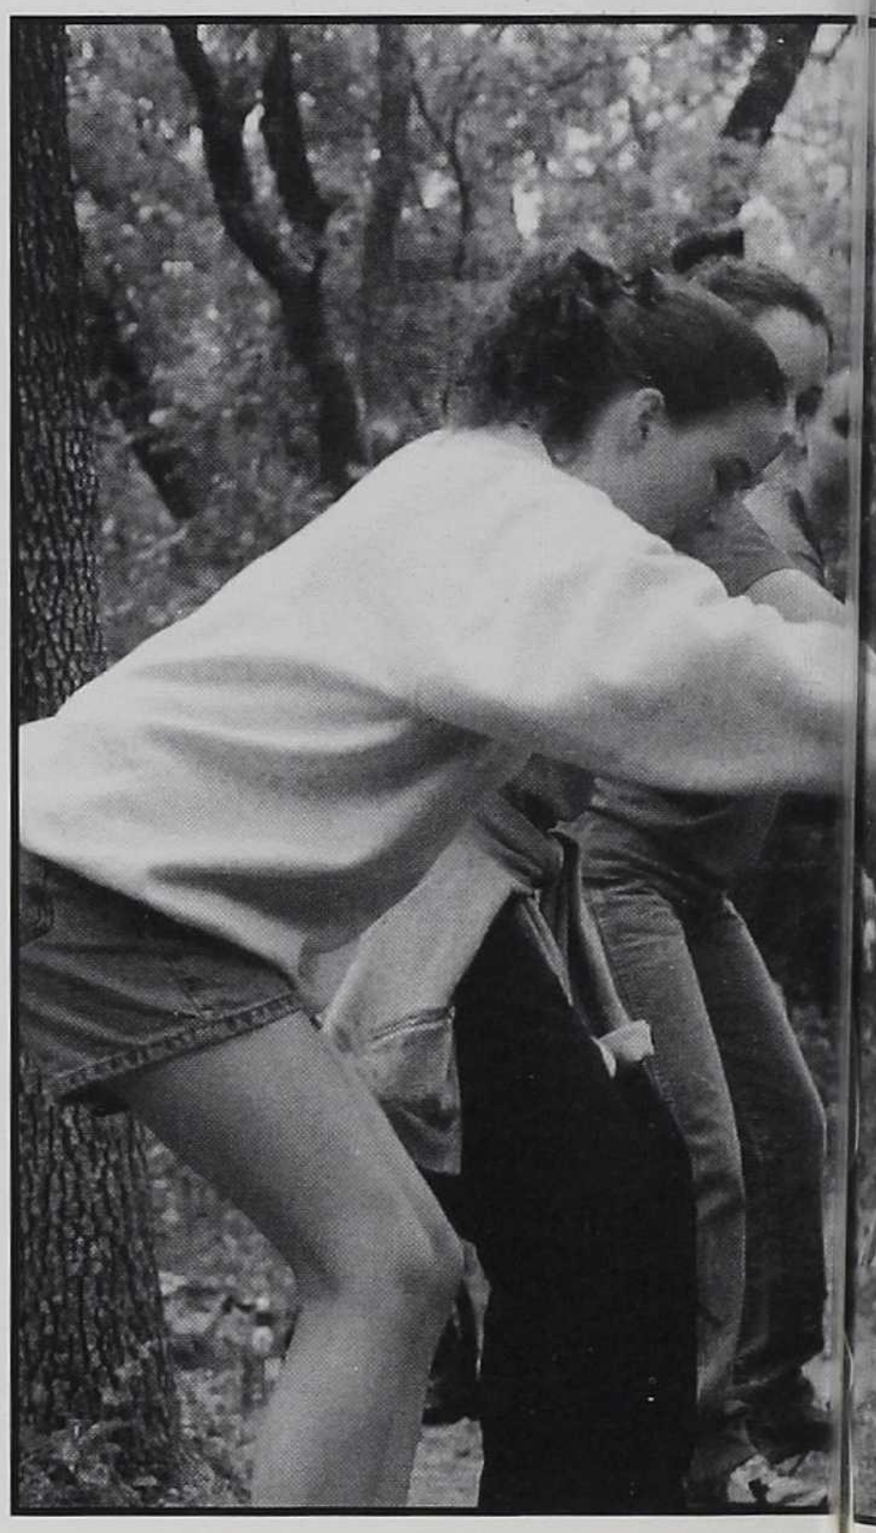
The Peer Assistance and Leadership class gave students a chance to make a difference through guidance, advice, and mentorship.

Throughout the year, PAL students visited the primary, elementary, and junior high campuses to extend a helping hand to the younger students within the district. The PAL class attended the State PAL Conference in Roundrock where they received training to help make Kennedale a trustworthy place for all students. In the spring, the PAL students and their sponsor worked diligently to help the "Free the Children" foundation. They raised money and collected school supplies to help build and provide for schools in other less fortunate countries. They also sponsored the multimedia motivational assembly, "Choices or Chances," which was attended by the entire student body.

The Students Against Destructive Decisions was an organization that encouraged each other to live in a responsible, positive way. In the spring, they sponsored a magic show at the junior high. They were also instrumental in beginning a new SADD chapter at the junior high. The SADD students held a variety of fundraisers throughout the year which helped pay for their end of the year dinner held at Bobby Valentines restaurant in Arlington.

The PAL and SADD students were about friends helping friends, and they were dedicated to making the district a safe place for all students.

The PAL members sort school supplies that were collected for the "Free the Children" foundation. "Free the Children" was a philanthropic organization that helped raise money to build schools. They also collected and sent school supplies to less fortunate children all over the world.



While at "Adventures In Achievement," a ropes course in Alvarado, PAL members are challenged by the "Matrix." The PAL members attended the two day workshop where they participated in team building, communication, and problem solving exercises.

Active SADD members Natalie Whatley and Megan Riley attach red ribbons to student and faculty car antennas. The symbolic red ribbons served as a reminder to everyone to be aware of the dangers of drinking and driving.

Leaders of Tomorrow

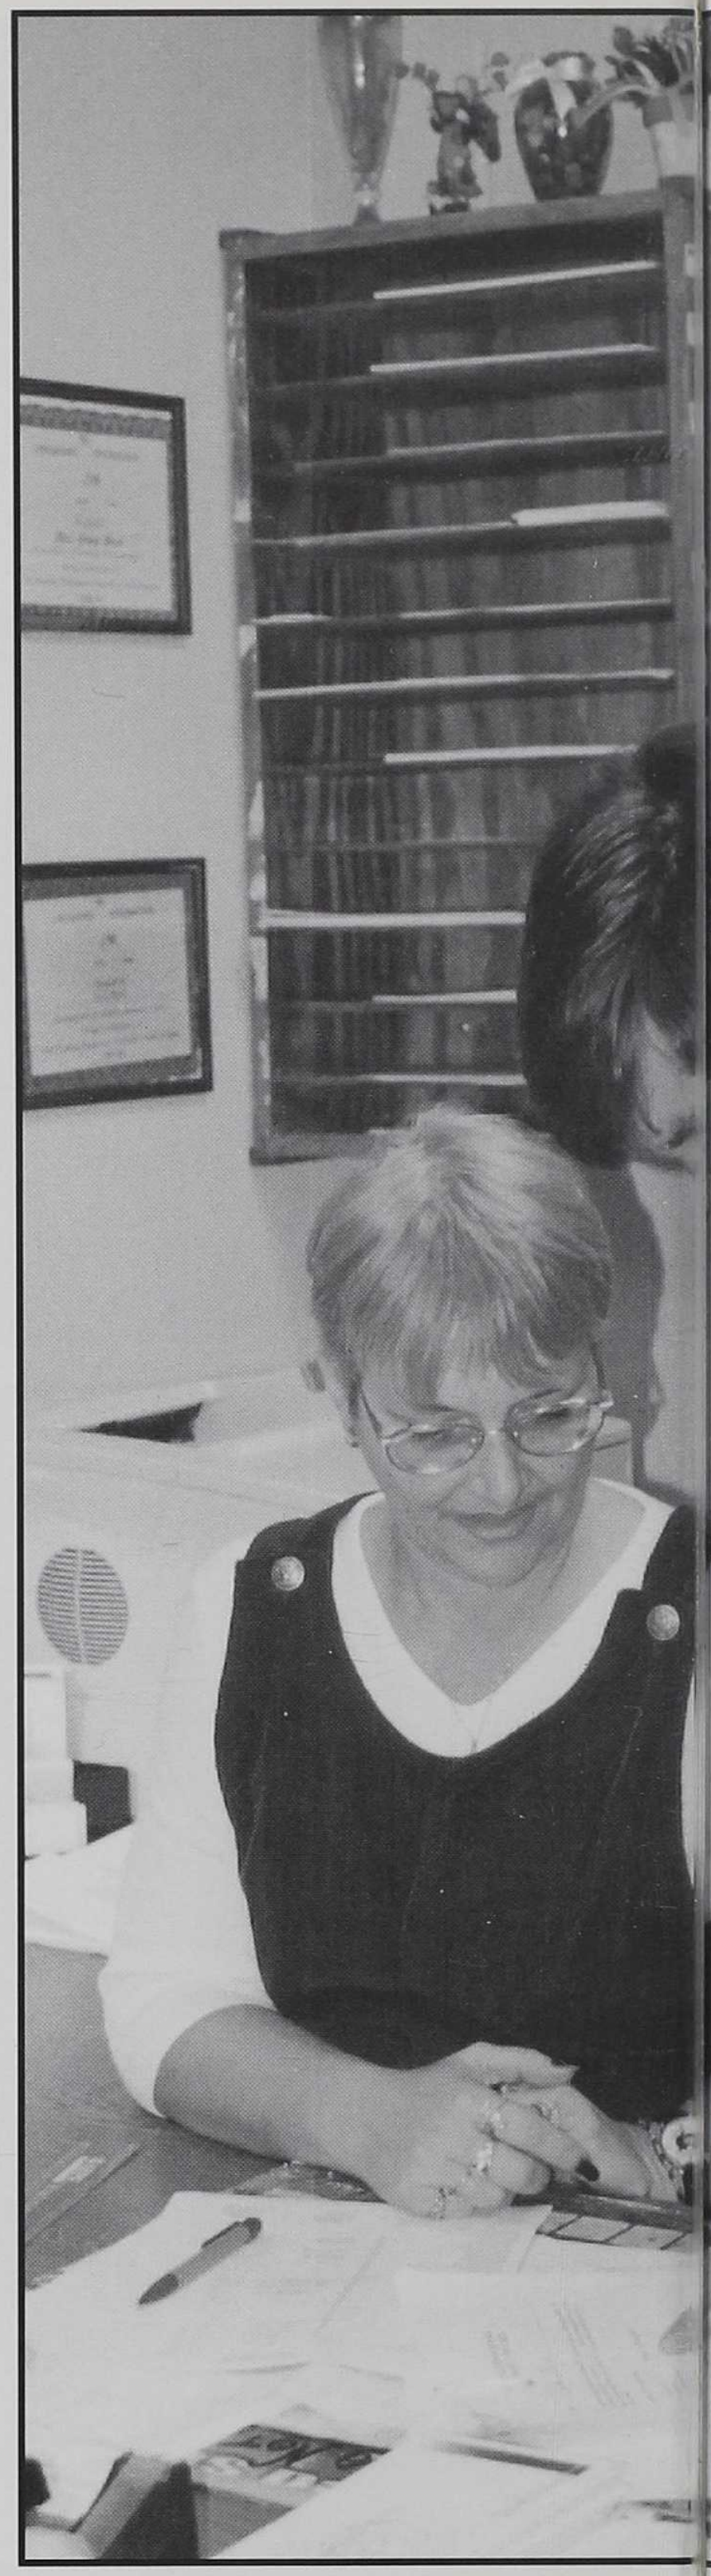
The Science, Math, and Related Technologies Club, also known as SMART, was dedicated to furthering students interests in science, math, and technology related fields.

The main objective of this club was to design and construct a remote control robot to enter into the engineering competition, The Dallas Best Robotics Competition, which was sponsored by Texas Instruments. The time spent working evenings and weekends paid off when Kennedale High School's robot, "Mini Me II," placed fourth out of nineteen area high schools at the competition in October.

The Crime Stopper organization was devoted to crime prevention and awareness. This group and their sponsor worked diligently to help make Kennedale a safe and secure learning environment. In addition to the work that they did on campus, the members also volunteered monthly at the Girls Club and the Women's Shelter of Arlington. They also held several fundraisers, including a Halloween pumpkin raffle and the Broom Ball Hockey game. The funds raised helped pay for the trip to the State Crime Stoppers Conference. While there, sophomores Nikki Angel and Joshua Thornton were recognized for their service, along with their sponsor, Mrs. Ward, who won the Crime Prevention of the Year Award.

Both of these organizations, although diverse, gave these students an excellent opportunity to get involved and contribute to the overall success of Kennedale High School.

SMART Club members, Jimmy Lehman, Brittany Baker, Angie Reed, Alex Marin, and Matt Smith, test their robot, "Mini Me II," for accuracy. The club members and their sponsors spent many hours preparing their robot to meet eligibility for The Dallas Best Robotics Competition.



Outstanding Crime Stopper of the Year, sophomore Joshua Thornton, assists Mrs. Ward with preparing the daily Crime Stopper announcement. Mrs. Ward represented Kennedale well by receiving the Crime Prevention of the Year Award while at the state Crime Stoppers Conference at College Station.

Finely Tuned Talent

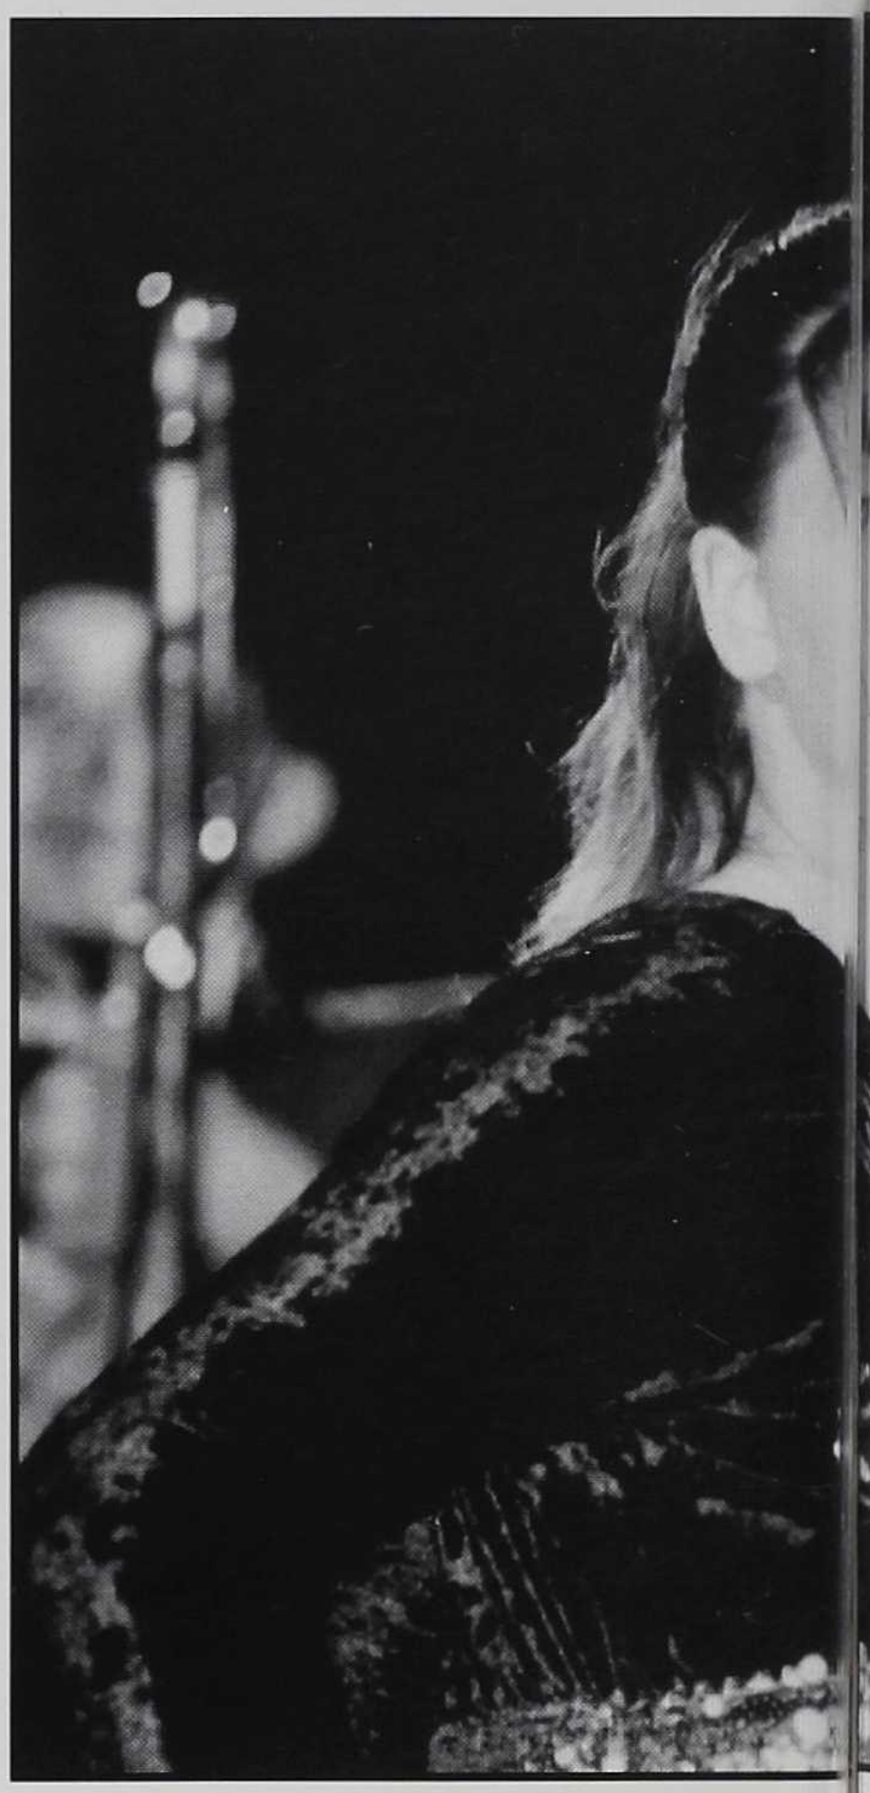
The band provided the pep at the pep rallies, the noise at the football games, and the entertainment at both the Fall and Spring Band Concerts.

The members worked hard all summer in preparation for their field performances. Later in the year they directed their focus towards practicing for the UIL Concert Contest. In addition to UIL, four members auditioned for All-region band. Senior Eric Medlock and sophomore Rachel Drake both advanced to All-area. The band was also proud to bring home a Division II rating from both the UIL Marching and Concert Contests.

Not to be overlooked were the six members of the color guard. These band members were self taught, making up their own routines to coordinate with the band's field show. They helped add color and movement, enhancing the half time entertainment. They also performed at the UIL Marching Contest along with the band. Three of the six members competed in the North Texas Color Guard Association Winterguard Competition, placing twenty-first out of many participants.

The band and color guard members had to display a willingness to cooperate and work together in order to achieve success as a group. They did an outstanding job this year as they continued to lay the foundation for the future.

The members of the percussion line file off the field after their half time performance. Precision was necessary and each member contributed many hours to practicing their drills and music until they had achieved perfection.



Color guard member, freshman Valerie Ferree, puts the finishing touches on her half time routine. The color guard helped add both color and movement, enhancing the band's performance at every game.

Assistant drum major Lauren Billman directs the band during the homecoming half time field show. The drum majors could be seen conducting the band at every game and pep rally throughout the year.

PEOPLE

turning over time

What defined the 1999-2000 school year at Kennedale High School were the people that filled the hallways and classrooms. The students were here to learn and grow, and the faculty and administration were here to guide them and keep them safe. The student body learned from the throughout the year. They joined organizations, excelled in academics, competed in athletics, and made lasting friendships. Each student was a part of a whole, and they all joined together to create a year filled with lasting memories.

TIME SPENT TOGETHER

turning over time

This year's seniors made the most of their time together before they journeyed across the stage and beyond. As the time passed, they grasped onto those last moments together with their friends, while at the same time completing college applications, raising money for prom, and earning their remaining credits for graduation. As the first graduating class of the twenty-first century, they set the standards for others to follow. As they reflected upon all the memories created while at Kennedale High School, they were looking ahead, anxious to see what the future would bring. Congratulations and much success to the class of 2000!

having the time of our lives

The class of 2001 had finally attained upperclassmen status. The most significant aspect of these students' lives as juniors was the independence that they had gained throughout the year. Becoming gainfully employed, having their own transportation, and knowing that their senior year was in reach made life seemingly uncomplicated at times. While they looked ahead in preparation for their final year of high school, the class of 2001 took it all in stride, enjoying the benefits that came along with being an upperclassman.

making time count

Priorities for a sophomore revolved around taking the necessary steps that enabled them to gain more independence and freedom from the home front. Several of these important steps included filling out job applications, making new friends, and passing both the TAAS and drivers education. Attaining a drivers license was a rite of passage for these students, and needless to say, it was at the top of the list. As the year progressed, they attempted to balance their academics with extra-curricular activities. They became more responsible, gained a sense of self, and prepared themselves for upperclassmen status.

the first time is a charm

With anxiety and anticipation, the class of 2003 became the new faces on campus. With this large addition to the student body, the extra room in the hallways had rapidly dissipated. A few of the challenges that these students encountered were adjusting to the block schedule and finding their way around the newly built high school. As the year progressed, these students found themselves in all too familiar territory. Their confidence and enthusiasm was evident as they eagerly faced the challenges that came with being a freshmen.

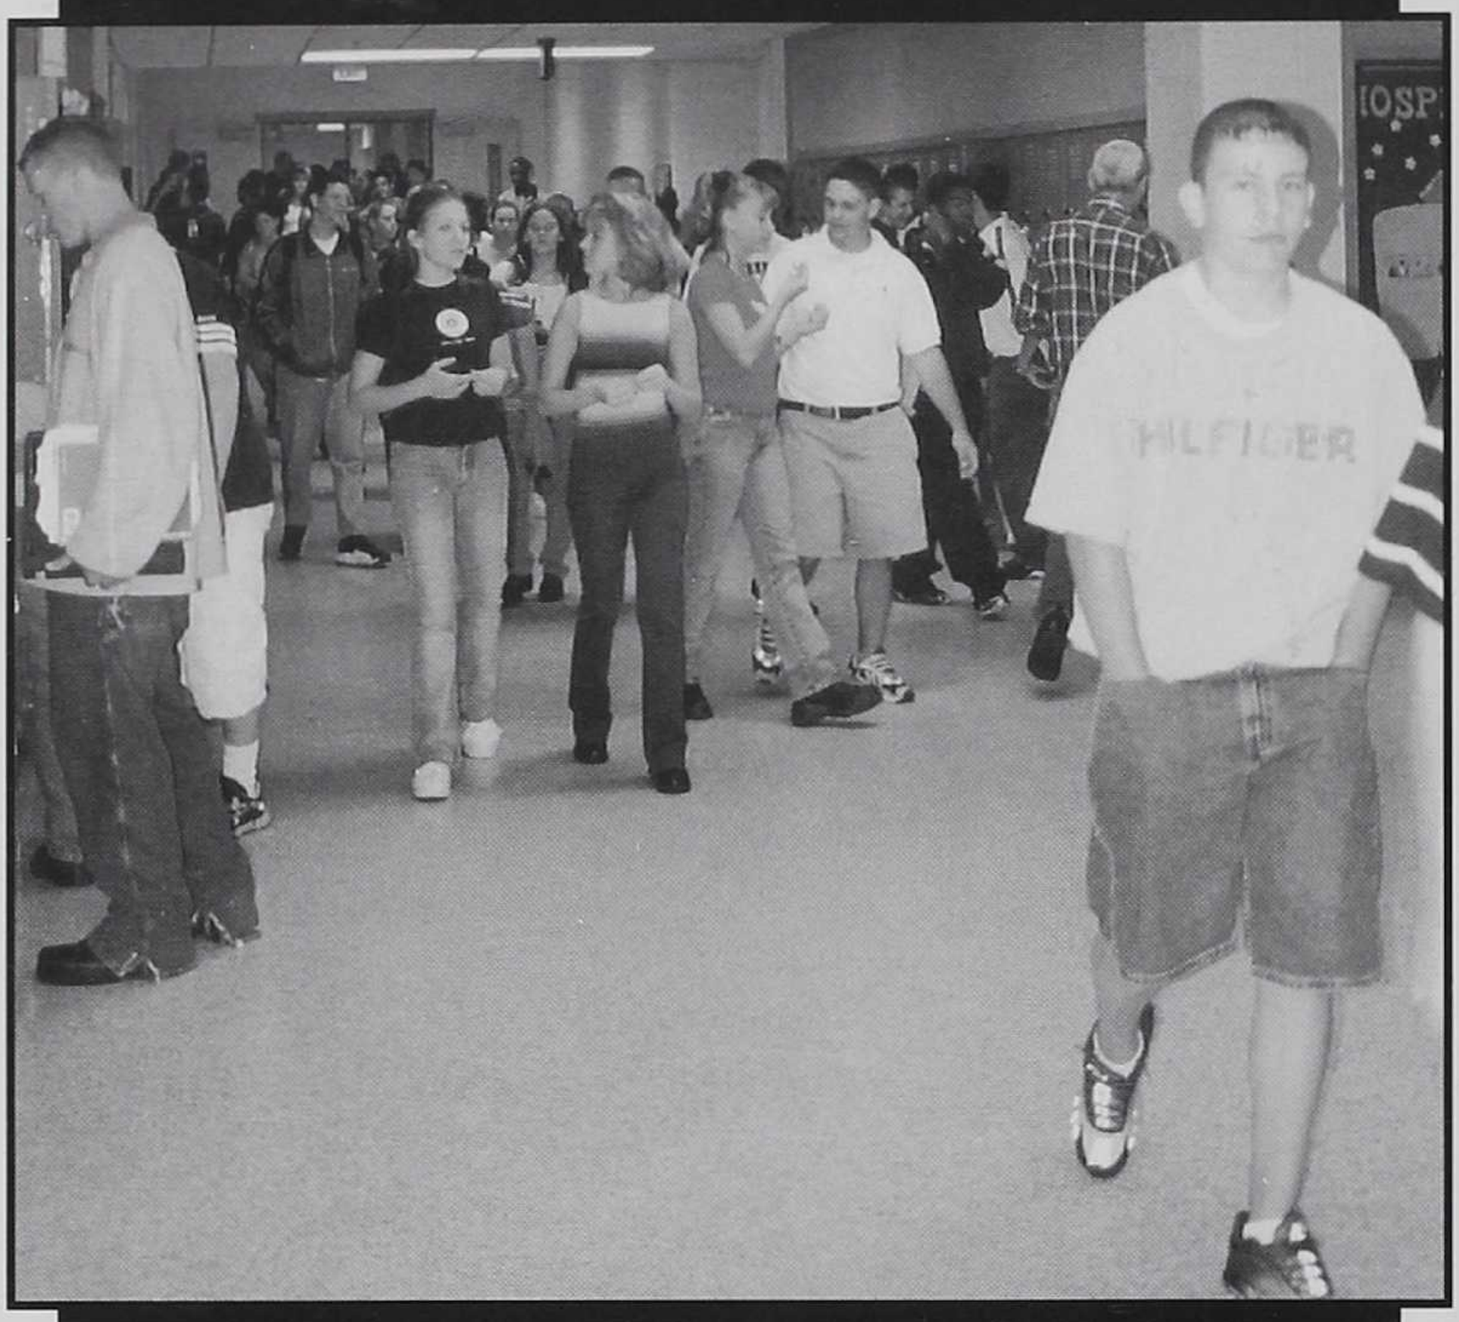
Freshmen 2003



Friday night football games, block scheduling, and a school full of new faces were all examples of the many exciting privileges presented to each year's new freshmen class.

The class of 2003 accepted these changes with open arms. They quickly learned their new schedules, found their classes, and met their new teachers. Any anxiety over the so called "first day jitters" was no longer apparent as the days passed.

As the year progressed, it was evident that the class of 2003 was comprised of some outstanding individuals. They excelled in both academics and athletics, and they were on their way to becoming one of Kennedale High School's most accomplished classes yet.

What expectations did you have going into your first year of high school?

Expectations

"My expectations were that ninth grade was going to be hard, but it really wasn't once I got the hang of everything."
Alicia Clark

"I thought that high school was going to be both hard and boring, but it has turned out to be really fun."
Amanda Feeney

"My expectations were that it was going to be a bad and boring year, but it has not turned out that way."
Sarah Petry

"My neighbors were teachers at the high school and I was worried that I would end up in their class... and I did."
Zach Hall

watching over you

The faculty members were a vital segment of the population that made up the people of Kennedale High School. Not only were they teachers and coaches, but they were also mentors, role models, and friends. Many spent time outside of the school day, giving up their evenings and weekends. That in and of itself was an obvious display of their dedication. Their expectations set the tone for the school year. While being the best that they could be, they encouraged their students to rise to the occasion and do the same.

During an inservice, the faculty members share what they learned from their study tour that was coordinated through the School-to-Careers program. Many faculty members took advantage of this opportunity to discuss how they could better prepare their students to meet current standards in the work force.

The Faculty

What do you do in your leisure time, outside of school?

"I love cooking for my family, working in the yard, shopping for antiques, and going to the theatre."
Mrs. Wallis

"I love to work out. I also enjoy reading magazines, shopping, road trips, and going out with friends."
Ms. Boie

"I enjoy shopping for antiques and decorating my 1920's home with the items that I shop for."
Mrs. Harper

"I like working out, snow and water skiing, flag football, softball, amusement parks, and hanging out with friends. That's all!."
Coach Peters

Resolutions

What's your motivation? Many people traditionally set new years resolutions in an attempt to change something about themselves for the better.

This year was significant due to the millennium, and resolutions were set initially with more sincerity and commitment than in the past.

Ms. Balthrop commented that when she was in high school she vowed to quit making new years resolutions and she has stuck with it! Coach Hale prefers to make goals throughout the year instead of just the first day. Other faculty members made commitments to spend more time with their family, eat healthier, and the most typical and popular response was to get more exercise.

While maybe no major lifestyle changes occurred as a direct result of a millennium resolution, a fresh start with a positive attitude can never hurt, even if it was only short term.

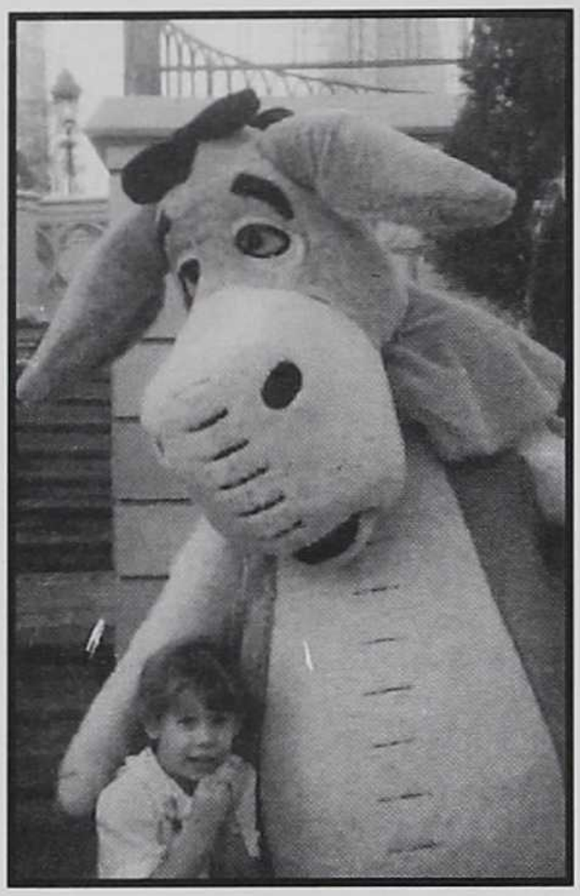
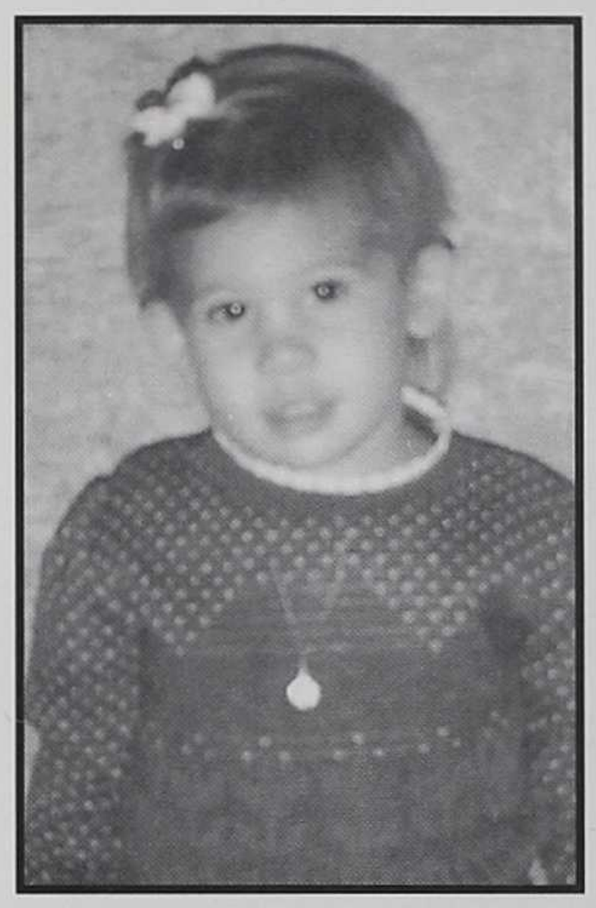
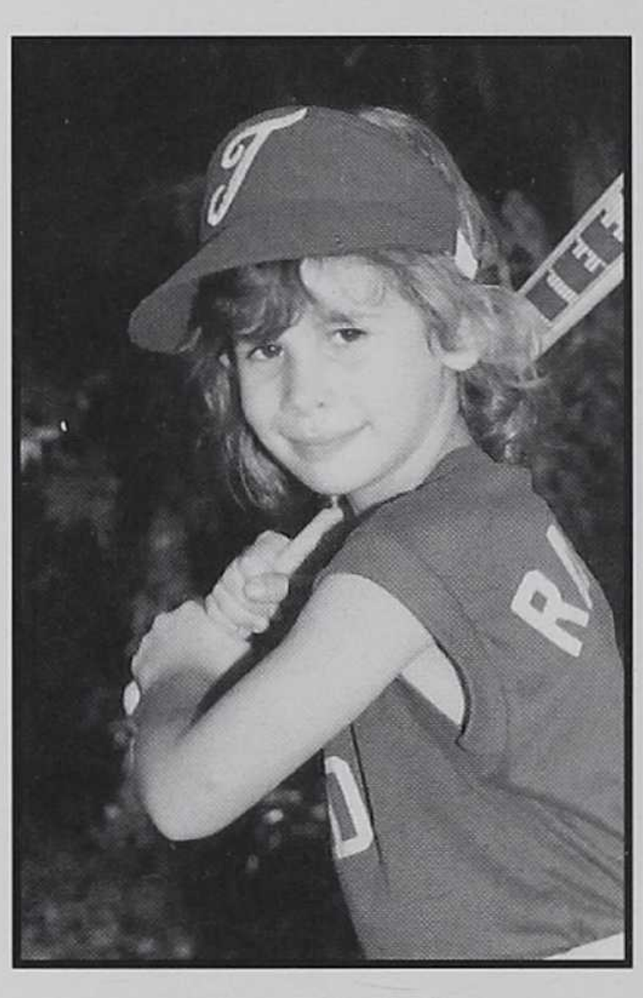
Rachel Wynalda



Rachel,
You have been our special gift from the moment you were born. As we look back over the years, it is with a thankful and joyful heart we remember you growing up. You have grown from our little tomboy to a beautiful young women. We are thankful for the years spent nurturing, guiding, playing, and above all, loving you. We are joyful when we see the beautiful young women you have become on the inside and outside. We look forward to many more years spent in thankfulness and joy with you. Always love and obey God.
We love you, Mom and Dad.



Rachel,
I love you so much and am so grateful for such a wonderful sister like you. I love how we can be sisters and yet best friends at the same time. I am so proud of you for all that you have accomplished and for all that you have become. The Lord has done so much through your life, and I know He will continue to. I missed having you around this year at college, but I know you'll be here soon!
Love, Rebecca



Rachel,
Hello Rachel, I know that we went through some rough times when we were young, but the last few years I feel that we have gotten closer. I don't know if you ever knew this, but I have always looked up to you. I just want to say I love you and I hope that you will have a fun time in college.

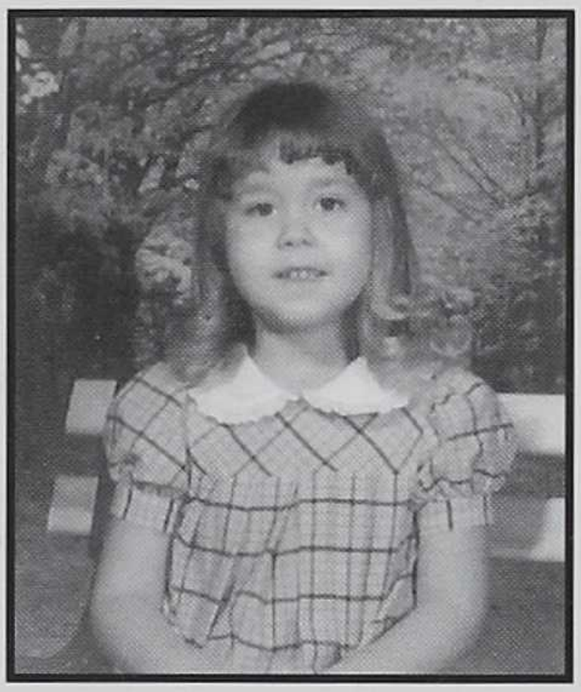
Dee,
We have watched you go from a little girl playing with flowers in the outfield to an all-state player. From hiding behind my legs to voicing your opinion frequently. Where has the time gone? In a few months, you will be off to college and we hope you accomplish all the goals you have set for yourself. We love you very much.
Love, Mom and Dad



Dee Dee,
The past year and a half have been the best. We've laughed, we've cried, we've fought, but no matter what, we have always been there for each other. I'm glad I spent the last year of high school with someone like you.
Good luck next year.

Where has our little T-Ball player gone? You've done it! You have shown so much determination, maturity, and wisdom that a young man can. You've overcome some big obstacles, so we know you can succeed. We wish we could say you're on easy street now, but we'd be lying. You're out in the world now, college, baseball, on your own; Keep your head up, be smart, and you can accomplish anything you want. "You can do all things through Christ, who strengthens you." You have given us wonderful memories, and we know there will be more. Keep that wonderful smile on your face, and stay your happy, compassionate self, and all your dreams will come true. Now we know where our T-Ball player is.....he's grown up to be a wonderful young man.

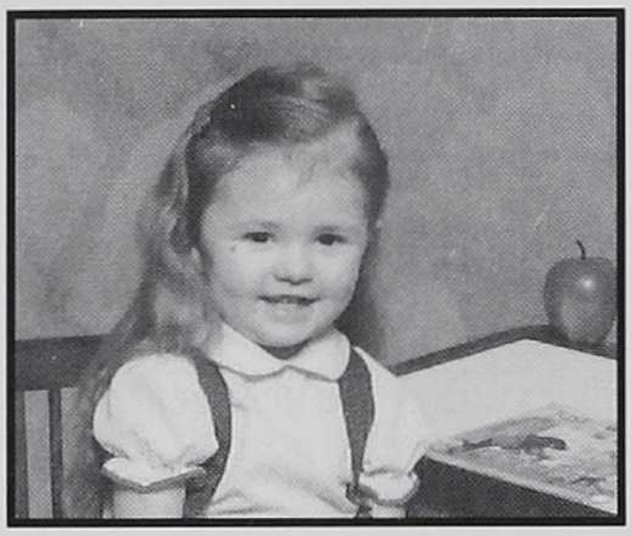
Mandi Ballard



Mandi,
I remember the day you were born as if it were yesterday, which I thought was the happiest day of my life. I didn't think I could be more proud of you than I was that day, but I was wrong. Today you are preparing to graduate and I am beaming inside. You have always been a source of great joy to me, but you may not have known you were also an inspiration for me as well. You were my reason for becoming who I am today, and you have always been my guiding light to see me through the rough spots along the way. I am so proud of you, of the person you have become, and of your accomplishments in everything you have attempted. I know at times with our busy lives I may not have told you often enough, but I love you more than life itself.
Love, Mom

Dear Mandi,
Through the years, we have been through a lot together. I remember all of the memorable, good times that we have had, as well as all of the educating, bad times. But, there is one thing that I will never ever forget, and that is that you are one of the greatest friends that I have ever had, and I love you and care about you very much. I will never forget you, Mandi Ballard. I wish you all the luck in the future, and I hope that you become a very successful and prosperous adult. Peace and Love. "Together we are all strong, but divided we all fall." Love ya like a sister.
Love, your friend, Lauren

Mandi,
Before I say anything, thank you for being such a great sister, mentor, and my best friend. I have learned so much from you during all these years. We could always talk about anything. We still can. I will miss all of our crazy nights. We did so many fun things through the years. My times with you are some of my most precious memories. I hope that we will always be best friends. Don't forget me when you are invited to parties. I will miss talking during break about our crazy weekends and guys. Don't you ever think you can't come talk to me about anything. I will always be here for you, no matter what. I love you!

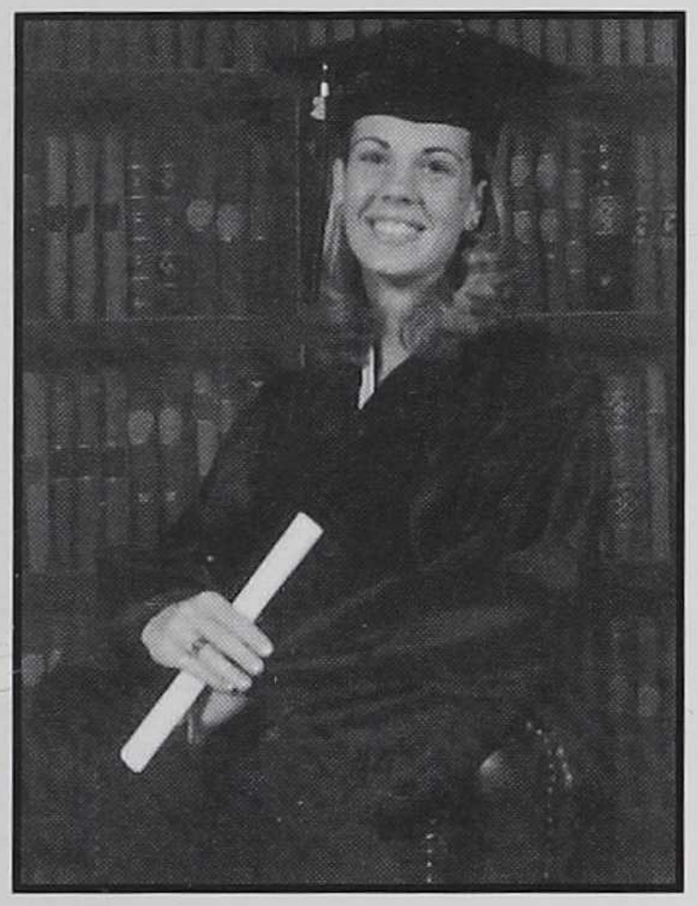
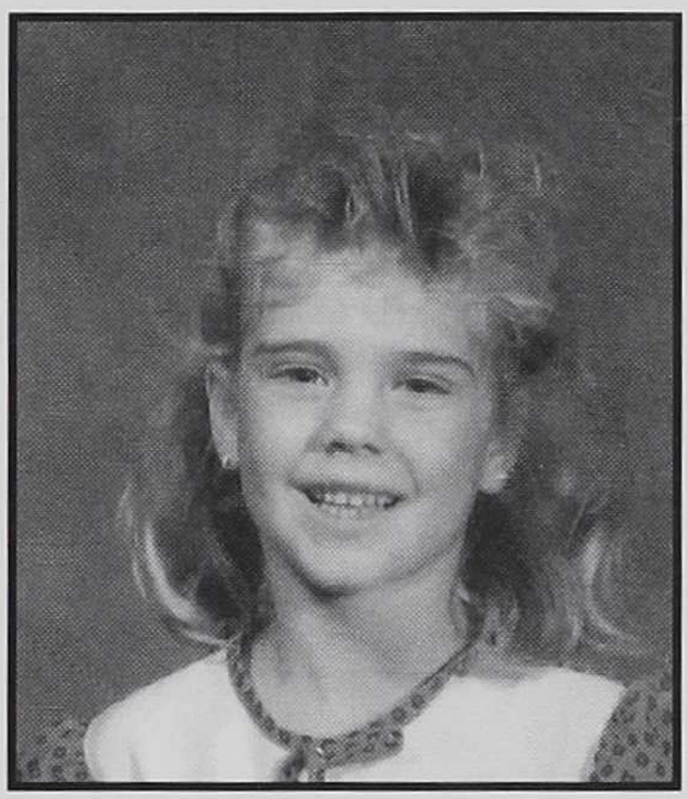
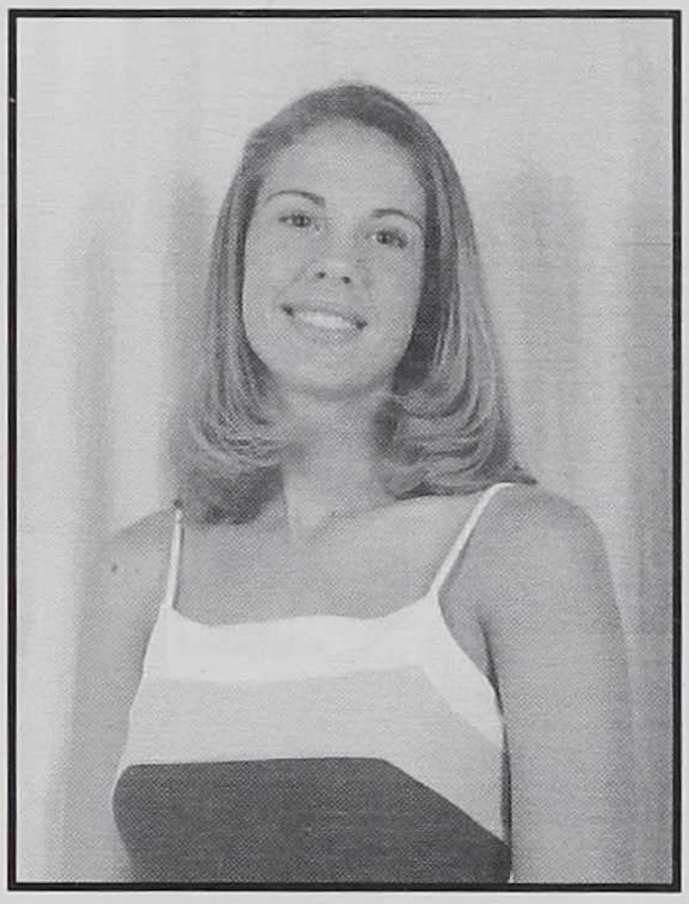
Holly Golden







Holly,

It's hard to believe that the little girl that cried through the first month of Kindergarten for her mommy and that once told daddy that she loved him even more than "McDonalds," is now graduating. We are proud of you and all you have accomplished. You have followed your heart to achieve your goals. Keep your faith in God, trust in yourself, and the world is yours' for the taking. We wish you a lifetime of success, love, and happiness in all you do.

We love you very much and know that you are never alone.

Love,

Mom, Dad, Heather, Heidi, and Hailey

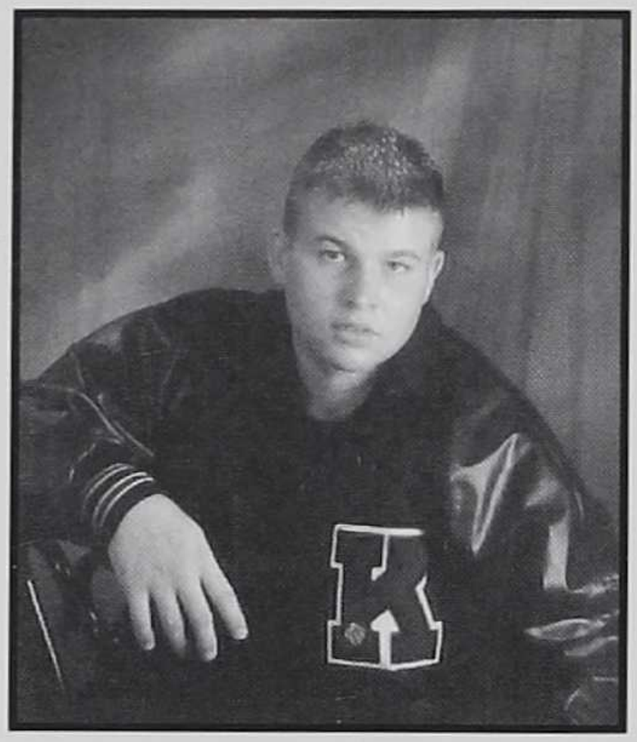
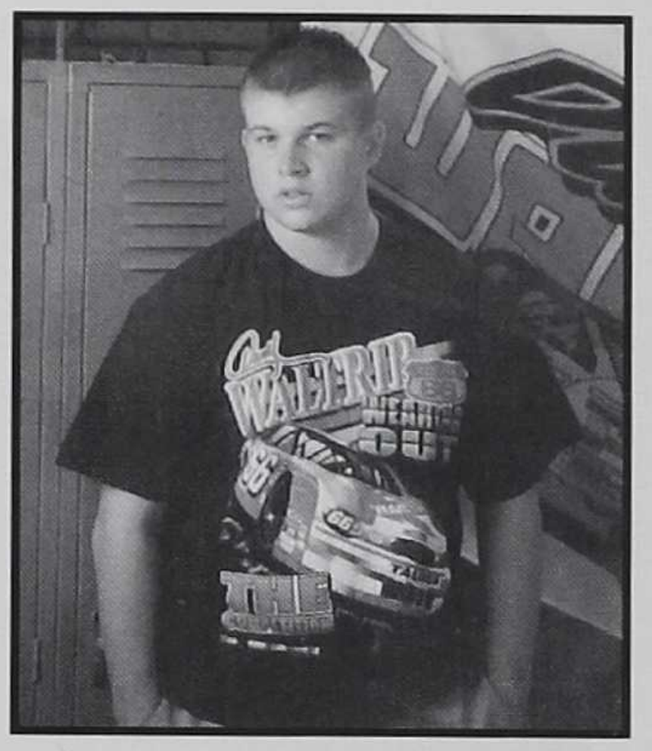
Chad Pearce





Congratulations!

My, how time flies when you are having fun.
From "Chaddywagon" and
blankies, to race cars, sports, and girls, we treasure each memory.

You have proven that you can accomplish
whatever you desire.
We are very proud of you.

As you begin this new chapter of your life, always remember to listen to your heart. Keep God
as your guiding light.

Most of all, we want to thank God for blessing us with such an awesome son.

May the road rise up to meet you,
and may God always hold you in the palm of His hand.

We love you,
Dad, Mom, Anthony,

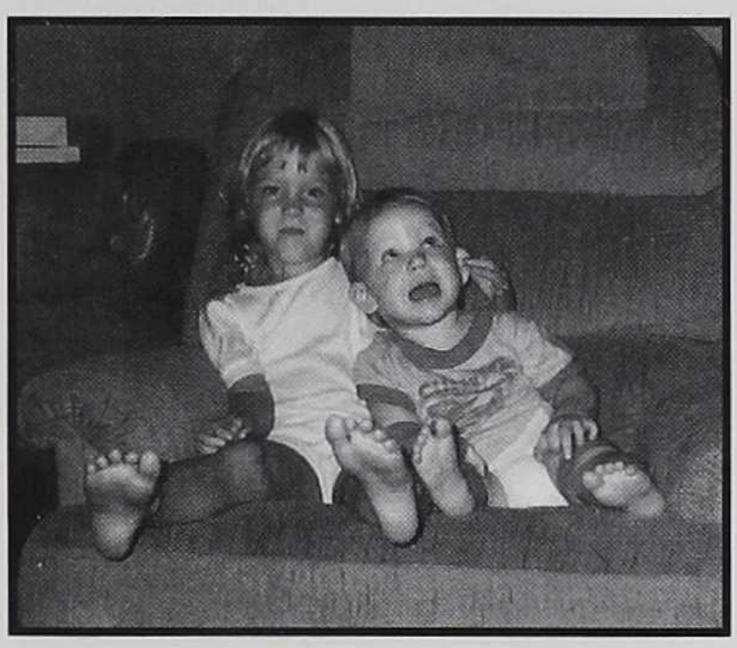
I can't believe it. Our beautiful baby girl is graduating high school. It seems like only yesterday when you came into this world screaming. Well, ready or not, your starting down a new path. We're so proud of the fine young lady you've become. Just remember, that your dreams are our dreams too, and we'll always be here for you. Don't forget my two favorite words to you:
BE CAREFUL!
We love you, Mom and Dad



Sissy,
It is hard for me to believe that my big sister is graduating from High School. It's hard to imagine you being out of school. You know that anything you do, I'll support you all the way! Good luck sis!

in our mind.
We like to play, forward
and rewind.
No pictures, no snapshots can make up what we will always have of you. And for all those times you come and say, "Tell me again Mom and Dad" fills our hearts with joy and tears to see you come and reminisce with us.
We love you,

We are so proud of you, all that you've accomplished, and the fine young man that you've become. The years have gone too fast, but the memories are ours forever. There is nothing we could ever do to repay you for what you've given us. All we can do is say "Thank You." Good luck in all you do and strive to be. No one has ever worked harder and deserved it more. You're an inspiration to us all. Thanks again for the great time it's been. We can't wait to see what's next.

Chaneera Francis

Dear Chaneera,

Congratulations on reaching this milestone for it is just the beginning of the successes that you will encounter in life. It is the wish of every father to see his children do better than he did; you are well on your way to accomplishing that. It is also the wish of every father to leave an inheritance for his children, not just materially, but emotionally and spiritually. He is just one part of your inheritance.

Genesis 1:26-30 states that man is made in the image and likeness of God. You are a descendent of God and He has empowered you to dominate the earth. Share your knowledge and fill the earth with positive, God-like things. Be productive and always give back to your people. God will always bless you if you give to those who are in need, for you are truly doing His work until He comes again.

Proverbs gives us the lessons that we need to be successful in life. His every word is a treasure of knowledge and understanding. He is your shield, protecting you and guarding your pathway. He will show you how to distinguish the right from wrong, how to find the right decisions every time. Wisdom and truth will enter the very center of your being, filling your life with joy.

Proverbs 3:3-17 (Living Bible) states, "Never tire of loyalty and kindness. Hold these virtues tightly. Write them deep within your heart." In everything you do put God first and he will direct you and crown your efforts with success. Wisdom is far more valuable than precious jewels. It gives a long, good life, riches, honor, pleasure, and peace.

Proverbs 4:23 (New International) states "Above all else, guard your heart, for it is the wellspring of your life." Your heart is precious, don't let anyone use, abuse, or misuse your affection. For your entire being is initiated in your heart. Guard it and always give it to God first.

Isaiah 54:16-17 (New International) says "...no weapon forged against you will prevail and you will refute every tongue that accuses you." Remember that God is the creator of everything, including any opposition that you will encounter, so look to Him always for guidance.

The Lord knew of you before the creation of the world. He ordered your appearance on this earth. You have a purpose, a destiny, a mission to complete, that no one else can accomplish. Seek the kingdom of God first, and His righteousness and all things will be added unto you thereafter. You have the power to be all that God wants you to be!! On behalf of all the members of the Francis' family, we applaud you this day, congratulations, and remember that we love and pray for you always.

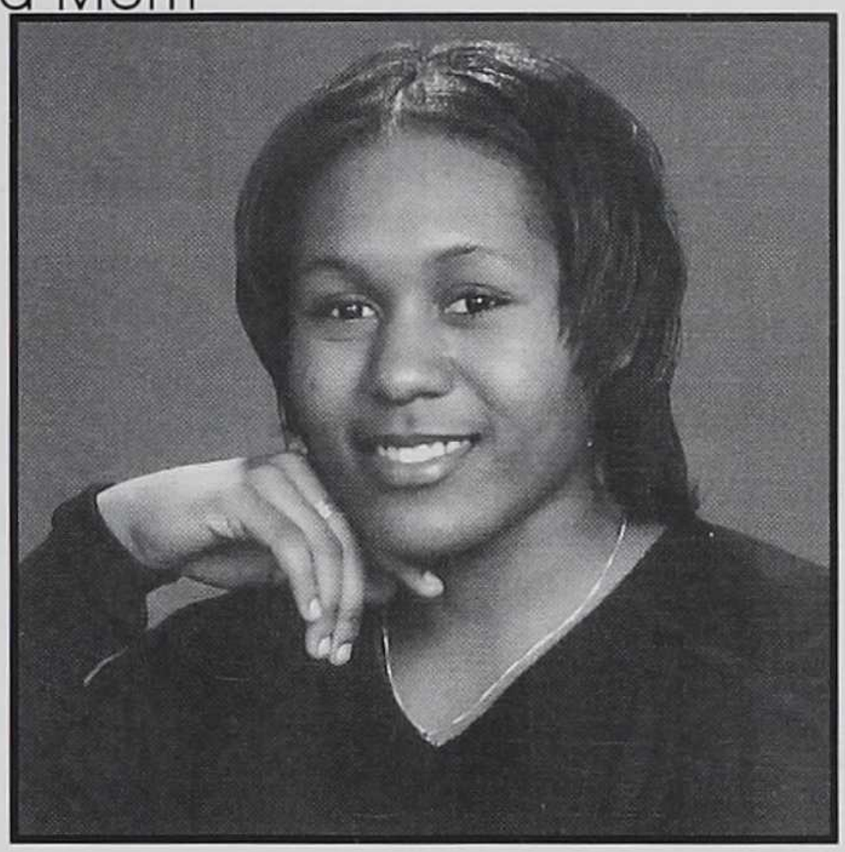
Chaneera Francis

Chaneera,
We have watched you grow like a beautiful flower. Your smile like a rose opening to display the beauty and fragrance inside. Make a difference in this world and let the word of God be the platform from which you stand. We love you and are very proud of you.
Love,
John and Mom



Chaneera Francis

Chaneera,
I love you. You have been the center of my joy next to God. Grow to make a difference in someone's life and in doing so, you shall surely be rewarded.

You have always been a wonderful daughter, Jennifer, and there are just no words that can adequately express all the wonderful feelings you have brought me over the past 18 years. But they will always be very special and cherished memories that I will carry deep inside my heart and soul forever. As you step out into a new world and a new life, I want to wish you all the happiness the world has to offer, and nothing but the best of luck and much success for your new life. Wherever your new life may take you, remember to always seek first the Kingdom of God and all good things will follow. Congratulations from two very proud presents!

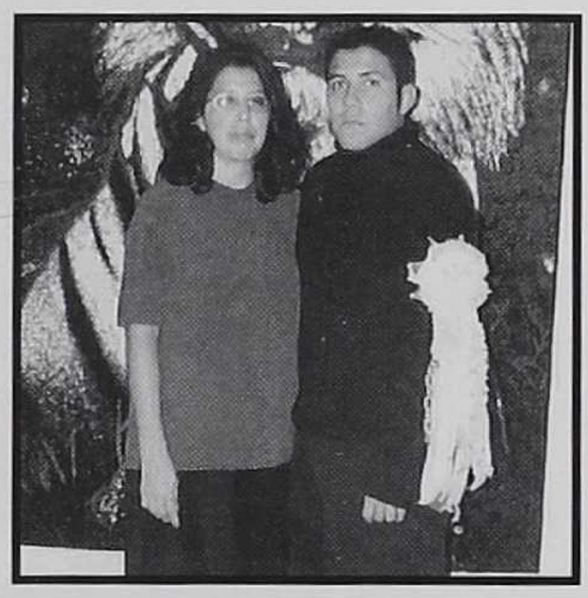
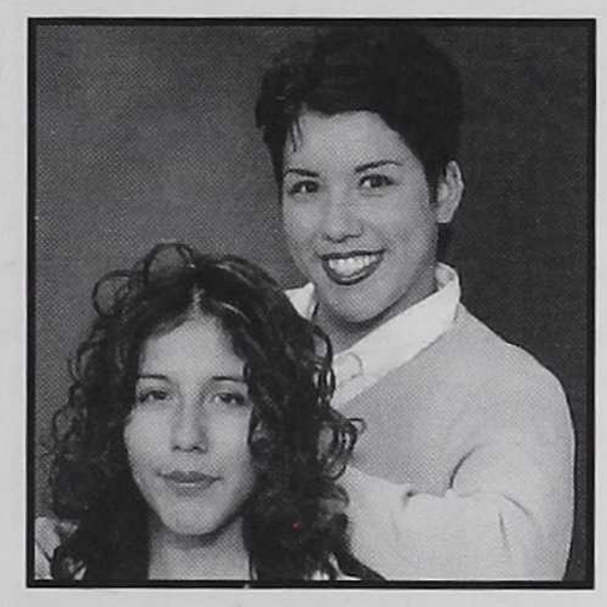
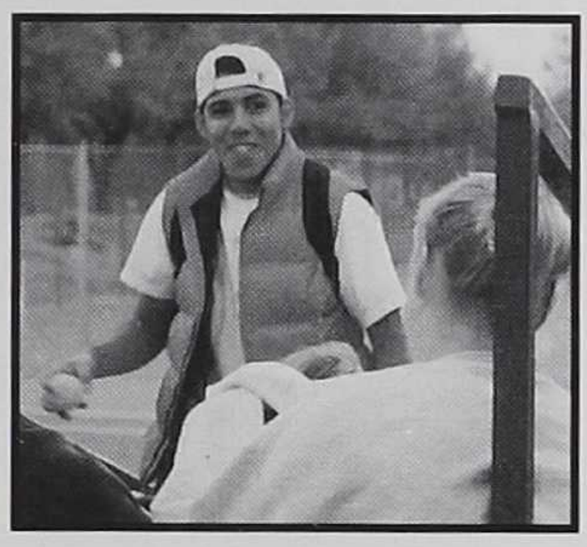
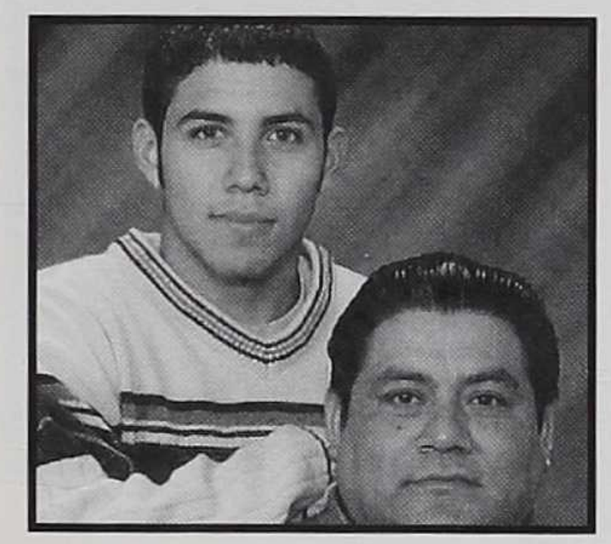
Zech Santos









You have achieved your goal 12 long years and now your graduation is upon us all. First let me say, "I love you" and no matter what direction our lives take, you can always count on me, your mother. I will cry, but my tears will be tears of joy. I thank Jehovah, for giving you to me and letting me have the joys and trials of raising you from infancy to a young adult. From Petite graduation to the Film Man, through pottery, basketball games, and art projects. On to high school we go and your classes, your tennis games, and track. You are the best son anyone could have asked for. You stayed out of trouble and made me very proud and I will always feel that way, and no one can take that away from me. Never settle for less when you have striven these 12 years for so much. You deserve only the best. But remember this, you only get out of life what you give for it!

Love you always, Your Mom

To my little brother,

A couple of things from your Big Sis: I'm so very proud of you. Never let go of any dreams or aspirations you have. Always remember who you are, and never change for anyone. Life is what you make it, not what somebody else approves of. Do what's right in your heart and it will take you far. Never forget la familia, for we are the ones that will always love you the most no matter what.

I love you always, Angel

To my little brother,

I'm so proud of you. Zech, you have accomplished one of the most important goals in life. I know that you will be great in whatever you choose to do. And as your big sister, I will support you no matter what comes your way. Zech, you always knew how to make me laugh and put a smile on my face. I love you with all of my heart.

Your big sister, Monica Santos

My son, Zechariah,

One chapter in your book of life is closing: 12 long years, and your graduation is here. But you have many more chapters to write in your book. You have made me a very proud father. Be wise in the paths you take in life. And always remember, son, that I love you with all my heart. I will always be here for you; whenever you need me, just call.

Love, Dad

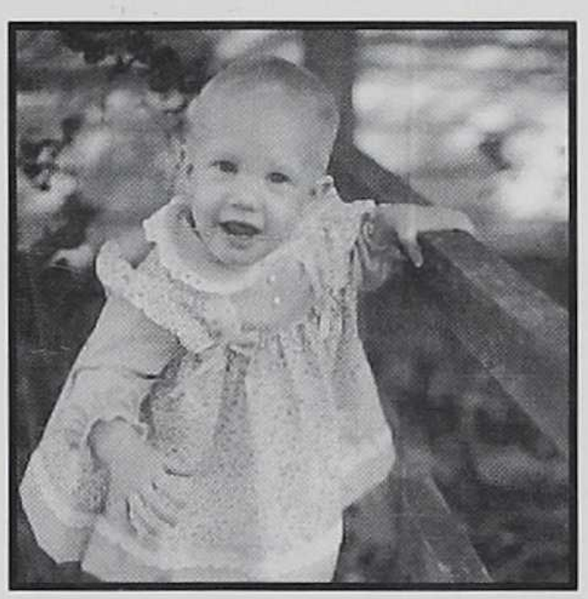
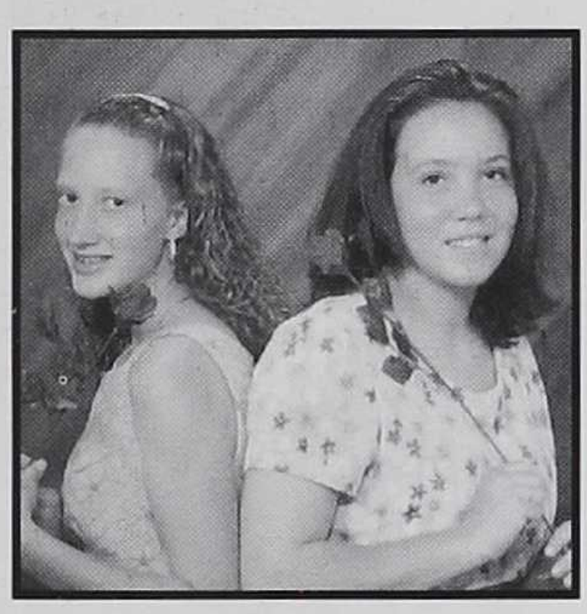
Nichole Bird

Nichole,
I am so happy that God chose you for my granddaughter for the past eighteen years. You have blessed our family with your smile, warmth and love for all of us. All the days and weekends you spent with me as a child; I hold those memories in my heart forever. Now that I have watched you grow into a beautiful young lady, I am so very proud of you. And as you graduate and go into a new millennium and a new life of adulthood, I wish you the very best of all, and may God over see and walk with you throughout your life. Congratulations and best wishes.
Love, Granny



Nichole,
I am so proud of you for what you have accomplished in the last twelve years. You're very special to me and I love you very much. When you set out on your own, be sure to leave a place in your heart for Jesus, He will never leave or forsake you.
Love always, Mam-Maw Ivie



Nichole,
It seems like yesterday I was walking you to your kindergarten class, sitting on the front porch waiting for you to get on and off the bus, taking pictures at your slumber parties, coaching your softball team, we watched you cheer for KYA, took you to get your braces tightened, walked the floors on your first date, cried when you got your drivers license, took you for your first up-do for a prom. We are so blessed God gave us a perfect and beautiful daughter. There are so many precious memories we have of you. We are so proud of all the accomplishments you have made. Good luck in whatever you decide to do; we will always be there for you. We love you very much. Always remember, we will always be the best of friends.
We love you,

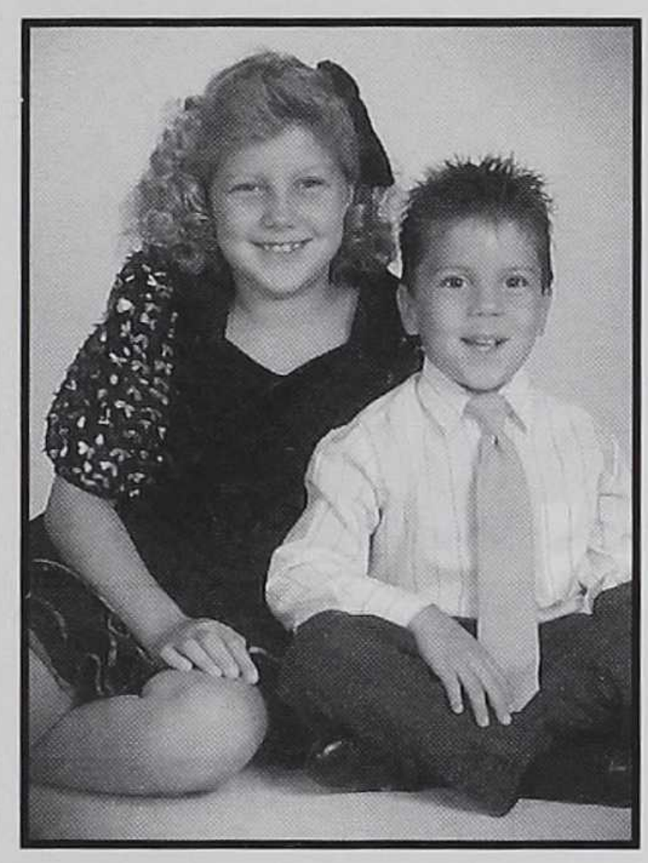
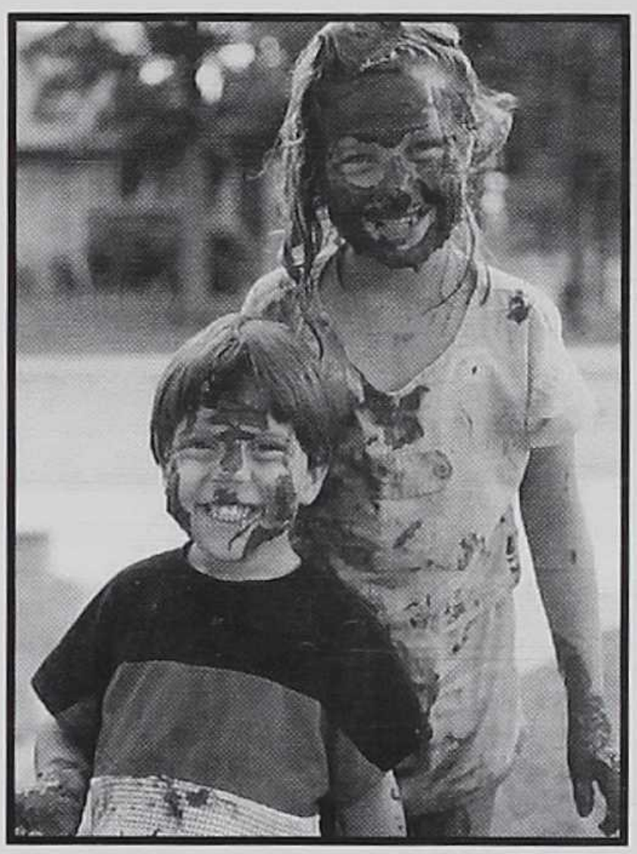
Ashley Hall



Dear Ashley,
You never cease to amaze me with your accomplishments. You have proven yourself to be a natural leader and continually impress me with your courage to speak up for what is right. I am proud of your longevity and success in athletics, NHS, and school leadership roles. Your love and compassion for children with special needs has shown me your true heart as I have watched you work many hours a week throughout your senior year - because you wanted to. There are great things in store for you! God bless you and keep you safe!
Love, Mom



Dear Ash,
I will remember our fights, our struggles to gain control of the remote, and the times we fought to play Nintendo. But what I will really miss is you bossing me around and picking out my clothes so I don't "look tacky." I hope that when you're in college you'll remember me sometimes and call to help me do things. Good luck in college!
Love, Donny

Class of 2000, WOW! In a blink of an eye, eighteen years have passed. My beautiful baby has become a beautiful young woman. Thank you for being a wonderful student, athlete, and leader of your class. I am so proud to be known as Ashley Hall's dad.
I love you! Pappy

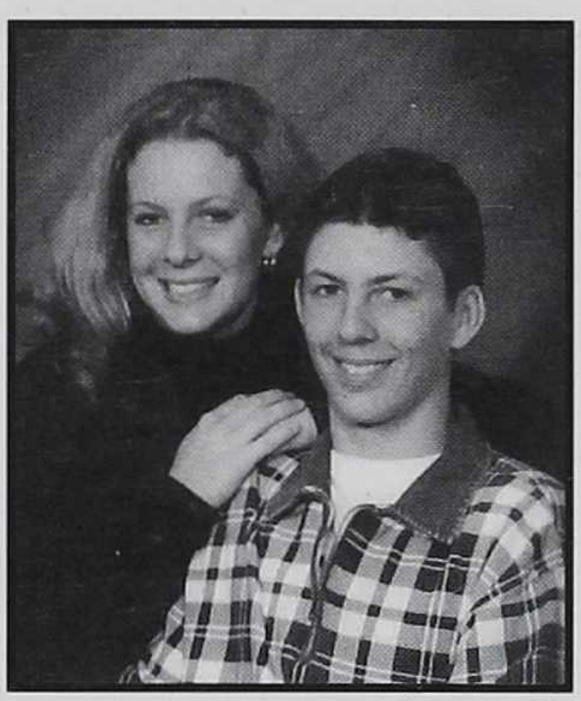
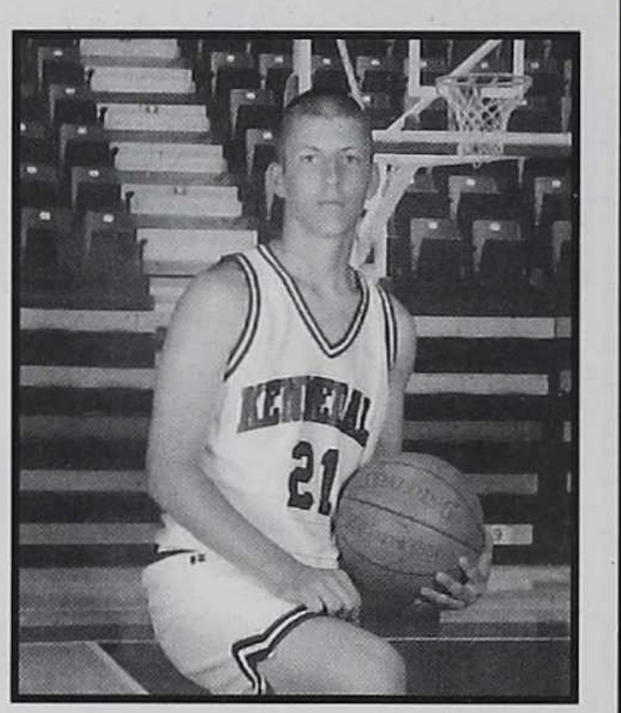
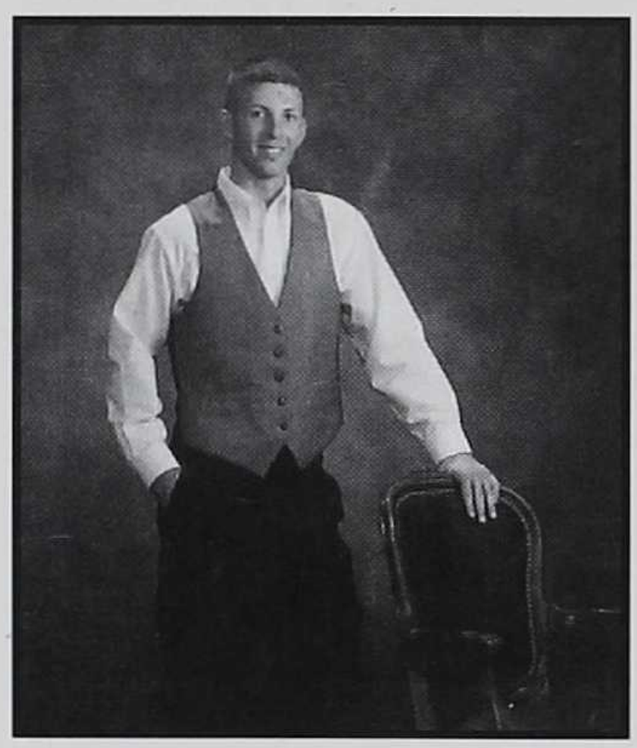
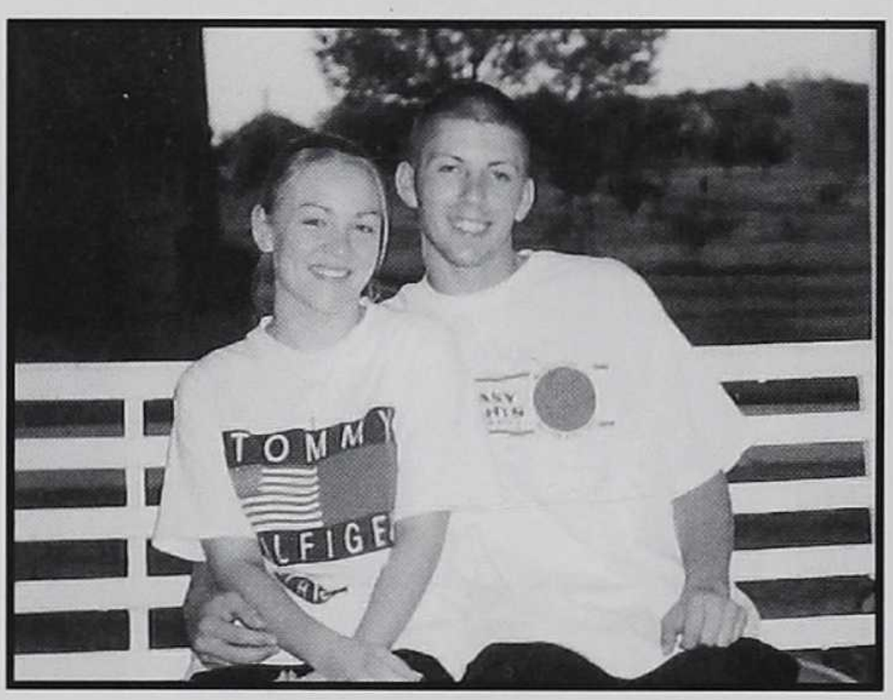
Billy,
You are now a senior and about to begin the rest of your life. We have watched you grow over the years and enjoyed every minute of it. Now it is time to look toward your future. We know you will be successful in whatever you choose to do in life. Keep setting and achieving your goals. Don't let anything stop you from getting where you want to go. We love you and wish you the very best always!
Love, Mom and Dad

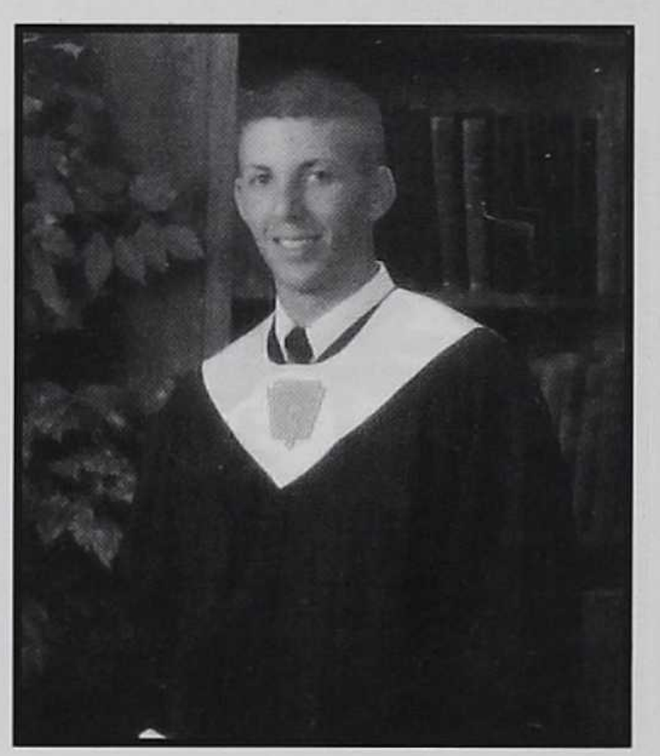


Billy,
If it wasn't for Art Class we would never have gotten to know one another. I admire our friendship more than anything. Congratulations on all of your accomplishments, and I know you'll achieve much more in the future. I hope our relationship continues to grow and we can share many memories together. Love, Echo (Wendy)



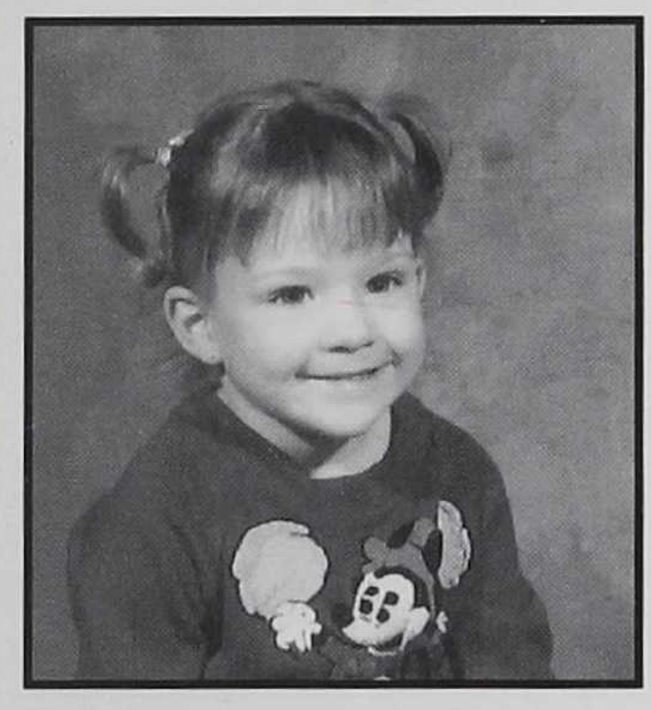




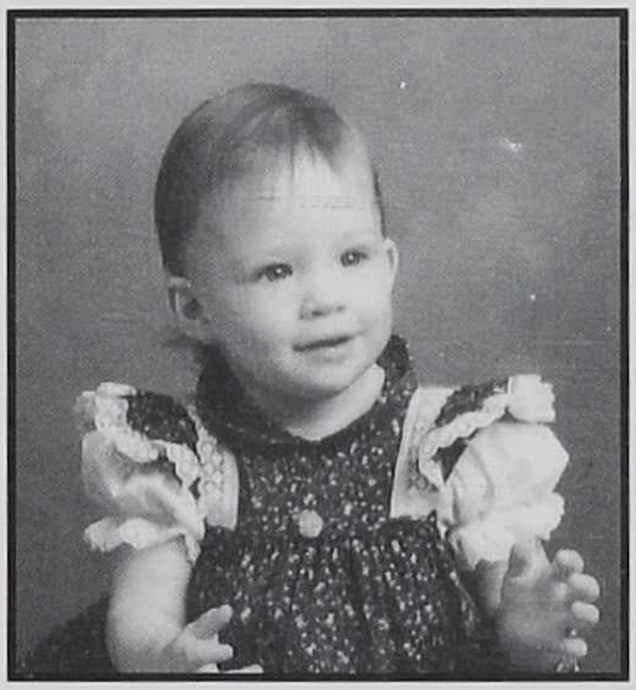


Congratulations Class of 2000

Tabitha Johnston



Tabie,
I can't thank you enough for everything you've done for me. You always look out for me and help me with my problems. I have looked up to you for many years and always will. I could never ask for a better sister. Love, Stormy

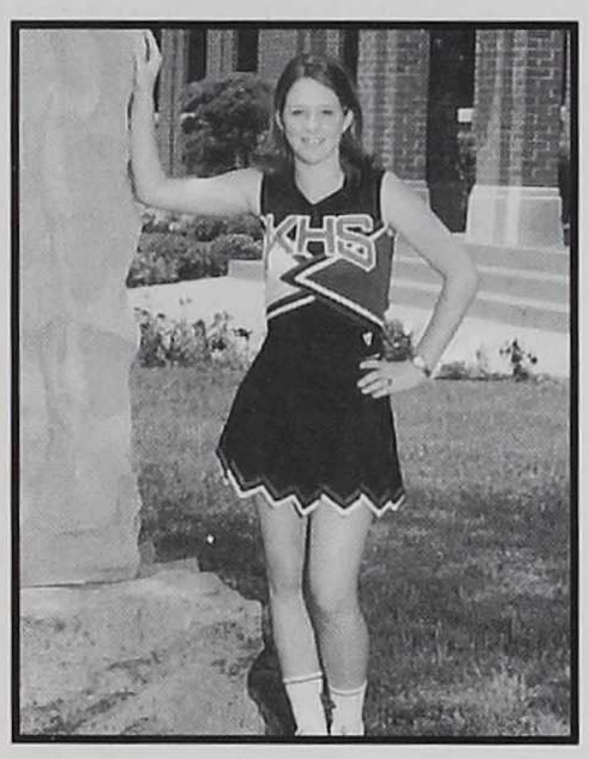


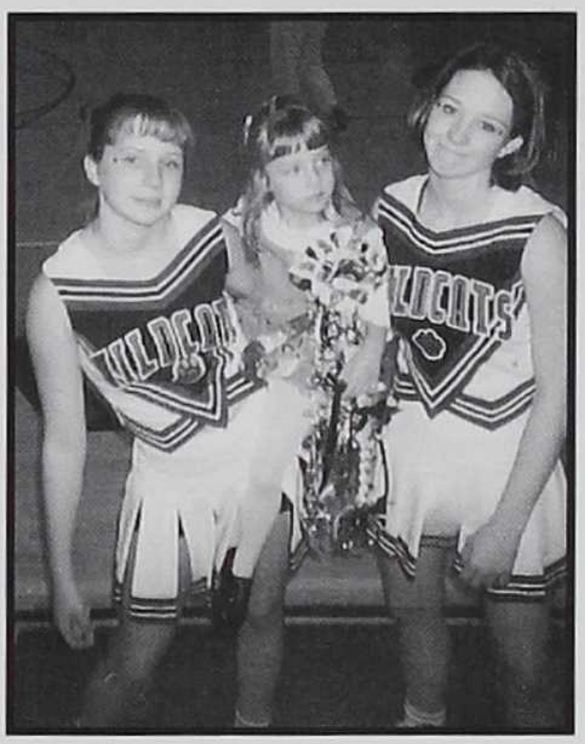
Glad you made it this far.
Good luck with the future.
Love You, Bobbie

Sister, you're a lady of kindness, grace, and love. You shimmer and shine. I've watched you pull yourself out of some really hard times. I'm proud of the way you handle yourself. I look forward to seeing what kind of woman you become. You are a blessing in my life.
Love, Candie

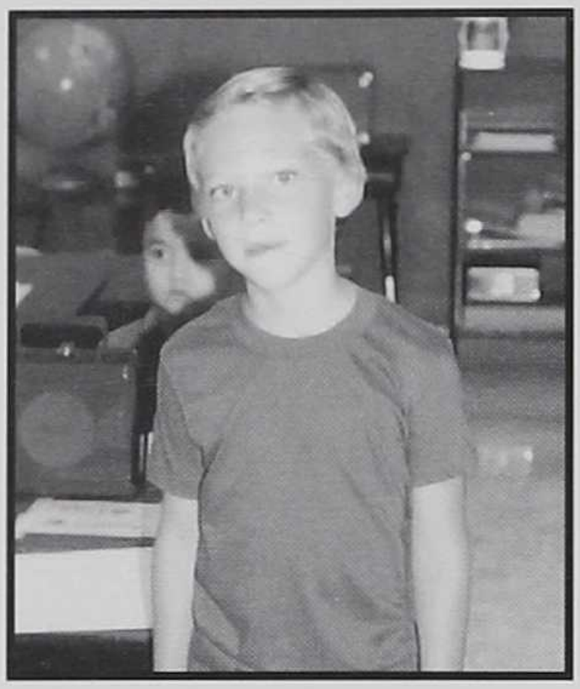
Always follow your heart, fulfill your dreams, and have a lot of fun doing it.
Love Ya, Scott

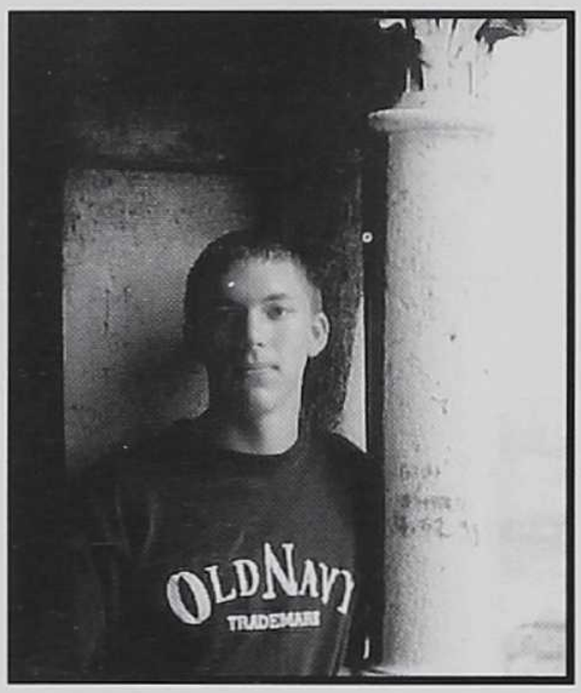
Love you, kiss you, big hugs, pretty smiles,
For my Aunt Tabitha.
Love, Nicole (Coco)





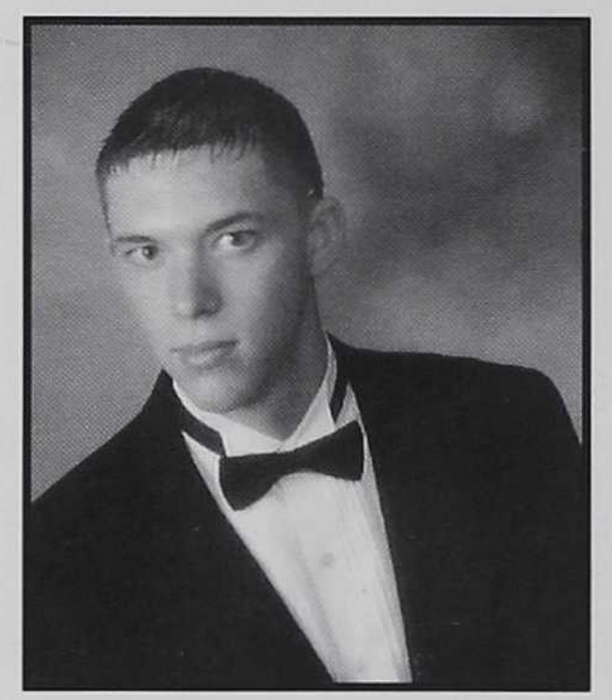
Congratulations Class of 2000





Jimmy Little

Jimmy,
We've watched with pride as you've grown up into the wonderful young man you are today. We will always remember the joy, the laughter, and even the tears, while you strived for your goals - some of them seemingly unobtainable. You achieved them regardless of their difficulty and we are very proud of you for that.
Go with our blessing, son. May your next journey in life be met with as much determination and enthusiasm.
May God be with you always,
Love, Mom, Dad, and Jana



John Petry

John,
We are so very proud of you and all of your accomplishments. You are a wonderful son sent to us straight from heaven. We look forward to your future. Your honesty and dedication will take you far. This is your year - have lots of fun.
We love you with all our hearts!

The Journey

Your road to the future started eighteen odd years ago,
Sometimes those winding trails seemed to pass awfully slow.
Passage through twelve grades took some knuckling down,
Successes and failures both seemed to hang around.
So far your journey has lasted only one-fifth or less,
The reminder of your trek will require your very best.

For there's more preparation in store for your trip,
Physically, mentally, and morally nere there be a slip.
May the values handed down from elders of the past,
Remain a part of your character ever to last.
And continue to guide you all the more,
In every test of life, establish a lofty score!

Congratulations on your accomplishments recently attained
That established a foundation for subsequent gain.
Use this as a springboard for future success.
The enrichment of the mind, always caress!

Written by: Grandpa Fuller, Year 2000

We are so proud of you and all of your accomplishments.
Congratulations!

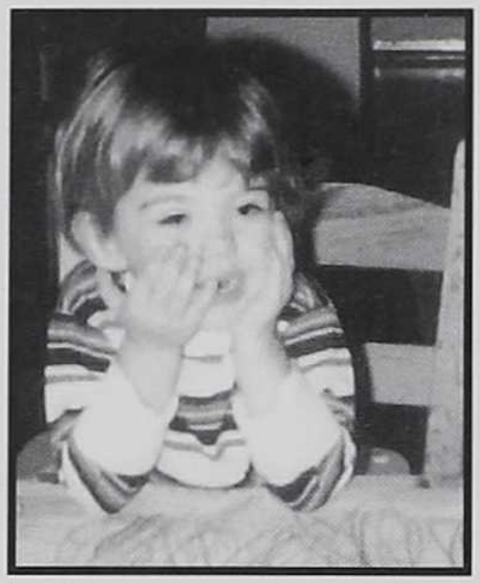
Janelle Lankhorst



It seems like only yesterday you were our rose bud.
So eager to learn and grow.

As the years have gone by, you have slowly opened.
You have learned, grown, enjoyed life, and yes,
the ups and down's that come with life as well.

You are one beautiful rose on the inside, and oh yes, also on the outside.

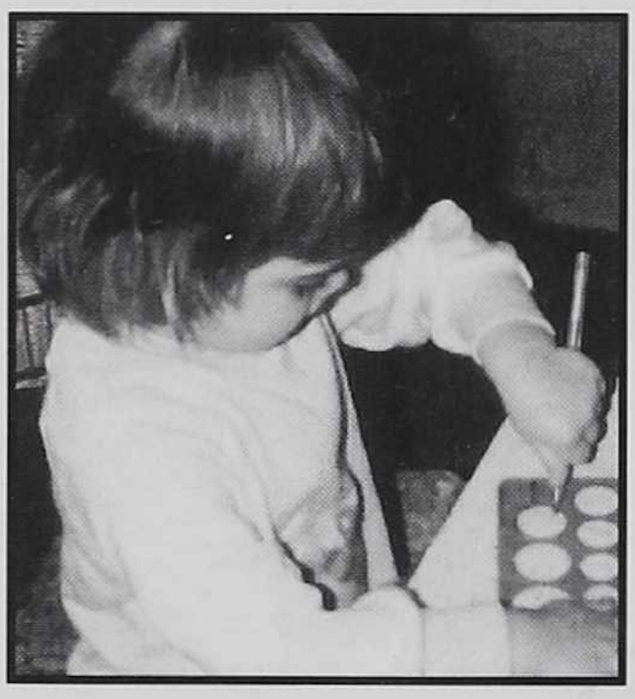
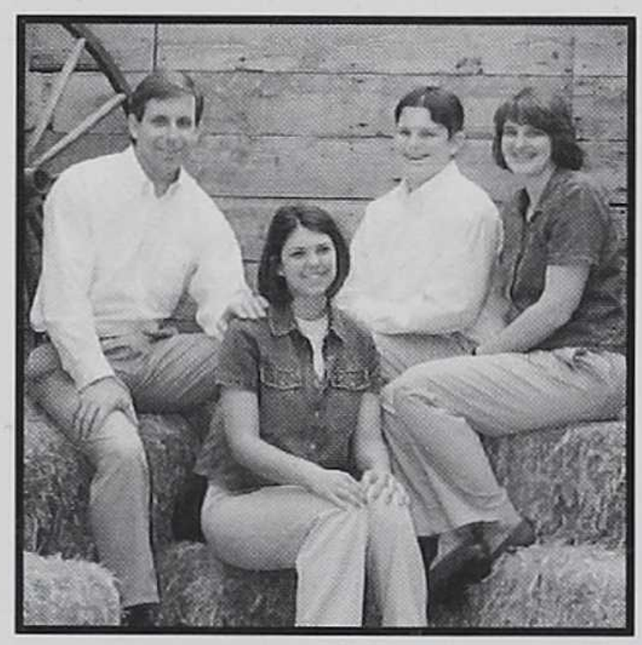
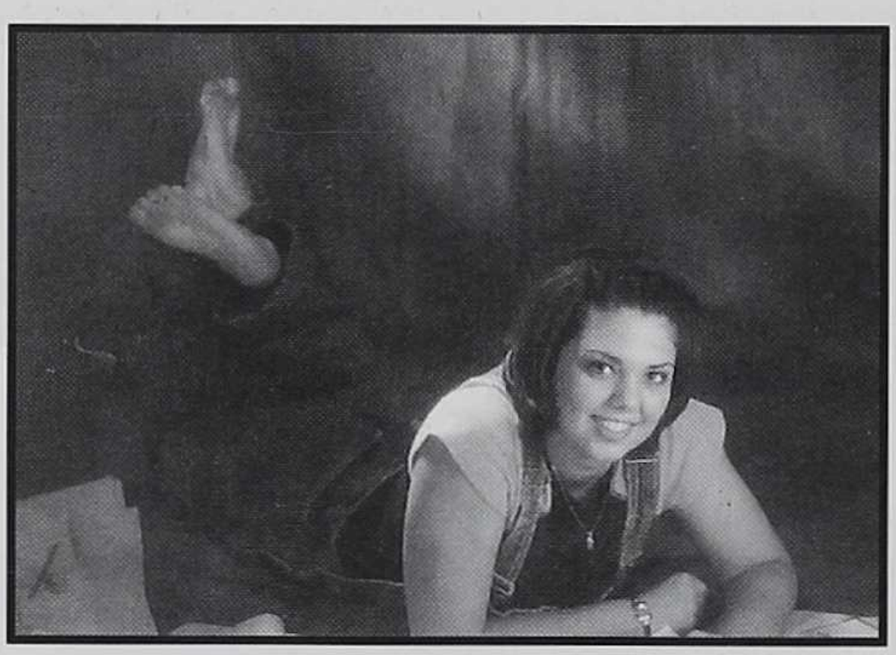
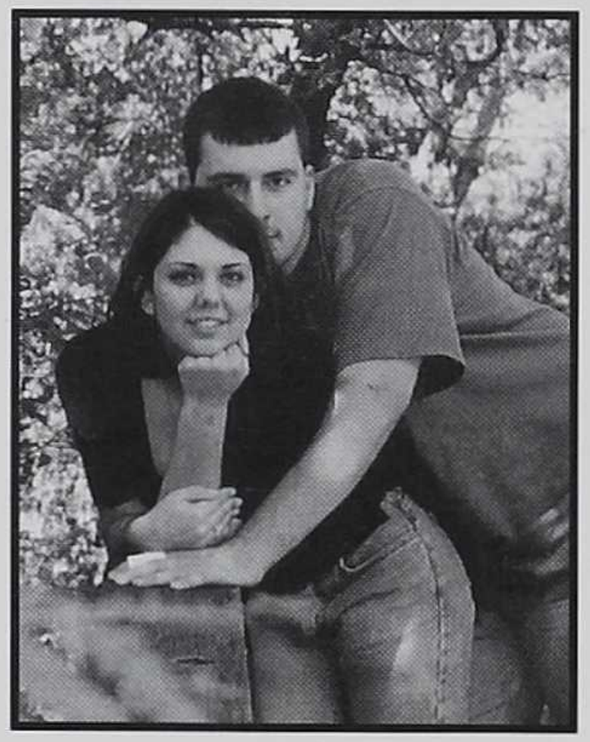
Everyone's life you touch, a little of your beauty is left behind for them to share, the clubs you enjoy, and yes, the jobs you do. You share your beauty by being a wonderful friend to everyone. Now that you are no longer our bud, you are your own beautiful rose still growing and eager to learn as you go off to college. We are so proud of our rose.

We love you, Mom, Dad, and Ian









Janelle,

They say there are many treasures in life, but the only one in mine is you. When I am down and out, you are always there to cheer me up and make me laugh. Graduating from high school is a big step in life; the next step is college, and nothing can hold you back now. The world is yours and no matter what decisions you make, I will always be there and will support everything you do. Wherever you go and whatever you do, just remember one thing, and that is, I am proud of you and that will never change, and I mean this "a lot."

Love, Jeff

Liz,
Congratulations!
You are about to embark on a new chapter in your life. I still remember your first day of school. You laughed all the way up the steps, while I cried. We are so proud of what you have grown up to be. You are a beautiful, intelligent lady, but most of all you are our daughter. You have a wonderful road ahead of you. (We only hope that one day you and Bailey might learn to read a Mapsco!)

The first time I held you in my arms,
I vowed to love you and keep you from harm. I've watched you sing and dance since you were three, entertaining everyone, especially me. Your smile and your laughter warms my heart, my pride in you will never part.
Now my baby girl is all grown up,
I wish you only the best of luck.
The future is yours, whatever you want it to be. Always be yourself

Senior "2000"

To fine young woman from little girl
We've watched you as you've grown
And now it's time to send you
Out into the world alone

But, as the year draws to a close
We're not filled with regret
As we know you've fulfilled every dream
Every goal that you have set

You've studied hard and made the grade
You've played hard, too, we know
You'll have a lot of memories
To take with you when you go

You'll have memories of your high school days
Of cheering others on
You'll think of these things for many years
Long after the days have gone

You'll remember all the sports you played
And think about how great
To play volleyball--be named MVP
And in softball, to win state

In basketball you wore #11
With skill you handled the ball
Playing point guard just seemed to suit you
You really gave it your all

It was fun to be a "Lady Kat"
You wore this name with pride
And, too, you knew that the three of us
Would be yelling for you from the side

And now we say "Good Luck to You"
"We Love You" and "You're first-rate"
With all of the talents that you have
We know that you'll get along great

Love,
Dad, Mom, and Jason

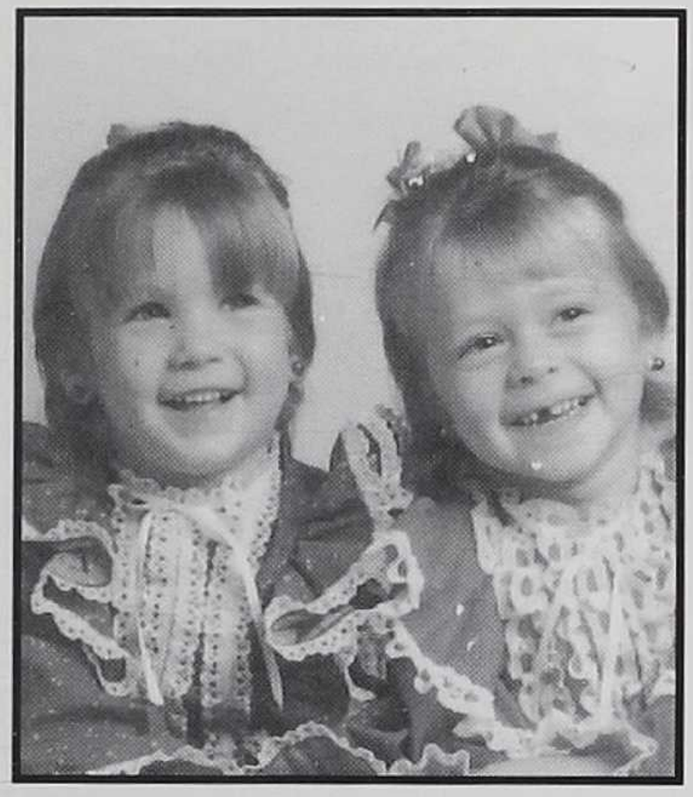
Kim Thrasher



Kim,
We've been through so much together. I'm glad we've stuck by each other. I love you and I'll be here for you no matter what. Remember, never let anyone get you down, not even MY FRIEND!
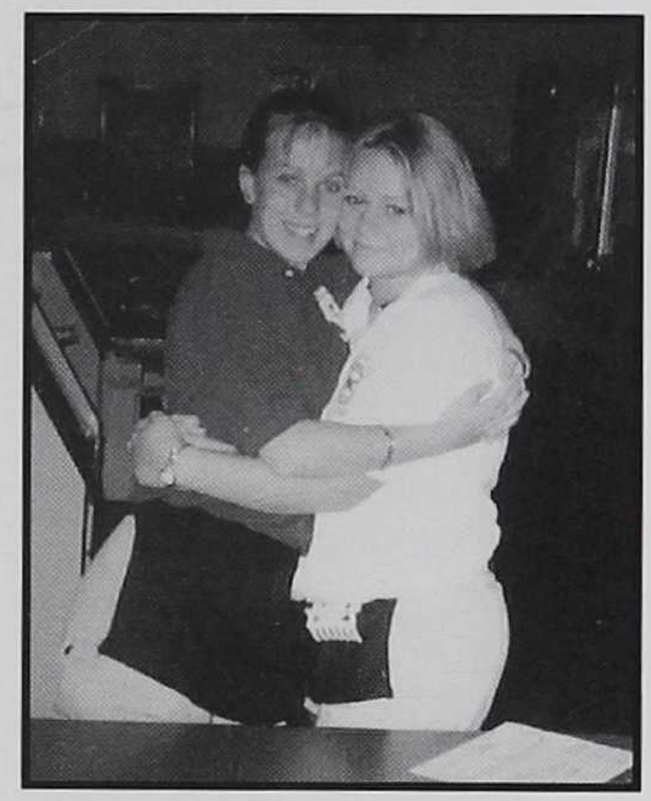
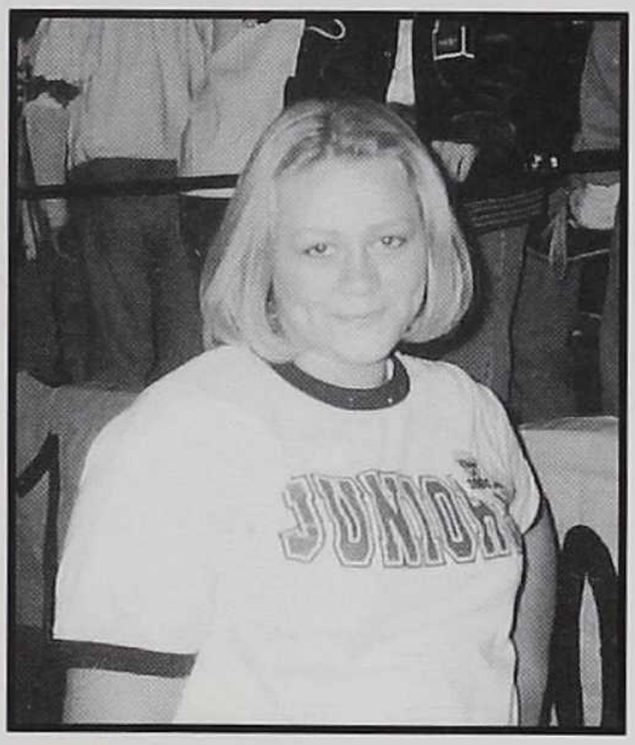
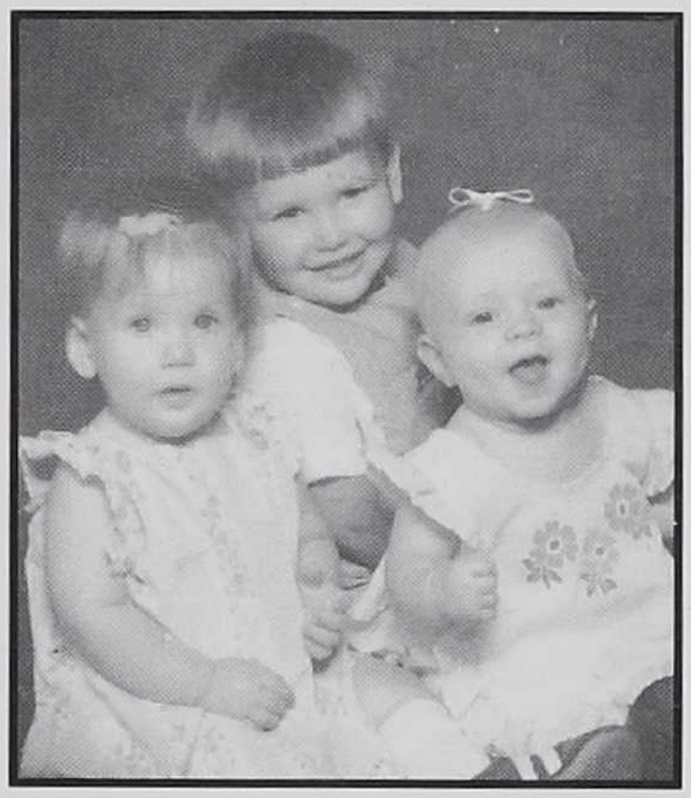
Friends, Elizabeth Rogers





Kimberly,
I have watched you grow from a pretty little girl into a beautiful mature young woman. You have had to achieve so much without the guidance of your mother. Losing a mother could have made you give up, turn to drugs or alcohol, or even worse!
But you kept your mother's love in your heart and your faith in God and made something negative into something positive and great...you. I know Linda would be proud, almost as proud as I am.
Love You, Tona

Kim,
I have known you most of your life and watched you grow into a beautiful, young woman. Losing your mother at such a young age is a terrible tragedy that no one should ever have to deal with, but you dealt with it early on with the maturity and wisdom of someone much older than yourself. I am so very proud of you and your mother is too.
I Love You, Ginny Ward



Kim,
I can't believe that when I walk down the halls next year, I won't get to accidentally bump into you. It's going be weird, but I'll manage. I hope that you prosper in everything you do.
Much Love, Liz Levy

Clay Rickard

God has surrounded you with a loving family, caring coaches and teachers, and faithful friends. You have set high standards for yourself and accomplished numerous goals. Your senior year has yielded a trip to Austin for the state cross country meet, a district championship in basketball, and more is yet to come. You have chosen a mission trip to Ukraine, Europe in lieu of a more traditional "senior trip". We appreciate you and look forward to what God has planned for your future. As you graduate, remember your first love and commitment to Christ.

"Whatever you do, work at it with all of your heart, as working for the Lord, not for men." Colossians 3:23

Love, Mom and Dad

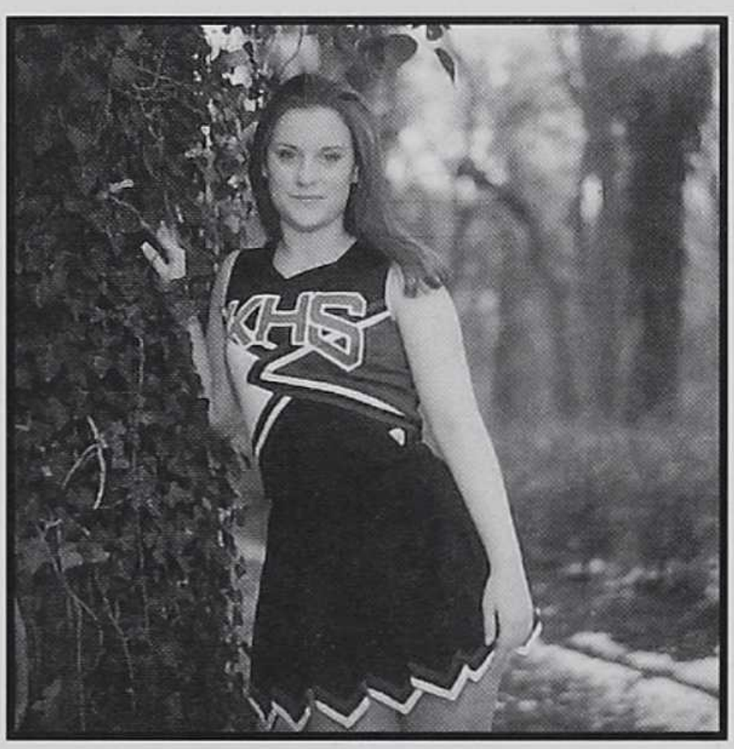
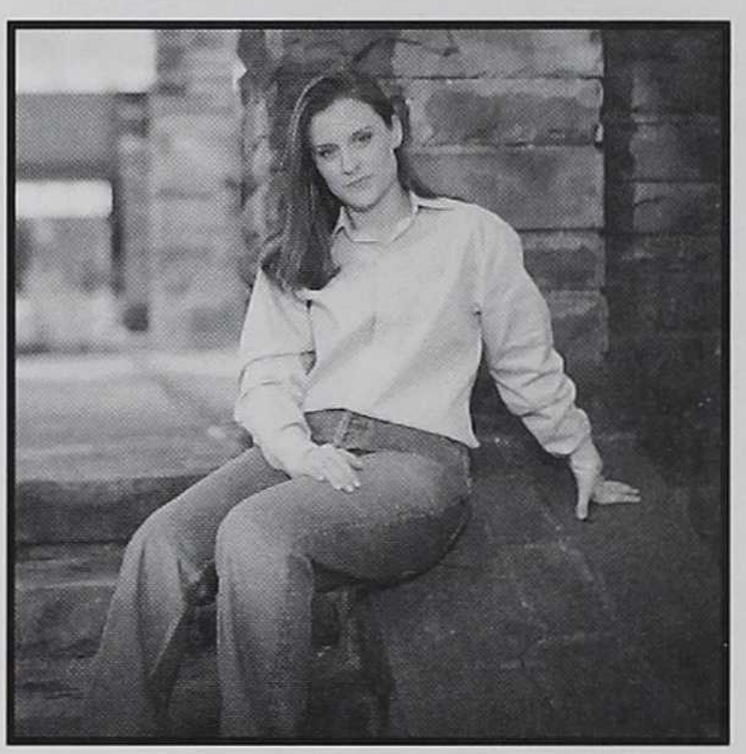
Jackie,
You are a very special daughter, sister, and friend. Congratulations on all that you have accomplished. We know that you will continue to excel in college.
Best of Luck!
Love,
Mom, Dad, and Amy



Jackie,
What can we say that we have not already said a million times over? We Love You, etceteras, but most of all, we want you to strive for things above, not below....that's where success is!
Love,
Grannie and Granddad



Jackie,
Congratulations on graduating! Good luck in the future!

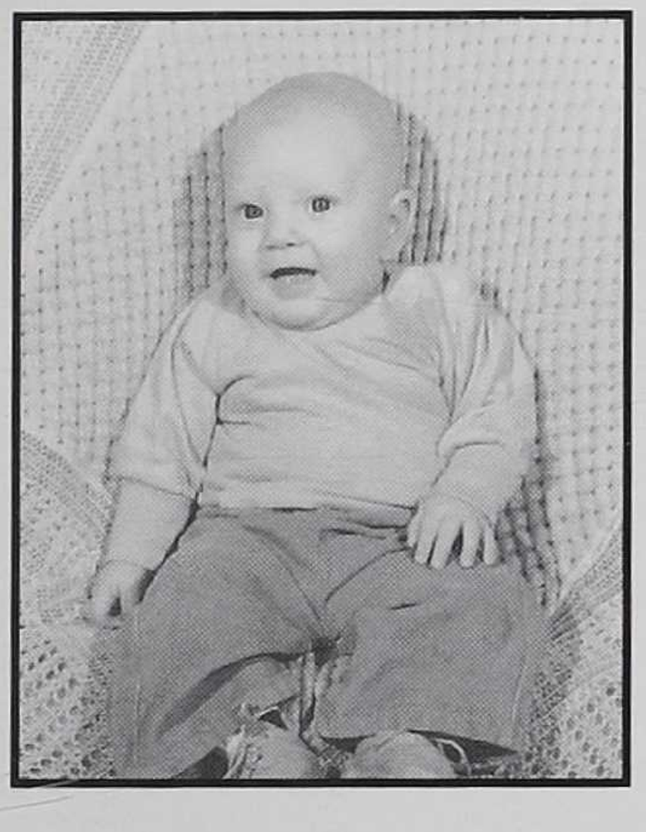
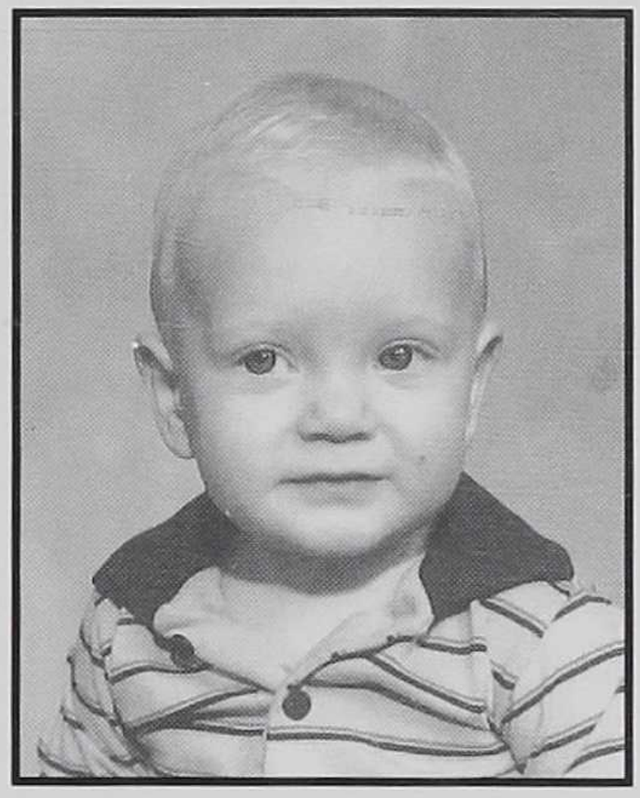
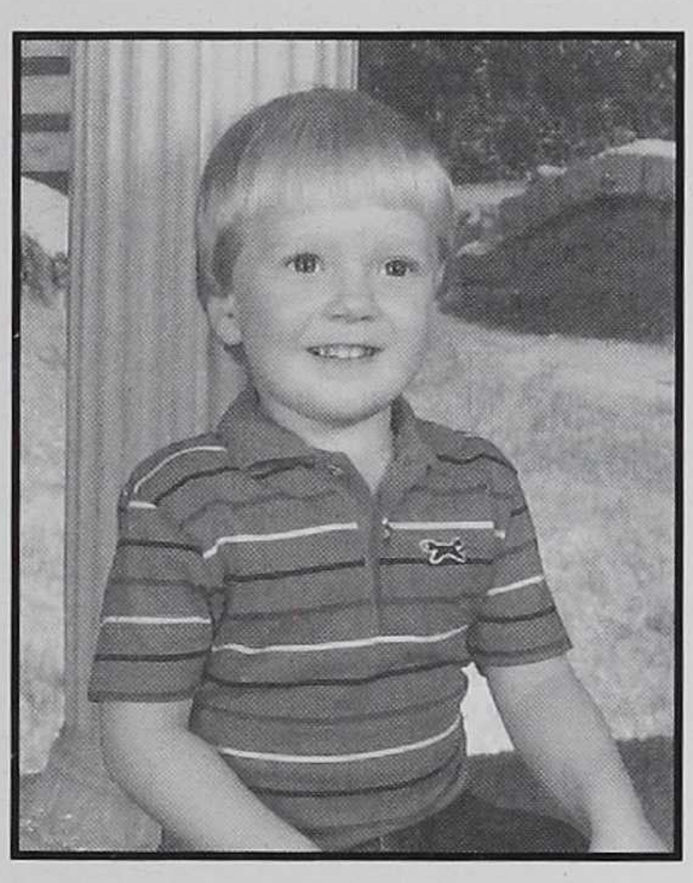
Justin Cobb





Congratulations to a great son who has been an inspiration in our lives since day one. We know with the tremendous ambition you have you will go a long way in life and succeed beyond all expectations. We are very proud of you. Remember we love you and will always be here for you.
Love, Mom and Dad



Congratulations on twelve outstanding years. I am very proud of you.
Love, Ty

We hope this will be just the first of a lifetime of notable achievements. We're really proud of you. Way to go!
Bud, Cyndi, Tori, and Lucas

Justin,
Congratulations! You did it. Keep up the good work and you will go far in life.
Love, Clint, Teresa, Courtney, and Colt

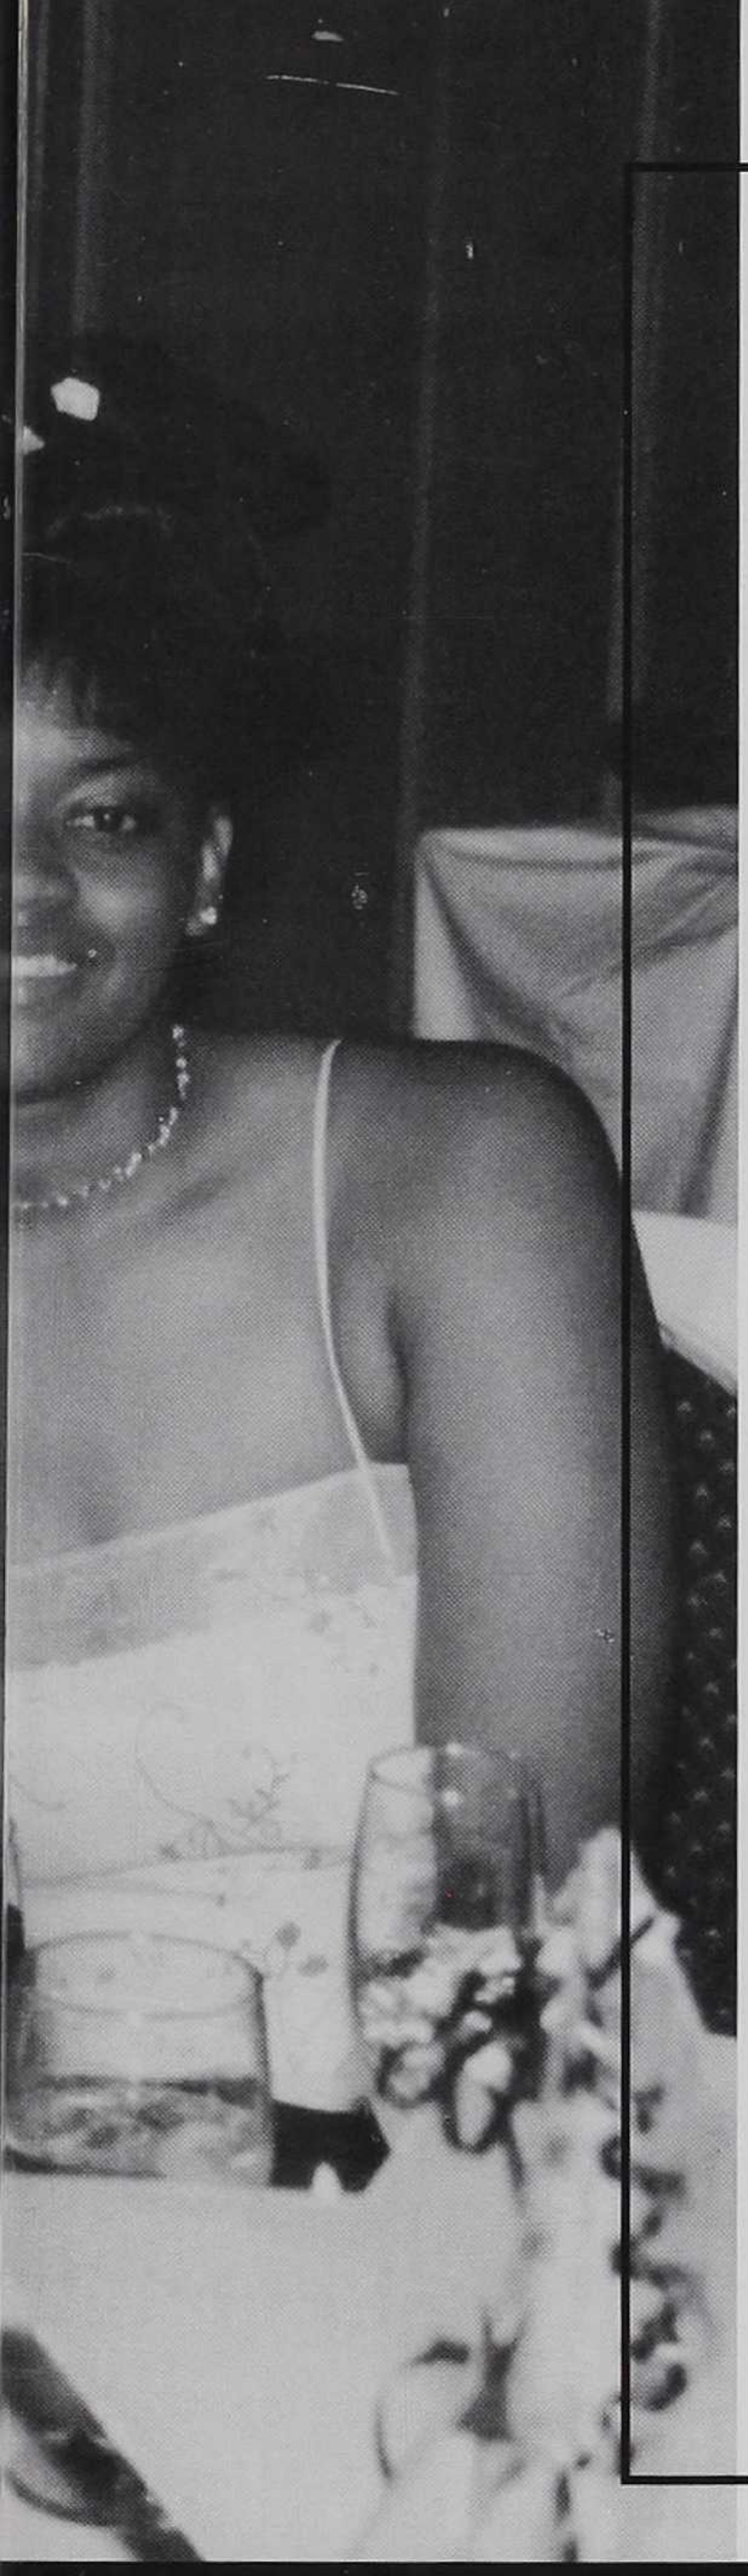
CLOSING



turning over time

The ending of the year signified a bittersweet commencement to four years of memories for the seniors, while for others, it was a sign that they were one step closer to their own graduation. As everyone moved forward into the new millennium, they took where they've been, the friends that they've made, and the laughs that they've shared. All of these moments defined who they were and they would forever remind them of the great times that were had while at Kennedale High School.

TIME TO REMEMBER

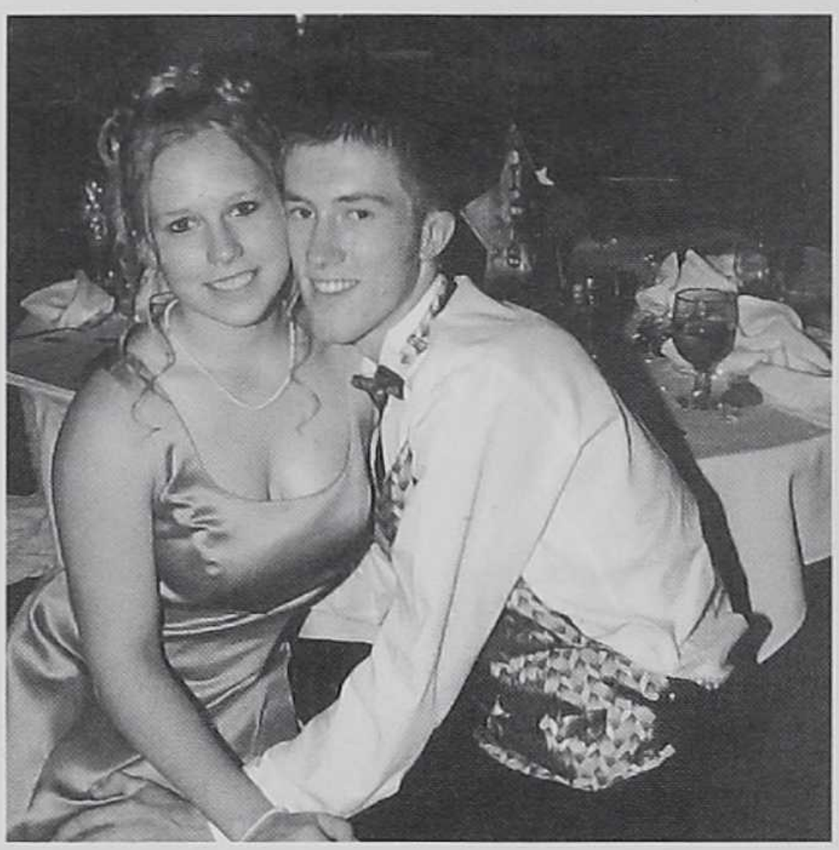
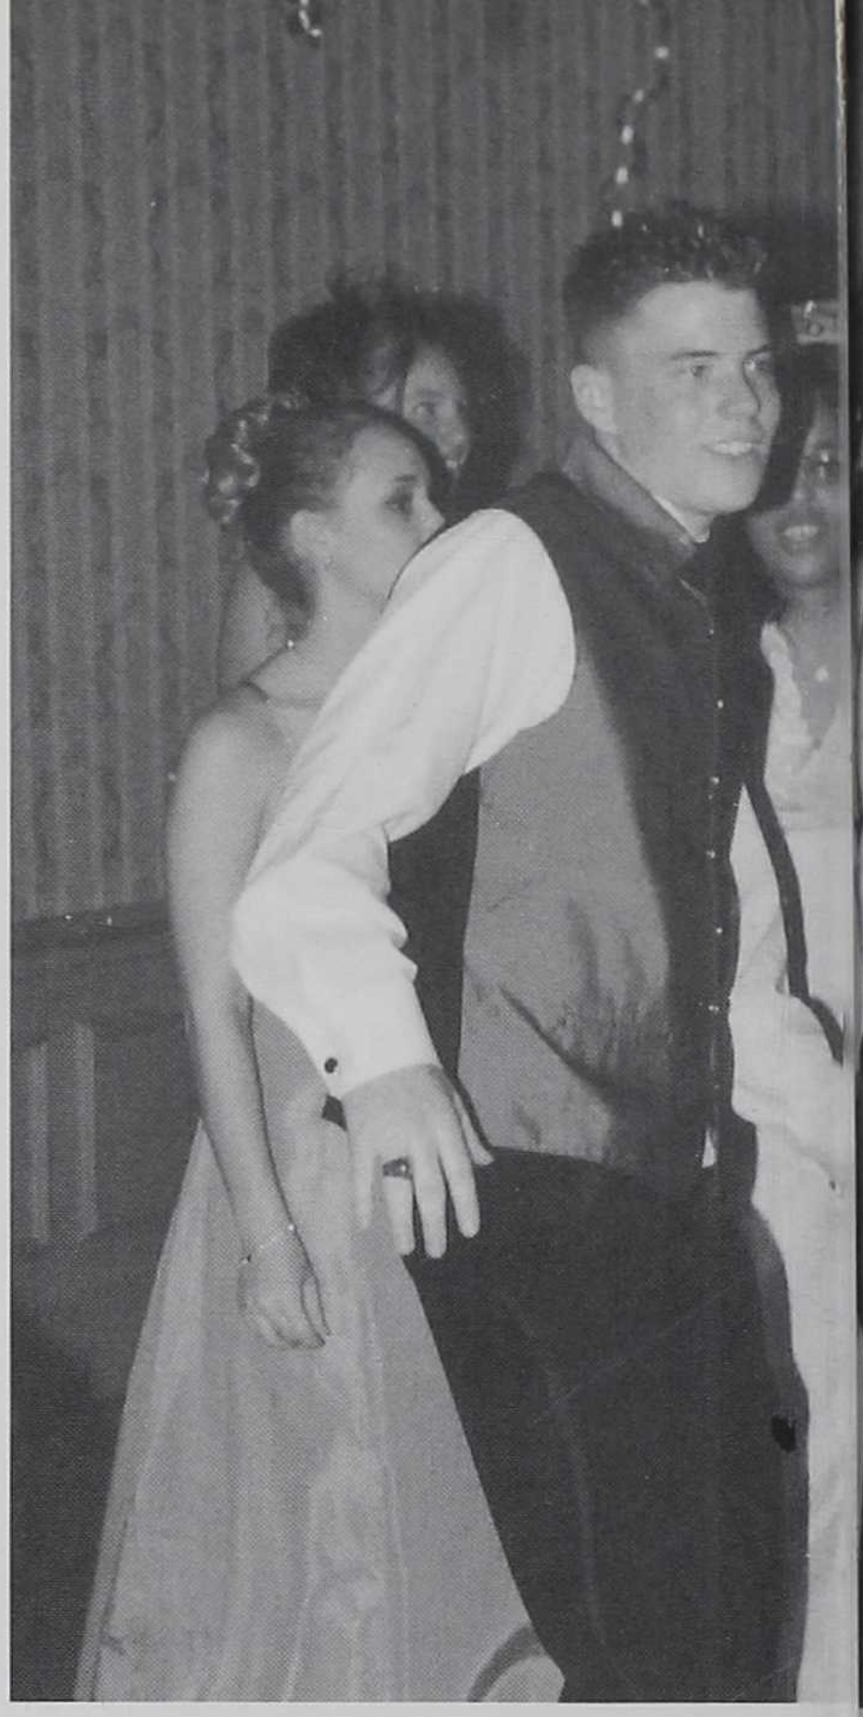
Prom 2000





The 2000 Kennedale High School junior-senior prom was held on Saturday, the twenty-ninth of April, at the Radisson Suite Hotel in Arlington.

The ballroom's ceiling was filled with black, white, and silver balloons. Each table was decorated with sparkling candles, shining crystal glasses, and shimmering silverware. A mirror and a silver star on top of the tables gave the room that millennium look.

Girls arrived in their evening gowns that made them feel as though they were living out a fantasy, and the boys were in their tuxedos, looking ever so handsome. The evening was filled with dining, the reading of the senior wills, lots of laughs, and even a few tears. As the night progressed, the shoes came off and the floors overflowed with couples dancing the night away.

As the evening was winding down, the prom king and queen were announced, with Leah Couch and John Petry receiving the honors. Leah commented, "I was very surprised by the announcement, and I was very honored to represent the class of 2000 as the prom queen." Soon after, everyone danced their last dance before going their separate ways.

Prom night came and went too quickly. It was a night shared with memories and laughs that will be remembered for many years to come.

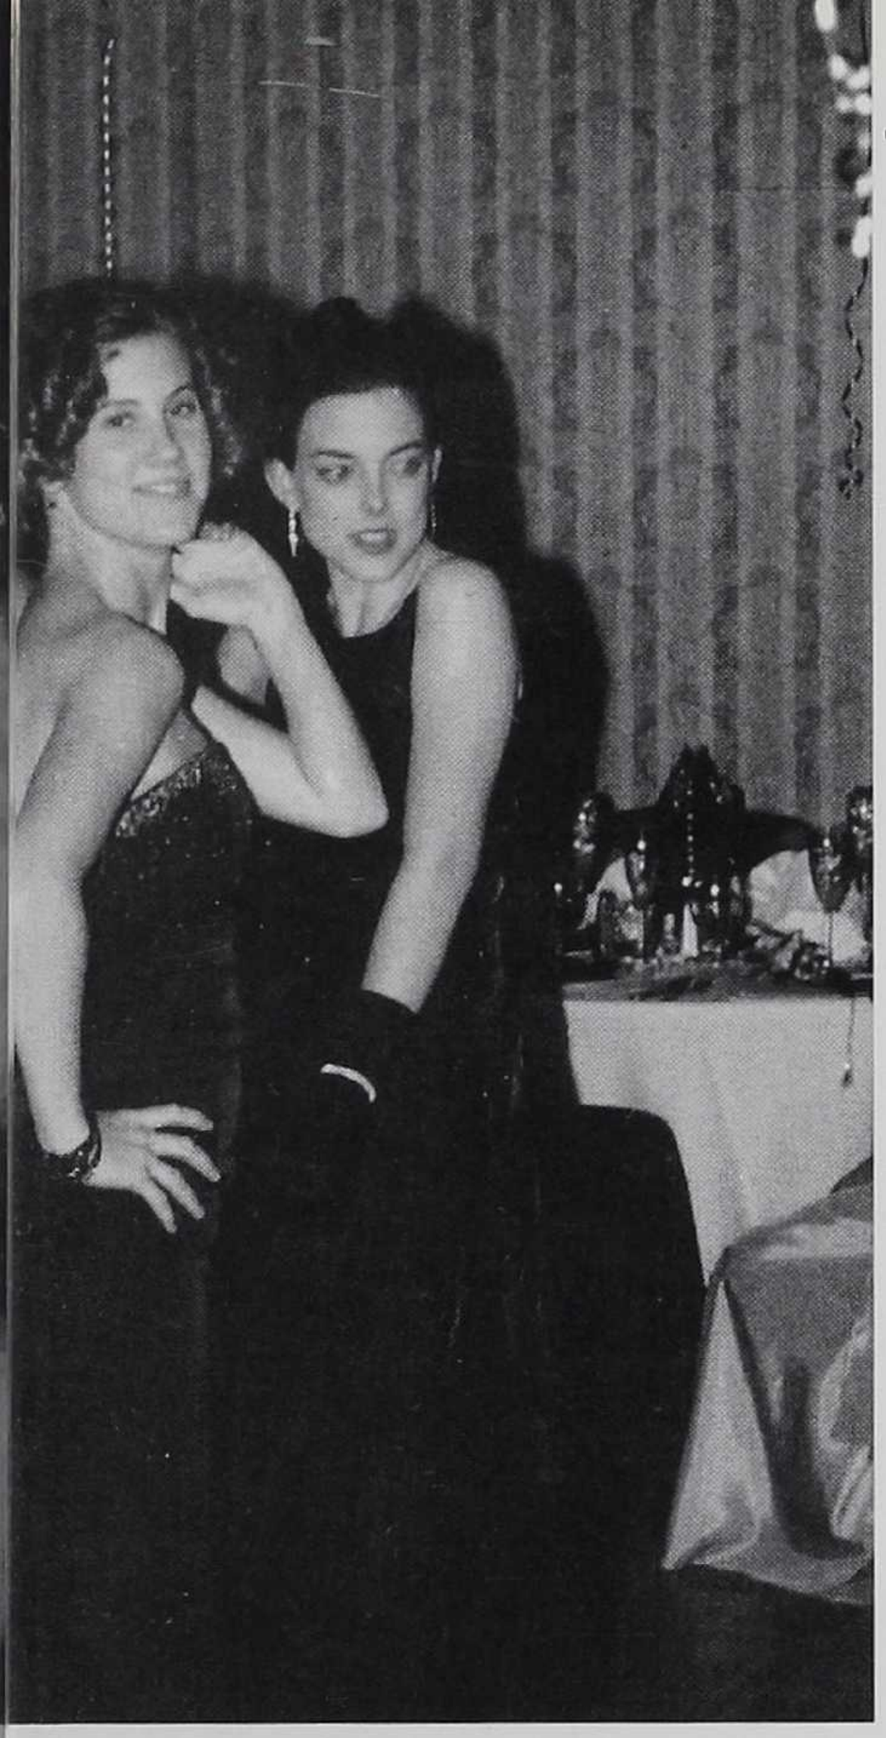
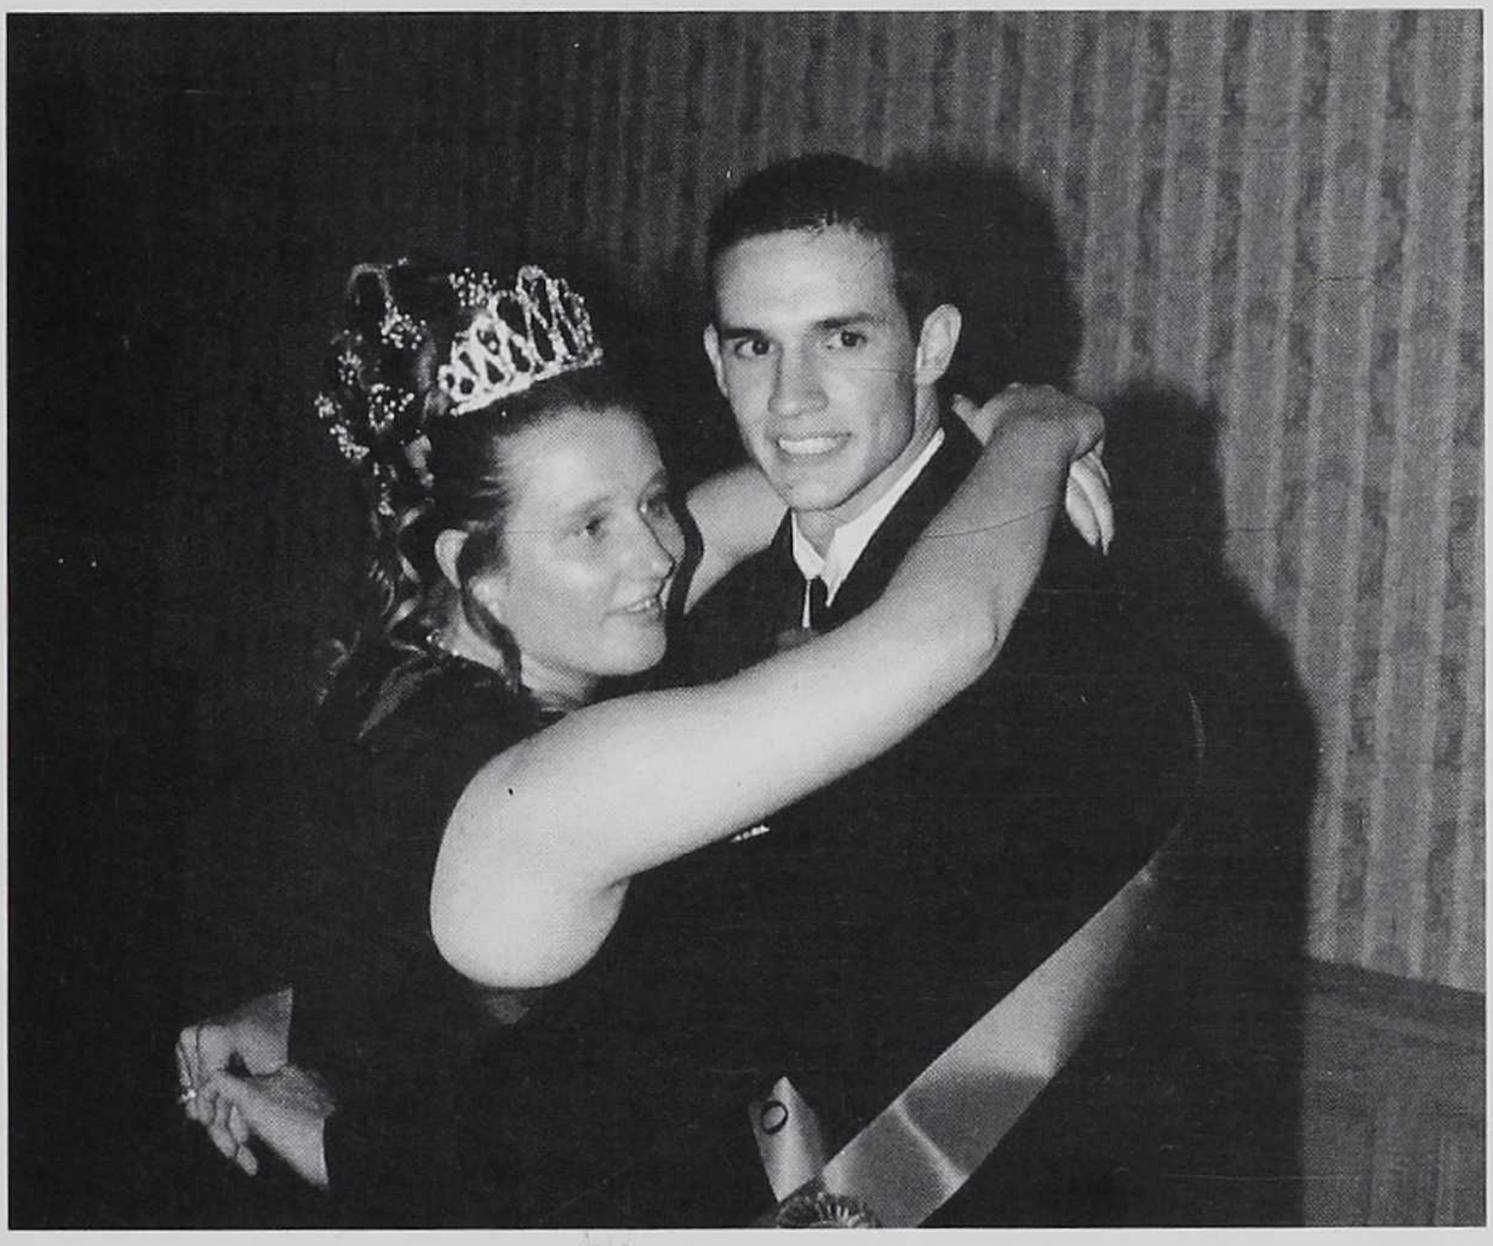
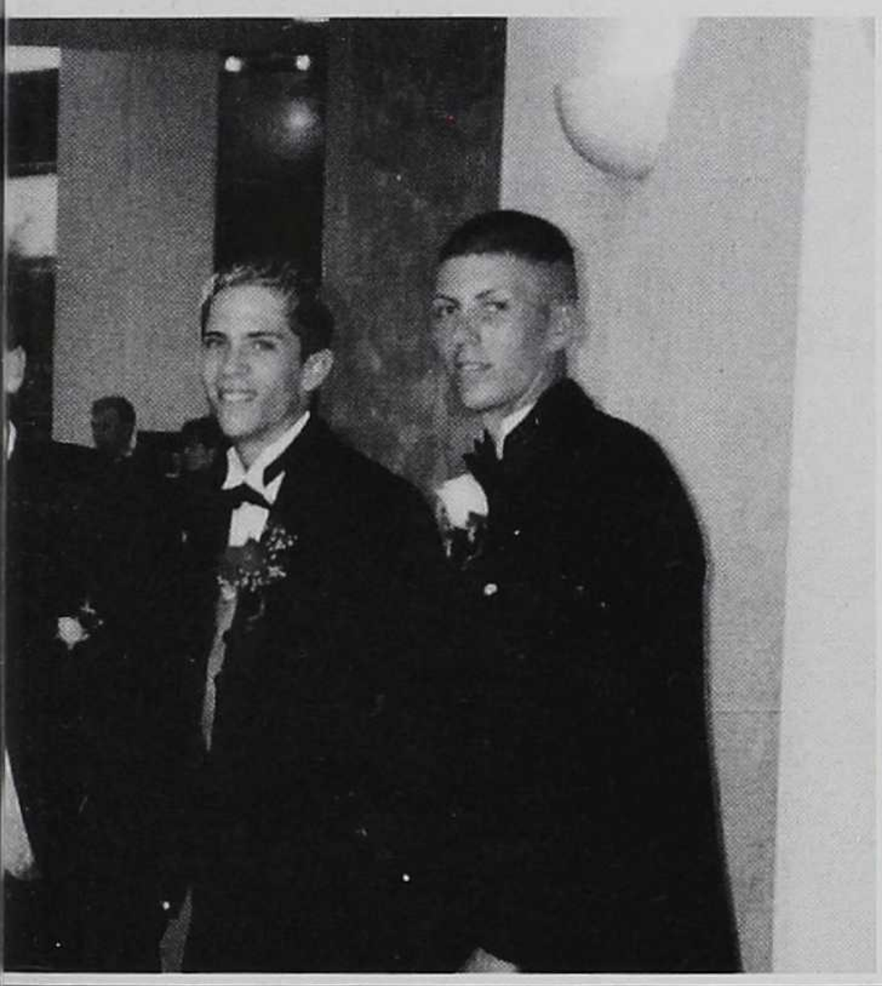
SHINING INTO THE MILLENNIUM



Seniors Dustin Perez and Julia Fitzgerald strut their stuff as they take the lead on the dance floor. It was an evening that will be long remembered by everyone that attended.

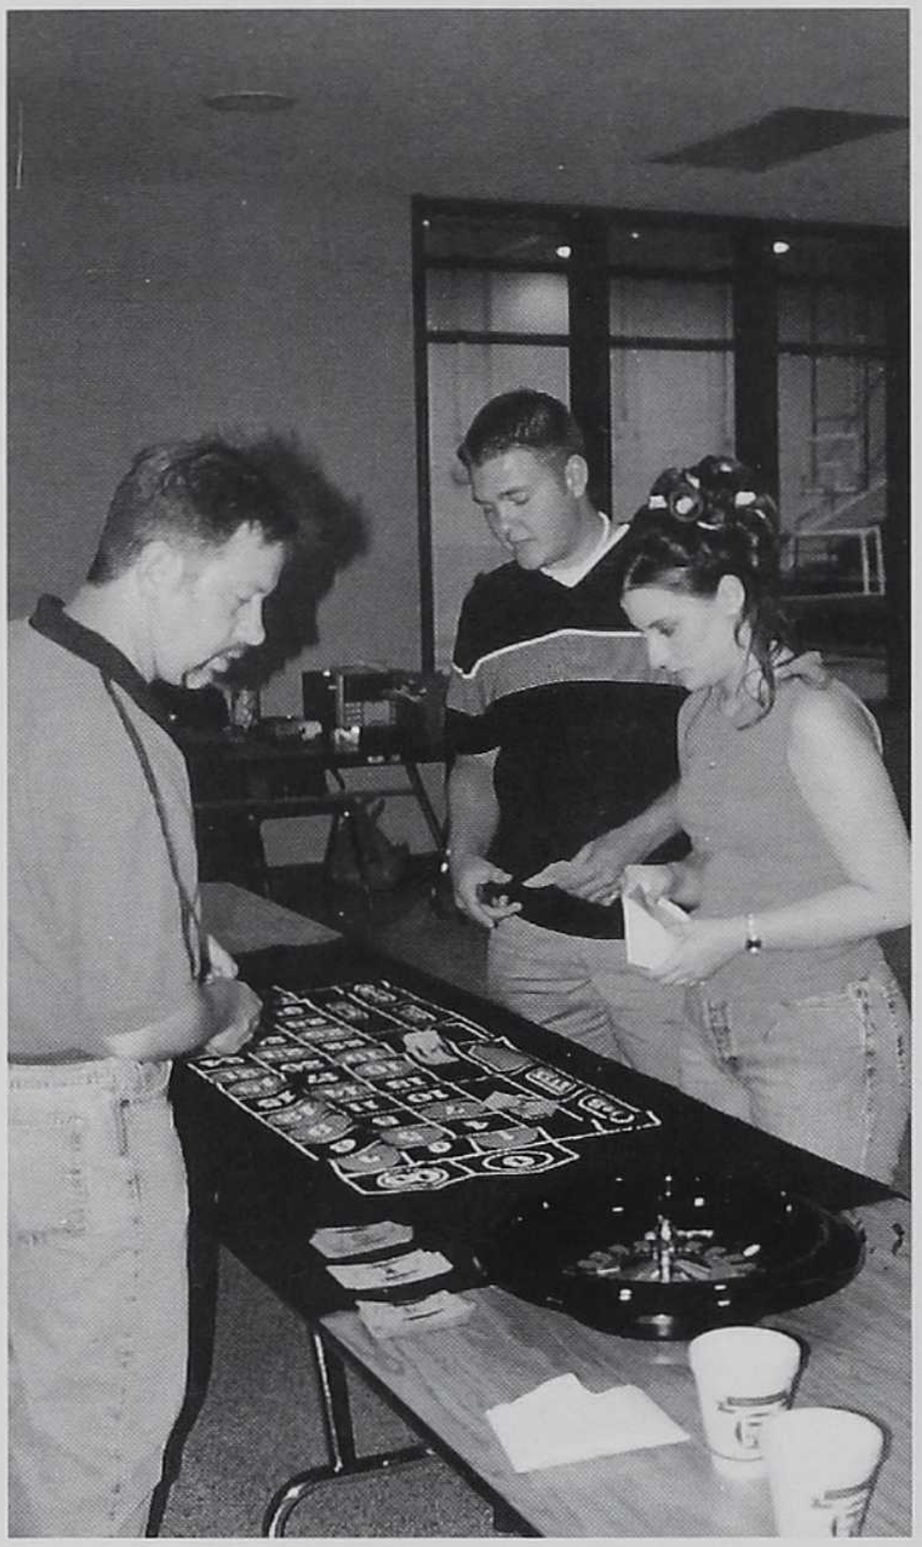
Seniors John Petry and Leah Couch take the floor after being announced king and queen. They were both honored to represent their class.





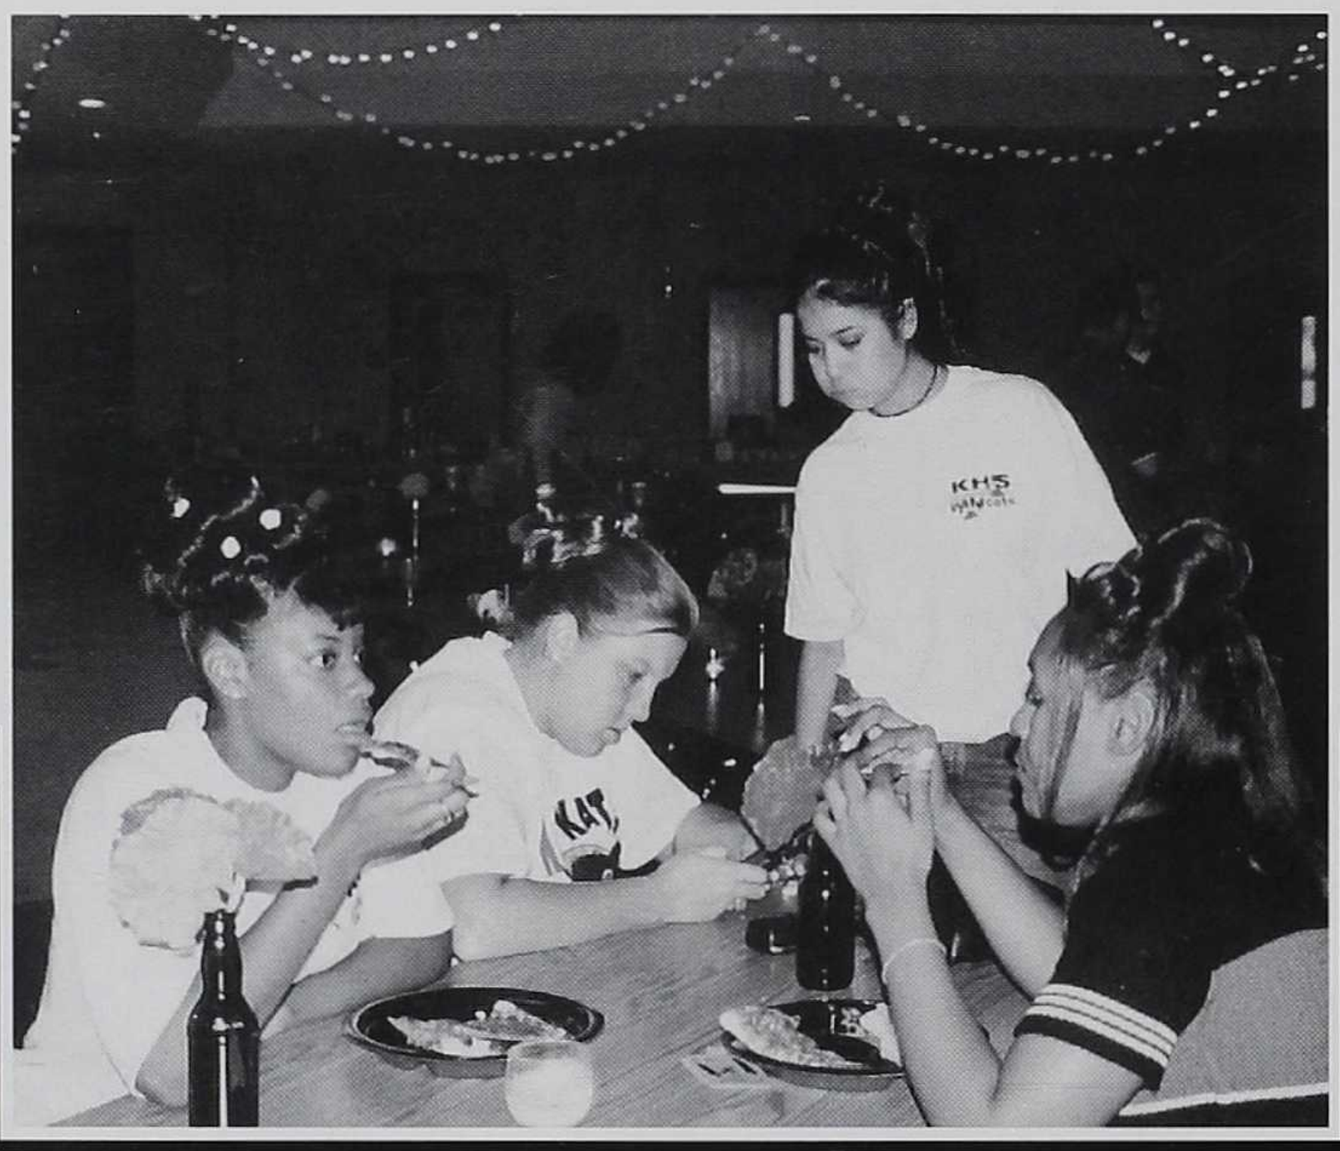
Looking as if they are ready to enter a "best dressed" contest, Derik Patton, Chris Law, Weston Hunter, Kary Krafve, and Mark Biondi show off their formal wear before entering the ballroom. Their attire was more than appropriate for the occasion, and they were looking quite dapper, to say the least.

Megan Moran, Jessie Beard, Courtney Phillips, Stormy Johnston, Jennie Daniel, Kristen Melissari, Kelly Walls, and Meghan O'Connor show off their beautiful evening gowns and hair styles. They all realized that the time and effort that was put toward preparing for the evening was all worth while when they arrived and saw how beautiful everyone looked.



Seniors Jackie Casbeer and Justin Cobb place their bets at the roulette table. They used the money that they won to bid on the items that were auctioned off.

Seniors Kalila Berry, Ashley Hall, Laura Lujan, and Chaneera Francis enjoy their snacks while at the after prom party. Many of the students took full advantage of the food and drinks that were provided.



Senior Candice McKelvy tries to keep up with the competition while climbing the wall of the inflatable obstacle course. It was the main attraction of the evening.

After Prom Party

A TIME TO chill

The eleventh annual "after prom party" was held in the Kennedale High School cafeteria. This event was organized with the help of the senior sponsors and parents in hopes of providing safe and fun entertainment for students after the prom was over.

It was an evening filled with a variety of entertainment options. Both gymnasiums were open and accessible to the students for recreational purposes. Those that attended were able to play either volleyball or basketball in the main gym, and in the PE gym, an inflatable obstacle course was set up for the more adventurous students. For those that wished to sit back, relax, and play their odds, black jack, poker, and roulette tables were set up throughout the cafeteria. Amidst all the entertainment, the appetites were not neglected. Pizza, nachos, and chicken strips were served, along with nonalcoholic beverages such as pina coladas and margaritas. As daylight approached, a live auction was held. Students were able to bid on items such as a dorm fridge, microwaves, televisions, a disc man, and ironing boards, among other things. All items for auction were selected with life after school in mind.

Reluctantly, as the sun came up, they all knew that prom had come to a close. The "after prom party" for the 2000 school year was definitely considered a success by everyone who attended.

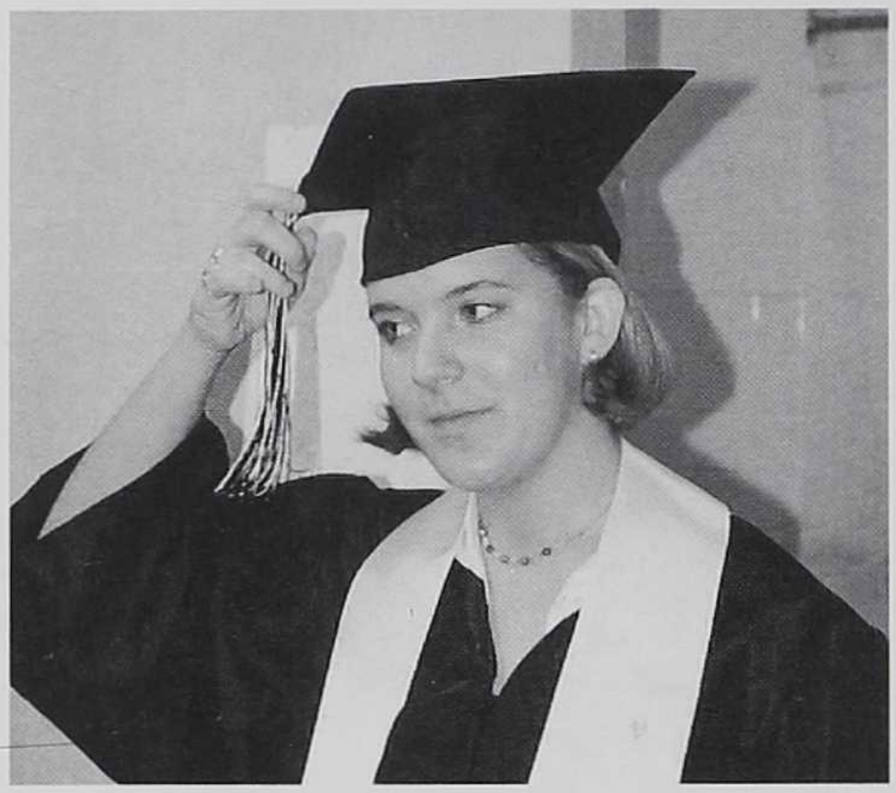
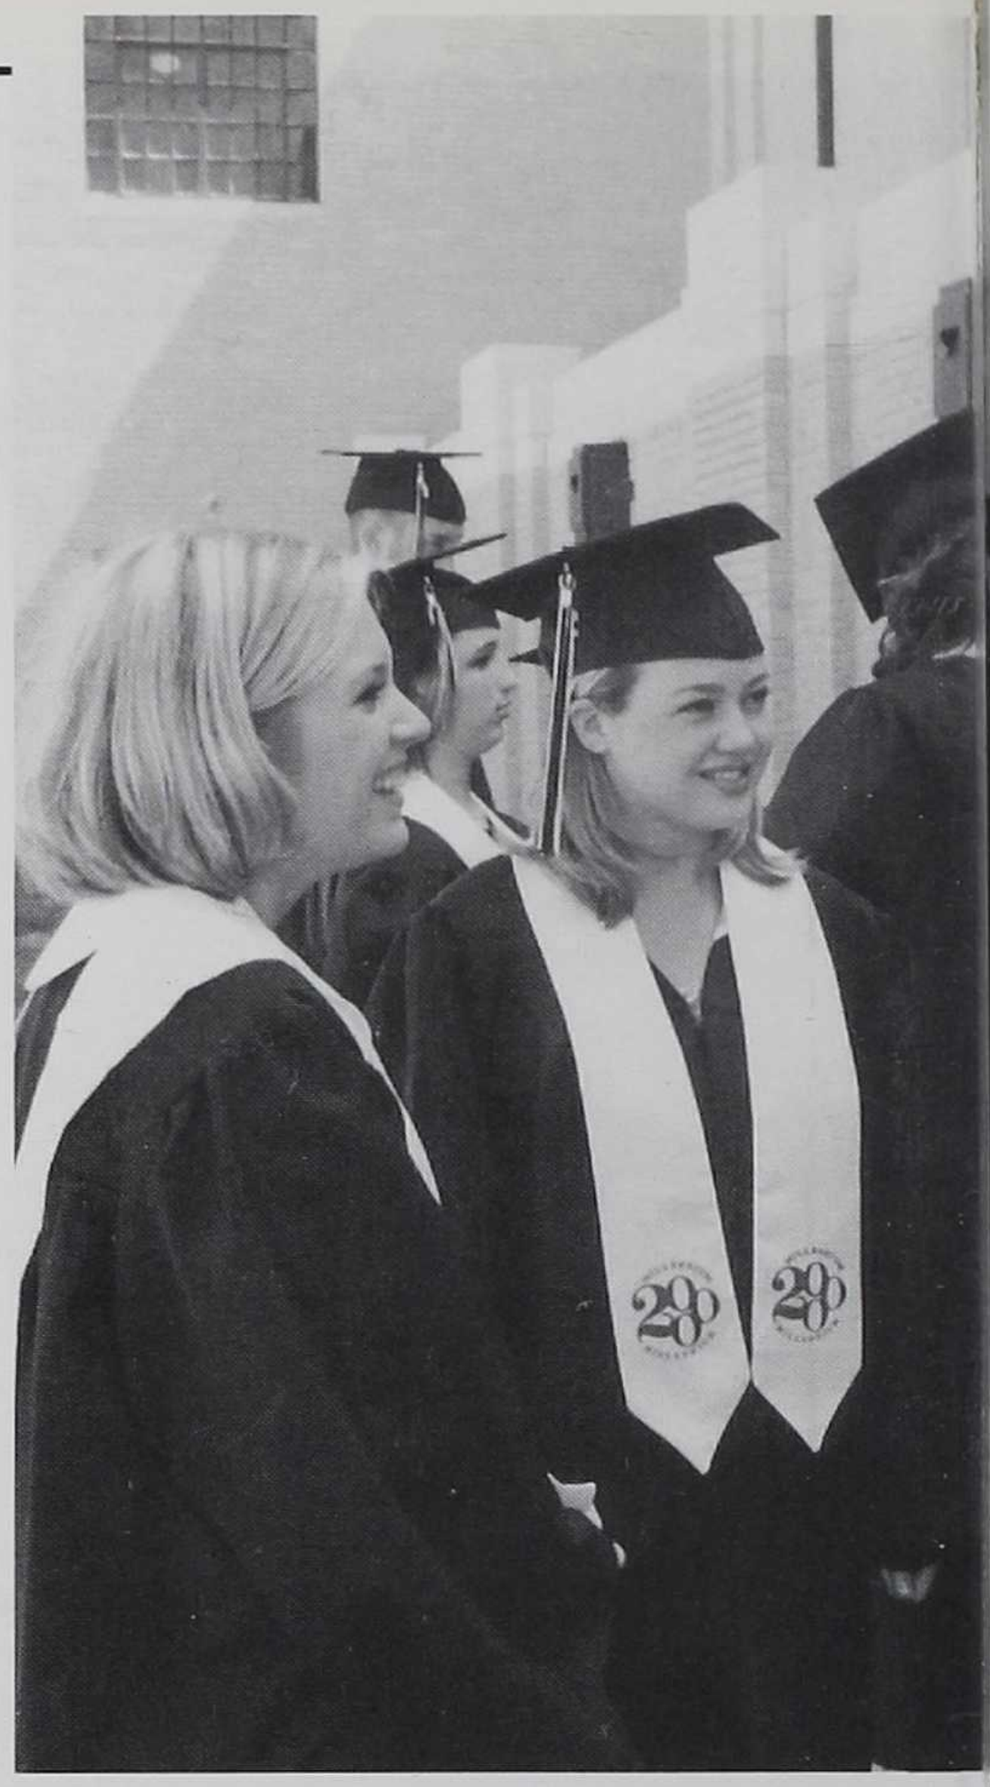
Junior Ian Furman and senior Haskell Gray wait for their cards to be dealt in hopes of a win at the black jack table. The tables were open to the students until around four in the morning.

Graduation 2000





The commencement ceremony was held on Monday, May 29, at the Will Rogers Coliseum in Fort Worth. On this Memorial Day holiday, the parents, family members, and friends came together to honor the graduating class of 2000.

This day symbolized a turning point for many. Graduation was a rite of passage that many of these students thought would never come, but as they walked across the stage, with their diploma in hand, they realized that it had arrived all too quickly. It was time to put their aspirations and dreams into motion. With hesitation and much anticipation, they closed one chapter in their lives and moved forward into the new millennium.

Regardless of where life took them, the memories and moments that they had shared together while at Kennedale High School would always be remembered. Congratulations to the class of 2000!

Wildcat Track Colophon

Specifications

The 2000 Wildcat Track, Volume 50, was produced using Taylor Publishing Company's Vision 2000 software. This 81/2" x 11" book contains eleven signatures and was printed on eighty pound enamel paper. There are two eight page flats of four color that include spot colors Sapphire Blue No. 13, Green X9172, Magenta X9122, Process Blue No. 9 at 40%, Process Red No. 35 at 20%, and Backdrop BD374C. The body copy font is Vanguard ten and twelve point. The headline fonts are X-Files, Eric Condensed, Caslon Openface, and Vanguard. The cover is a four color lithocote that was designed by Lauren Taylor with the assistance of Ms. Bole and Patricia Douty. The endsheets are four color on white stock paper. Both were designed using Adobe Photoshop and Quark. The approximate cost of the 2000 Wildcat Track was approximately $25,000.00. The revenue came primarily from advertising and book sales. Four-hundred and sixty copies were printed to sell.

Award of Excellence

The Kennedale High School Wildcat Track was selected to be published in the 2000 edition of Taylor's Yearbook Yearbook, a publication that showcases the nations best yearbooks. Less than five percent of the yearbooks published by Taylor received the Award of Excellence for outstanding yearbook achievement. The yearbook staff was very honored to receive this recognition for the second consecutive year.

Special Thanks

We would like to thank our representative from Taylor, Chris Cox, and our principal, Mr. Farmer, for assisting us with the purchase of a new computer that we desperately needed. A special thanks to the faculty and staff for their assistance with the taking of all action and group photos. Thanks to all of the businesses and senior parents for their advertising space purchase. Thanks to Patricia Douty of Savvy Designs for putting our book cover and endsheet designs on disc and fine tuning the details. A final thanks to Glamourcraft Studios who have been so professional and a pleasure to do business with.
